The committee's chairman, Mrs. Vivian B. Gray, has promised a varied and unique program with representatives from each Greek letter organization which will include some of Los Angeles' best local talent. The committee also plans to present a nationally known celebrity.

Those aiding Mrs. Gray in this project are Junius A. Covington, co-chairman; Myrtle City, Danellan Mabry, Gwendolyn Jackson, Louis Young, Michael Ellington, Gertrude Thames and Thomas Robinson.

Western Region Links in Confab

The Links of the Western Region will be guests of the Los Angeles chapter, headed by Mrs. Henry McPherson, in a two-day meeting April 13 and 14. One of the major purposes of the meeting will be to decide upon an area project.

The following cities will be represented: Phoenix, Denver, Sacramento, San Francisco and Oakland. The area chairman for the meeting will be Mrs. Arthur E. Rickmond of Richmond. The group will be honored by the presence of the national treasurer, Mrs. Fairfax Holmes of Denver.

Planned activities include a luncheon at the Pacific Town Club and a cocktail buffet at the home of Mrs. John LaMarr Hill.

Breakfast Club Meeting Sunday

The Magnolia Room of the Clark Hotel will again be the scene of the monthly meeting of the Breakfast Club, Sunday. The club at that time will present the Los Angeles Branch of the Braille National Institute, which will have charge of the program. Breakfast will precede the event.

Dinner Party Fetes Couple

Mr. and Mrs. J. Rufus Portwig were recent dinner guests of Evougeline Woodfolk at her home. They enjoyed a delicious dinner and spent the evening in informal atmosphere.

Medical Men's Variety Show Slated For May 1st

If you need your doctor, dentist or pharmacist on the evening of May 1, the best place to call will be USC's Bovard auditorium.

That's the night the Medical, Dental and Pharmaceutical Association will stage its first variety show to gather funds for scholarships for deserving medical students at UCLA and USC, according to Dr. LeRoy Weeks, president.

The show will run the gauntlet from the historic barber shop quartet through an Apache dance to a one-act play written especially for the occasion by a doctor's wife.

All of the performers will be members of the organization and their wives and among them are some top names in their professions. Drs. T. R. Peyton, Robert Sheen and Ona Barker will join Otis Rene, pharmacist, in specialty piano numbers.

Dr. D. Overstreet Gray, dentist, Dr. Weeks and Jack Bratton, pharmacist, will delight the hep cats with jump numbers and a jam session and Dr. Lincoln Shumate will contribute a tap dance.

The Apache dance will be contributed by Mrs. Geraldine Woods and the one-act play will feature Drs. Howard Allen, W. H. Atkinson, and Mrs. John Carney and Mrs. George Thorne. Mrs. Henry McPherson is author of the play.

The barber shop quartet will be composed of Drs. J. P. Taylor, George D. Thorne, Herbert Sheen and Wayman McCoo, and the evening will wind up with a Hawaiian dream fantasy with a nifty chorus line featuring Mesdames Walter Hines, John Robinson, Emily Portwig, Victoria Nelson, Vernetta Batiste, N. A. Fearonce, Maggie Davis, Juanita Edwards, Melba Bawley, Alice Foster, George Thomas and C. B. Bradford.

KIDS ENJOY EASTER HUNT

The Exceptional Children's Home was the scene of a pre-Easter egg hunt Sunday, sponsored by the Archonian Pledge Club. The event was thoroughly enjoyed by the children, who searched the spacious yard of the home, 1086 W. 34th Street. Following the egg hunt a pineapple sip was staged for both children and parents.

Cooperative Nursery in Open House

As a public service to the community, Willowbrook Cooperative Nursery School is holding an open house on Wednesday, April 14, at 2936 W. Eighth street. All those interested in pre-school education and parents of young children are cordially invited to come and visit with their children from 9:45 to 11:30 a.m.

Educators and parents of preschool children frequently ask, "What is a cooperative nursery school? How does it function? What value does it have for the children? What are its contributions to the parents? What are its contributions to the community?" The school will demonstrate answers to these questions.

Doll Leauge Plans Affair

Irene Sharp was hostess at the regular meeting of the Doll League at her Gramercy street home. Mrs. Sharp pinch-hit for Gladys Clarke. Members discussed the club's June affair.

Edith Kemp, well gnown club woman, will head the Eastside branch of the Goodwin Knight campaign headquarters located in the lobby of the Dunbar Hotel.

ODE TO AN UNSPOILED MISS

It seems to be a common practice among our town's beauties who gain prominence via beauty contests, brewery advertisements or magazine cut-ups to become afflicted with extreme cases of "I'm the greatestism."

But one gal who has mopped up in these circles and who's mind has not been warped by her own attractiveness is Pat Anderson, a tantalizing miss who drives men "maaaaadd."

At present she is unhinging Pasadena lad, Bill Bailey's mental faculties, but takes time out to be as nice to everyone as could be expected from a good-will ambassador.

If you don't know her and want to get a gander at this exceptional miss, you can catch her looking at you from the latest Bergermeister beer poster . . . yah oughta dig . . .

SATURDAY NIGHT FISH FRY

We had heard about them, but we were never really in on a real honest to goodness "Sattidy Nite Fish Fry" . . . they are the most . . . Fried oysters, shrimp 'n' stuff topped off with other goodies have made us forever indebted to our houst of the evening, Hugh Johnson.

"Slim," as Hugh is known to his friends," acted as chef and "Bing-tender" while his pals gobbled fiendishly . . . Oh! what a night for fish.

All of the guests' names weren't available (most of them were so hung behind the vitles), but we did manage to get coherent statements from Ken Campbell, Frances Shields, Verna Curruy, George Johnson, Adrian Frances Shields, James Elkin, Dalas Curruy and Val Marcus who had "racked back" all whist competitors singlehandedly.

PEOPLE ARE TALKING ABOUT

Kenny Jackson's rendezvous at the California club with that lovely Miss from the east . . . MMMM . . . didn't get her name.

That SC lovely, who was detained at the Mexico state line because of some "Senor's" goof. The feller thought that he could collect a bounty for those who violated the Mann Act.

The Pyramid (Deltas) coming Hollywood extravaganza. The gals are presenting their greatest at the Green room on the 16th. (Hollywood and La Brea.)

Delta Jabberwocky

REHEARSALS UNDERWAY

Club groups and fraternal organizations participating in Jabberwock are busy as the proverbial bee readying skits, rehearsing dialogue, planning costumes and music against the long anticipated day of Jabberwock, May 23, at Bovard Auditorium, University of California. Elaborate preparations are being made by each group to insure an evening of fun and color. Titles and plots are spoken of in whispers for fear some alien ear may hear too much. Outside of the group presenting the particular skit no one other than the Jabberwock Committee is privileged to view the practice sessions.

QUEEN CONTESTANTS CHOSEN

Some fifteen pretty girls who are seniors at the local high schools have been chosen to run as contestants in the Queen Contest held in connection with Jabberwock each year. They are selling their tickets at ten cents each with each ticket representing a vote. The girl with the greatest number of votes will be crowned Queen of Jabberwock and will in addition, receive prizes. The runners-up will make up the Queen's Court and will also receive lovely prizes.

TICKETS AVAILABLE

Mrs. Honore Levy, Chairman of the Ticket Committee, released Jabberwock tickets at Delta Sigma Theta sorority meeting, April 3. They may be secured from any Delta. They are also available at the University of Southern California box office, 3605 University Avenue, Los Angeles, or call AXminister 2-1690. Tickets are $1.00, $1.40, $2.40 and $3.00.

Edward Holland Visiting Family

Edward Holland, popular resident of West Temple and a member of the United States Air Force, returned from overseas duty recently and is visiting relatives and friends. Holland enlisted two years ago and is stopping with Rebecca Hamilton of 421 North Bonnie Brae. His mother is Mrs. Juanita Cousin and his sister is Connie Holland. The 20-year-old veteran was a former all-around athlete while attending the Belmont High school. He attends the Pleasant Hill Baptist church in the West Temple area.

BIG CENTRAL EASTER HUNT

Three of the city's popular Social Clubs were responsible for a successful Easter program put on at Central Playground. More than 500 children enjoyed the big Eatser egg hunt. Groups making this affair possible were The Gaylords, Frolicans, and the Les Charmantes. Pupils from Twentieth Street and Twenty-Eighth Street schools were invited.

Southern Bells Enjoy Meeting

The Southern Bells met at the home of Beatrice White, 3602 4th Ave. The mothers day brunch will be held at the Brown house, 2103 South Harvard, May 16.

Sigmas to Meet in Bay Area

Phi Beta Sigma Chapter is making preparations to send a representative delegation to the western regional conference of the fraternity, to be held in San Francisco April 30, May 1 and 2, Wesley R. Brazier, president, announced this week.

According to H. A. Howard, western regional director, the theme of the conference will be "Education, the Key to Freedom." He also informed the local chapter that J. Robert Smith and Jordan Daniels have been selected to represent the graduate chapter in a discussion opposing two members from the north. Brazier will moderate.

In the undergraduate chapter, Ellis Cook will represent Los Angeles, and Marvin D. Thompson of Oakland will moderate.

One of the highlights of the three-day meeting will be the personal appearance of Dr. George L. Hightower, national president of the organization from Atlanta, who will deliver the main address.

In addition to the business sessions, gala social events are scheduled for Friday and Saturday evenings, Richard H. Hogg, president of the host chapter said. A large delegation of members from San Diego, Phoenix and New Mexico, along with their wives, sweethearts and friends, are also planning the trip, Howard declared.

Scholarship

The Pruitt College of Business has offered a $150 scholarship to the winner of the Elks Oratorical contest Tuesday evening April 27, at Elks hall under the direction of R. C. Jackson.

A STUDY IN MOODS

DR. GERALDINE WOODS is shown as she watches Jabberwock rehearsal. Competitive skits will be presented by local club and fraternal groups on May 23 at U.S.C. Bovard Auditorium.

THEATRE

TUNESMITH

LEON RENE, Southern California's most popular member of the American Society of Composers and Authors, recently completed the entire score (lyrics and music) of twenty "noteworthy" numbers for "HIT THE STRIDE." For over a year Leon Rene, composer of such successes as "Sleepy Time Down South," "Someone's Rocking My Dreamboat," and "When the Swallows Come Back to Capistrano" . . . collaborated with F. E. Miller, who wrote the book for "HIT THE STRIDE," to create a true history of New Orleans' famous French Quarter.

Leon Rene and F.E.Miller Collaborate On Musical Production 'Hit The Stride'

Leon Rene, Sr., composer of scores of hit tunes, musician of 'note,' former recording company president and member of American Society of Composers and Authors, announced exclusively to the California Eagle that plans are rapidly being completed for an invincible musical comedy, "Hit the Stride," a true presentation of New Orlean's French Quarter.

BOOK BY MILLER

Collaborating with F. E. Miller, who wrote "Shuffle Along" and other great musicals, Rene announced that "Hit the Stride" will definitely be the finest presentation ever witnessed in Los Angeles, every major city in America and abroad.

ORIGINAL ALBUM

Prior to presentation to the public, twenty talented musicians will record the entire score of "Hit the Stride" and a major recording company will make available an alubum of twenty musical numbers.

TALENT SOUGHT

Key parts, particularly those of beige beauties between eighteen and twenty-eight who can sing and dance, are still open. Anyone knowing charming and capable young ladies, whether or not they have ever appeared professionally in the past ,are urged to submit a full length photograph, description of themselves and a record of their experience or academic training . . . to California Eagle, Box 1000, 1050 East 43rd Pl., Los Angeles 11, California.

Ebony Showcase To Present Play Tuesday, April 20

Everything is in readiness for a real Hollywood first night opening of Irving C. Phillips' new comedy drama, "Caricature," at the Ebony Showcase Theatre, 2182 W. Washington Blvd., next Tuesday evening, April 20.

This will be the world premiere of the fast moving production by Phillips, one of Hollywood's most noted writers, and directed by Demetrois Vilan, who has directed such hits as "On Borrowed Time" in New York and "Affairs of State" in Hollywood.

Tommie Moore To Score

"Caricature" features one of the finest casts ever assembled for a local stage offering. Heading the list is Tommie Moore, making her first appearance in her home town since returning.

Others prominent in the cast are Bernard Hamilton, Mary Emma Watson, Orchid Oliver, Amos Reese, Earl Smith, Reggie Armstrong, Lew Braddock, Nick Stewart and Clarence Watson.

Popular Performer

'ZESTFUL' ZENO AYO, pulsating performer from New Orleans, Louisiana has, in the relatively short span of her career, soared solidly from coast to coast with her refreshing renditions. Zeno's pleasing 'pipes' and pleasant personality have won her many genuine friends and well wishers whenever she 'blows' and wherever she goes.

Elks Oratorical Contest April 27

The Elks annual oratorical contest is set for Tuesday, April 27 in the auditorium at 4016 S. Central. Music will be furnished by the Elks band of which Willard F. Lacey is conductor. Several numbers will be offered by the Hays Tabernacle C.M.E. church group. An array of eight high school contestants will compete.

Annual Show

The Phyllis Wheatley Unit of the Women's Political Study Club held its annual Hobby Show at the home of Mrs. Mabel Baker with almost 200 persons visiting the various exhibits. The show was educational and interesting, and the president, Mrs. L. Craine, expressed thanks to friends for the success of the affair.

A Salute To Glen Miller Presented by Gene Norman Saturday Nite at Embassy

On Saturday, April 17, at the Shrine Auditorium, Gene Norman, ably assisted by Ross Burdick, will present "A Salute To Glenn Miller" with The Modernaires and Paula Kelley, Ray Eberle, for many years featured vocalist with Miller, Billy May and 20 other former Glenn Miller musicians.

Included are Willie Schwartz, Eddie Miller, Johnny Best, Jimmy Priddy and many more of those who made the Miller band one of the greatest musical organizations we've ever known. A featured highlight of the evening will be Murray McEachern, who played for Jimmy Stewart in "The Glenn Miler Story," playing the love theme from the picture.

Win Autos In Thrifty Contest

Charles Snyder of 1630 Shell avenue, Venice, and A. C. Hansen of 13531 Yorba Street, Santa Ana, California, are driving new Chevrolets this week as a result of winning Thrifty Drug Stores recent contest.

The two 154 Chevrolets were presented after a month long promotion involving the more than 100 Thrifty Drug Stores throughout California.

The new Chevrolets were serviced and delivered by Fletcher Jones, Los Angeles new car dealer.

Chic Drink Gaining In Popularity

Jo Van Ronkel, president of the Van Ronkel Company, has released information indicating growing popularity of CHIC (pronounced "Sheik"), an important new low calorie soft drink, which his firm distributes exclusively in Los Angeles and Orange Counties.

He reveals that Thrifty is now featuring CHIC throughout its statewide drug chain and that Owl is selling the new beverage in its Los Angeles and Orange County stores. The Schwab Pharmacies also carry it.

The Roberts and Paul Thomas liquor chains handle CHIC in all their Los Angeles County outlets.

Van Ronkel discloses that the following markets are featuring CHIC throughout their chains: Mayfair (statewide), Roth's (L.A. and Ventura Counties), Clark's, King Cole, Kennedy's, Shoppers, McDaniel's (all L.A. County), Liberty (Paramount), and Shopping Basket (Southgate).

CHIC is also being sold by many other markets, drug and liquor stores as well as by restaurants, bars, and clubs.

Van Ronkel has announced, too, that a diversified publicity and advertising campaign is picking up momentum behind CHIC. A series of co-operative spot announcements is being carried on KCOP—Channel 13 by McDaniel's Markets in behalf of the new product, and Mayfair Markets are likewise promoting CHIC via spot announcements on their KHJ radio show. Additionally, it is being advertised nightly on the Frank Bull radio show, "America Dances," over KFWB at 6:30 and it is being plugged by Jackson Wheeler on his KTTV—Channel 11 television show. CHIC is also advertised on the Mickey Katz radio show on Sundays over KECA from 6:30 to 7:00 p.m. and on the same station following Walter Winchell at 6:15 p.m.

Cooley, Bill Ballance, Stan Kenton, Earl "Fatha" Hines, Doris Duke, Bill "Mr. L.A." Kennedy, Charles Trammell, Stuff Crouch, Sylvia Moon, Madi Comfort, and a multitude was present. . . . Several squad cars of L.A.'s Finest were called to the scene to try to enforce traffic regulations. The boys in blue were rerouting guests who parked their low slung jalopys on the narrow lane out front. Telling 'em to park down the hill, and take a cab up! . . . Mayhem!

SPRING TONICS

Sonny Stitt's modern sounds at the Californian, along wtih Max Roach, Carl Perkins, George Bledsoe, and Clarence Robinson are strongly recommended for folks who would like to get next to "something cool."

HERE'S A SWITCH!

Jeep Smith, the orchestra man, will have his band outfitted in spanking new fronts for the Easter affairs they will play. And here's the punch line: They will emulate their star male vocalist, Lawrence Stone, by dressing up like the crooner. They'll sport brown and beige sport ensemble, with those "crazy, man, crazy" shirt collars and string ties.

A big howl went up last week by the folks who were booked solid when the gestapo raided that chitterling switch in the village's west end district. Folks have been complaining to this department that "the man" took everybody down but the news gal who wrote up the piece in her sheet. However, the lady pen pusher, who is a buddy of ours, claims that when she walked in the show was already on the road, and that's why she didn't make the trip downtown!

SHHHH! HE'S ON THE BEAT!!!

We're giving the hush hush treatment to the trio of newlywed couples whose marriages aren't sailing smoothly anymore. Stormy weather reports might make the going even rougher. And we'd like to see them stay afloat on the sea of matrimony. And, incidentally, like page one says, John T. McLain says that he and wifie Dot Donegan were merely squabbling, and that the pianist regrets her hasty action. John T. says they have already kissed and made up, but a little too late to avoid the front pages. They're a sweet couple, and we sincerely hope they'll "make it" pay off.

Seek Transit Improvement

The Interdenominational Ministerial Alliance decided in its recent meeting to appeal to the Los Angeles Transit line for better transportation on the city's Eastside.

The problem was brought to the alliance's attention by the Rev. Jessie L. Glover who described the service as "poor and inadequate."

The Fact Finding committee was instructed to discuss possible solutions with officials of the line.

GOOD NEIGHBORS ELECT OFFICERS

Final reports from the recording secretary, treasurer, and social chairman closed the Good Neighbors Social Club's 1953-54 year recently at the home of Clara Humphries.

Numbered among the reports was the St. Patrick's Day breakfast expenditures and receipts by Rena Marlowe Hughes, social chairman. Mrs. Mildred Phillips, co-chairman for the breakfast, offered a vote of thanks to Mrs. Humphries and Miss Elise Clarke. The latter is not a member of the Good Neighbors Club.

Climaxing the monthly meeting was election of officers for the 1954-55 year. The cabinet which was retained is as follows: Mmes. Jane Patche, president; H. A. Richards, vice-president; Sylvia Hendricks, secretary; Susan Hendricks, treasurer; and Rev. Richard A. Scott, chaplain.

Other members present included Messrs. Peter Davis, Sam Henricks, Malcum Patche and Miss Margaret Scott.

Ventura Meet For Baptists

Mrs. Moss Is Re-Instated In Army Job

WASHINGTON — Mrs. Annie Lee Moss, fired from her Signal Corps job when Sen. McCarthy's informers happened to spot her while they were gunning for the Army, has been re-instated to her clerical post.

The Army all along insisted there was nothing "sensitive" about her work. Nonetheless, the mere fact that the finger of suspicion was pointed at her was sufficient for her to be suspended.

Even after she was re-instated, though still not officially "cleared," McCarthy continued to warn the Army in a blustering manner that he hopes she will not be put to work "where she can handle encoded and decoded messages—at least until all the evidence is produced."

Under the law, Mrs. Moss had to be reinstated within 30 days after her suspension if a letter of charges had not been filed against her by that time. She was suspended Feb. 25.

The previous day she had been called before the McCarthey committee and accused of having been a former member of the Communist Party. An FBI informer had reported that she remembered back in 1940 receiving dues from a Mrs. Annie Lee Moss, but was unable to identify Mrs. Moss as the same person.

On the stand for questioning, Mrs. Moss became terrified and burst into tears. At a later televised hearing, Mrs. Moss naively said she didn't know anything about Karl Marx, and denied any connection with the Communist Party.

Although re-instated, Mrs. Moss is still under a cloud, and will be until the investigation rolls to its conclusion.

"Every baby young and grown should have it's photo made at Sheffield's."

Law Group Picks Negro Girl Queen

CHICAGO (ANP)—A Negro girl escorted by the lone Negro member of the chapter last week was crowned "Hawaiian Dance Queen" of the Chicago chapter of Nu Beta Epsilon, national law fraternity.

Winner of royal honors was Miss Bertha Drungolo, attractive Windy City school teacher escorted by Atty. David S. Minor, the first member of his race admitted to the legal society here.

The occasion was the frat's annual dinner dance, "A Night in Hawaii," held in the very swank and exclusive Columbia Yacht club, located on Lake Michigan right off Randolph street in downtown Chicago.

College Fund Opens Drive

NEW YORK—"In the realm of education we are in a critical and thrilling period of transition from an undemocratic pattern of segregation to the democratic pattern of full integration," Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, principal director, Department of Trusteeship, United Nations, told an overflow audience at the opening of the 1954 United Negro College Fund nationwide campaign held April 5 at the Hotel Plaza.

This year's goal is $1,750,000, the largest quota yet sought by the Fund in support of its 31 member colleges.

Dr. Channing Tobias To Keynote NAACP 45th Convention

NEW YORK.—Dr. Channing H. Tobias, chairman of the Board of Directors of the NAACP, will again deliver the keynote address at the opening meeting of the convention in Dallas on Tuesday night June 29.

Among others scheduled to address the association's 45th annual convention are Walter White, executive secretary, and Thurgood Marshall, special counsel.

Soldier Given Lieutenant's Bar

Richard H. Hightower of Los Angeles recently received the silver bar of his new rank of first lieutenant from Colonel Alford C. Boatsman, commander of the 7th Cavalry Regiment in Japan.

Lieut. Hightower, whose wife, Semmie, lives at 9912 Stanford Avenue, is executive officer of the regiment's Company B.

A 1951 graduate of Prairie View (Tex.) A and M College and a member of Phi Beta Sigma fraternity, he has been in the Army 19 months.

Ask College to Drop Jim Crow

HANOVER, Ind.—The Board of Trustees of lily-white Hanover College here has been challenged to end the present ban against Negro students and establish admission policies consistent with their professed Christian beliefs.

Hanover is a church-related college, affiliated with the Presbyterian Church.

ACCIDENT VICTIM LEAVES HOSPITAL

Mr. Harrison of the Harrison-Ross Mortuary was injured in an automobile accident about a week ago and he and his wife have been confined to the University Hospital. Mr. Harrison is expected to be at home sometime this week according to his business associate, Mrs. Ross.

One-hundred schools will remain open for summer sessions in the Los Angeles City School Districts this year—7 junior colleges, 12 senior high schools, 6 junior high schools, 61 elementary schools, and 14 adult schools.

The schools will be open from Monday, July 6 through Friday, August 3.

Compton Sets NAACP Meet

The kick-off meeting of the newly organized NAACP chapter in Compton will be held April 19 at 8 p.m. at the Abraham Lincoln school cafeteria.

President of the new branch, Jesse L. Robinson, said this week the aims and programs of the branch will be explained at the meeting.

Establishment of the Compton NAACP climaxed three months of planning by civic leaders of the community.

Numerous leaders from varied fields are expected to attend the kick-off meeting. They will include several NAACP officers, Atty. Loren Miller, Eagle publisher; Councilman Roybal and James Edwards, actor.

celebrate the birth of their son, Jan.

McClain is proprietor of the club, and Mrs. Wright president of the corporation. Miss Donegan asked an injuction to keep them from selling or transferring any of the assets of the corporation.

Asks Custody of Child

She also sought to restrain McClain from selling any community property, which she listed, in addition to controlling interest in the club, as: the couple's residence at 3047 Farmdale, a 1953 Cadillac convertible, a $50,000 apartment building on South Halldale, and an undisclosed amount of cash and securities in various banks and safety deposit boxes.

In addition, Miss Donegan asks custody of young Jan.

Hearing on the restraining order was scheduled for April 14, Dept. 8, Superior Court, but was to be set ahead since Miss Donegan is not to wind up her whirling engagement in Pittsburgh until the 17th.

Exciting

The next day, Sunday, she opens at the Morocco, Western and 46th street, for a week's run.

Originally a concert pianist, Dorothy combines a spectacular technique in her presentation of the classics, which she then proceeds to rock with a wild and frantic beat. Her programming includes everything from the soft and haunting "Clare de Lune" to the lowest-down blues and rhythm tunes of the day. She is exciting to watch, as well as to listen to.

La Donegan will appear at the Morocco with her trio through Sunday, April 25, after which she will fly to New York to open the following day, Monday, April 26, at The Embers.

PHILLIPS TEMPLE

The first worship service at Phillips Temple C.M.E. Church Easter Sunday will be held at 5 a.m. The regular worship service will be presented and a third is scheduled for 12:45 p.m. at which time several children will be baptized. The day will close with a message in music which will be brought by the Celestial Choir. The Rev. Norris S. Curry is pastor.

NEW LIFE CHURCH

The Rev. Ellis Ross, pastor of New Life Baptist Church, 6110 S. Main St., has invited the public to the church's Easter Sunrise Service set for 5:30 a.m.

Chet Huntley Praises Role Of Day Camp

Friendship Day Camp's dinner speaker, Newscaster Chet Huntley, said Saturday at USC's Town-Gown Banquet hall that "groups such as these are proof that this nation is not built out of hatred for something, but a love for something—a love of tomorrow, of possibility, of opportunity."

Huntley noted that Friendship Day Camp provides such an opportunity for children, without distinction of class, race, or national origin, an opportunity for these children to play and to work together.

Rev. Charles Casassa was re-elected, president of the camp, as were vice-presidents Wesley Brazier, Dr. Roy Nishikawa, Judge Isaac Pacht, and Councilman Edward Roybal.

M. C. Edward Hebrens awarded camp citations to Anne Reher and to Roybal. The program, arranged by Gil Anaya, executive board co-chairman, included community singing directed by Rudy Rivera. Mexican folklore authority. Another program highlight was the camp-film shown by Camp Director Howard Russell with Asst. Director Bob Reynolds narrating.

ST. MARK'S LUTHERAN

John Stainer's oratorio, "The Crucifixion," will be sung at 8 p.m. Good Friday at St. Mark's Lutheran Church of All Races, 1122 W. 36th Pl. Robert Ekstrom will direct the oratorio.

Dr. A. A. Lucas To Lead Faithful Central Revival

One of the nation's great churchmen, Dr. A. A. Lucas, president of the Texas General Baptist Church convention and treasurer of the National Baptist Convention of America, will conduct revival services, April 21-25, at Faithful Central Baptist church, 40th pl. and Paloma st. The Rev. W. L. Robinson is host pastor.

Dr. Lucas pastors Good Hope Baptist church in Houston, Texas. His last appearance in Los Angeles was in 1942 when he was guest speaker at Second Baptist church. In 1941, Dr. Lucas held revival servies at New Hope Baptist church here.

The revival services will begin each evening at 8. There will be special choir music furnished by community Baptist churches. A group of the city's leading pastors and their congregations are lending full cooperation to the services.

Faithful Central church's choir will augment the services on opening night and Sunday.

Among those pastors participating are Rev. A. A. Peters, Victory Baptist; Rev. O. A. Meador, Faithful Central Baptist; Rev. H. A. Hidgon, Israel Baptist; Rev. R. B. Porter, Progressive Baptist; and Rev. S. O. J. Evans, Macedonia Baptist.

During his stay in the Angel City, Dr. Lucas will be honored at a dinner hosted by a group of his former members at Progressive Baptist Church social hall, 1201 Vernon ave., on April 24. Mr. and Mrs. Steve Rivers are co-chairmen for the affair.

DR. MAYS TO SHARE WEST ADAMS PULPIT

Easter Services at the West Adams Baptist Church at 4500 West Adams Blvd. will be shared by Dr. Horace Mays and the Rev. Vincent H. Coletta, Jr., pastor of the church. There will be two morning worship services to accommodate the Easter worshippers.

At 8:30 a.m., Dr. Horace Mays will be a guest speaker at this first service of the day. His message theme will be, "The Soul's Invincible Surmise." He is Director of Christian Education of the Western Baptist Convention and Director of Negro activities for the Los Angeles Baptist City Mission Society.

The Adult vested choir, under the leadership of James Burt, will sing Easter anthems at this service. Burt is widely known as the director of the laymen singers of the American Baptist Laymen's Hour radio broadcast. He is also teacher of music at Dorsey high school.

At the 10:45 a.m. worship service, the Rev. Vincent H. Coletta, Jr., pastor of the church, will bring the Easter message. The adult choir will sing at this service. The Chancel choir (Junior choir) will also bring their Easter music at this service.

McCoy Baptist To Give Cantata Easter Evening

The Moments of Meditation Choir of the McCoy Memorial Baptist Church, 802 East 46th Street, will present in its entirety the impressive cantata, "The Seven Last Words," by Debois, Sunday evening April 18, 7:30 p.m.

This outstanding musical aggregation is under the direction of the celebrated Mr. Cecil Dandy. Featured vocalists for the occasion will be Mr. Jacob McKinney, gifted Tenor of the Westminster Presbyterian Church; Mr. Emory Barnes, formerly, bass soloist of the famed Wings Over Jordan group; and Mrs. Marion Harold, talented lyric soprano of the Moments of Meditation Choir. Instrumental accompaniment will be very capably provided by guest artist Mrs. Fannie Benjamin at the console, and McCoy's own Katherine Lindsey at the piano. The narrator for the evening will be Pastor E. A. Anderson. The public is cordially invited to witness this event.

WRIGLEY SERVICES

Rev. W. J. R. Quigley will preach the Easter Sunrise sermon at Wrigley Field at the 5 a.m. services. Musical selections will be rendered by the Zion Travelers Gospel Singers, the Westcoast Jubilaires Gospel Singers and the Spiritual Five Gospel Singers.

Edison to Hold Annual Picnic For Dads, Sons

Edison's annual Dads and Sons picnic will be held at the school, 6500 S. Hooper avenue, May 6, from 4:15 to 8:30 p.m., according to playground director John McInerney.

Program events begin at 4:15 p.m. when father and son will take part in relays, baseball, and volleyball games. Dinner from 6 to 7 p.m. will be followed by an auditorium program presented by Corben Allen's Tumbling Club.

Among those who will perform are: Donald Atwood, Benny Childs, Harold Walton, Acie Martin, Willie Felton, Tyrone Taylor, Arthur Jackson, Sammy Wilson, Ronald Robinson, Julian Senette, Winford Adams, Arnold Hargis, Mariano Jimenez, David Jackson, Paul Robinson, Arthur Jordan, Anthony Waters, Foraker Smith, Otis Dorsey, Tom Collins, Benjamin Bess, Arthur White, Richard Bess, Donald Long, Jim Whittle, Johnny Kidd, Jesus Alvarado, Robert Young, Anthony Jackson, George De Vare.

In 1953, 38,500 Americans were killed in traffic accidents.

Calvary Sets 2nd Quarter

In a recent business meeting, Calvary Baptist church successfully climaxed its first quarterly program for the year and with great hope launched its plans and plunged out into its second quarter of the year.

The second quarter will begin Sunday with an Easter program under the leadership of Mrs. Casey Carroll, director of the Youth society, and W. Mitchell, director of Baptist Training union.

The Easter program will consist of Scenes at the Sepulcher, presented by the junior department Sunday morning. At 6 p.m., the Youth society will present an Easter Flower pageant. At 8 p.m., the Senior choir will present The Easter Heritage in music.

ZION HILL

The Radio Club and the Jolly Bunch Club of Zion Hill Baptist Church, 51st and McKinley, present Ruth E. Matlock in Dramatic Recital Sunday, April 25, at 7:30 p.m. Dr. T. M. Chambers is pastor.

In 1953, 2,140,000 Americans were injured in traffic accidents.

BAKED HAM RHEINGOLD

(Exclusive to California Eagle by Barbara Mounts)

- 10 to 12 pound ham
- 1 cup brown sugar
- cloves
- 3 tablespoons mustard
- 2 tablespoons flour
- pineapple slices or apricot halves
- 1 pint RHEINGOLD BEER

Place ham fat side up in baking pan, allow about 3 to 3½ hours at 325 degrees. Pour over ham Rheingold beer, basting frequently. When ham is tender, remove skin, score fat, add cloves to studding fat. Spread with mustard. Cover surface with brown sugar mixed with flour. Return to oven and bake at 400 degrees for abot 15 minutes or until sugar is melted and ham has a golden brown glaze. Pineapple slices or apricots may be placed on ham for garnish.

Knight D[illegible]en[illegible]s Bias; Admits [illegible]pposition To Strong FEPC

Governor Goodwin Knight's stand on FEPC stirred up a political hornet's nest this week as Richard Graves, Democratic candidate for Governor, pointed to Knight's own words "as proof of the governor's bitter opposition to fair employment legislation." Graves is on record as favoring FEPC.

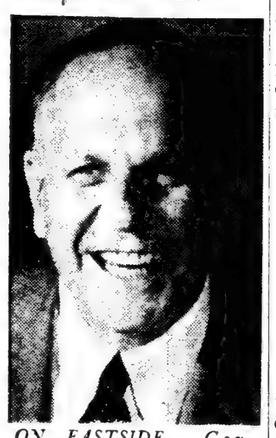
The incident grew out of Knight's address to some 500 Stanford students last Monday.

During the question-and-answer period which followed his speech, Knight, Republican candidate for governor, was asked how he stood on FEPC.

Opposes Law

Knight replied, "I am opposed to FEPC because you cannot make morality by force. You can't force people to do things by law. You can't legislate decency.

"I'll tell you what I told the Teamsters when they asked me the same question," continued Knight. "I asked them: How would you like to have a Negro riding and sleeping in the same truck with you?"



While he told the Eagle that he didn't know what the Governor said at Stanford, Ray F. Leheny, public relations director for the Teamsters Union, flatly denied that Knight had made any such statement to that union. Leheny said that the governor "went unequivocally on record as favornig FEPC" in his appearance befor the Teamsters.

Up In The Air

Queried by the Eagle as to where he stands on FEPC, Governor Knight's headquarters responded with a statement that left the issue up in the air. They said that he had said the same things to the "Stanford

LOW DOWN PAYMENT

Every man, or at least almost every man, wants to own his own home. That very laudable and understandable desire has led to some pretty fast financial shuffles in home financing which have left all too many bewildered home buyers bogged down in debts they never intended to contract.

The "low down payment" dodge so widely advertised by some real estate brokers is a booby trap. It has snared a disproportionate number of Negroes because they have been excluded from the new homes built with FHA guaranteed funds. Those FHA financed homes have been sold at small down payments because of the financial advantages such financing affords. The average Negro buyer has had to do the best he could in the used-home market.

Let's take a look at one of these "low down payment" deals from the time our man reads the advertisement. He calls the broker and is assured that all he has to do is to pay $500 down and he can move right into a home that costs him, let's say, $9500. He fences around a while and on being reassured he gathers up his $500 and goes to escrow.

Dotted Lines

Sure enough, the escrow papers provide that he is to pay $500 down and get title to the place. That looks fine. Some-

Allen Brown LACC King

Allen Brown, 21, of 4213 Naomi ave., was named student king to reign over activities of Los Angeles City College's 25th anniversary observance.

He will share honors with Queen Barbara Lee Cooke, 21, of 2417 Moreno drive. They will be crowned Monday. The coronation will launch a week of activities ending with a banquet at Elks Lodge No. 99 May 1.

Edgar G. Brown Meets Sudden Death in Chicago

CHICAGO—Colorful, compelling and sensational Edgar G. Brown is dead, victim, police believed, of a heart attack.

Brown, of the piercing and penetrating eyes and distinguishing goatee, died in Provident hospital after the station wagon he was driving jumped the curb and crashed into a tree in Washington Park.

Head of the National Negro Council for which he maintained offices in Washington, Brown made his last big political splurge in 1952 when he ran for Congress against Chicago's Congressman, Rep. William L. Dawson. In his unsuccessful fight, he had the backing of the powerful Chicago Tribune.

Tennis Champion

Four times a national tennis champion—in 1922 and 1923, and in a startling comeback in 1928 and 1929—Brown was well known on the West Coast. During this year found he was a familiar figure haranguing passers-by on Central avenue street corners, plumping for his National Negro Council.

Although he was continually collecting funds for the organization, no one was ever able to get any information from him about the group's membership, officers, or what happened to the money donated.

By many he was looked upon as a self-seeking mountebank, but by others he was regarded as an energetic and untiring fighter for civil rights. All agreed, however, that he had a magnetic personality.

Final Decision On Freeway Due This Week

SACRAMENTO — The State Highway Commission this week is deciding the fateful question of whether or not bulldozers will rip apart famed Sugar Hill and the Adams-Westside residential area.

The commission was meeting Wednesday afternoon and Thursday. High up on their agenda was the decision on the route for the proposed Olympic Freeway.

Full details regarding the tentative path of the new artery were transmitted to commissioners following the public hearing in Los Angeles March 24.

At that time representatives of the Adams-Freeway community that will be affected if the recommended route is adopted asked the pointed question: What will happen to the 2166 non-white families living in the area if they have to seek homes elsewhere?

In a "save our homes" plea, spokesmen pointed out the "unique" character of the problem presented, due to the fact that non-whites are barred from new subdivisions; bombed, insulted and threatened when they move into "white" neighborhoods; and charged excessive prices when they are able to purchase property outside of a mixed area.

The need for speedy transportation and the cry for economy were pitted dramatically against this ugly reality of race discrimination. Business interests wers solidly behind the present route. Representatives of the Chambers of Commerce of Culver City, Venice, Beverly Hills, Santa Monica, Malibu, Pacific Palisades and Los Angeles all plugged for the route proposed by city and state engineers.

In selecting the route, engineers claimed that the one they recommend would be more economical than alternate routes.

Dope Peddler J. B. Brown Gets 40 Years

Dope pusher Joseph Boyd "J.B." Brown got the heaviest sentence the law allows when he came up for sentence before Federal Judge William C. Mathes Monday, and still has to face the ordeal of a murder trial.

Immediately following the sentencing, Atty. Walter L. Gordon Jr. announced he would appeal the verdict against his client.

Brown was sentenced to 10 years in prison on each of four counts of possession and selling herein—making a total of 40 years—and fined $8,000. It is the stiffest sentence ever given a narcotics peddler in the local courts.

While Brown was awaiting trial on the dope charge, one of the chief witnesses of the state against him, stool pigeon Frank "Sleepy" Stafford, was shot and killed in an alley behind 1138 E. 27th street. As he was dying he muttered: "Brown did it."

On the basis of this evidence, J. B. was held for the killing.

Rams Four Cars In Hit-Run Accident

Police Wednesday were pondering what charges to file against Miss Esther Fields, a receptionist of 3809 Montclair, after a hit and run, five-car collision Friday at Leimert Park and Stocker.

According to Sgt. McLinden of the traffic division, Miss Fields had been drinking. She was driving a 1953 Buick owned by Edward L. Speights of 2255 W. 27th st., field representative of the Westside office of Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Co.

Sgt. McLinden said she left the scene after the auto struck a parked car which rammed into three others. Slightly injured was Miss Jean Ausman of 4280 Leimert blvd., a friend of Miss Fields.

Miss Ausman denied that she was injured in the accident.

"I really don't know what happened," she told the Eagle. "But Esther had just picked me up and we were going to her house where she was going to help me remove some tape marks off my back. All of a sudden it happened."

Speights said he had loaned his car to Miss Fields and "that's all I know about the accident." He added that about $200 damages was done to his car.

He denied any knowledge of Miss Ausman's injury and said he knew nothing about police reports that Miss Fields had been drinking and had left the scene of the accident.

A friend in need is a friend indeed.

George Berry, of 1468 W. 35th st., was in need of some one to wake him up so he could get to work by midnight last Sunday.

He slugged it out with Hardy—and bit one-third of his ear off.

Local Lads, Teams Take All Honors

Two local youths and five local basketball teams took all honors Wednesday night at the "Award of Champions" banquet given by the City and County Inter-Agency Committee at Rexal Square.

Outstanding Player award in the senior division went to Frank Stafford, Jr., a senior at Jefferson High school, who lives at 2012 Griffith avenue.

Billy McGill, six-foot seven-inch giant, of Carver Junior High school, who plays a towering center, was top man in the junior division.

The Will Rogers Park senior and junior teams ranked first in both divisions, with the Central Playground "Comets" the senior runners-up and the "Newton Daps" runners-up in the junior division.

Homicide Squad In Probe; List Fall As 'Accidental'

By EDDIE LEE KING

An investigation by homicide detectives has cleared Mrs. Della Tate, 28, of 2515 E. 115th street, in the death of her 10-month-old son, Delinor.

Sheriff's Detective J. N. Hamilton said the death Friday of the infant was "accidental."

Mrs. Tate, mother of seven other children and expecting another, said she was about to bathe the baby in their tiny, poverty-swept home when he slipped out of her grasp.

She picked up the screaming infant and started bathing his face to soothe him. He went limp. Alarmed, she summoned A. B. Simon of 2519 E. 115th place, who drove them to a doctor's office.

The baby was dead of a ruptured liver on arrival.

Homicide detectives were called in when it was discovered that a wound on the right temple appeared to be of recent origin.

However, it was learned that one of the other children had struck the baby with a bottle several days ago.

Lester Tate, the dead baby's father, is unemployed and was out looking for work at the time of the accident.

Soldier Held In Death of Wife's Lover

William Tyler, 28, a soldier enroute to Fort Lewis, Wash., stopped off in Los Angeles Friday long enough to kill Deaver Gaskins, 33, of 1053 E. 20th st., whom he accused of having an affair with his wife.

The soldier, formerly stationed at Camp Polk, told Newton street Detectives J. R. Shaffer and R. C. Barclay that he had come home on the 20th of March and warned his wife, Lois Marie, about her relationship with Gaskins.

Mrs. Tyler rents rooms in her home at 1053 E. 20th st. to several men, including the victim, Gaskins.

The soldier felt that his warning was going unheeded, so he returned to Los Angeles last week with a gun he said he had purchased a year ago from Henry Earl Solomon of 1237½ E. 50th st.

"I guess I knew I was going to shoot him when I went and got the gun," he said.

He found Gaskins polishing his car in front of the house. He called him to the front porch and asked him what he had been doing with his wife.

Before Gaskins had time to reply, the soldier fired a single shot which found a fatal mark in the left upper chest. Tyler said Gaskins started walking toward him when he shot. Investigators said the dead man made no threatening gestures toward Tyler.

Police said the weapon is listed by San Bernardino officers as "stolen."

Pistol Whips Partner of Club Capri

A smouldering fight between the owners of the Club Capri at 2920 W. Jefferson burst into the open early Sunday morning when Carl Gibson, 60, of 2424 Crenshaw blvd., pistol whipped his business partner, Cleo Coleman, 48, of 5219 W. 20th st.

University Detectives E. C. Johnson and G. E. Mogle reported that the two men had been having business arguments for several weeks.

However, their differences had been expressed only vocally until last weekend when Gibson walked into the club and for no apparent reason fired one of the bartenders.

When Coleman objected, an argument began. It ended with no agreement between the partners. Early Sunday morning the same argument was started again.

This time, police reported, Gibson reached into his pocket, pulled out a pistol and whipped Coleman on the head.

The injured man struggled to the front door and collapsed. Friends called police who sped him to Georgia Receiving hospital. Gibson was booked on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Crook Cops Cop's Coat In the Clink

A crook copped a cop's coat and Jonathan Click got clipped in the clink.

It all happened at Newton street police station and here's a chuckle-by-chuckle description of what happened.

Arthur D. Kuelper of 14209 Close st., Whittier, a policeman, reported to work and hung his topcoat on a hanger near the shine stand in the Newton street station about 12:30 a.m. Monday.

The topcoat was still hanging there minding its own business at 5 a.m. But when the officer was ready to go home about 9 a.m. his coat was gone—stolen. And with it, his badge.

Kuelper estimated his loss at $30. Not counting his pride.

Fellow officers were hardly through joshing Kuelper about his coat when a disturbance in the misdemeanor tank caught their attention.

On investigating, officers learned that B. F. Tyson, described as a prizefighter, had stolen $2.07 from Jonathan Click, 39, a cook of 1343 E. 27th street.

Compton's New NAACP Branch In Public Bow

Compton's newly formed branch of the NAACP made its public bow Monday night with a program at the appropriately named Abraham Lincoln school with civic and community leaders on hand to issue an official welcome.

Mayor Frank Bussing heard Jesse Robinson, branch president, and Lester Bailey, West Coast field secretary, describe the objectives of the NAACP as those of securing equal treatment for all Americans in all phases of the nation's political and economic life. James G. Butler, city attorney, said that his office would guarantee fair and equal protection to all Compton citizens.

The NAACP's long fight for civil rights was described by Attorney Loren Miller who praised Compton citizens for their foresight in forming a branch of the Association to enlist in that fight. Mrs. Ardella Tibby, superintendent of schools, extended a welcome on behalf of school officials.

Music was furnished by the Elks band under direction of Millard F. Lacy, Barbara Pulliam and the Five Chromatics. The Rev. S. J. Brusher of Loyola University pronounced the invocation.

Officers of the branch include Roy Doty, vice president; Mrs. Edward Kerly, secretary; Mrs. James Butler, treasurer and Thomas F. Hughes, director of public relations.

Ethel Bryant Hurt As Cab Is Hit By Streetcar

Mrs. Ethel Bryant and Miss Eleanor Chambers, field representatives for Congressman Sam Yorty, were injured Monday when the taxi in which they were riding was hit by a streetcar in the 2400 block on W. 7th street.

The car struck the rear of the cab and knocked it forward about 20 feet.

Mrs. Bryant suffered internal hemorrhages. She was taken to her home and confined to bed.

Political Spotlight

By James H. Anderson

Bill Pollard, general chairman of the Dining Car Cooks and Waiters Union local 582 and 456 A. F. of L., is spot lighted this week.

James Anderson

Pollard is vice chairman of the Southern California Yorty for U. S. Senate campaign committee, and has been named co-ordinator of Negro activities for the Graves for governor campaign. Bill has been tabbed the number one Negro Democrat. He was one of the leaders of the fight to endorse Graves and Roybal at the recent state A. F. of L. Convention. His chief campaign aides are Ethel Bryant, Herbert James, and the Friendship Democratic Club.

The Biscaluz for Sheriff Campaign is coming to life. It is reported that Attorney Vince M. Townsend, Travis T. Lott, Reverands H. Mansfield Collins, Douglas Farrell and former mortician, Wilbur Fisher, are organizing the campaign among Negro voters. We hear that Leon Hardwick is slated for the job of publicity and public relations for Biscailuz.

A fund raising dinner for councilman Edward R. Roybal, Democratic endorsed candidate for lieutenant governor, held Tuesday evening at the Thistle Inn netted approximately $2,000. Negro supporters of Roybal are planning a similar affair.

Assemblyman George Collins, the Democratic endorsed candidate for state controller, will be in town Wednesday through April 30. Collins will be available to speak before groups. Those interested can reach Collins by calling Fay Porter at MA 6-3741 or MA 6-8206.

Wendell Green, Herman Hill and Orlan Staten are busy working up the Ned Redding congressional campaign in the 26th District. Headquarters for Redding will be opened on Central Ave. next week. It is reported that a Bar-B-Q is planned by the Committee at Ross Snyder's Playground next week end.

Republicans expect to raise upward to $400,000 for Southern California campaigns at the $100.00 plate Centenial Dinner to be held tonight, 6:30 p.m. at Shrine Exposition Hall. Negro Republicans expected to participate in this lavish affair are Paul R. Williams, Dr. Jefferson D. Fowler, B. B. Bratton and Bettye Jones.

Campaign Headquarters for Leon M. Giles, candidate for Congress in the 26th District, will open Friday (April 23). Refreshments will be served from 3 till 12 midnight. Headquarters are located in the Blodgett Building, 2514½ So. Central Ave. Giles is the lone Negro running in the 26th District. A registered Republican, he has cross-filed on both tickets. B. B. Bratton, Attorney Ivan Johnson and Louis Cole are top campaign managers.

A group of 30 young people of the 55th assembly district formed a young Democratic club Monday, at a meeting held at the St. Martin Eposcipal Church, 13205 Wilmington Ave. The group is inter-racial and is interested in receiving Mexican-American participation. Helen Bowman was elected president. The next meeting is set for May 3, at the same address. Persons interested may call Miss Bowman at LO 9-7525.

The Friendship Democratic Club is holding a Cocktail Party for all endorsed Democratic candidates Sunday from starting 3 p.m. at the Crystal Center, 4818 South Avalon Blvd. The Compton Democratic Club officially opened headquarters for all its candidates Wednes-

NAACP Plans Breath-Taking Ice Carnival

Plans for making this year's special event of the NAACP the biggest "big time" operation ever seen in this area were set in motion last Friday evening, when Mrs. Lillie Montgomery, chairman of the Special Activities committee, dined members of the press at the Hotel Watkins.

The plans are breath-taking, and could not have been conceived by anyone less courageous, determined and devoted to the ideals of the NAACP than Mrs. Montgomery.

On June 6, a tremendous "Festival on Ice," starring internationally famous Mable Fairbanks and a spectacular group of non-professional interracial youngsters, will take over at the Shrine auditorium, with a seating capacity of well over 6,000.

Press representatives pledged complete cooperation to publicize the event so that every single seat of the entire auditorium will be filled.

Mrs. Montgomery explained the great need for funds in order to carry on the voluminous tasks of the association. Civil rights violation are numerous and flagrant, she pointed out, but money to combat them is shamefully scant.

Mrs. Montgomery was assisted in presenting the case of the NAACP and the magnificant festival that is being planned by Vice Pres. Atty. Thomas G. Neusom and Mrs. Maudie Henderson.

Mark the date on your calendar—June 6, Sunday afternoon. Better still, get in touch with the NAACP, buy your tickets early, and see to it that your friends, and your friends' friends and their neighbors and their cousins circle the date and make their reservations at the earliest possible moment.

received the Youth Sportsmanship award.

The awards are presented quarterly for champions in touch football, basketball, softball and baseball, and are designed to reach thousands of boys throughout the city who play on park teams.

Young Stafford, 18, came to Los Angeles from Fresno, and hopes to enter college next year, after graduation. He lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stafford.

Billy McGill, an A-8 student at Carver, expects to go to Jeff next year. Born in San Angelo, Texas, he came here with his mother, Mrs. Dorothy McGill, 3727 S. Mettler, in 1945.

The championship banquet to the winners was provided by the Owl Drug Company. Ralph Borelli and Alva Collier presented the awards on behalf of the sponsoring groups, including the City and County Parks departments, the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Deputy Auxiliary Police, the Los Angeles Examiner and the Catholic Youth Organization.

Forrest Twogood, head basketball coach at USC, was chief speaker, with Johnny Carson, of CBS television, master of ceremonies.

MEET NED REDDING, ROOSEVELT'S OPPONENT

Redding Is Publisher, Active In Church and Community Affairs

Affable and friendly Ned Redding, whose neighbors speak well of him as a church-going family man, is the first person to admit that he never dreamed he would be the center of what will probably be the most widely publicized political campaign in the nation when he decided to run for Congress last winter. But that is the spot he is in.

Redding is the man who is opposing James Roosevelt for Congress in the 26th district in the primary election June 8.

The nation's eyes are turned on the 26th district because of Roosevelt's insistence on running despite public exposure of a kiss-and-tell letter in which he admitted to his wife that he had been intimate with a dozen women during his married life. Even a public plea from Democratic Chairman Stephen Mitchell to get out of the race for the good of the party hasn't moved Jimmy.

Who's Redding?

Democrats all over the nation who hadn't given much thought to a Congressional race in California have taken a second look and are wanting to know just who Redding is.

The answer is that Nat Redding is a newspaper publisher, a civic leader with a long rec-

Urban League Gives Awards At Annual Meet

The Urban League's highest award, the E. K. Jones roving trophy for outstanding achievements in good racial hiring policies, was given Friday night to the Sinclair Paint Co., at the League's annual meeting.

Ralph Edwards and his show "This Is Your Life," was given the special Urban League plaque.

Additional awards were presented to Lorenzo Bowdoin, civic, business and church leader; the International Ladies Garment Workers Union, AFL; Harry Maizlish, president of KFWB.

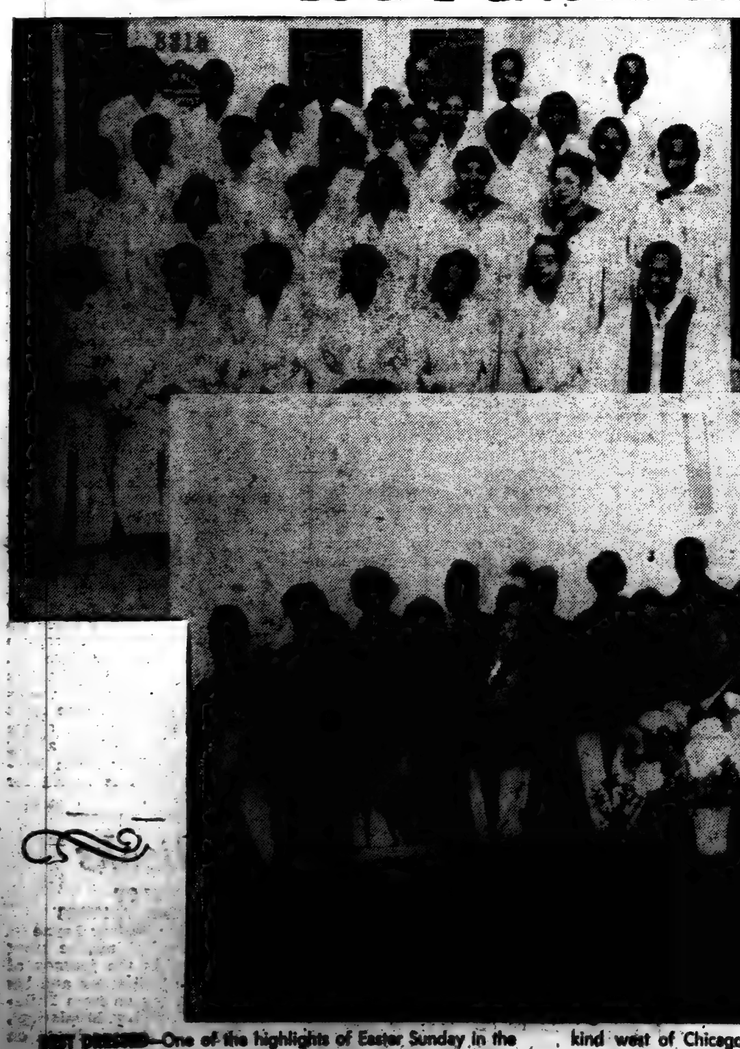
Also honored were Mrs. Ella K. Mays, untiring worker for community betterment; Belden Morgan, deputy chief appraiser of the FHA, L.A. branch; Sam Ishihara, owner of the B. & B. Department store; and Ryan P. Clark, secretary of the L.A. Retail Meat Cutter's Joint Apprenticeship committee.

Approximately 900 persons gathered at the Los Angeles High School Auditorium to witness the presentations.

Jack Webb, star and director of the popular NBC show "Dragnet," presented the awards to the honored recipients.

John West, vice-president of NBC in charge of Western Division, who was last year's winner of the Jones Award, relinquished the coveted trophy to Leo Sinclair, representing his company.

Main speaker for the evening was Lt. Commander Dennis E. Nelson, highest ranking Negro officer in the US Navy, who spoke on "Integration of the Negro into the United States Navy."



The meeting was further highlighted with musical selections by bass soloist, Robert Williams, accompanied by Bernice Lawson.

Urban League president, George A. Beavers, delivered his annual report of the League's activities and accomplishments during the past year.

LOCAL CHOIRS-USHER BOARDS GREET EASTER IN SMART ATTIRE

BEST DRESSED—One of the highlights of Easter Sunday in the Angel City was the colorfully garbed choirs and smartly tailored usher groups. The choral groups featured pastel shadings in such colors as Crystal Biege, French Lilac, Winter White, Grey Metal, Aquacade. In some instances, two and three colors were used in the robe stylings. The firm most responsible for the beautiful array of choral vestments and [illegible] uniforms is the Henri O'Bryant Uniform Manufacturing Co. at 1144 North Western Avenue, in Hollywood. [illegible] Negro owned and operated business of its kind west of Chicago. Heading the firm is Henri O'Bryant, young ex-Navy veteran and recently voted Baptist Layman of the Year from the West Coast. He is assisted by his wife and a staff of more than 20 persons. O'Bryant gives each church group his careful attention and personal advice as to choral robes and other church uniforms. Churches interested in ordering robes for Mother's Day, still have time to do so. TOP LEFT—Miracle Missionary Baptist Church choir, 84th and Central Avenue, is pictured resplendent in robes made in time for their Easter program by Mr. O'Bryant. IN CENTER—The 60 odd voice radio choir of Grace Memorial Church at 46th and Compton Avenue, was impressively garbed in pastel robes. TOP RIGHT—Pacoima Community Baptist Church received high praise for the vestments worn by the choir on Easter Sunday. BOTTOM LEFT—A section of the choir at Pleasant Hill Baptist Church on North Bonnie Brea Avenue. MR. O'BRYANT shows a brand new innovation in usher uniform identification arm bands. Editorial

Faithless Public Agency

Enough has been told to prove that builders of rental housing under the Federal Housing Administration program made enormous profits by getting loans in excess of building costs and pocketing the difference.

For example, a builder would get a loan from a bank for a million dollars for a housing development. FHA would guarantee the loan. Then the builder would construct the building for $800,000 and turn a neat profit of $200,000. The banks couldn't lose because FHA had guaranteed the loan. The builder couldn't lose because he didn't have a dime invested.

It is difficult to believe that shoddy performances of this kind could have occurred without the active collusion of lending institutions, builders and FHA.

While FHA was blind, or worse, to tricky financial shenanigans that may yet cost the government a substantial sum of money, it was equally blind, or worse, to the racial discrimination that was being practiced by the builders and financial institutions that backed the rental developments.

It is an open secret that Negro veterans, as well as Mexican-Americans and Japanese-Americans, could not rent housing in these developments despite the fact that the law specifically gave veterans first preference on such rentals. This state of affairs was called to the attention of FHA time and again. It turned a deaf ear to all pleas for equality of treatment by Negroes.

The standard FHA excuse was that the construction and financing of this rental housing had to be done in the course of "sound business principles" and that builders and lenders feared depreciation in values in case Negroes were permitted to rent units. FHA painted itself as the custodian of the public good and said that it was unwilling to jeopardize the government's credit which had been pledged to guarantee the loan.

It is plain enough now that FHA's pretended concern for the public good was a sham and a fraud in many cases. The records indicate that it guaranteed loans that exceeded building costs by at least a half billion dollars. FHA was as faithless to its trust in respect to its financial obligations as it was in reference to its duty to serve all Americans despite difference of race or color.

Look Who's Talking

If the matter weren't so serious, charges preferred against the Los Angeles County Conference on Community Relations by Gerald L. K. Smith's outfit and the Pasadena School Development Council, would be downright funny.

These groups charge that the Conference is "divisive" which seems to mean that it is dividing the citizens of Los Angeles into segments based on racial, national or religious identification.

The Pasadena Council has been neck deep in the efforts to maintain a fancy brand of school segregation in its home city. Smith's group thrives on setting race against race, and religious group against religious group. The only difference between it and the old-fashioned Klan is that its methods are more modern.

The Los Angeles County Conference is composed of more than 70 organizations representing various racial, religious, labor and human relations groups. Its prime purpose is the elimination of tensions between groups and it is working as hard as it can to put itself out of business by helping create a community in which racial and religious differences won't divide the citizenry.

There have been times when we have thought that the Conference was a little too slow about tackling problems that seemed to us to need a more direct approach, but we have always recognized that its goals were those of uniting all segments in the community in the common pursuit of democratic ideals.

The Smith and Pasadena attacks seem to us to indicate that the Conference is doing its job a little too well to suit the hate peddlers. Smith's Christian Nationalist Party has a tough time finding recruits and converts where Americans have shed themselves of the nonsense that race or religion or color or place of national origin should be a factor in the enjoyment of basic citizenship rights. Smith wants strife and conflict, not unity.

The County Conference is on a solid organizational footing after several years of solid building. Every decent citizen in the city should rally to its defense against the attacks of those who want to spread hate and disunity.

Salute To Compton

Miller Barbour, West Coast Urban League executive, commented last week that smaller West Coast cities are failing to assume responsibility of tackling the problems that inevitably arise when there is a rapid increase in Negro population.

The city of Compton is an honorable exception to that rule. Its citizens have taken a searching look at its problems of human relations and have decided, correctly, that it is up to them to meet the issues.

Compton's latest move in that direction is the formation of a branch of the NAACP. The gratifying thing about the new branch is that it has drawn its membership from the entire community. Officers and members include prominent city officials. Its initial meeting attracted the mayor, the head of its school system and other responsible citizens.

A couple of months ago the Compton Chamber of Commerce invited the publisher of this newspaper to talk at its membership meeting on the question of civil rights.

We are sure that these, and other similar steps, will bear fruit and that Compton's interracial problems that were at a very tense stage a few months ago will be solved to the satisfaction and mutual profit of all concerned.

Compton will find that fears and prejudices will dissolve in direct proportion to its willingness and ability to respect the rights of all its citizens without reference to race or color. In their proper turn the Negro residents of Compton must shoulder their share of community responsibilities. Together, the citizens of Compton can make it a model community that will demonstrate the validity of the assumption that the democratic way of life offers the best hope for solutions of the problems of modern man.

Now Vote On June 8

Voter registration rolls closed last Thursday and those who filed to get their names on the lists can't vote in the June 8 primary.

Indications are that the drive conducted by the Elks, the churches and labor unions got a good many new voters on that eligible list.

The job now is to get the registered voters to the polls. Statistics show that in the ordinary primary election less than half of those eligible vote.

We think that the same groups which did such a good job of finding new registrants ought to keep their organization together and use it to try to get every person who is eligible to cast his vote to do so on June 8.

Candidates for United States senator, governor, state senator, assemblymen and other state officers will be selected and it is important that every voter have his say in the selection of candidates for the November election.

No matter what anybody else does you can do your duty as a citizen by voting June 8. And while you're at it, why not get your neighbor to go to the polls with you?

One Man's Opinion

A CHURCHMAN'S BREAKFAST WORTH ATTENDING

Some time ago we wrote a story on the pastor of Westminster Presbyterian church. Well, a fine commentary on that very pastor is the fine men's club which is a part of that church. There is much that we do not know about that men's club but we want to tell you of their splendid Sunday morning breakfasts which we have visited three times at least.

This men's club was started just about a year after Westminster moved into its new and commodious church edifice. In fact it began in September 1950, when a young lawyer presented a constitution for adoption. This same young lawyer, Atty. William Rex Freeman was chosen the club's first president.

Leon Steward

It is the policy of the Presbyterian Church to organize men's clubs. In fact their is a national and synod organization of these Presbyterian laymen. Atty. Freeman is now a member of the L.A. Presbytery Men's Council, representing one of the best organized and functioning men's clubs of the Synod.

A Sunday Breakfast

The plan of the breakfast which meets every second Sunday is to welcome every man of the church and others of the community to dine with them at 8 a.m. The breakfast is well prepared and served by the men themselves.

At the end of the meal a program is presented by the program committee. At the last meeting the subject was "Youth Problems in the Church," with two well qualified discussants participating, after which the entire group contributed to the discussion. On previous occasions the club has had such other discussions as "Probate Matters," led by Atty. David Williams. Dr. Ellis E. Toney diseussed "Psycopathic Medicine," Dr. John Somerville, "Man of Color," which he wrote. Architect Paul Williams was also a discussion leader at one of the breakfasts.

Leadership

How is the meal paid for? Well, it's prorated by dividing the cost of the breakfast by the number of breakfasters. It never costs a dollar but is well worth one.

It appears that Mr. Freeman served in 1950 to early in '52. He was followed by A. J. Williams, of the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Co., who, in turn, was succeeded by Charles Fearing. We would call that good leadership. The group is quite a cross-section of the better class of men of all walks of life. Some are laborers, some are professionals, but the fellowship is excellent indeed.

Youth Problems

In the discussion which we heard under the leadership of Atty. Freeman and Isaac McClelland of the public schools, we find that we listed these problems of youth: 1. Older people who do not try to understand the youth's side of a question; 2. the youth wants opportunity to serve; 3. What do adults of the church contribute to the training of youth for service in the home, school, church or community? 4. Youth cries for acceptance; 5. Youth resents rejection even more than adults.

These were the subjects discussed at the breakfast which we attended. Why don't other men's groups take up such subjects? If yours does, please let us know. But these are vital subjects and we commend the Westminster Presbyterian Church Men's Club for this discussion and for all the we have seen of their club.

Pure and Simple

By L. F. Palmer Jr.

Ever know a man who hated God?

If not, backtrack across the years with me. Cross the nation to the East Coast. It's 1941 and the scene is a bull session in Kingsley Hall, Virginia Union University in Richmond.

Young men — future doctors, teachers, ministers and what not—are sprawled about a large room in various night get-ups. An eloquent voice knifes through the smoke that hangs blanket-like across the room.

"God Is a Racket"

The speaker is a young, handsome chap. Smart. Brilliant, maybe. The ends of cigarettes light up like fireflies as William H. Luke of Los Angeles systematically and fanatically preaches hatred and contempt for God.

The room is quiet except for this utterly persuasive and commanding voice quoting, spitting, spewing nauseating theories that "God is a racket"; "religion is for fools"; "only the ignorant believe in God"; "Jesus Christ is for the birds."

Shocked voices are raised in protest but none has the conviction, the power nor the eloquence of the man who hated God.

Meet the Family

Now come back with me to Los Angeles. It's 1954, just before Easter. Meet the family from whence came this man, William H. Luke, who hated God so fiercely. His mother is a preacher. His father is a preacher. His brother is a preacher. A sister is a preacher. Another is a Sunday school superintendent. A third sister is an active church worker.

The Rev. Jerusha Luke mothered the man who hated God. She also mothered Faith Temple Baptist church at 934 E. Jefferson blvd., which she now pastors. From the time she was a little girl she carried in her heart the admonition of her minister: When you grow up and have a man child, give him back to God. He needs ministers to carry on his work.

Heart Cried Tears

The Rev. Jerusha Luke made a minister out of one son, Alfred, and out of a daughter, Martha. But her heart cried real tears whenever she tried to reason with her son who hated God.

"You're ignorant," he'd taunt. "You're a foolish woman. Don't try to sell me that line."

And so William H. Luke went on to the University of Minnesota, to UCLA, studying every conceivable type of religion and mapping out "scientific" answers to their teachings.

William H. Luke became a poet, an actor, a radio and stage producer. He posed as a Moroccan and gave esoteric lectures on metaphysics. And he kept on hating God.

Strange Happening

Then one day a strange thing happened. It was August, 1952. He was "meditating" in his spacious Hollywood Hills home. The simple thought occurred to him that in all the religions he had attacked, a central theme ran throughout—"God Is Love."

"I was completely overcome," he tells it now with pride. "Emotionally, physically, spiritually I succumbed to God. I was converted."

He gave up his luxury home, all his expensive clothes, all his cash money and "humbled myself completely to serve the Master."

Today, the man who hated God is the REVEREND William H. Luke, assistant pastor of Faith Temple. Compassion, tenderness and humility blend to make his voice a thousand times more eloquent and the Lord, who moves in a mysterious manner, has lured a good man to His corner.

Judge Hastie Warns Against Complacency

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Federal Judge William H. Hastie predicted a rather extensive integration of one segment of the Negro population into community life in an address at Howard University last Monday night, but at the same time, warned against any complacency which would cause it to lose concern for other Negroes and American generally.

Judge Hastie, a member of the U. S. Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit, Philadelphia, Pa., was the principal speaker at ceremonies honoring 16 new members of the Howard Chapter of Phi Beta Kapp, national honorary scholastic society.

Special Danger

Declaring that it is a "common disease of the democratic spirit" to accept American society as a self-winding mechanism or a self-perpetuating scheme, Judge Hastie said, "The high susceptibility of persons relatively comfortable and secure in their family associations points up a very special danger of our times which seems bound to affect more and more Negroes in the years ahead.

"In the past, the well-educated Negro, even if relatively secure, no less than his less-educated or less-secure brother was actually treated like an alien and a pariah in his own country. If only to retain personal pride and human dignity he had to stay in the struggle to make a more decent society," he said, "but I see ahead a rather extensive integration of what was once called the 'talented tenth' of the Negro population into the general life of the community. The danger is that this process be attended by loss of primary concern for the defects and injustices of our society as they affect other Negroes and other people generally."

Field Is Broad

Judge Hastie, who was formerly dean of the School of Law at Howard and at one time Governor of the Virgin Islands, listed the beginning of effective mobilization and action against slum living, and the reordering of living to eliminate artificial barriers of origin, race, and religion as ways in which community services can be rendered.

"The field is broad," he said, "and each of us can find something to do, something as interesting to the doer as it is valuable to his fellowmen."

Declaring that people who are now strangers because of the present caste and class structures can be brought together by a common interest, Judge Hastie said, "I think it is very important that we seize every such opportunity to make common cause with other Americans. For until we have close human association with people who have problems different from our own and whose outlook on life is colored by a different body of experiences, we don't know the American scene."

Trail Blazers

Judge Hastie paid tribute to the Howard Phi Beta Kappa chapter, saying that its is a symbol of the reality of first-class education in a scholarly community where the majority of the faculty and the majority of the students are Negroes.

He referred to Ralph Bunche, Percy Julian, and Charles Houston—all former faculty members at Howard—as intellectual trailblazers during the first half-century, saying that their type of leadership was based on genuine scholarship.

"With the trail thus blazed," he stated, "the second half of the Twentieth Century should be the period during which superior scholarship and achievement based upon it become for the first time really widespread among American Negroes.

"Every scholarly and well-trained Negro will not have the opportunity, even if he should have the genius, to be a Bunche, or a Houston, or a Julian, to mention three Phi Beta Kappans, but he will have the fundamental equipment both to make some area of American life better and the status of his race, by so much, higher and more secure," Judge Hastie concluded.

Judge Hastie was elected to Phi Beta Kappa at Amherst College in 1924.

Loren Miller

where along the line he is told that a first loan will have to be placed. He agrees to that. Then there's the matter of the second trust deed. That looks okay too. He signs on the dotted line, several dotted lines in fact.

A few days later the beaming broker tells our man that a first loan for $5000 has been arranged and that since the seller is taking back the second he will have to sign for a second in the amount of $4000. (We're not talking about one of those deals we described two issues back in which the second paper is doubled.) Our man does some quick arithmetic and comes to the sound conclusion that five plus four is nine. He's happy. He doesn't stop to figure how much interest he is going to pay—even at 6 6 per cent.

A few days later comes a letter from the escrow telling our heretofore happy buyer that the escrow is ready to close and asking him to deposit an additional $286.12. He's up in the air now and rushes to phone the broker. Ah, that's easy, according to the broker. He gets pencil and paper and spills out some figures. Now our man learns for the first time that he owes a brokerage fee on the loan, say $150. There are escrow charges. The.e are title policy charges. There are other charges. Add them all up and they come to $286.12. But our man hasn't got $286.12. The $500 he put down was all he had in the world—plus a little loan from his mother-in-law and his first cousin who works at Lockheed. Take another try, advises the broker.

Sweats It Out

Our buyer sweats it out for a few days but the best he can do is to pinch off $36.12 from his weekly pay check. He talks about backing out but finds out that if he does he stands to lose all, or almost all, of his deposit. He's completely floored. Then the broker gallops to the rescue. It turns out that he is to get a five per cent commission on the deal. That's legitimate. He's worked for it and he's entitled to it. Now, proposes the broker, he will credit $250 of his commission to our man's account in order to close the deal. He doesn't do it for everybody, you understand, but in this case—well that's different.

Our man goes back to the dotted line ritual again and puts his name on a little document which is a third trust deed in favor of the broker, payable at $20 per month, bearing the modest interest of 10 per cent and all due within a year. Now our man is over weighted with debt. He has strained to the utmost in order to pay the first and second notes and the third note leaves him with next to nothing with which to meet the bills for shoes, clothes and the family washing machine.

Perfectly Legal

There's nothing illegal about a transaction of this kind. I set it down here to point up the manner in which the low down payment dodge can be used as a booby trap to bog a buyer down in debt. It's the same kind of a wheeze you hear over radio and TV every night in which you're told that you can buy a used car for nothing down with payments of a few cents a day. What you're not told is that a transaction of this kind is only a come-on designed to benefit the seller, not the buyer.

All real estate brokers don't use this device. But all too many do. And in all too many instances our man is a home owner for a relatively short time. After a few months many such buyers are so tangled up in debt that they can't keep up the payments. They give up. One of the trust deed holders takes over and in a few weeks there is the same house right back in the same real estate columns, advertised as a Big Bargain with Low Down Payment. The hook is baited for another victim.

Church Names Rev. Garland Millet Head of Adventists' Oakwood College

A Los Angeles minister has been named president of Oakwood college, Huntsville, Ala., the Pacific Union Conference headquarters of the Seventh-day Adventist denomination announced this week.

Appointed to the post was Garland J. Millet, 13432 Stanford Ave., pastor for the past five years of the Los Angeles Berean and Santa Monica Delaware Avenue Adventist churches.

Millet, noted Adventist minister and educator, will assume his new duties in September at Oakwood, senior liberal arts college. This will be his third term on the faculty of the school, his first as president.

He will succeed F. L. Peterson, president of the college since 1945, who is returning to the ministry.

Pastor Millet has taught 14 years in Seventh-day Adventist schools, including Los Angeles academy, Oakwood and Union academy, Washington, D.C.

He is a graduate of Pacific Union college, Angwin, Calif., from which he also received a Master of Arts degree in English. He has done additional graduate study at the Seventh-day Adventist Theological seminary, Washington, D.C.

The new president of Oakwood is married and has two children. Mrs. Millet is a teacher at Los Angeles academy.

Oakwood, a co-educational boarding school, is one of 10 senior colleges operated by Seventh-day Adventists in the United States. Its enrollment includes students from nearly every state in the Union and several foreign countries.

SOJOURNER TRUTH HOME MARKS ITS 50th BIRTHDAY

The Sojourner Truth Home is a bee-hive of activity with the Golden Anniversary celebration high on the agenda. The president, Mrs. Jayne W. Holmes, has outlined a four-point program which will be announced soon.

The Keynote Committee, headed by Mrs. Maud Rosamond Johnson, is making elaborate plans toward the celebration, which promises to be a highlight of the Fall social calendar.

Their slogan for this series of events is "50 in 54," of which Mrs. Holmes is the author.

At the last meeting Mrs. Ella Brown, vice president and program chairman, conducted an interesting session. Mrs. Sara Judkins of Gray's Conservatory of Music, rendered "Morning" by Oley Speaks, and "Mah Lindy Lou" by Strickland.

She was accompanied by Mrs. Maud Rosamond Johnson, also an outstanding musician. Mrs. Vassie Brown, principal of Watts Elementary School, was guest speaker.

Tasty refreshments were served by the social committee, Mrs. Mamie Dillard, chairman. The April meeting will be held at Harvard House, 2123 S. Harvard blvd., Monday, the 22nd, 1 p.m.

The president is urging a full attendance. A luncheon and tour of Helms Bakery is scheduled for May 27.

Thousands to Ask Peace at Mary's Hour

Thousands of people will gather at the Los Angeles Coliseum for Mary's Hour, Sunday, May 2.

These men and women will assemble publicly, as they have for the past six years at the beginning of May, to pray for peace. At 3 p.m. that afternoon these thousands will join together in prayer to the Mother of God so that through her intercession a lasting peace might come to the world.

From the Coliseum floor the rosary will be led by men in the uniform of our country, by mothers and fathers, and by their children. And from the stands of the huge bowl thousands upon thousands of people will respond in the community of prayer.

The Most Reverend Joseph T. McGucken, bishop of Los Angeles archdiocese will be the main speaker and the hour will close with solemn Benediction.

This week students of the four local Catholic colleges are organizing and promoting Mary's Hour through TV films, radio announcements posters, and cards. The actual publicity work has been going on for the past six weeks.

Friends and neighbors are being reminded to come to Mary's Hour. The day is being set apart for the most powerful weapon for peace that exists—prayer.

Inter-racial Church Schedules Tea Sunday

Young people, with Doris Howard and Dan Towler as special guests, will be featured at the 7th annual post-Easter tea at the Church of Christian Fellowship April 25 from 3-6 p.m.

The church, known as "The Church Without Race or Class Barriers," is located at 3125 W. Adams blvd.

Outstanding artists have been obtained to present a special musical program and community singing will be featured under the direction of Floy Debnam Lassiter.

General chairman of the program is Mrs. Camille Van Hargis.

Special tables will be displayed by the Flower committee, the Guild, the Pastor's Aid and the Palmer group.

According to Mrs. Van Hargis, a special invitation is extended to churches and their ministers. Assisting Mrs. Van Hargis in the arrangements are Mmes. Betty Hill, Mamie J. Love, Mamie J. Duffy, Bernice Van Gundy.

Church Deadline

The editors of the California Eagle are anxious to publish all church news submitted each week. In order to accomplish this, however, it is necessary that church reporters submit copy before deadline.

All church news and pictures must be in the office of the California Eagle before 5 p.m. each Monday. Persons handling church news are urged to meet this deadline. Late copy cannot be considered for publication in the Eagle.

ST. VESTAL FETES KING

St. Vestal C.M.E. church of Long Beach is presenting its first appreciation program for Pastor John W. King before he leaves for Memphis, Tenn., where his general conference will be held next month.

The program will be held at New Hope Baptist church, 921 E. 10th st. in Long Beach, Sunday April 25 at 2:30 p.m.

Rev. O. L. Lakey of San Pedro, the boy preacher, will be the speaker. Various churches and choirs and organizations of Long Beach and Los Angeles will be present.

Rev. N. J. Kirkpatrick is the host pastor. Mrs. Mercie Henry is chairman of the committee, and Mrs. Dorothy Crockett is reporter.

Bishop Jordan's Wife To Speak At 1st AME

Mrs. Artisha W. Jordan, wife of Bishop Frederick D. Jordan, whose conflicts with the South African government were widely publicized, will be the guest speaker for the evening service at First A.M.E. church, Eighth and Towne, Sunday, April 25, at 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. Jordan accompanied Bishop Jordan on his two recent trips to Southern Rhodesia in South Africa. She will speak on The Challenge of Our Motherland, and will wear native costumes which she brought back from her visits.

Her talk will point out the responsibilities and privileges of Christian American Negroes with regard to the religious, economic, and social problems of South Africa.

Mrs. Jordan is being presented by the Sarah Allan Woman's Missionary society of the First AME church. Mrs. Ruth Shaw, wife of the pastor, is president of the society.

Bishop Jordan was formerly the pastor at First A.M.E. church and Ward A.M.E. Mrs. Jordan is the Episcopal supervisor for the 15th and 17th districts of the African Methodist Episcopal church.

Dinner Slated For Rev. Peters

Rev. A. A. Peters, pastor of the Victory Baptist Church, and chairman of the Conference Committee for Wesley Robert Wells, will be honored by the community at a dinner on Tuesday, April 27.

Attys. Vaino Spencer and Walter Gordon, Jr., and Richard Richards will be speakers. What promises to be a dramatic highlight of the evening will be the presentation to the guests of a personal message from Wells, through his attorney, Charles Garry of San Francisco. A choral group will perform.

The dinner, open to the public, will be held at the church, 48th and McKinley, at 7 p.m.

'Hour of Songs' At Progressive

The Bible band of the Progressive Missionary Baptist church presents "An Hour of Songs," featuring Genevieve Thomas, contralto, and Tandy W. Coggs, Jr., tenor, Sunday April 25, at 6:30 p.m.

Genevieve Thomas, a native of Texas, studied with Lucretia Love for a number of years and is at present is being coached by Edna H. Porter, minister of music of the Progressive Baptist church.

Tandy W. Coggs, Jr., a native of Arkansas, was one of the soloists with the Hampton Institute choir and has sung with the Albert McNeil choir.

The pastor, Dr. R. B. Porter and Cora Walters, Pres. of the Bible Band together with the members of the Church cordially invites you to attend this Special Service.

Bids Let for Swimmin' Hole At Will Rogers

There'll be an ol' swimmin' hole in Will Rogers park come next spring.

This week, the County Board of Supervisors, on motion of Supervisor Kenneth Hahn, approved modifications of plans for the new Mayfair pool, and let bids for construction.

The plans were approved unanimously.

Supervisor Hahn, chairman of the County Parks and Recreation committee, has fought consistently for the swimming pool. He was supported by the Urban League, the Florence-Firestone Chamber of Commerce, the Watts Chamber of Commerce, the Watts Coordinating Council and the Green Meadows District of the Boy Scouts.

The Wesleyan Service Guild of the Holman Methodist church 3320 West Adam Blvd. will present its annual tea and hobby show Sunday, April 25, from 4 until 7 p.m., Johnny Lee and Amanda Randolph will head a star-studded program.

Local Clerics Lead Institute For Ministers

Dr. J. Raymond Henderson and Dr. T. M. Chambers of Los Angeles will be among the nation's outstanding ministers to deliver sermons at the 24th annual Lacy Kirk Williams Ministers' institute at Bishop college, Marshall, Texas.

The theme of the conference, which meets from April 27-30, will be "Christ—The Hope of the World."

In an effort to impart specialized as well as general information to institute delegates, a series of seminars has been scheduled.

Among the subjects to be discussed at these sessions are Faith and Order, Evangelism, International Affairs, Social Questions, Intergroup Relations, Pastoral Counseling, Church Administration, Church Music, Christ and Man's Dilemma.

Theme for the women's department meeting will be "Building Bridges of Understanding." A special youth forum will be held to acquaint young college students with the possibilities of new and significant job opportunities awaiting them.

Calvary Show Called 'Hit'

The beautiful fashion show at Calvary in Santa Monica last Sunday evening was a hit.

The hall was beautifully decorated with an Easter theme and blended in with the show presented by Charley Fortune and his group of church workers.

The little folks thrilled the audience with their modeling. The show was conducted by Mrs. W. P. Carter.

Pilgrim to Hear Ex-Hawaii Pastor

Rev. Gaston Hinton, former pastor of the Full Gospel Mission Church of God in Honolulu, Hawaii, will be the guest speaker at Pilgrim Community church Sunday morning, April 25.

Rev. Hinton has returned to the mainland after having lived on the Island 34 years. He is well known in Hawaii as a Gospel Minister. He has been territorial superviser in his church as well as missionary evangelist on the Islands of Hawaii, Oahu, Maui and Kawai.

Leita White Main Speaker

The monthly meeting of the Missionary society of the South Main Institutional Baptist church, 105 E. 66th st., will have as its speaker and program director Sunday afternoon, April 25, at 3:30 p.m., the well-known missionary and evangelist, Rev. Mrs. Leita White.

Supporting groups to participate will be from Pilgrim Rest Baptist church, Rev. L. Davis, pastor, and the Westside Church of God, Elder and Sister L. Smith, pastors.

Additional services to be held at Institutional Baptist by Rev. Mrs. White with this support will be on Thursday and Friday nights, April 29 and 30 at 8 p.m., and on Sunday afternoon, May 2 at 3:30 p.m.

Rev. L. D. Revoal is pastor of the church.

MANUAL MEETS JEFF IN CINDER SIZZLER

Southern League Honors Assured Friday's Victor

By BRAD PYE

The victory-hunting Manual Arts spikemen—defending state monarchs—looking for their first dual meet triumph against the perennial champion, Jefferson Demos, since 1934, invade the latter's home grounds tomorrow afternoon in what looms as the top local prep dual meet of the decade.

Jordan High in 1945 was the last team to defeat the Jefferson boys in a dual meet. Since that time the Jefferson cindermen have been undefeated in dual outings.

The Toilers, led by Everett "The Horse" Jackson, who has best marks of 50.5 (440), 9.9 (100) and 14.9 (120 highs), are confident this is their year.

Earl Hall, a three-year Manual hurdler, is primed for an all-out performance against Jeff's best of Cliff Smart, Will Chappell, Maurice Giles et al.

The top distance race of the day will pit Jeff's great little miniature halfmiler, Albert McDade (2:02) against Manual's Norm DeBase (2:01.8).

Jeff's dynamic miler, James "Duck" Davis, with the town's best clocking, should pick up the blue ribbon in this one without any strain.

Estel Johnson and John Childress, Demos, appear to have an edge in the field events, with high jumper John Thomas the stickout.

In the sprints, with Ed Walter and Joe Winslow geared for their season's best, Jeff should pick up some valuable points.

The Manual spikers will undoubtedly give the Jefferson boys quite a battle but, whether it's basketball or track we'll stick with the Demos.

SPIKE SPOTLIGHT — Thad Winston, the all-city back of L.A. High, is currently one of the town's best low and high lumber choppers. . . . Jordan's Dan Everage will be out to better his 60.2 shot put mark tomorrow. . . . Cal's Guy Blackburn, the erstwhile Jeff great, didn't compete against UCLA Saturday.

Associated Clubs Open Loop Play

The Associated Club's softballers open league play at Pasadena's Brookside Park and Will Rogers Playground, this Sunday, April 25.

Ned Redding, candidate for State Congressman from the 26th District, will toss out the first ball at Will Rogers where the Social Barons and the Conquistadors nines play a 10:30 contest.

The Sir Debuteers and Royal Dragons meet in the second game on the same bill.

YMPL battles the Royal Syndicators in the 10:30 Brookside opener.

The Royal Kingsmen, defending loop champions, meet the vastly improved Ebony Earls in the 12:30 Brookside game.

Major Loop Highlights

A barrage of homers by sepia stars spotlighted play in the Majors the past week. The St. Louis Cardinals' rookie form San Diego and ex-L. A. Angel, Gene Baker rapped their first major loop homers . . . The Dodgers' great Roy Campanella connected for three, and Junior Gilliam and Jackie Robinson registered their first.

The N. Y. Giants' Monte Irvin (1), Willie Mays (2), and Minnie Minoso of the Chicago White Sox (1) were the other standouts who blasted round-trippers, as we went to press.

According to Dr. George C. Kennedy, a professor of geophysics at UCLA, Mays' first homer in the opening game at the Polo Grounds would have traveled between 530 and 570 feet. This would have bettered Mickey Mantle's "tree-mender" of 563 feet at Washington last year.

Applications from qualified swimmers for summer jobs as pool and beach lifeguards and pool managers with the Los Angeles City Recreation and Park Department's Aquatics Division will be accepted beginning Monday, May 3, it was announced yesterday.

JEFF SWIMMERS HIGHLY IMPRESSIVE

Coach Harry Conover's Jefferson High swimmers came out second best in the final scoring against a depth-laden Washington High squad at the Huntington Park High pool Monday, but in the events he had men entered in they more than held their own.

The stickouts in the varsity class for the Demos were Raymond Robinson in the 100, 200 and 4-man relay, Edward Fields in the 100 back stroke, and Vernon Cobb in the individual medley. Robinson's 2:26.1 clocking in the 200 was one of the best times of the meet. Robinson is a strong candidate for all-city honors in the 200 free style.

Jeff's class B standouts were Curtis Chappel (brother of Jeff's '52 all-city tackle Robert and current hurdler Will Chappell), Walter Walton and Nathan Lewis.

Chappell copped three blue ribbons for individual high point honors. Carl Duvenay, Clayton Salisbury, Bobby Levi and Robert Bias were the stars for the class C entries.

Holly-Stars Prexy Praises E. Ashford

Robert Cobbs, president of the Hollywood Stars, rapped the PCL umpires as inefficient and inferior to last year's group at the Baseball Writers' meeting this week. However, he made one exception. He stated that among the newcomers Emmett Ashford is very competent, and he rates him second only to the great Cecil Carlucci

INTER FRAT PLAYERS IN BIG BRAWL

By BRAD PYE JR.

Fist fights, spiced with two nerve-wracking, spine-tingling games of basketball, highlighted the action in the fourth week of play in the 22nd annual Inter-Frat series at Loyola High Saturday night.

In the feature game of the night between the Kappas and Omegas, tempers reached a boiling point when the latter's Larry Dugan applied some rough-house tactics on the Kappas' Ed Nichols.

Dugan was being crowded by Nichols and another Kappa man and in an effort to extricate himself he elbowed Nichols and sent him reeling to the deck.

Nichols, undaunted, leaped to his feet and teed off on Dugan. While Dugan was apparently wondering what town he was in, Pete O'Gara, another Kappa, rushed in to give Nichols a little assistance and that sent spectators pouring onto the court from both sides. However, the efficient men in blue rushed in to halt the free-for-all.

The free-wheeling undefeated Omegas continued their dominance in the series by outlasting Gene Williams' hustling Kappa crew, 82-76. Ed Tucker, the Omega's bread and butter man and considered by many the deciding factor in his team's win, along with Charles Hill, Algin Sutton, Charles Reed, James Gilbert and Jim Powell, were the stickouts as usual.

In both contests it was a nip and tuck battle all the way. The Sigma and Alpha game went into an overtime and the lead changed more times than the weather.

The Alphas' big John Barber, the leading scorer in the series, hit for 37 points for high-point honors, and the Sigmas' Wallace Pounds, turning in his most productive game to date, a walloping 32 digits to lead his mates to a thrill-packed 96-92 victory.

The top three scorers for each club were as follows:

Alphas—Joe Oliver 22; Hugo Hill, 18; Barber, 37. Sigmas—Wallace Pounds, 32; Ernest Bond, 20; Leroy Mims, 15. Kappas—Ed Nichols, 26; Dallas Perkins, 23; Cornelius Barnes and Pete O'Gara connected for 9 points. Omegas—Algin Sutton, 20; Ed Tucker, 17; Charles Hill, 14.

Dave Rollins Battles Evatt

Dave Rollins and Buddy Evatt battle in the 10-round feature attraction Tuesday night at the Olympic auditorium.

It took Buddy 12 fights to establish himself as a main-eventer. It took him just 60 seconds to establish himself as one of the ring's most deadly finishers.

That was three weeks ago when he blasted Juan Luis Campos into submission in a hectic three rounds that left the fans fistic-bounded.

Tuesday night at the Olympic, Evatt stacks up against the cagy, hard-punching Rollins pretty even but oddsmakers are favoring the Detroiter slightly. Rollins has kayoed 8 of his last 14 foes.

This interesting 10-rounder will not be televised or broadcast.

Campbell In "Real" Mag

NEW YORK—Milt Campbell, the youngest contestant on the 1952 U. S. Olympic team, "is America's champion all-around athlete and one of the rarest athletic marvels of the generation," declares sportscaster Chris Schenkel in an article in the current issue of REAL Magazine, just released.

HUSKIE TIES USC TRACKMAN

ELA's Floyd Jeter, co-holder of the National J. C. High Jump mark at 6'8⅝", had to settle for a tie with Ernie Shelton of S. C. at 6'7" in the Santa Barbara Relays Saturday. In the J. C.-Frosh Division, Jeter set a new record at 6'3½". Jim Gamble uncorked his best leap of the year with a jump of 24'¼" which was way ahead of the field. This easily eclipsed the old mark of 23'½" set by Bob Holland of LACC in 1952.

Morgan Staters Win In Relays

NEW YORK — Ed Hurt's mighty Morgan State spikemen out-mudded all opposition in a rain-soaked Randall Island track here Saturday to win team honors in the first annual Collegiate Track Conference Relays.

Hurt's crack mile relay team of Herman Wade, Otis Johnson, Jim Rogers and Josh Culbreath, who sloshed to a 3:26.7 clocking and his 440 foursome of Robert Robinson, Ed Waters, Lawrence Griffin and Ken Kave will undoubtedly be invited to compete in the L. A. Coliseum relays in May. The quarter-mile quartet zipped to a 44.9 clocking.

Prying Pye

FORT ORD'S BROWN OUSTED—

This is the Army, Mister Brown!

George Brown—the erstwhile UCLA and Olympic star—was ousted last week as track coach of the powerful Fort Ord spike team which features Ollie Matson, Lang Stanley, Chuck Hollo-way and a host of other top performers. Our informant, who must remain anonymous, writes George was stripped of his coaching duties because he secured several of his athletes week-end passes from a Capt. Poole (of color) in the absence of the officer in charge of the spikers, First Lieut. Walter Reagan. As coach of the cindermen, George was assigned to Special Services. He has now been reassigned to another branch of the Army. However, he can continue as a member of the spike team after working-hours only. If the facts as reported are true, is Brown getting a fair shuffle? Your guess is better than mine.

WHITFIELD ISN'T THE FIRST—

Mal Whitfield, the great Olympic middle distance champ, isn't the first Negro to compete in the colors of the Los Angeles Athletic Club, according to Maxwell Styles of the Mirror. At the recent testimonial for Mal, the star columnist told this writer the LAAC had several Negro boxers competing for them way back when. However, Mal is the first of the race to run track for the club.

Thelton Henderson, star utility man on the University of California baseball team, called Saturday to thank this writer for the recent plug we gave him in this spot. Thelton is currently batting a walloping .350. He and second baseman Don Smith, ex-Belmont High student body prexy, were down over the week-end with the Cal squad to play the USC Trojans. The knee Thelton injured in the '52 Santa Clara-Cal game is in tip-top shape. He'll be bidding for a varsity grid berth come spring practice May 3.

PYE'S LATE PICK-UPS—

Several Ram gridders are doubtful about big Gene Lipscomb's chances of making the club. He played the last game of the season for the Rams as a defensive end. . . . The Sigmas and Alphas' combined score of 96 and 92 is the highest total in the history of the frat series, so we're told. The Sigmas' 96 digits are also a new standard.

We feel indebted to personable Lowell Stewart, of the Johnson Realty firm on West Jefferson, for the fine tribute he paid this writer in a bull session after the Frat series. To know that one reads our efforts gives us an understandable thrill. But when one agrees with our views, as the elegant Mr. Stewart declares he does, believe me, it's indescribable. Thanks, Lowell.

REDDING PITCHES FIRST BALL—

Ned Redding, Board of Public Utilities and Transportation prexy, will pitch out the first ball for the Associated Club's season opener at Will Rogers Playground at 9 a.m. this Sunday.... Don Brown, the erstwhile Courier scribe, who is now a top salesman for the Betsy Ross Wine Co., dropped into the office this week to say hello and to praise his product.

Mr. and Mrs. Rafer Johnson, parents of northern California's stellar all-around athlete, Rafer Johnson, Jr., of Kingston High, were the week-end guests of Bruin bench backers in the Westwood Hills. Rafer, Jr., is the same boy USC backers wined and dined a week before. USC is making a bigger pitch for Johnson and Oceanside's famous C. R. Roberts than it did for the celebrated flop, Addison Hawthorne. P.S.: It's our guess the Bruins will land Johnson and the Trojans will wind up with Roberts. . . . As of now this is 25 and 5.

You'll notice that men who know whiskey always name their brand when ordering a drink at a bar or cocktail lounge.
And men who know whiskey are now saying "Four Roses."
...because the Four Roses being bottled today is the finest Four Roses ever. And—in our opinion—that makes it the finest whiskey you've ever enjoyed.

Philippa Schuyler Concert Year's Top Cultural Event

Members of the Alpha Wives' Auxiliary, who are presenting Philippa Duke Schuyler in concert at the Forum theatre Sunday afternoon, May 2, will serve as ushers at the concert, and will also be hostesses at a reception to follow for the artist and for holders of patrons' tickets at the Alpha House, 2116 S. Western avenue.

Expected to be a brilliant artistic, as well as social, success, the concert will revive the Alpha Wives' custom of presenting one cultural event for the community yearly. As with all of the Wives' activities, the chief financial aim of the affair will be to aid the men of Alpha Phi Alpha in their various projects for the advancement of youth, the community, and the fraternity.

Critics from all parts of the world have hailed Philippa Schuyler as a brilliant artist, even as in childhood she was hailed by the foremost educators for her high I. Q. and pronounced talent.

She will come direct from a Town Hall concert and will leave immediately after the reception for Seattle where she will appear at the University of Washington. She will make two stops in Alaska her final performances of the season.

Mrs. Doxie Mason, wife of Alpha frater Roger Q. Mason, member of the Alpha House foundation, is concert chairman. Mrs. Robert E. (Helena) House is in charge of publicity.

Mrs. George T. (Geraldine) Waugh is handling the concert souvenir program, and Mmes. Della McDonald and Georgia Peyton are chairmen of the reception committee.

Recently elected president of the Alpha Wives Auxiliary is Mrs. Mary Lou (Maceo G.) Tolbert whom a greatly expanded program has been launched.

Social Knights Sparkle During 24th Easter Promenade

FAIR LADIES of the royal courts of the Social Knights are their wives enjoying the pleasure of the evening and the club's anniversary Easter invitational last Sunday. They are Mmes. R. Atkins, H. Pierson, J. Davis, S. Jackson, V. Bustus, C. Macon and E. Houge.

SOCIAL KNIGHTS ANNUAL EASTER invitational Sunday was the club's 24th and last Sunday affair. It was one of the most colorful in the group's long history. Bridge Pointers

By

'KENNY' SCOTT

This week we begin our discussion of the proper way to play hands. We have discussed bidding in all of the previous columns, but the most accurate bidding will not save a contract played badly.

Hands are played at two types of contracts, suit contracts and no trump contracts. Each contract requires a different type of play. At a suit contract these rules are very helpful and form a system which will make the play of the hand more scientific.

Estimate Losses

1. Determine what high cards are out against you which must be lost before you get in. This includes only aces or AK combinations.

2. Determine how many losers, if any, you have in the trump suit. Usually there is no way to avoid losers in these first two catagories. Losers of any nature may often be avoided and so should not be counted in a preliminary estimate.

3. Determine whether the hand has a long side suit which must be established, whether it must be cross ruffed, or whether it just contains all high cards.

4. Determine the significance of the opening lead. It may be a singleton, high card of a doubleton, top of a sequence, or the fourth best card of a suit. It may show the AK or KQ in a suit.

Play Side Suit

5. On hands which have a side suit to be set up, lead out opponents' trumps as soon as possible. Then play your side suit and throw away your losers on it. Even in hands which contain obvious losers, if the opponents do not take them, lose them at the end of the hand rather than the beginning. Opponents may make a mistake and give away a few tricks.

6. On hands which have to be cross ruffed, the opposite is true. If a suit must be ruffed and there is a loser in it to start with, lead it and lose that trick as soon as possible. On hands of this type it is a rule not to lead trumps unless you have absolute control and at least ten. Especially do you not want the opponents leading trumps.

7. Some hands are almost solid in every suit but cannot be played in no-trump because one suit is wide open. On these hands lead out opponents trumpts, then play your other suits out. When opponents get in they cannot play their long suit because you can trump it.

8. Determine the necessity for a finesse.

Bob Strather Installs New Officers Unit

The Women's Commissioned Officers club, a newly organized unit of the Pacific States brigade, held installation of officers at a beautiful tea recently.

Brig. Gen. Mathew L. Lipscomb and his well trained staff of officers conducted the installation with Bob Strather acting as M.C.

The officers installed were President, Lt. Co. Lucille Wells, the Daughter Ruler of Rose Garden Temple of Pasadena, a Vice-President of the Women's auxiliary of the Pacific States Association and Loyal Daughter Ruler of Past Daughter Rulers Council No. 1 of Southern California; Business Manager, Capt. Erma Bailey; Vice-President, Major Margarett Smith; Secretary, Major Louise Westbrook; Financial Secretary, Lt. Col. Eugenia Lipscomb; Treasurer, Lt. Col. Edna Pope; Sergeant - at - Arms, Capt. Eluah Alexander; Chaplain, Major Della McDuff and Officer-of-the-Day, Lt. Corrinne Mitchell.

Oakland Socialite Visits Daughter

Mrs. I. B. Williams, pioneer resident of Oakland, is in town visiting her daughter, Mrs. Wilma Dungee. Mrs. Dungee is one of the outstanding business women in the community and very popular in the local social set. Mrs. Williams is planning an extended stay while looking over some investments.

MISSING COAT

Some person, while attending the Las Primeras Easter Sunday evening club installation, picked up by mistake a white coat belonging to Thelma Pendergrass. She is holding some other party's coat. They can contact her by calling AD 1-6539, and recover same.

HOLDS INSTALLATION—Members and officers of the Las Primeras club held installation Easter Sunday at 2067 S. Harvard street. Members are, seated: Doris Taylor, financial secretary; Jennie Woods, president; Dorothy Williams, business manager. Standing: Lillian Holly, social chairman; Pauline Gorman, secretary, Latillian Tyler, reporter; Mary Charleston, treasurer; Thelma Pendergrass, assistant business manager; Pauline Salter, floral treasurer; Gertrude Dixon, parliamentarian; Florine Johnson, vice-president; Virgie Lee Gardner, sergeant-at-arms. —(Photo by Adams.)

KERRY JACKSON and HAL MILLER

Only a top-flight Broadway production could have held a candle to last year's "Sinquanon" Route 66 musical. And this club, comprised of some of the town's most attractive skirt wearers, are doing it again. Bring your own taste because it will be held at the Florentine Gardens this Sunday.

Loaded Week-end

On the Friday eve menu we have nothing fishy. . . . The Ro-Ka-Wi gal clubbers are presenting their initial semi-formal which if predictions are to be believed will be the event to be remembered.

On the same night another organization (which is fishy) is "hanging one on' 'at a poplar mo—hotel in town—and if the circulating words are to be believed, it will be the least.

[illegible] WUNNERFULL TIME

"Our presence is your present" (as they beat us with sticks) . . . Birthday "pawtees" are usually such a drag. But we must admit that our attending Ellen Baumann and Margaret Nelson's aging fiesta was really worth the effort.

This effort (as it's called) was limited almost entirely to watching the adeptness in which "bingtenders" Chuck Nelson and Larry Wilmore poured the bitter vetch. But seriously (as though we weren't serious), the festivities really got under way when Dorothy Fitzpatrick, Barbara and Melvyn Mansfield, Ann Allen and Al Willams, Homer and Margie Williams, Marsha and Mayes James entered the sacred portals of Vest's "Idle Hour Inn."

Other guests included Bobby (Valentino) White and his much better half, Connie, Mae Bennett and Ellen Ramos, Beverly Stevenson and Art McGee, Rhae Tate and Thad Winston, Sam and Bobby McAlister, Pearline and Chuck Murphy.

PEOPLE ARE MUMBLING ABOUT:

The recent engagement announcement of wrestler Walker Bruce and the lovely Beverly Pickett.

Donna Rae Brown's startling story in the latest edition of a national mag. Title is "How I Kicked the Dope Habit." A perfect example of how a nice kid can get turned on.

Percy McIntyre's newest love interest . . . he's a fool teacher —oooooops . . . we mean school teacher.

Don Johnson's swinging new orchestra. As a local group it's a much-needed shot in the arm for the band-hunting social groups.

Lavall Dunlap's stolen auto. He got it back but minus the wheels.

Saxaphonist Sunny Chris. He goofed on his Delta Pyramid date by not showing. He was replaced by the able Py Taylor aggregation.

Flailing of fists. Heavy blows were struck at last week's Frat game. Kappa man Pete Ogarro and Omega player Larry Dugan were the hub of a slight nuckle match.

Mary Ann Vandange's sudden (if that be possible) interest in UCLAn Sammy Washington.

LAS PRIMERAS CLUB HOLDS INSTALLATION

The members of the Las Primeras club, founded a little over six months ago by Doris Taylor, held its installation Sunday afternoon at 2067 S. Harvard st.

Al Burkhart, popular musican conducted the impressive installation of the group.

Officers installed were: Jennie Woods, president; Florine Johnson, vice-president; Pauline Gorman, secretary; Lillian Holly, social chairman; Latillian Tyler, reporter; Mary Charleston, treasurer; Thelma Pendergrass, asst. bus. mgr.; Pauline Salter, floral; Gertrude Dixon, parliamentarian; Virgie Lee Gardner, sergeant-at-arms, Doris Taylor, financial secretary and Dorothy Williams, business manager.

Actor James Edwards surprised the guests and club members with a skit from one of his latest plays. The guests later retired to the dining room to enjoy cocktails. Everyone expressed themselves as having a wonderful evening.

Guests were Messrs and Mmes. Harry Ball, Eugene Presely, Carl Grayson, Bobbie Smith, Arthur McMillon, Cecil Braggs, Thurman Broughton, Willie Evans and Charles Meeks. Also Mattie Carter, Lillian White, Carolyn Smith, Lunnor Knoll and Ivory Butler and Hattie Charleston.

Iota Lambda Hears Guest During Meet

The regular monthly meeting of Iota Phi Lambda of the Alpha Phi chapter was held Saturday night, April 17 at the home of Thelma Robinson, 2947 Vineyard.

Co-hostess of the lively and interesting meeting was Frankye Rolark. After the group's business session, which was presided over by the president Evelyn (Jeannie) Brown, the meeting was then turned over to the chairman of the business week, Mary Francis Oliver, who in turn presented Mr. Edward Burch, Manager of the Los Angeles Industrial Office of the California Dept. of Employment.

Mr. Burch spoke on job opportunities for Negro women. He is a graduate of UCLA and holds a major in business from the University of Southern California. Mr. Burch holds the position of Manager and is the only Negro holding such a position in the city. He has held this job for the past seven years.

Excuse Please

Maxine Grant, member of the Cavalrettes, did not surprise her club members by announcing her marriage to Augustus V. Jacques as reported last week. She simply announced her engagement. The wedding is slated for June. However, club member Erma Jones did elope to Yuma with Fred Gooden and their marriage was revealed at the last club meeting.

The Associated clubs of Southern California in conjunction with softball games announcing their dance Saturday, May 8. Tickets are available through its membership.

BUSINESS WEEK, members of the Iota Phi Lambda chats with distinguished visitor and guest speaker during their monthly meeting. Soror Frankye Rolark, Edward Burch, manager of L.A. Industrial Office of California Dept. of Employment, and guest and Soror Mary Frances Oliver, chairman of Business Week.

Rainbow Bridge Club Third Annual Dance at Elks

The third annual Rainbow Bridge club festival will be held at the Elks auditorium Saturday, May 15. FRANKIE PRICE, busy Western Avenoo hair stylist, is getting rave notices for her terrific work she is turning out daily from the swank shop of the Le Coiffeur. Shapely Dorothy Williams and Newsgal G. G. Penland are digging her styles the most!

EX - ENTERTAINER and a high powered Second Avenoo social sister are carrying on a torrid woomance. In fact it is causing the gallery fans at Crosby shine parlor to wonder if his loot will hold out or will he have to slip her off to Yuma to get even!

LADY WILL CARR is being welcomed back to show biz by the old gang down at the Downbeat. Her piano wizardy is thrilling the peasants no end!

VICTORY AT SEA, the highly prized TV show, certainly could do better by its vast brownskin audiences by giving them more than a fleeting glimpse of the brown boys. Incidentally, why not feature some of the exploits of the famed 24th Infantry?

AL AUSTIN'S 55th street likker store is the second of the city's most modern. He joins Sam Ishehara in giving our community another imposing business establishment. We should thank them by dropping in and making a purchase. This would encourage other Central avenoo business houses to clean up and paint up!

EASTER PARADE, Janet Owens designed an eye-catching cocktail dress worn by Katherine Stone, a white two-piece number of imported linen with coat to match and trimmed with fur.

Dave and Ouida Williams, along with their two young sons enjoying Easter goodies at the Town Tavern. Ouida always dresses well.

Earl Holmes, the youthful and talented tailor, sporting a natty double breasted plaid overcoat darting in and out of the spots.

The cool members of the Social Knights in season with their sport-coats and straw hats.

Erma Scott getting all the praises for her original chapeau.

Scores of South Park lookers getting an eyeful of sane and insane styles.

Elizabeth McGee and Elihu making like Fifth Avenoo fashion plates. Joe Adams, cool conductor of the top music show on the air, suave in olive green Cadillac with suit to match. The Jacks and Jills sporting their finery.

The dirty trick a social stepper handed her dress designer, when she placed an I. Magnin label in the garment she had made for her!

OTIS RENE', well known songwriter of such hits as "I'm Lost," "Someone's Rocking My Dreamboat," "Dusty Road," "When It's Sleepytime Down South," Songs of the Show "Lucky Day," is the author of the sketch and song "Drug Store Blues" one of the highlights (hilarious) of the Medical, Dental and Pharmaceutical Variety show. Jack Bratton of Medical Pharmacy, Mrs. Robert Gantt, Mrs. Otis Rene' and the author enact the sketch most effectively. Otis sings the "Drug Store Blues."

HIT THE STRIDE, currently in rehearsal, will star Slappy White and Sunshine Sammy as the comedians. Helen Humes may get the vocal limelight. It could be the snappiest musical since Jump For Joy!

HARRY ADAMS, topflight lensman, and Lorraine Proctor, Children's Hospital's attractive x-ray technician, are developing prints for each other!

HATTIE C. JOHNSON, attractive prexy of the Charity Twelve, is one of the efficient social workers operating out of the Florence street office!

RHEINGOLD 'MISS' A 'HIT'

GALA RECEPTION: "Miss Rheingold of 1954" (Adrienne Garrett) made her bow (April 19) before Hollywood celebrities and society figures for the first time at a reception given by the Rheingold Brewing Company in the Crystal Room of the Beverly Hills Hotel. The event signalized entry of Rheingold Beer into the Southern California market, and served to announce the opening of the annual "Miss Rheingold" contest (heretofore held only in the New York area) to professional models here. Pictured with the lovely "Miss Rheingold" are (left to right): "Chazz" Crawford, theatrical editor of the California Eagle, columnist Jimmy Starr of the Herald-Express, and "Abie" Robinson, Eagle's sports editor and circulation manager.

"Chazz" Crawford's "SOUND TRACK"

THE "INSIDE" STRAIGHT FROM THE SOUNDTRACK

First off, thanks to his eminence Duke Ellington for his guest column that appears under the "SHOWBUSINESS" banner! After twenty-seven illustrious years in the business, the maestro is still the guy you couldn't love more madly! . . . A quote from Lena Horne sums up the Duke musicwise. "All over the world Ellington is still the measuring stick of maturity in jazz music."

Harriet "Dee Dee" Young, who is as winsome and rhythmic as a tone-pome by the Duke will get a featured role in "The Silver Chalice" the religious film Warner's rolling, and "Gentleman Jim" Edwards is swinging with a leading part in one of the TV's "Fireside Theater" series.

Christine Kittrell, the blues rhythm thrust making heads turn, and slowing down traffic in the Dunbar Hotel lobby when she strolled through with those carazy "bird in a gilded cage" earrings! . . . . Debonair Whitcomb Riley, the man about the town's haunts beaming with unquestionable pride as he introduces gorjuss Dollie McGhee to the peasantry. The doll is a real smoothie who is currently visiting our burg. The pair are wheeling about in a Starfire 78 convertible! . . . Song bird Lawrence Stone scurrying back and forth to threat specialist Medico Brown to relieve a temporary hoarseness that impaired his prize pipes! . . . Wide grins exchanged all around greeting the arrival of Mose Brown back from his stretch with "Uncle." Brownie, who was formerly road manager with the Treniers will join the civilian ranks shortly.

Bronze Mannikins Connie Del Gade and Shelley Reed in the foyer of the Californian giving scribbler Bob Thomas the glacier treatment (icy words) because of an alleged dig he tossed in the models' lap via his kolyum a season ago! . . . Jo Brooks and Jules Fox experiencing a praise agent's nightmare Sunday night trying to explain to press and public at the Morocco why La Donegan was tardy for opening at her bistro. The star boarder's plane was grounded in Arizona, but she did arrive Monday night to stand the patrons on their cheering ears. And they're saying that in spite of what you read on last week's front pages, there's more harmony than discord betwixt Dorthy and mate, John T. McClain. They were out

'New Faces' On Two Screens at Lower Prices

Following five weeks of its exclusive run in Beverly Hills, "New Faces," Cinemascope production in Technicolor and Stereophonic Sound of the hit musical revue toplining Eartha Kitt, opens a regular price run starting Friday at the Los Angeles and Iris Theatres.

'Reel' Good Deal

Intimately and faithfully transcribed from the original smash stage production the film was directed by Harry Horner.

'WOOSOME TWOSOME'

DORIS "SECRET LOVE" DAY and Bob Cummings, romantic duo in "Lucky Me," currently screening at Paramount Downtown Theatre. A CinemaScope Production with color by WarnerColor.

'Tommie' Moore In 'Caricature' At The Showcase

"Caricature," the fast moving comedy drama by Irving C. Phillips, noted Hollywood writer, had a premiere opening Tuesday evening at Ebony Showcase Theatre before an enthusiastic audience. A talent cast keeps things moving at a lively pace.

Talented Thespians

Headed by vivacious Tommie Moore, the cast also features Bernard Hamilton, Mary Emma Watson, Orchid Oliver, Amos Reese, Earl Smith, Reggie Armstrong, Clarence Watson, Lew Braddock and Nick Stewart.

'Revealing'

WORTH SEEING . . . Eartha Kitt, 'singsational' star of "New Faces," is currently 'showing' at the Downtown Los Angelse Theatre, Broadway near Sixth, first time at reduced prices. Coupled with "Bitter Creek" the beautiful Los Angeles Theatre affords the greatest entertainment feature and the most economical.

Show Business

Dear "Chazz":

Writing a guest column is always a bit difficult as one doesn't know exactly what the readers want most. However, I've been asked innumerable times where I got the name "Duke," and I think the readers would be surprised to learn that I was born Edward Kennedy Ellington, in Washington, D. C., and didn't pick up the "Duke" until the ripe old age of eight, when one of the neighborhood kids tagged me "The Duke." Man, that tag has seen a lot of miles.

I guess it wasn't until 1927 that the "Duke" really got into "bigtime" show business. Prior to this we played small clubs and finally moved into the Kentucky Club in Harlem, where we had the good fortune to remain for five years. Then came the big break and "Duke" was booked into the famous Cotton Club. From there came a series of bookings in top variety theaters that finally led to the Mecca of show business, the Palace. That, man, was the ultimate. The absolute end.

So many wonderful things have happened to me in the past 27 years that it's difficult to really pick the "high" spots. There was the Flo Ziegfeld show, "Show Girl," the musical short "Black and Tan Fantasy," several full length pictures, and compositions, which, happily for me, were accepted and praised by the public and critics. Among my own favorites are "Mood Indigo," "Don't Mean a Thing if You Ain't Got

That Swing," "Sophisticated Lady," "Solitude." "Caravan," "I Got It Bad and That Ain't Good," and "Do Nothin' Till You Hear From Me."

I'll never forget the tour of Europe, and my birthday in 1939, when we were in Stockholm, when I was awakened at six a.m. by forty Swedish musicians gathered under my hotel window, the subsequent party lasted for 24 hours, Jack, that was a ball!

In January of 1943 I played my first concert in a place that was normally reserved for "longhairs," Carnegie Hall. I was deeply honored and proud. Since then we have played concerts in all the leading cities in the country, and each one is almost as big a thrill as the first.

This year, my 27th anniversary in "Bigtime" show business, I received an honor that makes all the one-nighters, small hotels, bus rides, hashhouses, and other inconveniences of the business worth while. While in Los Angeles for a concert, my very good friend, LAWRENCE WELK, of the Champagne Music, hosted a party for me in a real fabulous home known as Bachleor's Haven, high in the Hollywood hills. There were about 350 people, many of whom were friends I had not seen in several years. You can believe me when I say that Duke was deeply touched.

I can only end this column by thanking you for asking me to write it, and by thanking the man who made that wonderful party a success, and congratulating him on HIS 27th year as a Top music maker. Champagne Maestro, you're the host who is the most!

Attack Gov. Over FEPC

students that I said to the AFL when I gave the labor group my position on FEPC and won the warm endoresment of the AFL."

"I said simply the matter of interracial relations is not an issue which can be solved through politics. It is a human issue that can be solved only through the earnest effort of everyone of us toward the end that no citizen irrespective of race lacks the rights and opportunities accorded every other citizen. It is a matter which depends for its very existence on individual bias and it will end when the majority of our citizens are ready and willing with true understanding to end such personal bias. In the meantime we must all work to end it and not waste time talking about it," Knight added.

"Double Talk"

When Knight's statement was read to them, Graves supporters promptly pounced on it as added proof of their charge that the governor is opposed to fair employment legislation. They derided it as double talk and an attempt to "evade the issue" and pointed to strong public statements by Graves that he does favor such legislation. They also charged that Knight did not dare to deny the direct quotations attributed to him at Palo Alto.

"We challenge the governor to say now in plain and simple words just where he stands on FEPC," a Democratic spokesman said. "The record shows that he opposed FEPC when it was on the ballot in 1946 and that he never uttered a word as lieutenant governor in favor of such a law. Does he dare to take a public stand in face of the known FEPC opposition of his big newspaper backers?"

C. J. Haggerty, secretary of the State Federation of Labor, told the Eagle that Governor Knight stated before the AFL that he "favored the methods used by Governor Dewey and New York state in solving this problem."

Racial Discrimination

Republicans charged that Graves "attempted to inject racial discrimination as an issue in the current gubernatorial campaign indicates the character of the candidate opposed to the election of Governor Knight."

In his lengthy statement Knight told the Eagle that he had resigned from the Los Angeles Bar Association in 1934 "in protest over a rule that Negro lawyers were not to be admitted . . . I believe that this proves more than any words where I stand on such matters."

The AFL has long been on record as favoring fair employment legislation and has backed such bills before the legislature. On the other hand, the Los Angeles Times and other strong Knight supporters have opposed all FEPC measures on both federal and state levels.

Alphonse Mills, local Knight supporter, told the Eagle that fair employment had been included in Knight's program under the heading of "merit employment" but said that he did not know the governor's specific stand on FEP laws.

Delta Jabberwock

ALL SET AND READY TO GO into an Apache dance are Drs. Geraldine Woods and Wayman McCoo. This is one of several variety numbers to be featured at the First Annual Benefit Variety Show of the Southern California Medical, Dental and Pharmaceutical association May 1st at 8 p.m. in the Bovard auditorium, U.S.C. campus.

on the town alone together style. Or so'm told!

PUTTING THE COLUMN AND IT'S WEARY AUTHOR TO BED!

Wesley Gale, the artistic fellow who sometimes triples as a Hollywood bit player and dance man will open his own gallery of Carribean art on Western Avenoo, just next door to Eadward's beauty bar. This move came about as a result of Wes' recent tour of the West Indies. . . . The artist will have a press showing next weekend and serve salt fish and demon rum! . . . Ajala, the African youth who was requested to leave the states has married an American clerk typist in London and may be entertaining the thought of crossing the pond and revisiting the USA if he can swing it! . . . Disc-jockeying Charles Trammell now has a Gospel Show, Sabbath morns, between six and eight a.m., and it's 1230 on your dial. . . . Didn't Jimmie Grissom break up the house shouting those mean old blues with Ellington's orchestration at the duece of concerts? . . . This is the way Ernie Andrews brought on Lawrence Stone at the Pigalle Sunday night: The young man with a great voice, who is the same young man that I almost came to blows with according to Jet magazine! . . . Giving the giggles to the report that they're the Martins and the Coys of the song world. But in this competitive world, who really knows. Arouse your fuedal instincts, men. It's good for boxoffice and the magazine may have a strong point! . . . Wild Bill Davis trio killing 'em off like flies at the Last Frontier in Las Vegas. The same Wild Bill that told the patrons in a sing song manner to "Read The California Eagle" one night while playing Hollywood's Royal Room. Love that boy! . . . That great pianist Art Tatum is at the Royal Room now with Bill Douglas on drums, and Red Callendar on bass. . . . Lady Will Carr, another star boarder at the keyboard currently at the Downbeat! . . . and Frantic Fay Elizabeth Thomas when she chooses takes over the Turban Room's eight-eight with her feet warming blues.

Joe Adams tells us that Arnold Dover, the impressionist will replace Slappy White as prince of comedy at the Pigale when Slappy takes off for the east. . . . And that reminds us that Slappy has hog tied the comedy lead in Leon Rene and Flourney Miller's "Hit The Stride" that opens here at the Biltmore in August. Helen Humes, Sunshine Sammy, and Lucky Antoino ar ealso featured. . . . Time and space just won't permit the veddy veddy hot copy concerning folks like Mauri Lynn, Alyce Keyes, Juanita Cruise, Camille Cannady, Troy Jones, and our fiddling friend Spade Cooley. But next week, we catchem! We do have time to tell you that if you haven't caught Perez Prade at the Oasis, you bettah change your way of living. This is thirty! But weren't we a sweetheart? No harsh words this trip!

Ned Redding Family Man

ord of work in community activities, a lay leader in his church and a devout family man whose wife and two children are the center of his universe.

His wife, Audrey, is a close associate in his community newspaper publishing business while his daughter, Marion, 19, and son, Ned, Jr., 17, do their share in helping keep up the modest family home at 8803 So. Wilton place.

"We enjoy doing things together" Redding explains. That means that he pitches in and does the family cooking when he gets home first. His favorite recipe? "Not much," he grins, "meat loaf." Confidentially, he'll admit that his wife is a better cook.

Redding doesn't fancy himself as a plaster saint at all. "I go to church because I am a sinner, and not a saint," is the way he puts it.

A man with a strong sense of humor and a yen to help out wherever he can, Redding is president of the Board of Public Utilties and Transportation. When somebody told him that Negro residents of the West Side were deeply concerned over a proposal to run the Olympic freeway through more than a hundred of their homes he turned up at a public hearing to add his protest to theirs. He was surprised when somebody said it was nice of him to go out of his way to help. He'd never thought of it that way. He looked at it as part of his duty as president of the Board.

Jordan High school students know Redding as the main force behind an annual dinner for graduating athletes. They appreciate it and he thinks it is a lot of fun. Businessmen in his community know that he is always on the lookout to get them interested in Scout activities and other service ventures.

A life long Democrat, Redding stands squarely behind his party's civil rights plank. His own printing shop is an example of FEPC in practice. There's Albert Lane, his linotyper, for example.

"There is really nothing to say about it," Redding says. "Albert called up looking for a job. I needed a linotyper. I hired him over the phone and when he showed up and was a Negro I just put him to work." Another Redding employee is Herman Hill who writes and edits copy for the Redding community newspapers.

That's a quick look at Ned Redding, the man who is running against a candidate whose name is a household word in American politics, The Redding family isn't dismayed. "We'll work together and we've tackled tougher jobs," Ned says.

From the way he says it you gather that Ned Redding is content to rest his case on the belief that when the voters learn his record they will vote for him in preference to his opponent whom he describes as "the first man ever to become a candidate for Congress to prove that he never strayed from home."

Savings and Loan Ass'n Gets Charter

A charter was granted Tuesday by the State Commissioner of Savings and Loans to a group of incorporators who will enter business as the Safety Savings and Loan association, with temporary headquarters at 5257 W. Adams blvd.

Commissioner Milton O. Shaw approved the application after hearing objections from several savings and loan groups, including Liberty.

However, impassioned pleas for another loan group to aid financing of Negro home buyers tipped the scale in favor of approval.

Incorporators for the new association are:

Bernard S. Jefferson, former dean of the Howard Law school; Wesley Robert Brazier, executive director of the Los Angeles Urban league; Lovell Charles Moore, real estate broker and businessman.

James M. Woods, president and founder of Woods Construction Co.; Floyd C. Covington, director of minority division, FHA.

Young Mother Tires of Life, Tries Suicide

A young mother, separated from her children and burdened with financial troubles attempted suicide Saturday night but was foiled by a friend.

Rebecca Turner, 24, of 105 W. 40th pl., admitted to police that she tried to do away with herself by taking an overdose of codeine pills that had been prescribed as a pain killer by a doctor.

Elsie Thompson of 1556 E. 100th St. and Robert Hopkins of 105 E. 40th pl. told University police that Mrs. Turner was in the kitchen and suddenly emptied a small box of pills into the palm of her hand.

Wylie Clardy, also of 105 E. 40th pl., struggled with her in attempt to keep her from swallowing them. She was successful in taking a large number of pills, not enough to kill her.

The witnesses said she had been despondent because her children are living in Bakersfield and because of money troubles.

New Relax-A-Cizor Method Offers Cheap and Easy Way To Get and Keep Lovely Figure

In our seventy-fourth edition of the California Eagle we welcomed for the first time the Relax-A-Cizor, Inc. of Hollywood, noted for miracles of modern electronics in retaining or regaining a beautiful figure.

Shapes Every Figure

The Relax-A-Cizor is a marvelous, tiny electronic device which affords a new easy way to reduce the size of the hips, waist, abdomen while you rest at home. In just thirty days you can be lovelier. WHAT'S IN A NAME?—Brown, Brown and Brown. "Big Joe" Brown, left, was convicted of possession of heroin Friday, must stand trial on a second count. Just one week ago, "J.. B.," right, got a jail sentence of 40 years, the heaviest sentence the law allows, on four dope raps. The two are shown in happier days, signing up fighter Ray Brown. Ray has since been barred by the State Athletic Commission for running out on bouts.

'Big Joe' Brown Found Guilty; Held In Second Arrest

Six-foot-five, 250-pound "Big Joe" Brown, westside real estate dealer, member of the Consolidated Realty Board, former prize-fight promoter, went down for the count Friday when he was convicted of possession of heroin.

Reeling from the blow, Brown on the same day was held to answer on a second arrest of possession of dope. In the second case, police claim they found a huge quantity of pure heroin, estimated at about three ounces of the uncut powder, six bindles, and a supply of "milk sugar" cached in a hall closet in an apartment building at 427 E. Adams boulevard.

Freak Slip-Up

In a freak slip-up at the time of the raid on the apartment, Brown was questioned but allowed to leave. When the heroin was found and Brown's identity established, police hotfooted it to put out an all-points broadcast for his arrest.

The next day Brown, on the advice of his attorney, Mrs. Martha Jefferson, gave himself up.

Big Joe is now in County jail, having been unable to post the $10,000 bail slapped on him after he was held to answer in the second case. He had previously been free on $2500 bond.

Police Tipped Off

Brown said he was a real estate dealer with offices at 717 E. 32nd street. In 1951 he worked out of the offices of Theodore Hughes, 1111 E. Vernon avenue, member of the Consolidated Realty Board. Brown is also a board member, but reportedly has not been active recently.

He was arrested Dec. 18, 1953, at Fifth street and Gladys avenue. Officers picked him up, following a "tip" that he had dope hidden in his car. When

CHEATS CHAIN GANG

Slain with Fork; Police Hold Aunt

A three-pronged fork was the weapon used by Mrs. Ruth Mae Brown, 27, 1215 S. Central avenue, in the fatal stabbing of her nephew, John Henry Dorty, 29, of 837 Kohler, police reported Friday.

"I don't know anything about John getting stabbed with a fork," Mrs. Brown told police when confronted with an eye-witnesses' statement accusing her of the slaying.

"John and I were arguing about some food and he pulled me out of the house and beat me," Mrs. Brown told Newton Street detectives. "We settled the argument, though, and I left to visit my sister."

Police said her statements were conflicting. They didn't agree with versions offered by witnesses. Edmund Lee of 14927 Elliott avenue, Puente, told police he saw Mrs. Brown stab Dorty with the fork.

Police Story

Although police were unable to locate the weapon, they pieced the story of the man's death together this way:

An argument developed at the Kohler street address and Mrs. Brown was beaten by Dorty, Emma Jean Dorty and Louise Smith. Police arrived and put an end to the fighting.

About an hour later officers were called again and this time Emma Jean Dorty and Louise Smith told police that Mrs. Brown just stabbed Dorty.

Investigation indicated that the first argument really didn't break up at all. After the officers left, it flared up again and when Mrs. Brown cursed Dorty he warned her to stop. When he didn't he advanced toward her and was stabbed, police said.

Loren Miller says . . .

Every Negro community in the nation suffers from the fact that the merchants who own the markets, grocery stores, clothing stores and other retail outlets do not live in that community. Most of them have no interest at all except in what they can take out of it, in cash, that is.

These merchants do not identify themselves with community organizations. They are not concerned with community problems. They contribute very little to the Urban League or the NAACP. At best some of them make haphazard contribution to churches or small time charities.

LOREN MILLER

Take employment, for example. These merchants have a selfish stake in seeing to it that their Negro customers get jobs at decent wages. Off and on I have participated in literally dozens of movements or drives to eradicate discrimination in public service. I cannot now recall a single instane in which any merchant ever scompanied a delegation on one of these missions or in which any one of them ever contributed a dime to help out.

Never Slow Up

Time and again, there have been attempts to secure state or city fair employment laws or ordinances. I do not recall a case in which any one of these merchants ever made a sizeable contribution to NAACP to assist in this phase of the matter.

I do not have access to the books of either the Urban League or the NAACP. But I will offer pretty good odds that not a merchant in this community gave one hundred dollars to either the League or the Association in 1953. That, despite the fact that the

Thugs Blast Negro-Owned Chicago Flat

CHICAGO.—The bombing of a two story brick building on the Southside Saturday injured Dr. Carl Ross, 39, a physician, and signalled new anti-Negro housing outrages.

Already caught in the grips of the six-month old Trumbull park disturbances, officials speedily probed the blast which occurred in a predominately white neighborhood.

Investigation showed that the building had been sold to Negroes a few weeks ago.

According to Dep. Chief of Detectives William Tpuhy, the blast was set off by three sticks of dynamite. Damage was estimated at $5000.

Fire Dep't to Keep Jim Crow, Callanan Says

The Los Angeles Fire Department intends to continue the segregation of Negro firemen despite Mayor Norris Poulson's request for a change in policy.

That was the flat assertion of Howard J. Callanan in testimony before Court Commissioner Clinton Rodda Monday.

Queried by the Eagle, Mayor Poulson's secretary said the mayor had no statement to make at the present time. He added that the mayor would "study" the record in view of what he said were conflicting newspaper reports.

Transfers Asked

L. Callanan was asked by Attorney Edward Maddox representing the NAACP: "Are you in favor of perpetuating the present system of racial segregation?"

"I am," Callanan replied. "I think it works out for the best interests of the department and the city.

"Negro firemen are not assigned to other stations principally because white firemen object," he said, "Since this question was raised more than 1700 firemen have written letters threatening to resign if the present policy is abandoned."

Callanan also admitted that 80 per cent of the Negro firemen have requested transfers and said that all such requests have been denied solely because of the race of the applicants. He has been a fire commissioner for 12 years and president of the commission for the past five years.

All Negro firemen are now assigned to Stations 14 and 30 in the Central Avenue district and are never permitted to transfer to other stations, he said.

"Negroes are never advanced to higher jobs in stations manned by white personnel even though they refused to waive their civil service rights," Callanan said.

Mayor Scorned

The Commission considered the mayor's request for a change he testified, but decided to defer all action for a period of six months. In a statement issued last Jan. 7 Mayor Poulson said that the Commission had agreed to his plans for a "gradual change" in what he called "unsatisfactory policies."

Separate But Equal

The Fire Commissioner said that he does not consider the present situation "discriminatory" and added that the Negro firemen have "better-than-average" facilities.

Callanan is the last of Fire Commissioners subpoenaed to

Fire Department

EDITORIAL

The issue of Jim Crow in the Los Angeles Fire Department is squarely up to Mayor Norris Poulson.

Last January 7 the mayor issued a statement saying that his Commission had agreed to make "gradual changes" within a six months' period, to eliminate the Department's Jim Crow system.

One by one his Commissioners have denied under oath that they made any such agreement or had any such plans.

Howard Callanan, president of the Commission, cinched the matter Monday when he said flatly that despite the mayor's request that the Fire Commission change its policies "the Commission does not intend to do so."

Callanan let the cat out of the bag when he added that he believes in racial segregation and tried to justify it with the broken down separate-but-equal argument that Negro firemen have "better-than-average" facilities.

The testimony of the Fire Commissioners, given under oath, demonstrates plainly that the Commissioners are determined to continue their violation of the law, and their disregard of the constitutional rights of Negro firemen.

Mayor Poulson must decide now whether or not he is going to permit this outrageous defiance of law to continue. He can't evade the issue any longer with fine statements and polished phrases. He must act or acknowledge that as mayor he is not able to protect the rights of American citizens.

Ala. Authorities Asked Return After 19 Years

SAN LUIS OBISPO—Luck this week was working overtime for 54-year-old James Williams, of Los Angeles, for 19 years a fugitive from Alabama prisons.

Picked up in the local "jungle" between freight trains, March 31, Williams was given a short sentence on a vagrancy charge. A routine fingerprint check revealed that he had escaped from Alabama in 1935. Authorities contacted prison officials there and Alabama asked that he be held for extrdition.

Local residents, learning of Williams' plight, telegraphed Gov. Goodwin Knight urging him to delay sending the accused man back until a thorough investigation could be made.

Before the governor answered, however, time ran out. According to the law, a suspected fugitive can be held for only five days, during which time a representative of the state demanding extradition must appear with the necessary papers.

As the hours ticked by, there was no further word from Alabama. When the allotted time elapsed, prison officials freed Williams, and he disappeared into the night.

A group of local citizens, before Williams was allowed to leave, had decided to bend every effort to save him.

Spearheaded by the Rev. J. Charles Hawkins of the Springfield Baptist church, the Rev. Gilbert Zimmerman of the Methodist church, the Rev. Albert Knoll, of the Presbyterian Church, John A. Stewart and Mrs. Winifred Howse, the group hired an attorney and also arranged for a mass meeting Sunday.

Williams claimed he was wrongfully convicted in 1934 for burglary, that he had no attorney at his trial and was given no opportunity to obtain one, and that he was brutally treated while in prison. He served eight months of a 2½-year sentence before making his getaway in 1935.

Teacher Sues For $42,000 After Crash

Miss Jewell Lockett, a school teacher of 2213 W. 25th st., injured in an auto accident last February, has filed a $42,000 damage suit against Quenton Timothy Banks, driver of the other car involved in the collision.

Miss Lockett, who teaches at Murchison street school, said her car was struck by Banks' at Gramercy place and 35th street.

She is asking for general and compensatory damages as well as funds to cover personal injuries, loss of earnings, medical bills and damages to her car.

According to Miss Lockett, she was thrown against the windshield and injuries resulted in a two inch facial scar. Banks is employed at the downtown post office.

Representing Miss Lockett is Xenophon Lang.

HONOR DR. SOMERVILLE—The community paid double honor Tuesday night to one of its most noted citizens, Dr. John A. Somerville. Pollard, minority activities coordinator for Graves; Richard Graves, candidate for governor; Victor Nix and William Sloane, representatives of the Building Service Employes International Union, AFL.

Gordon Proposes East-West Buses

The annual banquet of the Knights and Daughters of Tabor last week heard Atty. Walter L. Gordon, Jr., outline proposals for a major improvement in the eastside traffic situation.

Atty. Gordon, addressing the banquet in the Eastside Settlement Home, 1219 E. Adams blvd., assailed the local city officers for their failure to provide adequate transportation facilities for the hundreds of families of "little people," who are obliged to travel great distances out of their way to journey across the city.

Gordon, a candidate for the state assembly from the 62nd A.D., specifically called for an east-west bus line to remedy the situation. He proposed that it be considered for Adams or Washington blvds.

Mrs. Hattie B. Williams presided over the meeting and banquet.

Three out of four traffic accidents happen in clear weather on dry roads.

Graves Tells Meet He Favors FEPC

Sunday was a big day for the Friendship Democratic Club, guests and the Democratic-endorsed candidates when the Crystal Tea Room housed the political big-wigs and state, county and city candidates at a cocktail party with all the trimmings. Richard "Dick" Graves, Democratic candidate for Governor, and other endorsed Democratic candidates were guests of honor.

Democratic voters applauded Graves' address in which he discussed issues affecting the total community. On the question of Fair Employment, the gubernatorial candidate pledged himself to work for such a law and to see that no distinction is made to citizens on the basis of race, creed or color.

Other endorsed Democratic candidates introduced to the audience were: Edward Roybal, Lt. Governor; George Johnson, State Treasurer; George Collins, State Controller; Richard Richards, State Senate; Charles Wilson, 66th Assembly District; Walter Ballov, 63rd Assembly District. Congressman Samuel Yorty, candidate for U. S. Senate, Dan Raeburn, candidate for Secretary-Treasurer and Attorney General Edmond "Pat" Brown could not attend due to previous committments, but sent their greetings. Assemblyman Augustus Hawkins introduced James Roosevelt, candidate for Congress in the 26th Congressional District.

Mrs. Billy Bruce Lacy, president of the Club presented Herbert James, Co-Director of the Club who presided over the musicial portion of the program. Those participating were Mrs. Rosa Glenn, Mrs. Bernice Lawson, Franklin Mercier, and Timothy Dennison.

William E. Pollard, General Chairman of the Dining Car Employees Union, presided over the political portion of the program. Mrs. Ethel Cole Bryant, Co-Director of the Club and field representative of Congressman Yorty, could not attend due to an automobile accident.

Speeding on U.S. streets and highways injured nearly 700,000 men, women and children in 1953.

Collier in Bakersfield Sheriff Race

Jack D. Collier, a Lockheed Aircraft worker, is seeking election as sheriff of Kern County because he has "always possessed a passion for law and order."

Collier comes from the ranks of organized labor. He is a member of the Machinists Union, AFL. Prior to his employment at Lockheed Aircraft he was employed as a War Department civilian employee at Minter Field, and as a radio technician and electrical worker at San Bernardino.

The aspirant also understands the views of the private enterpriser. For several years he was engaged as a floor contractor. He also has part interest in a neighborhood store.

Twenty-nine years a resident of Kern County, Collier is a busy civic worker. He is a committeeman for the California and Owens Streets Veterans Memorial Hall, a committeeman of the Property Owner's Association, and one of the organizers of the Kern County Voter's League. He is also a former California State Guardsman.

Coffee Hours To Aid Bonds

Mrs. Rose Navarro, chairman of University area of the Forward Los Angeles campaign for a Civic Auditorium Center, today announced several coffee hours to inform the voters in neighborhood meetings on Proposition F, the auditorium bond on the June 8 ballot.

Commenting on the popular of "coffee hour" during current campaigns, Mrs. Navarro said:

"Coffee hours are symptomatic of the return of power to the people."

Supervisor Kenneth Hahn charged before the Board of Supervisors Tuesday that bootleg zoning is responsible for sub-standard housing in unincorporated areas. The Board ordered an investigation which will be conducted by the State Real Estate Commissioner, County Regional Planning Director and the L. A. City Council.

Gov. Knight Greeted By Local Voters

Crowds of enthusiastic supporters greeted Governor Goodwin Knight Friday as he made in-person visits to South Los Angeles, Westside and Central Avenue Knight for Governor headquarters.

The smiling, but serious, governor held informal chats with his campaign chiefs and with scores of plain citizens anxious to find out "what kind of a guy" he really is.

Governor Knight paid tribute to the campaign managers who are laboring so tirelessly to re-elect him to the state's highest office. Mrs. Catherine Mitchum, South Los Angeles Campaign Manager; Mrs. Betty Jones, Westside Campaign Manager, and Architect Paul Williams, general campaign chief, received high praise from Governor Knight.

Also tagged for superior work were Democrats for Knight Bill Watkins, Dr. J. D. Fowler and Mrs. Leontyne King. Mrs. King has just been appointed to the board of "100 Women for Knight" and she is creating quite a stir with her activities with female voters.

The Governor thanked all the newspapers for their fair treatment of his publicity releases and said they were reporting his campaign in the best American traditions.

He said there would be several other occasions for in-person visits and he pledged to attend as many functions as possible so more and more people can see him, talk with him and discuss with him any problems they might be concerned with.

"I am especially pleased about this particular tour," he said at a Watkins Hotel meeting. "I hope you'll have me back soon."

Assembly Candidates On Forum

California Eagle publisher Loren Miller will moderate Monday night's Tribune Forum at the Golden State Insurance Co. Auditorium, Adams and Western, which will present all of the candidates in the hotly contested 63rd Assembly district race in a panel discussion of the subject, "Should Race Be A Factor in Casting Your Vote."

Miller will "ride herd" over arch rivals for the Democratic and Republican nominations in the district, including Lucius W. Lomax, Jr., publisher of the Los Angeles Tribune and a Democrat, Walter Ballou, Democrat, and Delbert Morris, Republican incumbent in the race.

All are crossfiled. Lomax is the only Negro of the three. Rounding out the panel will be incumbent assemblyman in the 62nd district, August F. Hawkins.

This session of the regular bimonthly forum is expected to attract a capacity audience. As usual, press and audience participation will follow the candidates' statement of their views. The Forum is free and gets underway at 8:30 p.m.

accosted, he denied the charge, but police frisked him and found the car keys, then located the auto and confiscated a quantity of heroin.

Trial began Wednesday. The jury verdict of guilty was returned Friday, with sentencing to be pronounced the latter part of May.

Fingerprints

While he was out on bail, city narcotics police, again apparently acting on information supplied to them, raided the Adams blvd. apartment building. Officers saw Brown outside, but did not know his identity, and let him go when he told them he was collecting rent and showed them rent receipts.

They went immediately to one of the hall closets in the building, unlocked the door and found three ounces of uncut heroin. They also reportedly found six bindles, on three of which a later check showed Brown's fingerprints, police claimed. In a third floor closet, officers found a supply of "milk sugar," white powdery substance to "cut the pure narcotic.

Trial on the second arrest has been set for May 7, in Dept. 44.

WORK FOR JIMMY—Dr. D. Overstreet Gray on Friday night presented Jimmy Roosevelt, Democratic candidate for Congress in the 26th district, to members of the community. Some of those present were, from left: Eddie Pruitt, Dr. Gray, Roosevelt, Atty. Carl Earles, Dr. G. Diploma Orange. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Rannie Long, interior decorator.

Political Spotlight

Carl Ramsey Taken by Death

Carl Ramsey, of the well known Ramsey family, died in San Francisco last week after suffering a short illness.

His death marked the second time within one week that tragedy struck the family. On April 15, Mrs. Nettie Bryant, who has lived in Ben Lomond for the past 27 years, died at the age of 80.

Carl, brother of the popular San Diego Ramsey brothers, Al and George, was born in Oakland in 1896. He was a world war veteran and a member of the Merchant seamen for the past 14 years.

His funeral was held last Tuesday at the Angelus Funeral Home.

In addition to his brothers, he leaves two sisters, Mrs. Alta Shores and Mrs. Marie Mitchell, and a number of nieces and nephews.

In 1953, 269,360 pedestrians were injured in U.S. traffic accidents.

WHAT'S DOING

New gun shoots wire instead of bullets

If you ever visited your local telephone office, you most likely were amazed at the thousands of small wires that connect the intricate equipment. It used to be that each tiny wire connection had to be soldered by hand. But today, on some kinds of equipment, a new wire wrapping gun is used. It literally "shoots" wire around a terminal. And it grips so tightly that, if you tried to pull it loose, you'd break the wire first. By doing an important job faster, better, cheaper, the wire gun helps us provide service at low cost to you. Pacific Telephone works to make your telephone a bigger value every day.

Long distance calls now cost you less

The reduction in excise tax from 25% to 10%, voted by Congress, is good news for long distance telephone users. All of the reduction will go directly to our customers. It means that every long distance call you make—to anywhere in the country — now costs you less.

Enjoy the convenience of an extra telephone for just pennies a day

Anywhere in your home—in the bedrooms or kitchen . . . in the garage or basement—you can enjoy the added convenience of an extension telephone. Extensions make it easier for the whole family to place calls, receive calls. And this step-saving service is yours for just pennies a day. To order your extension, call our business office today.

How to say more in your long distance calls

You'll find you can "squeeze" more words into your long distance calls if you make notes in advance. That way, you'll cover important points in less time. Remember, too, that you'll save time if you give the operator the out-of-town number you're calling. For a free personal number booklet, contact our business office. Pacific Telephone.

CHALLENGE—The Specal Activities committee of the NAACP has issued a challenge. Believing that the community will give unstinting support, the committee's chairman, Lillie Montgomery, has arranged a spectacular "Festival on Ice" starring internationally famous Mabel Fairbanks at the Shrine June 6. The Shrine seats over 6,000. Will the community meet the challenge?

Atty. Marshall To Give Main NAACP Talk

Thurgood Marshall, special counsel of NAACP's national legal department, will address the local branch of the NAACP in a mass meeting which will officially close the current membership drive May 19, at the Zion Hill Baptist church, 51st street and McKinley avenue, 8 p.m.

The meeting will give recognition to all membership campaigners and awards will be presented to those who have chalked up outstanding scores. A special prize, a perfume bar, will be given to the outstanding woman campaigner and a gift certificate from a local store will be given to the outstanding man campaigner.

According to Dr. J. F. Evans, chairman of the drive, 2,500 members and $7,500 have been secured to date. This includes six life members at $500 each—a new record for the branch.

Roy Payton Dies Quietly In His Sleep

Roy Payton, well known local youth, son of prominent Dr. Thomas Roy Payton and Mrs. Gladys Payton, died unexpectedly in his sleep Sunday at his home, 2068 S. Hobart blvd.

The 17-year-old youth had not been ill, nor had there been any previous warning of a serious illness. He had been exceptionally active in the manufacturing business, where he had recently received a valued and stimulating promotion.

Dr. Payton told the Eagle that his son had probably been working too hard and not getting sufficient rest, as he was ambitious to succeed in his chosen work.

Cause of death was said to be a sudden heart attack.

Rosary for the popular young man is being held at the Conner-Johnson Funeral Home, Thursday evening at 8 p.m., with the funeral mass the following morning, Friday, at 9 a.m., at St. Agnes church, Vermont and Adams blvd. Interment will be at Holy Cross Cemetery.

Young Payton was born in Jamaica, received his early education in Philadelphia, and travelled extensively with his parents. Later he studied business administration at the University of Southern California. He was active in intercultural club activities and in the Jeter Hairston choir.

Dr. Payton has been practicing in Los Angeles since 1948, following a two-year stay in Brazil.

In addition to his parents, young Payton is survived by his sister, Joyce.

Jo Baker to Be Barred From U. S.

WASHINGTON. — Fabulous Josephine Baker, St. Louis-born singer who packed theaters to the gills from New York to the Coast and at all points in between when she made her last whirlwind tour of the United States in 1951, will not be permitted to return to this country from her adopted home in France.

State Department officials here last week termed La Baker's case "controversial," and said that in all such cases U.S. Consular officials abroad have strict instructions to submit passport requests to Washington. The spokesman in the Visa division added that no request for a visa for Miss Baker has been received.

Basis of terming her case controversial is her statement in Buenos Aires, Argentina, after her American tour, in which she reportedly said: "The United States is not a free country. I do not envy those who have to live there."

Miss Baker, after her early years in St. Louis, went to New York determined to make her way on the stage. She never got to first base however, until she went to Paris in the twenties and became an almost overnight sensation. Since then she has lived in France and is married to a Frenchman.

In addition to her Buenos Aires statement, the authorities apparently hold two "altercations" in 1951 against her, one in New York and another in Los Angeles. What they term "altercations" were dramatic protests by Miss Baker against jim-crow treatment.

An associate of the Senate Judiciary Committee, Richard Arens, said that should she "gain admission . . . I am sure that under the provisions of the McCarran Act she could be forced to leave." Arens assisted in drafting the act.

Bandit Grabs $469 From Bank—But Not for Long

Sylvester Kissentaner, 31, a sheet metal worker of 951 W. 55th street, robbed the Bank of America branch at 4629 S. Broadway last week and got away with $469—but not for long.

In a scuffle with a couple of unidentified citizens as he fled the scene, Kissentaner dropped his hat and his North American Aviation Company badge. Tracing him was a cinch.

When he got home from the "job," police were staked out in his house and he gave in meekly.

Kissentaner had walked into the branch bank and handed Teller Delores Leibhaber a note. Miss Leibhaber read this message: "Do not push the buzzer. Don't scream or yell. Count me all 5's, 10's and 20's slowly. Return this note with the cash."

Miss Leibhaber said she noticed a revolver pointed at her from his shirt sleeve so she obeyed. But the moment he turned to flee, she screamed. That's when the public-spirited citizens took after the bank robber.

Nabbed, Kissentaner told police, "I don't know exactly when I got the idea to hold up the bank. I guess I was crazy or something."

He thought a while and added, "That teller at the bank must have been crazy, too, if she said I had a gun. I didn't use a gun."

Pacific Town Club Member Dies in Chicago

CHICAGO (NPB) - Funeral services were held here yesterday for Harold Young, prominent recent arrival from Los Angeles who died early Friday morning, April 23, following a short illness. He was taken ill the previous Wednesday while watching a horse race.

Mr. Young arrived here a few days before his death from the westcoast accompanied by his wife, Mrs. Clara Young. Previously, they had visited relatives in St. Louis, Mo. The couple were prominent in Los Angeles social circles, where Mr. Young was a member of the exclusive Pacific Town club.

The couple were the guests here of Mrs. Young's twin sister, Mrs. G. L. Jackson. The trio with the addition of Walter L. Gordon, Los Angeles attorney, were scheduled to attend the Kentucky Derby in Louisville, Ky.

Last year was the fourth consecutive year of increase in the traffic death toll.

Ned Redding's Civic Activities Prevent His Active Campaigning for Congress

Ned Redding, president of the Board of Public Utilities and Transportation, was about the busiest city official in Los Angeles last week.

His activities ranged from welcoming a minister to the city, through a ribbon cutting ceremony to open a new highway, to throwing out the first ball at the opening of the Associated Club's Baseball League. In between times he handed popular Joe Adams a citation for the latter's safety campaign and helped give away a new stove.

If the cheerful and amiable Redding regretted that all of this activity distracted his attention from his campaign for Congress in the 26th district he showed no signs of disappointment. He explained that his civic duties take precedence over his campaign.

"I'm happy to welcome you to the city," he told Dr. A. A. Lucas, nationally known Baptist leader as he welcomed that dignitary to Faithful Baptist church where he will conduct a week long revival meeting. Redding commented that religious activities and strict adherence to religious teaching was one of the best ways to make the nation strong. The Rev. W. L. Robinson, pastor of the church, commended Redding for his interest.

The stove giving-away ceremony climaxed the contest of the Broadway and Manchester Business club and Redding won the promise of a steak dinner from the winner, Mrs. Lucille Willis. Redding, who fancies himself as something of an amateur cook, promised Mrs. Willis that he would give her his expert opinion on her prowess as a chef after he gets the steak.

Something of an amateur athlete in his younger days, Redding pitched a perfect strike when he threw out the first ball at the Associated Clubs League Sunday morning at Will Rogers Park. However none of the clubs made any move to sign him up, on the ground that he would be in Washington after the elections.

Joe Adams was awarded a scroll by Redding, as president of the Public Utilities Board, because of his long and sustained safe driving campaign over his radio program.

The ribbon cutting ceremony celberated the opening of Imperial highway between Main and Central avenue. When completed the highway will reach to the Mexican border.

Redding, publisher of a number of community newspapers, is candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the June 8 primary election. He has filed as a Republican. A leader in the Church of the Latter Day Saints, he has long been active in civic and community affairs.

More than 15,800 persons were killed in week end traffic accidents last year.

California Jobs Dip Below '53

SACRAMENTO - For the first time in four years, employment in California has dropped below the level for the same month of the preceding year.

The total number of civilians employed in the state on March 31, the State Department of Employment announced, was 4,792,000. This was 10,000 below the figure for March, 1953.

veteran ace of the Cleveland Indians, pauses to refresh between innings with a frosty bottle of Coca-Cola.

Ever notice how many baseball players are big stars during spring training, but are never heard of again? The big leagues demand quality performance day after day, week after week, year after year, and only players with something "extra" make the grade. That's the way it is with a lot of other things, too.

Here's a good example: for more than four generations — ever since 1886 — people have enjoyed ice-cold Coca-Cola. Day after day, week after week, year after year, Coke has been a quality product. Best of all, Coca-Cola has always had the same magic sparkle — the same wonderful taste — it has today.

Published Every Thursday

The Eagle stands for complete integration of Negroes into every phase of American life through the democratic processes.

We favor:

1. FEPC on local, state and national levels.
2. Decent housing for all Americans.
3. Representation in Government.
4. Adequate old age pensions and social security.
5. Collective bargaining rights for all workmen.
6. Development and encouragement of Negro business.

We oppose:

1. Jim Crow in all forms.

Where Knight Stands

Even Negro Republicans must know by now that Governor Goodwin Knight is opposed to fair employment legislation and that Richard Graves, his Democratic opponent, favors such laws.

The governor tried to cover up his opposition with vague statements to the effect that he is opposed to discrimination in employment and it was only when the CIO pinned him down that he admitted opposition to what he called "cumpulsory" measures.

Mr. Knight shied away from what he called "compulsory" measures on the thin ground that morality can't be legislated, that you can't outlaw prejudice, and other similar arguments. The truth of the matter is that all of his arguments have been exploded in other states which do have FEPC legislation with teeth.

The most notable example is New York which has had such a statute for almost a decade. The New York law doesn't invade the right of employers or unions to entertain prejudice. What it does do is to forbid them to translate these prejudices into discrimination against workers on the basis of race or color or place of national origin.

There has been a noticeable decline in job discrimination in New York, and other states, since the enactment of fair employment legislation and, contrary, to the horrendous fears conjured up by Governor Knight and other opponents, there have been no wholesale prosecutions or jailing of alleged offenders. Rather, there has been an increase in voluntary observation of the law without intervention by the state. The same thing would happen in California.

We don't know what Negro Republican leaders propose to do about the governor's attitude. We would like to point out to them that President Eisenhower said time and again during the 1952 campaign that this issue is a state matter and that he pledged that state Republican administrations would tackle it, even if he had to call a conference of governors to set the machinery in motion. Republicans would certainly be well advised to urge Governor Knight to take a second look at his unfounded opposition.

We doubt that anything that can be done or said will move the governor. The big-business big-farmer interests who are running his campaign, and who will run the state if he is elected, don't want FEPC and aren't going to let Mr. Knight support it.

The obvious moral to draw from these facts is that if we want FEPC we had better turn to the Democrats and cast our ballots for Richard Graves.

Wasting Our Talent

Persistent rumors that Ralph Bunche will be given a new and very important post in the United Nations set us to pondering the fact that he would make a far better United States senator than Joe McCarthy—or than a baker's dozen of others that we could name without much trouble.

The speculation is idle because Negroes just don't get such positions as United States senator in this America of ours today. We can imagine the consternation that would be stirred up if a Negro of Bunche's ability were proposed as senator in any state of the union where his only opponent was a blowsy and discredited political hack.

The Southerners would simply have none of it and a few hillbilly editors would take to their typewriters to let out a whoop for white supremacy sprinkled with suggestions that the whole thing was a subversive plot of the rankest kind.

The suggestion wouldn't cause that much of a stir in the North or West but the Negro wouldn't get the job, no matter what his attainments. The politicos would let out their usual tripe to the effect that of course they weren't prejudiced but you "know how things are." The conservatives would snoot the whole business while the liberals would cry in their beer over the unfairness of the whole matter and wind up with windy statements about electability, and get on record as favoring the white opponent.

The net result of this attitude is that America wastes the talent of many of its citizens simply because of their race and color.

If Ralph Bunche hadn't got into UN there is only a remote possibility that the United States would be making full use of his talent. Chances are that he would have been relegated to some comparatively minor role in some government agency if he had elected to carve out a governmental career.

Goodby To Tenney

We don't like to overload these editorial columns with too much political advice and speculation but we can't resist the opportunity of pointing out that Jack Tenney should be defeated for state senator from Los Angeles county.

Mr. Tenney has praised Gerald L. K. Smith as a "great American" and the "Rev." Smith has returned the compliment. We hardly need to point out here that the former Louisiana minister heads America's largest and most thriving hate movement. It is part of the Smith credo that racial segregation is desirable.

Senator Tenney likes to paint himself as a man without racial prejudice but he took a leaf from Smith's book a couple of years ago when he accepted leadership of the America Plus movement.

America Plus proposed to repeal the state's civil rights statutes, forbid legislative action on FEPC and re-institute enforcement of race-restrictive covenants.

Mr. Tenney became so enamored of this program that he actually introduced a bill in the California Senate to enact the America Plus proposals into law.

Obviously, Negro voters have no business casting a single ballot for Mr. Tenney. We hope they won't.

Tenney's Democratic opponent is Richard Richards, who takes a stand diametrically opposed to that of Tenney. It will be a good day for Los Angeles county when Richards replaces Tenney in the state senate.

Well Deserved Tribute

The testimonial dinner given by his friends to Dr. John A. Somerville this week was well deserved.

Dr. Somerville is one of the most public spirited of our professional men and there is hardly a community organization to which he has not given support.

As was said so many times by speakers at the dinner, Los Angeles is a better place in which to live for what he has done here.

The dinner also marked Dr. Somervilles' seventieth birthday and the Eagle is glad to join the rest of the community in congratulating him for what he has done and in wishing him many more years of success.

One Man's Opinion

A LOCAL BOY MAKING GOOD

Samuel B. Marlow Sr. came to Los Angeles 37 years ago from Kingston, Jamica. Several years thereafter he was presented with a son which he was proud to name Samuel B. Marlow Jr. and it is about this native of California whom we wish to write about and have you meet this week.

Leon Steward

From the first day of first day of his lifeSamuel was under the tutelage of his parents but when he became of school age, the state took over a part of the job and Samuel responded. In 1941 he graduated from Polytechnic High School where he played a little football and took part in various school activities.

Double Score

After taking two years of premedical work at UCLA, he entered the Los Angeles College of Chiropractic from which he graduated during the summer of 1950, securing both his degree of Doctor of Chiropractic and a wife who was a member of his class, the former Miss Ann Johnson. And they both hung out their shingles at 3429 S. Central avenue and have from that day enjoyed splendid practices.

Home and Community

Their home was established promptly and comfortably on Olive street. They attended the Zion Hill Baptist church, where he is the church doctor. He is an active member of Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity, and also a member of Delta Phi Psi, a national professional fraternity and United Civic League. Not having all of his nights taken up he is studying a correspondence course in law from the Blackstone College of Law for his own enlightenment.

He is furthermore an active member of Garrison 45 Prince Hall Free and Accepted Masons, which he joined just 10 months ago.

Thus it may be seen that this young man is setting his sails to become, as time passes, a real and vital part of the community of which he is and has been a part for some 32 years. We are pleased to offer him, whom we have known and watched for eight years, this pat on the back.

Battleaxe and Bread

By Lester B. Granger

When the National Conference of Social Work meets in Atlantic City next month, some seven or eight thousand social workers of every interest-area and from every section of the country will meet to consider the Conference theme: "Social Welfare, 1954: Inventory and Opportunity." And it occurs to me that this might be a good time to take a look at the National Conference itself, to do, as its president, Brooks Potter of Boston, asks: Take "count of stock" in the business of social welfare, but for the purposes of this column only insofar as the organization itself is concerned.

Lester Granger

You might say that it is natural that I, as a social worker and head of a social work organization, should regard this assembly as significant.

Touches Us All

But ever if I were not a social worker; if I were just plain John Q. Citizen, with only a smattering of knowledge and interest in things around me, I could not fail to recognize the importance of this meeting. For the progress which has been made in the whole area of human relations touches the lives and fortunes of all of us.

Time was when Eugene Kinckle Jones was one of the very few, if not the only, active Negro participant in the National Conference of Social Work, doing his determined best to make certain that the interests of Negroes were protected in all areas.

And to all who knew Kinckle Jones, there could be no doubt that only his dogged determination kept him plugging away as he did, because with the Urban League the only agency of its kind seeking to be heard one can well believe that he often came up against a stiff wall of resistance and discouragement which would make a weaker man surrender.

Authorities

But as time went on, more and more Negro professional social workers became active in the Conference. Until today, as the 81st session assembles, we find Negroes participating in every phase of it. We find them active in the planning and on year-round committees that shape the policies of the organization. We find them not only as main speakers and panel members, but—of equal importance—as registered delegates, hundreds strong. And interestingly enough these Negro delegates come not alone as representatives of Negro causes, but as social workers bearing their responsibility for public and private service.

We find our Negro Conference participants featured as authorities on general questions of social welfare—not asked to address themselves on matters of race alone. That is to me the finest sort of "integration," the true acceptance of a person on the basis of individual capabilities rather than race.

Poor Man's Profession

Of course, the progress which all of this signifies shouldn't be surprising, for organized social welfare has always been way ahead of other professions in terms of democratic practices. This is easy to understand in light of the fact that those who take seriously their responsibility for correction of the social ills of their communities are persons who are in their jobs because of a deep conviction regarding this "better America" that we keep talking about.

They would have to have that deep conviction because, as I've said before, social work is a poor man's profession. Compensation comes in the satisfaction of seeing welfare standards raised in spite of steady, relentless pressure of reactionary interests.

So, you don't have to be a social worker to be interested in what will be happening in Atlantic City from May 9 to 14. You need only to have an interest in yourself, your family and your community to want to know what will be done in the matter of legislation affecting your standard of living, what proposals will be offered for the leisure-time activity of our young people, what new approaches are suggested to family and child-rearing problems—you need only to want to be advised on these and other matters and what goes on in the ever challenging and expanding field of social welfare.

The very presence of Brooks Potter as President of the Conference this year is indicative of the seriousness with which lay people are becoming increasingly concerned about these questions.

Mr. Potter is not a social worker; he is a lawyer, and it is the first time in the Conference's history that a lay person has been placed in this leadership post. And with him are many other lay persons who have, in recent years, joined forces with the professional social workers on this all-important question.

Letters

To the Editor:

You will be pleased to know that the Urban League Annual Meeting and Awards Program held April 16, 1954 at Los Angeles High School was successful. We are sure that much of this success can be attributed to the valuable space alloted to the promotion of the event by the California Eagle.

On behalf of the Board of Directors, the staff, the members and friends of the Urban League, please accept our sincere appreciation. — Wesley Brazier, Executive Secretary.

Dear Mr. Miller:

The Mona Park PTA wishes to express appreciation and thanks to you and your paper for the space given for our publicity during the past year.

In the future, we truly hope, you will continue this service.

You and your staff have a standing invitation to attend our meetings at anytime.

Again, many, many thanks.

"Hey! Don't Forget This!"

Pure and Simple

By L. F. Palmer Jr.

I'm in the market for a good barber. It won't matter if he leaves a little "pomp" in front. I'll even forgive him if the wife makes a dash for the scissors after she surveys his handiwork.

All I ask is that he be a master in the talk department.

I believe the barber chair is the greatest seat of knowledge and with the prices what they are these days, I insist that I get some honest-to-goodness, genuine education along with my hair trim. And show me a better professor than a barber.

Take Pops Carter, for instance. Now there was a real barber. Back in my good old undergraduate days you could get a hair cut on the campus for two bits. For 35 cents, you could get your ears lowered plus generous lessons in philosophy, politics, sports or horse racing—if you went into town to Pop's shop on Leigh street in Richmond, Virginia.

Extra Dime

I always scrounged around for that extra dime so I could learn who was going to win the upcoming football game, or why the Democrats were still in office, or what the theory of relativity really meant, or who to bet on in the Kentucky Derby. And Pops Carter had a real strong batting average.

My stock greeting to Pops used to be, "What's the state of the nation, Pops?" His stock answer was, "You gotcha 35 cents, son?" I'd produce the loot and climb aboard to get my hair and my wits sharpened.

I'll never forget Pops' running prediction in 1941 that the U. S. would be at war before the year was out. It was the first thing I remembered when I heard that frenzied announcement over the radio December 7: "Japanese planes have bombed Pearl Harbor!" Pops Carter. What a barber!

George In Chicago

And then there was George in Chicago. I never knew George's last name. He kept me so awed all the time I never managed to close my mouth long enough to ask him. A little guy with a fantastic way with the English language. George was truly the Sage of Sixty-Third Street.

His specialty was current affairs and the way he quoted Time, Newsweek and Ed Murrow, you'd of thought he wrote the scripts. When George took the floor, scissors stopped snipping, clippers stopped clipping and business slowed to a crawl.

George orated, debated and pontificated. You didn't get your hair cut but you sure learned a lot about this crazy, mixed-up world.

The Lawyer

What I know about law, I learned in Sycaruse, New York, in a barber chair. This particular tonsorial artist studied law at night and "practiced" it by day—on his long haired clients.

A barber in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, taught me what little I know about women. Blind in one eye and pushing 70, Felix was the hero of the boys at the University in Iowa City. Men of color were outcasts in Iowa City barber shops so every two weeks or so, all roads led to Cedar Rapids and Felix. It was a 22 mile jount, but by any standards, it was worth it.

With this rich tonsorial tradition, I've been making the rounds of Los Angeles' striped poles, looking for the barber who can further my education on the same academic level. There's one down on Centrol I'm just dying to try. He bills himself as "The King of Gas."

KATHERINE MANSFIELD, A BIOGRAPHY by Antony Alpers

One of Katherine Mansfield's countrymen writes modestly and sympathetically in this new biography, significant for its fresh material. He recaptures the atmosphere of New Zealand in the 90's and draws the character of the self-centered artist and her world with the sureness of a born biographer. Here is presented her childhood, her marriages, her later years, and a balanced understanding of her work.

A PASSAGE IN THE NIGHT by Sholem Asch

Turning from the Biblical scene to modern times, Sholem Asch is still concerned with spiritual values. Here he tells the story of a man who in his old age and the comfort of wealth feels the torments of his conscience for the poor man he had tricked many years before. Readers will find it a thoughtful religious anecdote; many a minister, no matter what his faith, will view it as a wise-unmoralizing sermon told by an excellent story-teller.

Pastor Says Life-Termer 'Not Guilty'

SAN FRANCISCO — A San Francisco clergyman this week declared that a man sentenced to life in prison for setting a fire which caused 22 deaths is "not guilty."

The Rev. Hamilton T. Boswell, pastor of Jones Methodist church, declared that George Holman, who was sentenced, following the fatal blaze in the New Amsterdam Hotel, was "framed," and was convicted on perjured testimony.

In a letter to Franklin H. Williams, secretary-counsel of the NAACP, the Rev. Boswell asked the NAACP to investigate the case and do what is possible to exonerate Holman.

Wrote the Rev. Boswell:

"I have visited Mr. Holman on many occasions and I, personally, am convinced that Mr. Holman is not guilty of the crimes attributed to him, by which he was convicted and sentenced to the penitentiary. I am not alone in this feeling of tremendous injustice in the Holman case. The San Francisco Chronicle, a few years back, wrote a series of articles on the Holman Case.

"When one reads the transcript of the trial, it is clear that the witnesses aaginst Mr. Holman were unreliable, and Gertrude Jordan perjured herself throughout the trial. It is alleged that the Police Department, after Mr. Holman's conviction, rushed Gertrude Jordan out of the state and have forbidden her ever to return. If these allegations are true, why should the Police Department take such a personal interest in the matter far beyond their line of duty? There are many other inconsistences which in this letter there is not room to state.

"I heartily commend to the Association that they study the transcript of the Holman case and possibly there will be discovered a denial of due process of law and other inequities beyond the control of Mr. Holman. This man is rotting in a jail yet passionately denying any guilt.

League's steady pressure for more jobs and the NAACP's fight for civil rights has helped put cash in the hands of the very merchants who think they've done their duty when they make a two dollar gift to some Negro charity bazaar.

Both the League and the NAACP have it pretty tough trying to make ends meet. If each of them had five thousand dollars in addition to what it gets from present sources it could increase its service to the community many times over. That adds up to ten thousand dollars, and that's just a small fraction of the profit that is taken out of our community by the merchants who do business in Watts, and on Central and Western avenues.

The time has come when the community has to face up to this problem and the merchants have to face up to it. The year in and year out policy of making profits from Negroes and then of ignoring the problems of those who make those profits possible is shortsighted. More that that, it breeds distrust and fans prejudices that redound to the mutual disadvantage of the merchant and his customer alike.

The Negro who sees the merchant from whom he buys goods take his profits and build a fine suburban home in an area from which Negroes are excluded doesn't like it. His temper isn't helped when he reads the daily newspapers, or hears via the grape vine ,that that same merchant is a big community figure out in his own exclusive neighborhood. He wonders why that merchant doesn't lift a finger to help him get a job or why his grocer subscribes silently to racial residential segregation.

In another sphere these same merchants don't take their customers into account in supporting or endorsing candidates for public office. I have known some of them to whoop their heads off for a candidate whose election was fraught with disaster as far as Negroes were concerned. If there is some candidate whose election might offer a big assist to Negroes these merchants never contribute a dime. They cut the cloth of their politics to suit their own selfish interests or to curry favor with the people among whom the live.

I have no pat answer for this problem. Come to think of it, I have no effective answer at all. Probably nobody else does. But it is time to find that answer. And if you have one just drop me a line.

Voices of Victory in Special Program To Mark First TV Anniversary

The Voices of Victory will celebrate their first anniversary as Southern California's pioneer television choir with a special program at their home church, Victory Baptist Church, 4802 McKinley Avenue, Thursday, May 6, at 8 p.m.

A brilliant array of guest artists will share the platform with the famous choir and at 9:30 p.m. the Voices of Victory will open a new series of inspirational television programs at this new hour.

According to Dr. A. Atlas Peters, pastor of Victory Baptist Church, the program's new hour results from hundreds of requests from televiewers who desired a switch from the old slot, 7:30 each Sunday.

Television Station KTTV, Channel 11, will continue to carry the program at the new time, 9:30 every Thursday night.

Charles King

Charles E. King, baritone and former director of the celebrated Wings Over Jordan choir, will appear on the special anniversary program. Other featured singers include the El Monte, Calif., high school chorus, Simmons and Akers, recording artists, and the Victoraires, under the direction of Mrs. Robbie Preston.

Actually, the Voices of Victory choir is more than three years old. It was organized in December, 1950, when Reverend Peters suggested the merger of the church's Celestial, Cathedral and Inspirational choirs. In 1951, Thurston Gilbert Frazier was named director of the group. He is still its leader.

Make History

The Voices of Victory made history Easter Sunday, 1953, when it became the first Negro choir to be televised at its home church. The group's appearance was so successful, Television Station KTTV continued the program on a sustaining basis. It is now sponsored by Gold's Department Store, 1207 E. Washington blvd.

The choir recently appeared before the National Boy Scout Jamboree in Santa Ana. It tied in competition for the Annual Music Award at the Los Angeles District Association and has cut records for Decca and for Frank and Lockwood.

Among its personal appearances was a concert at the University of Redlands.

C. C. Perkins is president of the Voices of Victory. Mrs. Helen Perkins is organist and Mrs. Robbie Preston is pianist.

Cite Bishop Who Banned Segregation

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C.—The Sixth District conference of the Omega Psi Phi fraternity holding its annual meeting here last week, cited a Catholic bishop for his stand on segregation in his church.

At the public meeting held in Fries auditorium on the Winston-Salem Teachers college campus, The Most Reverend Vincent S. Waters, bishop of Raleigh, was awarded a handsome plaque for "distinguished and historic pronouncements in the cause of Christian brotherhood and social progress."

Father Waters, some few months back, issued orders to abandon the practice of separate and segregated services in churches under his supervision.

Father Francis A. Gorman of St. Benedict's Church of Winston-Salem received the plaque on behalf of Bishop Waters. Father Gorman explained that Bishop Waters is bound by church law to remain in his cathedral during Holy Week.

ALYNE DUMAS LEE, soprano, will appear in concert at McCarty Memorial cathedral, West Adams at 11th avenue, Sunday, May 16, at 3:30 p.m. She will sing under the sponsorship of the Artists' Guild of Berean S.D.A. church and affiliates.

Pastor Returns To Greater Fellowship

The members and friends of the Greater Fellowship Baptist church, 3330 South San Pedro, heartily welcome their pastor home. The Rev. M. M. Jones just returned from a trip to Bakersfield and Stockton where he saved 19 souls as a result of his inspiring sermons.

Hazel King Jones, booking manager for gospel groups and radio broadcasts, invites the public to the Greater Fellowship Baptist church services.

She said this week that a radio broadcast will be announced through the newspapers soon. She said she is soliciting sponsors for the church broadcast.

Slate Big Musical For Salem Baptist

A capacity crowd is expected at Salem Baptist church, 2854 Glasswell and Reno streets, Sunday, May 2, at 3 p.m. when a glittering array of gospel talent will present a musical program.

According to Hazel King Jones, booking manager for gospel groups and radio broadcasts, the following artists will appear: The True Light Gospel Singers, the Heavenly Saints, the Salem church choir, the Loving Five of Pasadena, the International Men's chorus and the new soloist, Raymond Newton.

Protestants Launch Back To Bible Drive

The Southern California Council of Protestant churches this week launched a five-year program to encourage greater use and understanding of the Bible throughout Southern California, according to Dr. Forrest C. Weir, spiritual leader of the inclusive Protestant body.

At the same time Dr. Weir announced the appointment of Dr. Gerald A. Larue of Berkeley, former church editor of the Oakland Tribune, as director of the project. He begins his duties at once.

"There's a tremendous surge of interest in the Bible sweeping the nation right now," said Dr. Weir. "People on every hand, church goers and stay-at-homes too, are eager to know the Scriptures, to understand them. The project which Dr. Larue will co-ordinate is in response to this vigorous new interest. It will reach into hundreds of communities where Protestant and Eastern Orthodox churches will co-operate in carrying it out."

The church leader cited publication of the Revised Standard Version of the Bible as an example. "At the time it appeared in 1952," he said, "the occasion touched off more than 3,000 Bible observances in communities across the country, of whih more than 50 were held under the auspices of this state council. The RSV Bible has since enjoyed record-breaking sales—as has the older King James Version."

The Council executive pointed out that the new project will apply to the Bible, and not any particular version.

Maps Public Relations For AME Zion

The executive committee of publicity and public relations of the A.M.E. Zion church met recently at the denominational office of the Bureau of Public Relations in Mother A.M.E. Zion church in New York city.

Meeting with Bishop William J. Walls who is chairman, were Rev. J. W. Findley of New York, who serves the bureau as director, Rev. David Cecil Lynch of Jersey City, N.J., Rev. J. B. Adams, of Johnstown, Pa., Rev. J. A. Belton of Gastonia, N.C., and Mrs. Cleo Tyner of Williamston, N.C.

The business discussed was concerned with far-flung program that included plans for research, for representation in the news coverage of policy making at the United Nations and active participation in the problems in the federal government affecting the Negro and the A.M.E. Zion denomination, such as public housing, employment without discrimination, education (the integration of public schools in the south as before the Supreme Court) social security for workers (including the present move to include ministers) social legislations and its effect upon the well-being of the Negro.

Spirit 'High' For Services At Phillips

The Easter services at Phillips Temple C.M.E. church were well attended and the spirit high throughout the day. Three messages were delivered by the minister, Dr. Norris S. Curry.

At 5:00 a.m. he spoke from the subject "Resurrection Experience." This message dealt with the Resurrection as living human experience, morally and spiritually expressed in the thoughts and actions of Christians.

At 10:45 a.m. he spoke from the subject "The Immortal Break-Through," he emphasized the Resurrection as the experience of God as his son in and through the human tragedy.

At 12:45 p.m. he spoke from the subject "The Historical Event." This message stressed the Resurrection as historical experience recorded in the narratives of the senoptic gospels.

One of the main features of the 10:45 service along with the message was the rendition of "The Hallelujah Chorus" by the Youth and Senior choirs of the church.

At 9:15 a.m. The Church School presented the children of the church in their regular Easter service. To close the day's activities the Celestial Choir under the direction of Mrs. Jessie Mae Ball presented the "Last Seven Words of Christ."

You are invited to make your reservations now with the Hostess board of the church to attend the "Royal Regale" to be given April 30, at the Cosmopolitan hotel, 360 South Westlake Ave., at 8 p.m.

McCOY MISSION IN SACRED PLAY

The Junior Missionary society of the McCoy Memorial Baptist church, 802 East 46th Street, presented the sacred drama, "The Seamless Robe," Friday night April 16. It was very well received.

This talented group's dramatization of the active ministry of Christ, and the power of the Seamless Robe, around which the play is built, was an outstanding contribution to the Lenten Season's worship.

The play's capable director was Miss Irma Lee Stitch.

The cast consisted of Joe Dandy as Moxa; his wife Prisca, Lessie B. Kemp (president of the Junior Mission); Azubah, their lame daughter, Nettie Kemp; Naaral, a young Hebrew woman, Alma Johnson; Sarah, a wealthy Hebrew woman, Imogene Jackson; Bethiah, a poor Hebrew widow, Luvenla Carter; Roman soldiers, Tertius, Earl Hall; Marcus, Oran Kemp; Lucius, Milo Starks; and Gaius, Jessie Kemp.

LAYMEN'S SUNDAY

Sunday, May 2, will be Laymen's day at Second AME church, 213 E. 43rd st., the Rev. Jerry W. Ford, pastor. With a special service at 3 p.m., church laymen will begin a program to revive interest in the church.

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles
Find Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids
New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.
In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.
Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.
And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!
In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.
All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.
Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name Preparation H.® The price is only 98¢ a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember—if not entirely satisfied—your money will be refunded promptly. ®Trade Mark.

BEAUTIFUL CALIENTE IN OLD MEXICO—Toubo Did, the six-year-old son of Toubo-Dinad did play, captured the featured Easter Parade handicap by a scont head over the entry of R. C. Elleworth's Ara Time and

In a performance, heart-breaking to plucky little Ara Time, Toubo Did bulldogged down the Ellsworth stable filly in the closing strides for a head decision and a mutuel payoff of $13.20. It was one of the season's fatest races. The time for the mile and seventy yards was 1:43 3/5.

Namo, who finished first in the second half of the daily-double was disqualified and it provided the excitement of the early races. The daughter of Domingo-Kid's finish was well played. He was second choice in the dash of six furlongs and the reversal of the stewards was far from popular with the fans holding tickets on Namo. The disqualication was given mainly because Namo carried R. C. Ellsworth's Happy Lady out from midway of the stretch.

Happy Lady, the first-starting daughter of the Imported Italian Gladiolo, paid $19.80 as a result.

Apprentice Merrill T. Faulkner, Namo's rider, was suspended 10 days for failure to keep his mount straight. Apprentice Franklin J. Heaney also received a 10-day setdown for careless handling of Day's Boy. The second race was won by Winfair who paid $18.40.

Kappas, Sigmas In Series Feature Cage Game Sat.

By BRAD PYE, JR.

In the fifth week of play in the 22nd Annual Inter-Frat series Saturday night at Loyola High, it was 80 for the undefeated Omegas and 44 for the winless Alphas; and in the second encounter Gene Williams' constantly improving Kappas took Howard Holt's Sigmas into custody on an 84-70 count.

JEFF HOST IN DIXIE PRELIMS

Estel Johnson and John Childress' "desire laden" Jefferson High spikemen sneaked off with a dynamic, pulsating 56-48 win over the Manual Arts Toilers in retaining their dual meet supremacy Friday on their home cinders before a packed house.

But if they're to recapture the Dixie Loop, and city crowns and beat the best in the state meet they'll undoubtedly have to turn in an atomic like performance.

The Demos and Toilers will put on a repeat show at the Coliseum one week from tomorrow when they vie for the Southern league title. The prelims will be held on the Democrats campus this Friday (April 30).

Manual and Jefferson both had their moments in their dual meet titanic last Friday. However, an heretofore obscure Jeff quarter-miler by the name of Henry Cooks virtually stole the hearts of the masses as he came roaring down the stretch from fifteen yards behind to nip Manual's William Penn and James Durden at the wire.

Jeff's John Thomas leaped 6-5½ in the high jump and versatile Joe Stafford flipped the shot 55-10 and copped a surprising victory in the broad jump with a leap of 22-10. Big Everett "The Horse" Jackson's double sprint win of 9.8 and 21.7 and the Toiler's 8-man octet time of 3 minutes flat were the losers best standards.

TRACK TALK—Jeff's Class C high jumper, FRANK WASHINGTON, who cleared 6-ft. against Manual would have won or tied for first place in almost every varsity meet in town. . . . But at Jeff it wasn't even good enough for a record. . . . CORDELL HICKMAN, of film fame, holds the record at 6-1¼. . . . JOE SMITH is another Jeff C to watch. . . . He ran the 180-yard dash in 17.9, only five-tenths of a second better than the old standard. . . . DONALD FAULKNER, the Demo who matched the varsity time of 9.8 in the century is Jeff's third best B sprinter.

Fred Griffin and Winston Smiths' Omega hoopsters paced by Ed Tucker's 23 points literally toyed with the Alphas as they held the latter's celebrated Long John Barber, the L.A. State whiz, to 16 markers. The lowest total Barber has scored in the series to date! The Omegas' Jim Powell and Larry Dugan hit for 16 and 10 points respectively. Little Hugo Hill, one half of the famous Hill twins, pocketed 18 scores to garner high point laurels for the Alphas.

At halftime the Sigmas led the Kappas 38-36, but after the intermission the latter took the lead, and the closest the Sigmas got thereafter was within one point.

Dallas Perkins, the Little All-American via Central State College of Wilberforce, Ohio, paced the victors with 25 markers and his mates Pete O'Gara and Ed Nichols each connected for 20 and 16 points respectively. Dave Williams, the Jordan High P.E. instructor and ex-UCLA gridballer, turned in a sterling defensive game for the red-shirted men and also accounted for 9 markers.

Erhie Bond's 21 and Len Pollard's 17 were high for the losing Sigmas.

This Saturday night the Alphas will try to break into the win column against the Kappas and the Sigmas and the Omegas tangle in what looms as a thriller.

Prying Pye

JEFF'S SPIRIT INCOMPARABLE—

The come-through victories of Jefferson's unheralded quarter-miler, "Handy" Henry Cooks and the "Flying Irishman," Albert McDade in the half, in Friday's Manual masterpiece, when defeat seemed inevitable, makes it appallingly clear why we could never wager our coffee and cakes against the Demos, as long as Estel Johnson and John Childress are at the helm.

Cooks and McDade had to overcome overwhelming odds to wrap up their gutty triumphs in scoring ten valuable points in the Demos' close 56-48 win.

These athletes may never win another race for Jeff, but their incomparable feats in the Manual meet should live in the hearts of the masses for a long time to come. In passing, Jeff should be equally as proud of its versatile Chappell brothers—Curtis and Will—Joe Stafford, the stellar broad jumper and shot put ace, et al.

The Chappell boys' brother, Robert, was an all-city tackle at Jeff, and Gordon "Horseshoe" Chappel, the all-city fullback on that great '51 Mike Marienthal-coached Jeff squad is their cousin.

JORDAN'S TRACK ACE STUDENT PREXY—

Jordan High's great shot put ace, big Dan Everage, is not only the city's top competitor in his specialty, but he is also the school's student body president.

According to J. Randolph, an instructor at Jordan, he's pursuing a general course and should measure up to college standards.

We understand the youngster who sports the town's best mark of 60 ft. 2 in., which exceeds Jeff's Tom Dreaux's city mark by almost two feet, is being eyed by most of the PCC track powers, USC included. Is that true, Trojans?

Down at Jordan the students are boasting of gymnast Fred Morris' brilliant routine on the rings in copping the Marine loop title in this event. Jordan picked up 15 points in the meet.

By way of postscript, Jeff didn't pick up a single point in the Dixie loop gym finals last week. However, the Demo student body wants the world to know Edison Mitchell pitched a dynamic one-hitter against Washington Thursday.

VERNONDALE GOLF CLUB MAKES GREAT STRIDES

The Vernondale Golf Club, under the guidance of effervescent prexy Mae Crowder and chairman Mary Woodward, has made great strides since its origin in July of '47.

Two of the most promising local golfers, Clayton Moore, the ex-UCLAer, and erstwhile East Los Angeles JC student Henry Barabin, were helped and encouraged by the Vernondale clubbers. Barabin, who is presently a caddie at the Fox Hills course, was sponsored in the recent Los Angeles Open by the club.

P.S.: The Vernondale Golf Club presents its Maytime Extravaganza, Cotton Frolic and Fashion Show, May 21, at the El Sombrero Club, 121 W. 18th street. This doesn't exactly come under the title of sports or does it?

PYE'S LATE PICK-UPS—

Eddie Macon, the ex-College of the Pacific and Chicago Bear back signed to play the '54 campaign with the Calgary Stampeders in the Canadian loop this week. . . . Charley Allen, the Berkeley High lineman, who is fresh out of the Army, has registered with the L.A. Rams for the '54 season.

In this week's WSC JC track finals, former Jeff stars Art Scott and Herb Vaughn are big guns for LACC and Valley JC.

Phillipa Schuyler Dashes To L.A. For Concert Sun.

Immediately after her last curtain call for her second Town Hall appearance Thursday, Philippa Duke Schuyler, brilliant concert pianist, will rush home to pack her bags and board an American Airlines plane.

She'll make a non-stop flight to Los Angeles for Sunday's Forum theatre concert to be held under auspices of the Alpha Wives Auxiliary.

The artist's plane will land at 6 p.m., and after a hasty dinner, she will go to the Forum theatre to practice for Sunday afternoon's appearance.

Remaining in Los Angeles only long enough to attend the reception, to be given by the wives of Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity men after the concert at the Alpha house, the artist will continue on her travels.

A concert is scheduled for Seattle at the University of Washington, another at Anchorage, Alaska, and the last of the season at Ketchikan, Alaska.

Presented here last, under Alpha Phi Alpha auspices, in 1948, Philippa, with this appearance, will have crossed the continent four times since May, 1953, demonstrating the way demand for her has grown.

Twice to Europe this season, the talented daughter of nationally known journalist George Schuyler has crossed the Atlantic ocean twice for conerts, the Caribbean four times and covered the U. S. South.

Her travels have taken her from Finland to Alaska, from Oslo to Aruba. She has covered 20,000 miles by air.

Giving the concert as a revival of their annual cultural project, Alpha Wives will serve as ushers for the concert and hostesses at the reception.

Concert chairman has been Mrs. Doxie Mason, wife of Roger Q. Mason. Mrs. Mary Lou Tolbert, wife of Atty. Maceo G. Tolbert, is president of the Auxiliary.

Mrs. Robert House has been in charge of publicity; Mrs. George Waugh, the souvenir program; and Mmes. John T. Peyton and Della McDonald, the reception.

LOVELY NEW PORTRAIT of Philippa Duke Schuyler, former child prodigy and brilliant concert pianist, who will be presented in concert Sunday afternoon at 3 p.m. at the Forum theatre by the Alpha Wives auxiliary. The artist comes direct from a Town Hall concert.

Sigma Formal Gala Springtime Affair

The post-Easter lid of the social whirl was in evidence and brilliantly represented last Friday night when the Phi Beta Sigma graduate and undergraduate chapters gave their annual springtime formal dance.

The International room of the Hotel Cosmopolitan was the setting for this gala affair in a profusion of pastel colors. Elegance was displayed among the assemblage of lovely ladies who made a most attractive picture in a breath-taking array of formal gowns, each creating an allusion of loveliness with their handsome escorts. Everywhere in the crowd were familiar faces.

The spotlight of the party was the crowning of their gracious queen, Miss Gloria Bennett, and her four charming ladies of court, Barbara Barrett, Winifred Thompson, Frances Hinkson and Heda Jacobs. A presentation of roses were received by the queen and her court.

The gay sparkle was enhanced with the enchanting music of Sammy Franklin and his orchestra with the merry party in full swing 'til the last strains of music faded, leaving a delighted crowd who had enjoyed an extremely pleasant evening.

1832 Club Debuts

The Nikabob, swank Western Avenue Cafe, was the scene of the initial public appearance of the 1832 club.

A newly organized group of some of the city's most popular figures, the club was formed just two months ago and already they hold a long time lease on what club members claimed is one of the most fashionable club houses in the city.

The aim of the new organization is fellowship among men. A wide level of local charities will benefit from the group's program. The 1832 club has several in mind, namely, the City of Hope, Children's Home society, Outdoor Life and Health and many others.

The theme of the 1832 is share and share alike and planning programs that embrace the entire community.

With a membership of 25, the group enjoyed a well prepared steak dinner at the Nikabob and cocktails were poured around the clock. Atty. Earl Broady acted as master of ceremonies. Lt. Rocky Washington was the principal speaker and informed the guests of the club's aims.

Walter Goodlow was introduced as the president. Members include Nathaniel Collins, James Scott, Kenny Washington, Chubby Johnson, Ernest Russell, Charles Moore, Norman Lewis, Robert Clark, Tommy Tucker, Ivory Sylvester, H. D. De Bies, William E. O'Dell, Edgar Francis, Simie Station.

Essie McGinnis, Sheffield Eggleston, Herbert Simpkins, C. Ladd, Rocky Washington, Atty. Earl Broady, Louis Jones, Nick Prichard and Maceo Sheffield.

'May Day' Plans For Beta Pi Sigma

Rushing was the big item on the agenda when members of Alpha chapter of Beta Pi Sigma sorority met at the YWCA recently.

On tap is a meeting with a "May Day" theme at which time some 50 young women will be honored. Mrs. Essie Robertson is chairman of the organizing committee. Members of the committee are Una Green, Lucille Foreman, Helen Gaines, Viloet Dancey, Louise Glover, Erlene Howard, Georgia Caldwell and Vashti Alexander.

Hill Toppers To Surprise

The word is out from members of the Hill Toppers that May 16th and July 11 are two days to mark on your calendars.

In their recent meeting at the home of Emma Adams on West 21st st., plans were made for these two surprise affairs. Emma Adams and Honorene Cochee are co-chairmen for one event, Millie Bruce and Margo Westfield are co-chairmen for the other.

The only hint that the girls will give out is that they will be celebrating the club's birthday. And one of your favorite charities will be honored. Sooo!

Y's Personality Group to Revel in 'Fairytale Dream'

The spotlight once again will be focused on the patio grounds of the YWCA-Woodlawn branch when the Young Adult club known as The "Personality Plus" will feature the annual Fashion Review. This year's theme as announced by the president, Miss Virginia Newborne, is "Fairytale Dream." The affair will be held May 2 at 2:30 p.m.

Miss Charlene Cooke, chairman of the program, has outlined a most entertaining show to be enjoyed along with the lovely models and gowns to be shown.

Miss Geni Le Gon and her dancers will open and close the show with interpretative ballet dances in keeping with the "Fairyland" theme. Musical selections will be offered by Misses Jacqueline Daugherty and Delores Piper, Three Guys and Gal.

Miss Geneva Batiste, who will offer the prologue, and Miss Pat Smith with the Patterson Sisters are treats that can't be missed.

Music for the models and the show will be rendered by Mrs. Maxine Scott and Mr. Gilbert Nunn.

Models trained by Mrs. Charity Washington Thomas will be featured along with original creations by Mr. Danford Goldman, Jr., and his models. Make-up will be done by representatives from the House of Spencer. Hats will be shown by Mrs. Ella K. Mays.

The club will have as their special guests such well known personalities as Mrs. Leontyne King, Dr. E. I. Robinson, chairman NAACP, and many, many other community dignitaries.

Michael Ellington and Mrs. Essie Robertson will commentate fashions and programs, sonality Plus club.

Mrs. Bernice P. Nance and Miss Idel Vertner, executive director, are advisors to the Per-

Towering Charity Club Schedules June Dance

Tempie Fortman was the hostess at the regular meeting of the Towering Charity club April 25. Plans were discussed for a dance to be held in June.

Proceeds from the dance will go toward the purchase of some needed equipment for the Orthopedic hospital. Next meeting will be held May 23 with Susie Kelly as hostess.

Mrs. Fentress Steps Down As 'Y' Chairman

Mrs. Lillian J. Fentress, chairman of the Committee on Administration, completes three years of service as chairman of the committee this month. Prior to being elected chairman, Mrs. Fentress served as co-chairman of World Fellowship, and chairman of the Nominating committee.

The feeling that Mrs. Fentress has toward the YWCA is best expressed in this message:

"Woodlawn Branch is an integral part of the Los Angeles YWCA. Its members and volunteers have enjoyed the close relationship which has existed in the development of the city-wide program of the association for the past year.

"We have kept abreast of the progress and continuing problems in the community and State througt our department of public affairs.

"We have attempted to solve our problems, and to build a better organization through proper program planning for teenagers and young adults."

Bridge Pointers

By

'KENNY' SCOTT

Last week we tried to lay down some principles for a scientific method of playing hands. Although we didn't put too much stress on it then, because of lack of space, we wish to mention the reasons for such a scientific method.

These reasons are many. It allows a faster, more accurate analysis of the hand. It means that playing time will be shortened. Harder hands become easier to play because a system is being applied. The game becomes more enjoyable because everyone enjoys making a better score.

Many Factors

There are other factors involved in hand play than were mentioned last week. Some of these factors include the science of finessing, the establishment of long side suits, and various types of endplays. There are also little tricks such as causing opponents to make wrong discards and forcing opponents to hold their aces too long, which we will mention later.

These are all methods of obtaining that extra trick which may give you that winning score. And we wish to emphasize that we don't mean tricks that opponents give away. We mean tricks you have won by skillful play.

One of the simplest, yet one of the most neglected, aspects of hand play is counting hands and figuring outstanding distributions of the various suits. For the purpose of this article we wish to state that there are 13 cards in each suit. It may seem foolish to mention this, but at times even the most experienced players seem to forget it.

Classes Help

In our classes we can discuss these phases of bridge more fully than in a column where space is limited. Each Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the YWCA, we have an interesting discussion which is open to the public.

For our hand this week we should like to pick one which has several interesting aspects, one of which is taking advantage of every situation.

The contract is three clubs. The opening lead is the five of diamonds.

Quick Survey

A quick survey of the hand shows possibly two spade losers, one club loser, and possibly two heart losers. But when the jack of diamonds is played from the dummy, East must play the king, which falls to South's ace. On this hand there is no hurry to draw trumps because there are only three out and neither opponent will ruff anything.

Therefore, at trick two South plays the three of spades. If West has the ace, there is only one spade loser. West takes the act and returns a spade, which is a safe play. Dummy leads the ten of diamonds and South plays a low heart. West takes the queen and returns a spade which is ruffed in dummy. North then plays the nine of diamonds and South discards the queen of hearts. Drawing of trumps is now routine and South had made four clubs, losing only a club, a spade, and a diamond.

On this hand, instead of making two finesses, South made only one, the lead toward the spade king. By the maneuver of throwing a loser on a loser, South was able to make an overtrick. And West made only perfectly normal and logical plays.

Next week we will discuss no-trump hands, which present a different type of challenge.

Pick Judges For Alpha's Essay Meet

William R. Freeman, local lawyer, Lucius W. Lomax, Jr., publisher of Los Angeles Tribune, and Dr. Reginald Fisher, all Alpha Phi Alpha members, will judge the essay contest for senior high school boys which will feature the annual "Education Campaign Week" concluding May 2nd.

Senior high school boys are being invited by Alpha to submit essays, ranging from 250 to 500 words on the subject, "Why I Want to Go to College."

Deadline will be May 17. Mail to Alpha House, 2116 So. Western, Los Angeles 18. Contact Milford James, AD 8585, for further information.

Alphas are offering cash prizes of $100, $50, and $25 for winning essays.

The contest is being conducted by Beta Psi Lambda chapter of A-Phi-A and Milford James is chairman of the committee in charge, which includes: Fred Kennedy, William Dailey, Thomas Robinson and Cleophus Saunders.

JUNE 5TH — It's a long way off but it's slated to be tops. Cocktails in Cotton is the theme and a $25 bond goes to the damsel who wears the prettiest cotton frock.

FORT SMITHIANS Social and Charity club officers were installed Sunday after their annual coffee which guests enjoyed at the home of Mrs. Freda Sheppard. Garcia, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Charles Perdue, treasurer; Mrs. Fred Owens, parliamentarian; Mrs. Augustus Hogue, entertainment chairman; Guy Blackburn, sergeant-at-arms. Roscoe Williams is one of the club's popular members.

Vogue Art Officers Installed

Bit of Sweden was the scene of the Vogue Art club installation. Mattie Huddleston was presented the club's gavel and a Bird of Paradise corsage from Sara Collier, outgoing president.

The officers were installed by Libby Clarke. Members enjoying the evening were Mmes. Sammie Sanders, Emily Jackson, June Smith, Mable Coleman, Nina Taylor, Zeresh Eberhardt, Velma Rodgers, Ernestine Nickerson, Arthonia Lewis, Ruth Speights and Estelle Lane.

The club wishes to thank their many friends for making the recent art exhibit a success. This year, recognizing the need of others just a few miles away, a school in Haiti was selected to send monthly contributions to. Plans for the school to receive the donations were arranged by Dr. Glen Lukens, former USC instructor, now in Haiti.

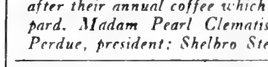
Contributions in the past, resulting from the club's exhibit, have been made to a variety of community needs, such as outdoor life and health, blind party, summer camps, unwed mothers and others.

The club which was started in 1940 with the idea of forming an organization in which to do art and handicraft, has pursued itss original purpose constantly learning new phases of art work and creating new ideas.

The Merrill Easter Egg Hunt a Hit

The Kappa Kastle became a Kiddie Land when Johnetta & Gregory Merrill entertained 45 children at an Easter Egg Hunt on the beautiful lawns of the Frat House, Saturday from 1 to 4 p.m.

The center of attraction, besides the hunt, was a live bunny rabbit. A Kiddie Ferris Wheel provided free rides for all present.



Johnetta and mother, Blanche Merrill, were dressed in mother and daughter dresses of nylon crepe pink and green print.

A recording was made of each child's voice as they were presented an Easter basket by the little hostess. Bill Spiller Jr. was the winner of the rabbit for finding the largest number of eggs.

Those Present

Those present were: Carol Brown, William Elkins Jr., Herbert McNealy, Bill Spiller Jr., David Bayliff, Toney Ashford, Marie and Edward Tarver, Yolanda and Duane Redford, Pallie Covington, Stephany Lee, Vermel Green, Joyce, Robert and Junior Green, Cheryl Wells, Chris and Mark Randall, Patrica and Patrick Patton, Stephany and Sheila Red, Phyllis Bradley, Retha Gray, Donna Gleed, Rafael Porter, Spencer and Janice Williams, Darlene Stroud, Skipper Granberry, Jeanie Jackson, Esther Watts and Renae Williams.

Helping and having about as much fun as the children finding eggs were Mrs. Willa Jean Lewis, Cecelia McNealy, Robert McNealy, who helped with the recording, Mrs. Dorothy Bayliff, Betty Lee, Ethel Nelson, Corinne Gleed, Vanessa Reed, Genevieve Redfud, Jewel Randall, Esther Watts, Ethel Bradley, Francis Williams, Goldie Spiller, Jerry Tarver, Eola Porter and Vivian Beck, Mr. and Mrs. W. Wells, Mr. and Mrs. G. Granberry, and Mr. and Mrs. Covington.

KERRY JACKSON and HAL MILLER

WHAT THEY ARE SAYING: "An all-professional cast couldn't have done it better." "The costumes were superb." "Choreography was at its best." These complimentary expressions are making the rounds of the social circles and are directed at a gals' club which Sunday set the pace for other organizations to follow.

"Sinquanons," that's the club name that is spoken with mixed emotion by rival club members who are already planning answers to the Sinquanons' challenge to the Broadway extravaganza.

A special tribute should be paid club sisters Imogene Nuesom and Vivian Jones, who organized the talent and picked the costumes for their stellar Florentine Gardens affair.

Roy Loggins, who acted as master of ceremonies, introduced such talented artists as Lon Fontaine, choreographer for the show; Harriet Young, Donna Rae Brown, Willie Collins, Bea Byers, Leon Golden, Kathryn Flowers, dancers; and Francois Andre.

If we tried to remember all who were in attendance we'd be sitting at this Underwood until dawn. But some of them were. Wilbur and Ruby Smith, Bill Jordan, Sarah Moore, Billie Benefield, Kathryn Purdue, Walter Smith, Selitha Huff, Bev Wilkerson, Frank (the guy who crawled on the dance floor) and Pauline Jones, Louis Augastine, Morris Taft, Pat Anderson and Bill Bailey, Marable Lee, Lowell Brenson, Don and Mildred Hamilton, Arthur and Maxine Lewis, Wilma Johnson, Preston Johnson and fiancee Gloria McPherson, Sam Magruder, Dolle Williams, Louise Ateman, Jerry Smith, Yvonne Rhinehardt, Eddy Spencer, Florence Smith, Eddey Walker, Val Markus, Zebba Howse, Sr., Leon Thompson, John Waller and Dorothy Fitzpatrick, Bill English and Shirley Moran; Ken Jackson, Yvonne (upsetting everyone) LaChappele, Joan Southern, Howard Morehead aaaannnnddddd Mary Ann Vandange, Wilbur Webb and Ruth Thompson, Annie (with the sparkler) High, Ted Shaffer, Delores Ivory, Marbilyne Sykes and Joe Mims, Paula Baker and Chazz Crawford, who was conspicuous by his absence.

RO-KA-WI's SCORE

A semi-formal fit for the kings was threw (yes we do mean threw) at the Fox Hills Country Club by the RO-KA-WI's social group. We didn't quite make it but heard it was the semi of the continent.

PEOPLE ARE MUMBLING ABOUT:

A gluttonish club sister who at her recent club function attempted to play Mata Hari with every male she met. Wonder if the guy she was with found out if she was playing?

Another word from our source says that the six-footer with an almost new Ford product and that bloodshot stare has lost the affection of his lady-in-waiting to a chap he never suspected. We guess he knows it now.

Roy Loggins (non malt) Malt glass that was never empty at Sins fandango. . . . Brings to mind the fact that folks are flocking to the Loggins catering firm for their nightly taste of barbeque. . . . You're likely to run into anybody, so if you're creeping pass it up.

Social Marque's are back on the scene. The club has reformed (re-formed) and are coming out with their initial Bunny-hug soon.

A happy birthday to Sheila Montgomery. Trying years have had little effect on her loveliness.

Kenny Washington and Charlene Derrick doing the aisle shuffle a fortnight ago.

Robert Gilliam changing Mazels last name (which we forgot) to his own. Dya spect an udder name.

Barbara Weaver swinging out with local lover Bob Oriely, the grinning Irishman.

EDMOND 'PAT' BROWN

A Citizen's Committee headed by Dr. E. I. Robinson will have breakfast with Atty. Gen. Edmond 'Pat' Brown at the Clark Hotel, Washington and Central, Wednesday morning at 8:30. Frank P. Clarke, Director of Minorities Groups of the Brown Campaign, assured the committee that the attorney General will be there to meet his many friends.

'April' Is Theme of AKA Las Madrinas Club Lunch

The Las Madrinas club of the Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority met at the home of Mrs. Willie Lewis, 1138½ South Hobart, Saturday, April 17, and a highlight of the meeting was an interesting program presented by the members having birthdays in April.

Mrs. Lorena Harris read a poem entitled "April." Mrs. Ethel White read a very good educational paper that gave some useful information on the "Art of Lace-Making." Mrs. H. R. Butler, Sr., gave an inspiring talk on "Easter."

Each member present gave a quotation on "Easter." Music was rendered by the club quartette. Birthday greetings were given to Mrs. Lorena Harris, Mrs. Ethel White, Mrs. Ora Armstrong, Mrs. Margaret Glover, Mrs. Alberta Joyce and Mrs. Addie Mae Speights.

Mrs. Doshia Redd, Mrs. Naomi Hazley and Mrs. Marjorie Blye, who are on our sick and shut-in list, are greatly missed and we are looking forward to a speedy recovery for them.

Other members present were Mrs. Mayme Waters, president; Mrs. Minnie Boring, Mrs. Selena Butler, Mrs. Viola Dunn, Mrs. Blanche Hamilton, Mrs. Maxine Hefflin, Mrs. Eldora Jefferson, Mrs. Lorenza Johnson, Mrs. Willie Lewis, Mrs. Amelia Lightner, Mrs. Minneola McClennan.

Mrs. Georgia McCullough, Mrs. Thelma Narcisse, Mrs. Alice Owens, Mrs. Lucille Porter, Mrs. Margart Scott, Mrs. Helen Thompson, Mrs. Tena Washington, Mrs. Susie Webb, Mrs. Ethel White, Mrs. Sarah Williams, Mrs. Nono Clifton and Mrs. Dorothy Washington, Chapter Chairman.

A delicious luncheon was served by the hostesees: Mrs. Maxine Hefflin, Mrs. Amelia Lightner, Mrs. Eldora Jefferson, Mrs. Willie Lewis and Mrs. Alberta Joyce.

Stewarts Give Birthday Fete

A surprise birthday dinner was given in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clay Stewart at 332 East 51st street, Los Angeles, for their sister-in-law, Mrs. Lee Stewart of Santa Monica.

The table was decorated beautifully with lilies and colored candles. A delicious menu of turkey and all its trimmings was served.

Mr. Leo Stewart presented his wife with a huge cake decorated especially for her in Easter colors. The family gave her a beautiful Duncan Phyfe book case.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Bert Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Johnson of Santa Monica, Mr. and Mrs. Shelba Stewart and little Michael and Otis Stewart and son Bud of Los Angeles.

TOWN, COUNTRY ART CLUB'S SHOW SUNDAY

The Town and Country Art Club will present their Spring showing on the University of Southern California campus, West 36th place and Hoover Sunday, May 2, from 5:00 to 8:00 p.m. Crafts in hand knit, weaving, crockhet, ceramics, sewing and beading will be on display. Mary Alice Johnson is the group's president and Joyce Cockrell is art advisor.

RECEIVING GAVEL—A beautiful gavel and stand are presented to Mrs. Lillian J. Fentress by Mrs. Josephine Ladd, chairman of the nominating committee, after Mrs. Fentress served three years as chairman of the committee on administration of the Woodlawn YWCA. Officers elected for the next three years are Mrs. Ella K. Mays, chairman; Mrs. Bernice P. Nance, co-chairman; Mrs. Josephine Ladd, secretary, and Miss Hazel Macbeth, assistant secretary.

Mrs. Garmon Named Club Girl of Week

Mrs. Pauline Garmon, secretary of the Las Primeras club and one of the founders of the popular organization, was chosen by the membership as Girl of the Week.

She is one of the group's hard-working members. She was born in Ft. Worth, Texas and is a graduate of I. M. Terrel high school. She is married and formerly employed by the Supreme Liberty Insurance Company.

The club's regular meeting was held April 25, at the beautiful home of Thelma Pendergrass, 1725 W. 3rd street. Refreshments were served.

The club reminds all of its friends that tickets are on sale for the group's forthcoming Independence Dance to be held Sunday, July 4, at the Alpha Bowling club.

Tickets can be secured from any one of the members.

PUTTING THE COLUMN TO BED!

We caught "Caricature" at the Ebony Showcase. Although it could have stood a little tightening, when we viewed it a week ago, the beige performers went about their acting chores happily and the small audience (no amount of preaching seems to get our community to respond to the theater) were contagiously affected. The story of a funnyman cartoon come to life is a helluva funny deal, and we'll have a lot of nice things to say about it during its run. But why does the theater always publicize their latest effort as greater than all that went before, and why do they say it's the first non-stereotyped local play for us?

-SALUTING A SONG STYLIST-

Editor's Note: Climaxing a brilliant career with a smashing success recently at jovial Gene Norman's greatest "Just Jazz" concert when he presented the vivacious "vocalovely" June Christy (along with Stan Kenton's grand band, Dizzy Gillispie, "Bongo King" Candido, Earl Garner Trio and Charlie "Bird" Parker) . . . your California Eagle has been flooded with requests to inform its thousands of readers about such "swingsational" stars. Following, therefore, are the "drawings" on Shirley Luster, better known as "June Christy."

June Christy, one of the foremost song stylists in the country, has established herself as a singer of not only jazz material, but commercial tunes.

Featured with Stan Kenton's band, the blond thrush made a spectacular rise to fame from 1945 on. June, born Shirley Luster in Decatur, Illinois, sang with collegiate bands until she was 17, when out of high school she embarked for Chicago. At the Windy City's Band Box nitery she landed a job with Boyd Raeburn's orchestra.

Ill health forced her to return to Decatur. Later, she returned to Chicago and in attending a show at the Oriental Theatre one day she learned Kenton's, was looking for a vocalist to replace Anita O'Day. June auditioned and joined Kenton the following week in Evansville, Indiana. Kenton chose her new name—June Christy. Then came the unforgettable record of "Tampico" which was responsible for zooming June right into the best-seller lists, also started our own Joe Green on his songwriting way.

Wonderul on Way

In 1951 she decided to make a stab at singing on her own and she left the Kenton crew. Since then she has cut numerous disks for Capitol with top billing and played many of the nation's leading night clubs.

In 1953 June toured Europe with the Kenton orchestra and was completely overwhelmed by the tremendous ovations that greeted them wherever they went. "Just imagine," she said, "people came from hundreds of miles around just to hear us do a concert!" Since her return, June's manager, Carlos Gastel, has been receiving offers constantly from abroad for June to come back as soon as possible.

Vivacious and Versatile

June's favorite musical artists are Duke Ellington and Ella Fitzgerald. For a hobby, she collects unusual food recipes and of course she has a huge disk collection. She is married to Bob Cooper, tenor saxist formerly with Kenton.

JUNE CHRISTY

Singing pretty for the people, this 'pulchritudinous package' has never lost her luster. Catch her this weekend at Jack Tucker's Tiffany Club.

Puerto Ricans Given Allowance

NEW YORK—The 25 per cent cost of living allowance for 5,000 federal employees in Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands has been restored, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People was informed this week.

RAVE of AIRWAVES

CHARLES TRAMMEL, one of Los Angeles' most "solid" citizens, is currently heard each evening, Tuesday through Saturday, from 9:00 to 11:00 p.m. and Sundays, 10:00 p.m. to 12:00 midnight over Radio Station KFOX, 1270 on your dial. Each Sunday morning, 6:00 to 8:00 a.m. Trammel is heard over Radio Station KGFJ, 1230 on the dial. Make it a habit to dial the voice with a "smile."

People and Places

HOT LINKS, certain members of the local branch of that national group are madder than a Saturday night's family argument over the recent new member. Claimed the powers that be overlooked the real long time residents and hard-working gals 'cause the "Chick" is said to be looted, in the selection of new club members!

FORMAL — Over half the ladies that showed up for the Sigmas the other eve led one to think that Vogue and Harper's Bazaar are out of business. Incidentally, that big time lawyer down Central Drug way had a healthy sister snatch him from the arms of another during one of the dance sets. And a steady flow of hot words proceeded!

EBONAIRES, is the newest singing unit developed here on the coast. Smooth as silk, rich in harmony and showmanship par-excellence. Sunday night over the Leighton Noble TV Band Stand Review showed they were a smash!

AIR TRAVELERS are accusing the red-caps of giving the "buddies" the deep freeze. Can't blame them, the boys aren't socializing, tipping is part of their salary and you can't expect much service for ten cents!

RUBYIAT ROOM, should get plenty of action when the Douze Mignonettes hold their dinner party in conjunction with their installation this Sat. eve.

TRIO, of gals operating out of an Avalon Street hotel is a mother, daughter and a niece!

GALL COBBS, tunes are being heard nightly in the delightful French atmosphere of the Le Caribe!

EMMA ADAMS, pretty wife of Joe, is busy packing 20 suitcases for hubby's 21-day trip which will take him to Japan, Korea and other points overseas entertaining the boys with a musical package!

ANDY RAZAF, prolific lyricist and famous composer of "Ain't Misbehavin'," wrote the clever special lyrics for the opening and closing scenes of the Medical, Dental and Pharmaceutical variety show!

BARTLEY THOMPSON, is greeting friends from a spot on 59th and Bdwy, called Spooky's Fine Spirits!

SANTA MONICA'S FIRST AND FINEST

HISTORY MAKING EVENT—Officially welcoming over eleven hundred persons last Sunday at the dedication of Joseph W. Spalding's Mortuary Fotoviewed by Howard Adams, California Eagle's lenseman, are seven "samples" of Spalding's success: Joseph B. Dunn, attendant; Robert E. Spalding, brother of the president; Jacquelyn Riddle Spalding, wife of owner and secretary; Joseph W. Spalding, president; Louise Quinn, attendant; Hubert Simon, attendant, and Jonas Willis, apprentice embalmer. Majestically surrounding the spacious Spalding structure are the sleek new Cadillacs thus affording Santa Monica and the adjoining Bay Areas the ultimate in funeral direction.

Joseph Spaulding Opens Elaborate Funeral Parlor

April 25, 1777, is perhaps best known as the day Lafayette landed at Charleston with French soldiers to assist America in her fight for freedom. Some 177 years later on the same day, April 25, Santa Monica and the adjoining Bay Areas dedicated their first funeral parlor operated by America's largest minority, known as Joseph W. Spalding's Mortuary, at 1909 Colorado avenue.

Native Santa Monican

Born in Santa Monica just 29 years ago, "Joe" was a stellar scholar of Santa Monica High School, graduating with honors in 1942. Interrupting his college education to do a three-year hitch in the Navy, Joe was inspired by Aramis M. Fouche, (then associated with the Angelus Funeral Home and now owner of Hudson Funeral Home in Oakland) to attend the College of Mortuary Science of Los Angeles. Following graduation in 1946 he has been associated with the leading mortuaries of Southern California and the experience derived has been invaluable. Happily married to the charming and capable Jacquelyn Riddle, formerly of St. Louis, Mo., he is the proud father of two youngsters, Angela and Harold.

Unanimously Supported

Religious followers of all faiths have embraced this vastly needed establishment and more than 1100 well-wishers of various races and spiritual beliefs enthusiastically welcomed their favorite citizen. A spacious structure fully equipped with the finest facilities is utilized in 4,400 square feet. Assisted by a stellar staff of seven, some of whom, like the Spalding family, reside in the immediate proximity, these friendly funeral directors are a positive part of an ever-increasing community and dedicated to the accomplishment of continued service.

Interracial Dedication

Briefly addressing the capacity crowd were Mayor Tom McDermott of Santa Monica; Rev. W. B. Carter of Calvary Baptist Church; Police Chief H. W. Hutchinson; and Rev. Bradley. Spiritual blessing was imparted by the Rev. Fr. Cyril Woods, pastor of St. Ann's Catholic Church.

Impressive Gathering

Joseph W. Spalding is an inspiration to all young people. His tenacity, integrity and desire to fulfill an invincible service in his own home town is highly commendable. Although the obstacles would have overcome an average individual, anyone less than Joseph W. Spalding could not have envisioned such a challenge and dedicated his every thought toward its accomplishment. His desire to afford Santa Monica and the adjoining Bay Areas the ultimate in funeral direction merits the whole-hearted support of all.

Among the vititors were:

Mr. Harvey Walters, Chamber of Commerce; Mr. Herbert A. Spurgin, Chamber of Commerce; Mr. E. G. Allen, Santa Monica President of N.A.A.C.P.; Alfred T. Quinn, Santa Monica's first commissioner of recreation, who acted as master of ceremonies; Judge and Mrs. Mervyn A. Aggeler; Mr. Francis P. Waller, Jr., Adv. Manager California Supt. Woodlawn Cemetery; Hazel Chapman, Angelus Funeral Home; Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Johnson, Metropolitan Funeral Homes; Mr. Forest E. Eagle; Mrs. Shirley Billups, Recorder; Mr. Clarence C. Pierce, Pierce Brothers Mortuary; Mr. James E. Burson, Pierce Brothers Mortuary; Mr. William N. Moeller, Moeller-Murphy & Moeller Funeral Directors.

Mr. Frank S. Njavro; Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Malinow, Malinow & Simon Mortuary; Mrs. Fannie Benjamin, Conner & Johnson Funeral Home; Mr. and Mrs. Aramis M. Fouche, Hudson Funeral Home, Oakland, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Ivy L. Griffin, Supt. Woodlawn Cemetery; Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Johnson, Metropolitan Funeral Home; Mr. Forest E. Pickett, Metropolitan Funeral Home; Mr. Garland Woolridge, Metropolitan Funeral Home.

Mr. Peter L. Welch, Roberts Mortuary; Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Gross; Rev. and Mrs. W. P. Carter, Pastor Calvary Baptist Church; Mr. Handia Adams, Crest Lawn Mortuary; Mr. J. D. Lewis, Joe Lewis Funeral Home; Mr. and Mrs. Leon Washington, Los Angeles Sentinel Publishers; Mr. Barrington S. Tate, Angelus Funeral Home; Mr. John L. Hill Angelus Funeral Home.

Rev. T. H. Sadler, Pastor Montside Church, Mountside; Mr. William G. McGillin, West Coast Casket Co., Inc.; Mrs. James Krcykoski, former Marion Martin, Movies; Mr. R. H. Taylor, South Los Angeles Mortuary; Mr. Art D'Artridge, D'Artridge Music Co., San Francisco; and Miss Norman Brown.

Santa Monica To Hear Plan On Needy Aged

SANTA MONICA—"Initial reports from County Clerks indicate that the "Aid to Needy Aged" proposition is assured a place on the November general election ballot," George McLain, chairman of the California Institute of Social Welfare, sponsor of the proposition, declared this week.

"From the information given to us by the County Clerks who have already processed the petitions filed with them recently, there is no question but that we will have a minimum of 60,000 more valid names than we need."

A total of 550,000 names were filed in 56 of the 58 counties of the state, with 303,687 valid signatures required by state law to qualify initiative measures for the ballot.

Details of an educational campaign to explain the benefits of paying the needy aged $20 more a month will be explained at a meeting to be held Monday, May 3, at 10:30 a.m. in the American Legion Hall, 1428 Seventeenth street, Santa Monica.

Mrs. J. Terry To Be Honored

Friends and former associates of Mrs. Jessie L. Terry, longtime resident of Los Angeles, will gather in her honor Friday, May 7, at 8 p.m. at the Golden State Insurance Company Cafeteria, 1999 W. Adams, for a testimonial banquet.

Sponsored by the Welfare Club of the 1st AME Church, the banquet will commemorate Mrs. Terry's more than 30 years of service of civic, political, and community activity.

Mrs. Terry was the first Negro appointed to the Housing Commission of Los Angeles. She was appointed by former Mayor Fletcher Bowron in 1939. She was also organizer and president of the first PTA at Jefferson High School.

In 1942, she was selected "Woman of the Year" by the Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, and has served as a member of the Urban League and YWCA Boards. The NAACP and Negro History Week committee have given the special awards.

After serving five years as housing commissioner, Mrs. Terry resigned her post to become manager of Pueblo Del Rio Housing Project. She was there for 10 years until she retired last January.

She is the wife of W. H. Terry, former building contractor, now retired, and the mother of three children, Juanita, Beulah and Frank.

PEOPLE & PLACES

Welfare building, is our idea of a grand guy.

WALTER MILLER, dapper hotelman just about giving up the social aspect of life. It appears that he's making a serious bid for the charms of a Potomac street pretty!

HIT AND RUN, accident involving a westsider and ofay really had some of the most interesting developments. The rash may break out any day now!

DOC YOUNG, noted sportswriter, is said to be on the outs with the Johnson publication!

PHILIPPA SCHUYLER, we certainly hope that the hard-working members of the Alpha Wives, who are presenting the brilliant artist in concert here May 2, don't miss the boat by not appealing to the ofays. Miss Schuyler is tremendously popular in that set!

NIGHT CLASSES, a couple of City College co-eds majoring in law get their cases briefed in a well known legal eagle office. Only thing wrong, he's married!

BILL HUTSON, ex-Californian Club bartender, is facing a $2,800 civil suit brought against him by Art Wong, part owner of the club. Hutson and Wong went to fist city after the bartender refused a check of $29.00 as his full vacation pay since prior to the incident he had given two other employees full checks. Hutson is also facing a 15-day jail sentence when he claimed he hit the owner in self-defense. Incidents such as these often arise in clubs interested in only the Negro dollar. Which means we must renew our efforts to see that the Town Tavern, Rubaiyat and Milomo get our trade. We remember a similiar incident in another ofay club along Western Avenoo!

'INDIAN GIVER' — A well known Los Angeles and San Francisco "play bore" whose initials are 18-12-23, was arrested last week on charges of grand theft. Seems that 'lover boy' showered a certain 'chicken' with loot of every description for over six years and when the "woo - mance" became strained the 'play bore' merely recovered his purchases. Whereupon the selfish sister (whose initials are 4-19) had him confined to quarters, the House of Many Slammers. (Jail to you, Blue!)

PTA News

Virginia Road PTA board members will entertain the faculty at the school on Thursday, April 29, for luncheon. Dishes of all nations is the theme this year.

Open House at Virginia Road school was held last Tuesday, April 26th from 1-3 p.m. PTA board members were present.

Mrs. Irving Friedman is going to represent Virginia Road PTA at a safety luncheon to be held on May 5th at the Police Academy in Elysian Park.

Banquet Feature Of Masonic Meet

All is in readiness for the Conference of Grand Masters of Prince Hall Masonic Grand Lodges of the United States, Canada and Liberia, which is to be held at Los Angeles May 19-22.

The Prince Hall Grand Lodge of California will be host to some 40 Grand Masters of the conference. Many of the Past jurisdictions formulating the Grand Masters, Grand Wardens and other subordinate members of these States will also be in attendance as members of the conference.

They will discuss the many problems facing their Grand Lodges, the country in general and our race problem. Among the speakers to be listed in the panel are Thurgood Marshall, of New York, chief legal counsel of N.A.A.C.P.; Amos T. Hall, president of the Conference, and James Gilliam, grand master of Mississippi Masons who will deliver the principal address.

Plan Entertainment

Grand Master Starling J. Hopkins, Riverside, Calif., and his committee on arrangements for the entertainment of the Conference guests, have completed their plans. Highlighting the conference is a public reception and a dinner at the Cosmopolitan hotel, which shall also be designated as the conference headquarters.

Business sessions will be held at the 50th street, Prince Hall Masonic temple, where President Ames T. Hall, gand master of Oklahoma Masons, has outlined a very informative and instructional program designed to further Masonic education.

Sight seeing trips have been scheduled to assure the distinguished visitors and their families of a great pleasure in addition to the work of the conference.

The public will be invited to attend the grand banquet and the public reception.

PTA Subject

"To Enjoy Leisure Time" will be the topic when members of Olympia Council Parent Teacher association meet at Gompers Junior high school, 234 E. 112th street, Monday, May 3, at 10:30 a.m.

William Frederickson, City Parks recreational director, and Mrs. Tom Henry, Tenth District recreation chairman, will speak on the different phases of recreation in the communities.

Mrs. F. B. Walker, president, will preside and report on the State PTA convention held at San Francisco.

500 Catholic Voices Lead Mary's Hour

A choir of 500 voices of Catholic high students will lead in the singing of hymns at Marys Hour Sunday at 3 p.m. at the Coliseum.

The mammoth choir will be under the direction of Rev John Cremins, Archdiocesan director of music.

A "verse choir" from Immaculate Heart college will be featured in unison recitation of the Prayer to Our Lady of Grace and a special prayer composed of His Holiness Pope Pius XII for the Marian Year.

The congregation will join in the singing of hymns and in the recitation of the Rosary.

Members of the CYO Federation of Young Adult Clubs will serve as ushers to the congregation and members of the Junior Catholic Daughters of America as ushers for the religious.

Catholic Boy Scouts will distribute programs. Nurses from Queen of Angeles and St. Vincent's hospitals will be in attendance.

Mary's Hour will be produced by Catholic college students of Los Angeles as a practical demonstration of faith in peace through prayer.

Honoring the Blessed Virgin Mary, the mammoth devotion will be the focal point of the Marian Year celebration in this Archdiocese.

Cops Subdue Gun Wielding Man In Cafe

Scott Harris, 27, of 238 E. 23rd St., was plenty mad with Frances Carthen of the same address Saturday. During an argument he beat her with his fists, chased her into the street and threatened to kill her.

She sought refuge in a cafe at 2304 S. Maple but Harris charged in and threatened to kill her with a .25 automatic he was waving. Several patrons intervened.

Somebody called the cops and even as he was being arrested, Harris made a pass at Miss Carthen and police had to use some fancy force to cuff him and haul him off to the station for an assault with a deadly weapon booking.

Doctors Asked To Give $100 For NAACP

WASHINGTON—Responding promptly to a challenge by Dr. W. Montague Cobb, members of the Medico-Chirurgical Society of the District of Columbia this week endorsed his plan to have Negro medical men all over the country contribute $100 each to the Fight for Freedom Fund of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Within hours after the D.C. physicians endrosed Dr. Cobb's proposal, Clarence Mitchell, director of the NAACP's Washington bureau, appeared before the Senate Sub-committee on Health to urge inclusion of provisions in the Health Act denying federal funds to any hospital which bars Negro medical personnel and segregates or otherwise discriminates against Negro patients.

Supreme Court Rules Against Texas Jury

WASHINGTON — The United States Supreme Court on Monday again recessed without rendering a decision on the most important race case of the century, the hotly disputed separate-but-equal school issue.

At stake is the entire jim-crow system on which the South is founded.

Ruled on Juries

The court Monday recessed for two weeks, thereby making

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON — Rumors circulated in Washington this week that the United States Supreme Court decision on racial segregation in grade schools may be delayed until next fall. The reason assigned for the delay is that Justice Robert H. Jackson is ill and that he will not return to the bench until next fall. The decision reportedly will not be announced in his absence.

May 17 the earliest possible date on which a decision can be rendered.

The high court, however, in a unanimous decision delivered by Chief Justice Earl Warren, did reaffirm its position that minorities cannot be excluded from juries. It overturned the murder conviction of a Mexican, Pete Hernandez, who complained that Latin-Americans are excluded from jury service in Jackson County, Texas, where he was tried.

Hernandez's attorneys pointed out that no person with a Mexican name has served on a jury in Jackson county for 25 years, though such persons make up 14 percent of the population.

Punctured Argument

Texas replied there was no discrimination, since Latin-Americans are white people. The court, however, punctured this argument, holding that the 14th Amendment's equal protection clause "is not directed solely against discrimination . . . based upon differences between white and Negro."

It pointed out that community prejudices are not static and that any group which differs from the community norm may need the same protection as the Negro.

"Whether such a group exists within a community," the court held, "is a question of fact. When the existence of a distinct class is demonstrated, and it is further shown that the laws, as written or as applied, single out that class for different treatment not based on some reasonable classification, the guarantees of the constitution have been violated."

Hernandez was convicted in 1951 of slaying Joe Espinosa, a cotton planter, in Edna, Texas, and was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Housing Case

Awaiting decision, in addition to the school case, is the San Francisco housing case, in which the Supreme Court has been asked to review the decision banning segregation in Federal projects.

Involved are appeals in five cases originating in South Carolina, Virginia, Kansas, Delaware and the District of Columbia. The NAACP, which has carried the cases to the highest tribunal, has challenged the entire concept of segregation. It has based itself squarely upon the contention that segregation in and of itself, regardless of whether the facilities are equal or not, is discrimination.

IN RUNNING—Miss Adams District, otherwise known as Lessie Cox, is one of 51 contestants in the $10,000 "Miss 102" beauty pageant which will be featured over KHJ (9) Saturday night, from 9 to 10:30 p.m.

Loren Miller says . . .

Race, Race, Race

Entry of Negro candidates in the races for assembly in the 55th and 63rd districts has kicked up quite a fuss over the question of whether or not "race should be a factor in the Negro's choice of a candidate." That high flown phrasing of the issue is unrealistic. Everybody but the extreme Dixiecrats is quite willing to say that race "should" not be a factor and putting the question in that manner only gives the breast beaters an opportunity to fill the air with oratory.

LOREN MILLER

The plain, simple truth is that race is a factor in every aspect of the Negro's life—from the cradle to the grave. If his mother decides to resort to White Memorial Hospital for child birth he will be born in a special Negro ward. When he dies Forest Lawn won't receive his remains. In between times race will be a factor in the kind of schooling he can get, the job he can or can't get, the house he lives in, the limits set on his business or profes-

Fire Santa Monica Cop After 16 Years On Force

Popular Officer Discharged for Petty Violation

SANTA MONICA—Hayward Jernigan, one of Santa Monica's only two Negro officers, has been fired from the police force after 16 years of faithful duty.

The city's five-member Personnel Board on Tuesday unanimously upheld Police Chief H. W. Hutchinson in the dismissal.

Cause of the action was the allegation that Jernigan left his beat without permission on March 31, and that he failed to notify his superior officer.

Community Aroused

It was proven conclusively at the hearing, however, that Jernigan was suffering excruciating pain at the time that he went to see a doctor and that he asked one of his fellow officers to advise headquarters. His message was conveyed to the proper authorities.

Feeling in the community here is heated against the summary action of the police chief. A number of highly respected citizens and organizations, including the NAACP, appeared at the hearing anxious to testify to the esteem in which Jernigan is held. They were refused opportunity to give evidence, however, the board holding that their testimony would be immaterial.

Severe Pain

Although no written notice of the board's decision has yet been given to Jernigan, as required by law, the commissioners unofficially let it be known that they were all agreed to back the dismissal.

According to facts brought out at the hearing, Jernigan, who lives at 1838½ 19th street, and who was represented by Atty. David Sokol, reported for roll call late in the afternoon of March 31, although he was suffering severe pain in the jaw, left shoulder and back. He got into his car to go on his regular beat, but was seized with a sudden pang of increased pain and went to see a doctor. He asked another officer, Cornelius T. Harrington, to call the department and tell them he was in the doctor's office, which Harrington did. Officer James Huddleston also tes-

EYE BOY SCOUT PRIZE—Al Tyler and Willie Miller, of the Ash Street School Boy Scout Troop, No. 144, eye one of the prizes that will be awarded top ticket salesmen for the Scout circus. Bob Hemmings, ticket chairman, is telling the youngsters about the breath-taking airplane trip to San Francisco that will be given the lucky lad who turns in the leading sales.

As the band plays on, civic leaders, politicians, political hopefuls, industrialists and everybody else will be on hand Saturday morning at 10 a.m. at Compton and Nadeau when the official groundbreaking ceremony for the sheriff's Firestone station will take place.

Everybody will be there, and will be introduced either by Supervisor Kenneth Hahn, T. K. Boyef, president of the Florence-Firestone Chamber of Commerce who will be master of ceremonies, or Sheriff Eugene W. Biscailuz, grand marshall of the occasion.

Architect James H. Garrott, who designed the station, will be on hand, as will many other community figures including Mrs. Catherine Mitchem, Wesley R. Brazier, Mrs. Faustina Johnson, Edward Warren.

Politicans will include Assemblymen Gus Hawkins, Vernon Kilpatrick, Kenneth A. Ross, Councilmen John S. Gibson, Gordon Hahn, Congressman Clyde Doyle, and Candidate Ned Redding.

There will be leading industrialists, and members of Rotary clubs, Kiwanis clubs, Lions clubs, Chambers of Commerce and the Boy Scouts.

A half hour concert by the county band will precede the formal program. Rev. Ben Hoff, of the Beach Street Church of Christ, will give the invocation, and Father Combs, St. Malachys church, will pronounce the benediction. There will be refreshments, too, provided by the Florence-Firestone Chamber of Commerce.

Carver High Teacher Faces Dismissal

Mrs. Mercia Tucker McCollum, 2631 S. Orchard avenue, Home-making teacher at Carver Junior High, was fighting for her job this week against charges that she is "incompetent."

The hearing started last Friday before Hearing Officer McGuire, and was still continuing this week. It is the first such hearing of its kind, under new state legislation.

Mrs. McCollum, who is being represented by Atty. Xenophon Lang, has been teaching at Carver since Sept., 1953, and has received notice of intention of dismissal as of June, 1954. She is serving her second year as probationary teacher in the state, and according to the state code, she must be given a hearing before she can be dismissed.

Prior to coming to Carver, she taught at the Ramona High school for three years, and before that, from 1941-45, at Florida A and M College.

She received her master's degree in Home-making at Columbia university in 1940, and had taken additional post-graduate work towards her doctor's degree in Nutrition at the University of Chicago. In 1933, she obtained her B. S. in Home-making at Tuskegee.

'Monty' Caged as Underpaid Blonde 'Sings' to Police

Charles Wellington Montgomery, 54, former pal of the notorious "Black Widow" and a promoter of pay-as-you-play love, didn't square up with one of his near blonde "employees" last week and as a result he's in jail facing charges of pimping and pandering.

Vice squaders swooped down on "Monty" at 711 E. 5th street after Elizabeth Duane, 32, got fed up with the $2 a day she was getting from the $400-$500 per week in "earnings" she had been turning over to Montgomery.

Also jailed was William Lychester Farr, 24, who acted as chauffeur whenever Miss Duane picked up a sucker. Farr didn't meet bail of $1,000 levied after he was booked on a pimping charge. "Monty" chose jail instead of $5000 bond.

'Black Widow'

Montgomery's associations with the fabulous "Black Widow" made big news in 1940 and 1941. A sensational six-week trial revealed a tremendous prostitution operation which extended from one end of the state to the other and for many miles across state lines.

A beautiful blonde woman, "The Black Widow," ended up in Tehachapi. Her real name is Ann Forst. She often used the alias, Ann Forrester.

Montgomery, just as notorious, has served time in Illinois and California for grand theft, extortion, white slavery, assault and parole violation. His latest arrest was his fourth for pimping and pandering.

Latest Operation

Here's how the current operation got started, as told by Miss Duane. She and her boy friend had a fuss and she went out on a seven-day drunk. Somehow, she wound up at the Julian hotel, 747 W. 10th pl. There she met "Monty" who has served time in San Quentin and Chino on similar raps.

Montgomery, whose operations with "The Black Widow" extended from Oklahoma to Hawaii, showed her the point that she was crazy to work as a waitress for $45 a week when she could be earning $45 a night. So she "signed" up.

Miss Duane worked on the 600 block of Fifth street. When she picked up a man, Farr would drive them to the Avalon hotel, 405 S. Hewitt, in Montgomery's 1953 Oldsmobile, wait for them and then return the couple to Fifth street.

According to Miss Duane, she had 7-8 "deals" every week night and as many as 20 on Saturdays.

Keeps 'Books'

All money collected was turned over to "Monty." The dealer

In the News

CHARLES MONTGOMERY, 54, better known as "Monty", was jailed last week on charges of pimping and pandering after near blonde Elizabeth Duane, 32, complained to police that he had paid her only $2 per day despite the fact that she had turned to him over upwards of $500 a week in prostitution earnings. He was held in lieu of $5000 bail.

COVETED JOB—Fay Jackson reportedly is heading for a $9,000-a-year job with the President's Contract Compliance Committee in Washington. (Story on p. 3).

OPENS HEADQUARTERS—Ned Redding, candidate for Congress in the 26th district, announced the grand opening of his headquarters at 4109 S. Central avenue next Tuesday (May 11) at 8:00 o'clock. Redding extends an invitation to the entire community to meet him and his family. Barbecue and refreshments will be served.

Watts Lady Slashed Ten Times in Row

Mrs. Mabel Long, 30, of Watts, is in a critical condition this week, the victim of ten knife wounds inflicted by Mrs. Rosa Pearl Green, of 2520 E. 109th street last week.

Police reported that Mrs. Long was slashed in a fight over Mrs. Green's husband, Charles.

The three had been drinking in a bar at 103rd and Beach when Mrs. Green accused Mrs. Long of having an affair with her mate.

Shortly afterwards, Mrs. Long told officers, she was crossing 103rd street near Graham when Mrs. Green approached her with a knife.

Mrs. Long said she denied the accusation and a fight started. George E. Grigsby of 2103 Imperial said he saw the slashing and watched Mrs. Green disappear with a male companion.

Willie Mae Ford of 10414 Kalmia told police she discovered the victim standing in front of 1713 E. 103rd street bleeding rapidly. She called officers.

Mrs. Long was cut in the right thigh, left shoulder, left side of the neck, left arm, left side of the chest, right scalp and right arm.

REAL ESTATE BROKER DIES IN ELSINORE CAR CRASH

Leonard Sylvester Edwards, prominent real estate broker, and a woman friend were killed almost instantly when he lost control of his automobile and crashed into a tree near Elsinore Saturday. His wife, Mrs. Sallie Nuby Edwards, is grand trustee of Sigma Gamma Rho sorority.

Highway patrolman said the car apparently went out of control when a tire blew out. Both Edwards and the woman, Mrs. Julia Glick of 1214 Belden street, were dead when [illegible] arrived on the scene.

[illegible] Jamaica, British [illegible] and educated at [illegible] and Aberdeen [illegible], Edwards [illegible] United States from [illegible] in 1925. He [illegible] Sallie Nuby [illegible] Jan. 1, 1952. They lived at 1024½ So. St. Andrews place.

Edwards went into the real estate business in St. Louis where he founded and headed the Pioneer Realty company, one of that city's leading firms.

After coming to Los Angeles, Edwards became connected with the Wilstar Realty company and later transferred to the Dave Wolfe Realty company. He was associated with the Wolfe company at the time of his death and was accompanying Mrs. Glick to Elsinore to show her some property listed for sale by the firm.

The body was removed to Conner-Johnson Mortuary and funeral services have been set tentatively for Friday morning. In addition to his wife, Edwards is survived by a brother, Arnold, who lives in Rio De Janeiro, Brazil.

LAST RITES HELD FOR TERRY DAVIS

Funeral services for Terry Davis will be held today (Thursday) at 1 p.m., from the Chapel of Angelus funeral home.

Davis died May 1 after a brief illness. He leaves to mourn his loss Mrs. Rachel Davis, wife; Mrs. Ivor Hankins, Mrs. Maudell May and Mrs. Carmen E. Jones, sisters; Nathaniel Davis, brother, and other relatives and friends.

CLUBS AID 'ICE FESTIVAL'—Five of the city's outstanding clubs have already become co-sponsors of the "Festival on Ice," the NAACP Special Activities Committee mammoth June 6 spectacle at the Shrine auditorium, starring internationally famous ice-skater, Mabel Fairbanks. The clubs shown here have purchased blocks of tickets for the event, ranging from 50 tickets to 200. Packinghouse Workers Seek Reduced Hours

SIOUX CITY, Ia. — Delegates, Negro and white, representing 150,000 members of the United Packinghouse Workers of America, CIO, opened their week-long Ninth Constitutional Convention here Monday. About 600 delegates registered from all parts of the United States, Canada and Puerto Rico for the sessions in Sioux City's municipal auditorium.

Top attention-getter in pre-convention discussions were proposals for a reduced work-week coupled with compensating wages as a counter to spreading unemployment.

Delegates from Los Angeles, six of whom are Negro, included Regional Director Arthur E. Morrison; Field Representatives Floyd Harris, Edward Fitzpatrick, Bud Simonson, John Janosco; Marie Motis; Swift delegates Hallis Rochester, John Teahan, Cornelius Carter, Lester Bright; Wilson delegates Jesse C. Avelar, James Hines, Margaret Gamiochipi, Robert H. Duggan; Armour delegates Ocie Ferguson, John S. Agarth, O. W. Nash, and Tom Howard.

In a resolution on collective bargaining policies to be submitted for full convention consideration, the union's International Executive Board headed by President Ralph Helstein has outlined an 8-point program headed by a demand for "substantial" wage increases plus a "reduced work week with maintenance of take home pay." These improvements are to be made as part of a guaranteed annual wage plan, in the Board's view.

The convention will also deal with policy questions on national and international problems with the spotlight on political action leading to November's Congressional races.

Political Spotlight

By James H. Anderson

Political campaigns this week are facing up to what old timers call the toughest financial problems since big time campaigning became the vogue. The demand on campaign budgets being made by high-powered advertising and public relations firms for billboards, radio-television and what is considered basic technical campaign musts are leaving most campaign committees unable to meet personnel, headquarters and field campaign costs. The community is being appealed to on the same basis as other special interest groups to bear some of the campaign cost.

Ford Backed By Dr. Robinson

Dr. E. I. Robinson, prominent physician and leader in the fight for racial understanding announced his support of Chairman John Anson Ford of the County Board of Supervisors for reelection June 8.

Dr. Robinson praised the Third District Supervisor's efforts in promoting better human relations through the Conference on Community Relations.

"Members of racial and religious minorities look upon Supervisor Ford as an understanding friend whose doors are always open to those who seek justice and fair play. In the forthcoming election Supervisor Ford can count on their active support."

Fay Jackson Edges Close To Fed'l Job

Fay M. Jackson, well-known Los Angeles newspaper woman who has long been active in Republican political circles, this week edged quite a few notches closer to a much rumored $9,000-a-year Washington appointment.

It has long been noised about that Miss Jackson was being considered for the post of administrative assistant to the President's Committe on Contract Compliance, highest post ever offered to a woman on the West Coast by either party.

Last Friday, according to reliable reports, Miss Jackson signed an application and other forms submitted to her from Washington. The appointment still has to be cleared through official channels before it is confirmed.

Miss Jackson, queried by the Eagle, said she could make no statement regarding the alleged appointment and added that any announcement regarding her selection for the post would have to come through Washington.

FOR BOND ISSUE—Billie Bruce Lacy announced this week that the Friendship Democratic club of the 62nd A.D., shown above, is 100 per cent behind the F-Bond on the June 8 primaries to build a civic auditorium. Co-directors are Herbert L. James and Ethel Cole Bryant, field representative for Congressman Sam W. Yorty.

Clerks, Customers Battle With Bowls, Foot Stools

There were a lot of fancy shenanigans in local business houses over the past few days. Sugar bowls, mustard jars and foot stools were flying as customers and clerks turned it on.

A cafe at 4211 Central caught the brunt of the scrapping. Dan Wright, 26, of 836 S. Crocker, went into the restaurant, ordered a hamburger and some milk. He told police he paid waitress Velma Jeffries, 22, of 2211 Naomi, for the meal and she tried to collect again.

An argument started and John J. Jeffries, a cook of the same Naomi street address, put Wright out of the cafe. According to Wright, the waitress hit him with a pop bottle.

Same Situation

The same sort of difficulty arose when a sailor entered the eating place. He got in a hassle with Annie Jones, a waitress of 946 E. 43rd street, over the check. He was evicted by Melvin Thompson, a cook of 946 E. 53rd street. But the sailor returned and that's when sugar bowls and pop bottles began flying. The boy in blue was again bounced and he retaliated by kicking in the plate glass window. He fled in a car.

Down the street a bit, there was trouble at the Fatburger stand, 2601 Central. Stovall Darby, 36, of 2327 S. Hooper, a porter wasn't satisfied with the kind of service he got from Betty A. Bryant, 10714 Weigand Ave.

Seems she didn't wait on him fast enough. Police said Darby started cussing and when his friend, Anna Belle Spencer, 37, of 972 E. 49th pl., a cafe owner, joined the ruckus, he picked up everything that wasn't nailed down to the counter and let fly.

Pull Knife

According to police, Mrs. Spencer pulled a knife and threatened the waitress and was leaning across the counter trying to get in striking distance when police broke up the fracas.

The flying foot stool figured in the news when Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lee Williams, 127 Paseo Valdez, entered a Boyle Heights shoe store to buy some shoes for their child.

When the first pair didn't fit properly, Mrs. Williams asked to try on another. According to Williams, this infuriated the salesman who became offensive and ordered the Williams family out of the store.

Before they could vacate the premisis, Williams said, the proprietor seized a foot stool and tried to hit him. His wife screamed in time for him to duck, Williams said. Williams wrested the stool from him and the shoe salesman found himself the beaten instead of the beater.

Williams was arrested for assault and battery but his attorney, Vince Monroe Townsend, Jr., represented him before Judge Joseph V. Call and won an acquittal.

Wells Asks A Chance to 'Make Good'

Wesley Robert Wells, who owes his reprieve from the gas chamber to the fact that he never takes anything lying down, has asked the state Director of Correction, Richard A. McGee, for a "chance to talk over and try to work out 'our' problem."

In a letter which has just been received here but was written shortly after his sentence was commuted to life imprisonment, Wells protests McGee's published statements that "We can't have any sympathy for Wells as an individual . . ." and "Some of the inmates said 'that the only way to be sure to live a long time is to get Wells before he gets them first.'"

He says he's not worried about any inmate who would make such a statement but "there are other inmates who may be influenced by such publication, and cause me trouble, which I definitely do not want."

Pointing out that he's experienced practically every type of punishment during his 25 years in prison and that he's still considered an "incorrigible," he asks, "How about trying something else?" and adds, "How about putting me on 'my own,' giving me a little responsibility; give me something to strive for?"

He challenges the prison officials to try him at the "top," and says he's confident he's big enough, that he has the "guts" to make good if officials will show faith in him and understand that he is a sick man.

Among the more than 1,000 top-drawer Democrats hearing Sen. Albert Gore of Tennessee rip into the Eisenhower administration over what he called the Eisenhower split personality Friday night at the Jackson Day Dinner, the annual $100 per plate Democratic fundraiser, were Ethel Bryant, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Clark, Assemblyman and Mrs. Augustus F. Hawkins, Dr. and Mrs. John A. Somerville, Sam C. Buttler and his wife, Dr. Mary E. Buttler, of Santa Monica; Mrs. Frank Godden, Ruth Wilson, Bill Collins, Lucille Ashford, Victor Nix and Harold Chandler. Senator Gore described half of Eisenhower as the lookgood, talkgood side as presented to the public by the President's press, radio and television advisers. The other side of the President was described as that side represented by the big business interests that dominate the Cabinet. This group, Senator Gore declared, is determined to turn back the clock and destroy 20 years of social legislative progress. They were charged with effectively undermining most of the things Eisenhower states publicly that he is for.

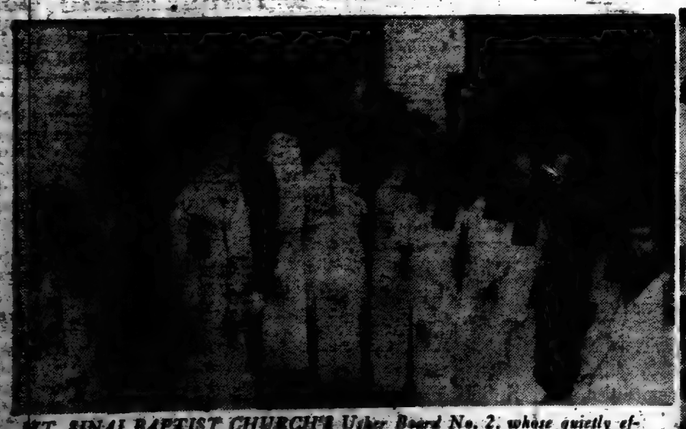
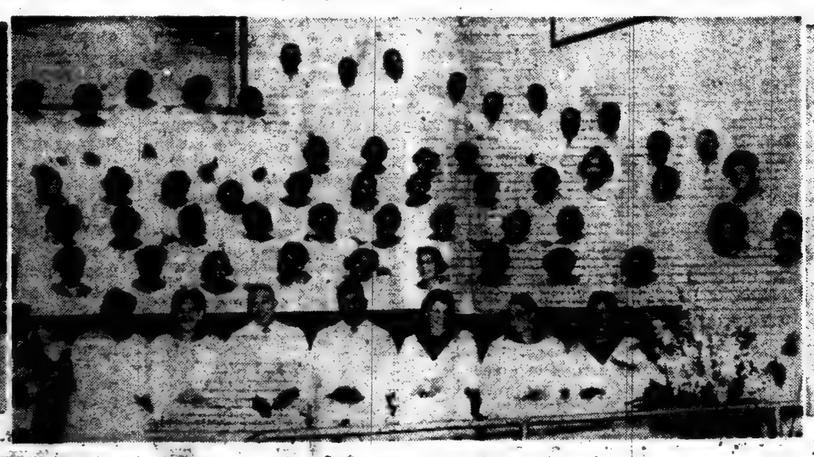
Mrs. Fay E. Allen, 546 E. Jefferson blvd., prominent civic leader, has been appointed to the Los Angeles County Music Commission by Supervisor Kenneth Hahn, it was announced this week.

Formerly Mrs. Allen served as a member of the Board of Education for two terms. She is a life member of the Musicians Union, Local 47.

Churches to Celebrate Mother's Day



MOTHER'S DAY in Los Angeles will be marked by traditional church services, inspirational music dedicated to Mothers everywhere, quiet family gatherings and observances. For this occasion, local choirs will be nattily garbed in choral vestments . . . designed and fashioned by the Henri O'Bryant Robe Manufacturing Co., at 1142 N. Western Ave., in Hollywood. Senior Choir of Mt. Sinai, shown above, will present an outstanding musical program Sunday at 3 p.m.



MR. O'BRYANT is shown with his two sons, Charles 6 and Michael 9, as he reads the biblical passage to them . . . "Honor Thy Mother and Thy Father So Thy Days Will Be Long Upon the Land". O'Bryant is a devout church worker and a deacon in his church. He and his family plan a quiet observance of Mother's Day.

ONE OF THE FINEST senior choirs in Southern California is at Calvary Baptist Church of Santa Monica. Beatrice Lynch is directoress; Hazel Tippins, organist; Ethel Coleman, President; Rev. W. P. Carter, Pastor. The church has a membership of more than 1,000 persons. The senior choir's Mother's Day musical festival will be an outstanding event in the beach city.

MT. SINAI BAPTIST CHURCH'S Usher Board No. 2, whose quietly efficient service in handling the public at this imposing West Adams Boulevard church is noteworthy, are shown in their colorful uniforms supplied by the O'Bryant Co. One of the features of the garments is the shoulder epaulets with gold fringe.

THE SENIOR CHOIR at Macedonia Baptist Church, 1734 E. 114th Street, under the directions of Mrs. Fannie Mae Smith and Miss Olivette Evans is rendering a special program of Mother's Day Music. Rev. S. O. J. Evans is pastor.

NEW BETHEL BAPTIST CHURCH, 1302 E. 77th St., received their new robes in time for a special Mother's Day concert. The choir is under the direction of Mr. L. Reece; Sharon Sparks is pianist, and Walter Webster, choir president. The Rev. Frank J. Watson is pastor.

Charitable Effort

The Goodwill Industries of Southern California contacted the company, requesting assistance. Without thought of compensation or any remuneration whatsoever, Mr. and Mrs. O'Bryant, worked far into each night, in addition to their heavy daily schedule, until they had completed all the necessary robes which they offered to the Goodwill Industries of Southern California.

Effort Appreciated

Mr. O'Bryant informed your California Eagle that one of the greatest satisfactions received during his many years in business was the appreciation advanced by this organization. "So many of our good deeds are so often unappreciated that it is gratifying indeed to know that such thanks are genuine," Mr. O'Bryant stated. The letter follows:

Another Step Forward

The United States Supreme Court decision reversing the conviction of a Texan of Mexican descent on the ground that all persons of Mexican ancestry had been barred from jury duty for more than twenty-five years demonstrates the manner in which NAACP civil rights victories redound to the common good.

The NAACP blazed the trail in this area of the law with a long series of victories in cases in which southern states had excluded Negroes from juries. The Court held that exclusion of Negroes from either grand or trial juries violated the guarantees of the Fourteenth Amendment.

Texas argued that the case of Negroes and jury duty was a special one and that since persons of Mexican extraction are classified as "white" in the census the Amendment was complied with by placing white persons on juries.

Chief Justice Warren led the Court in looking through this fiction and held in effect that wherever a distinct class of people exists the state must not discriminate against that class.

Everybody who lives in California or who has lived in the Southwest knows very well that persons of Mexican descent are subjected to a wide variety of discrimination in almost every phase of their lives. He knows that they are treated as a distinct "class," in the words of the Court decision.

We hope that this victory will encourage members of other minorities to look around for other ways in which NAACP civil rights victories can be utilized to root out discriminatory practices.

What a Difference

If Mrs. Annie Lee Moss turns on her television these days she must be a little disturbed at the difference in treatment accorded her by a Senate committee and that accorded Joe McCarthy. Just to compound her puzzlement, she has only to remember that the short shrift she got from the Senate committee came from this same Joe McCarthy.

Mrs. Moss, if you remember, was the rate clerk in the War Department who suddenly heard herself branded a Communist before the McCarthy committee. She wasn't there. Her accuser admitted that she didn't know Mrs. Moss. The record showed that there were other persons named Annie Moss in the government service.

When Mrs. Moss did show up, Senator McCarthy intimidated her that she would face perjury charges if she dared to deny that she hadn't been a member of the Communist party. She was promptly bounced out of her job.

Finally, Mrs. Moss got before the Committee and made a word-by-word denial of the charges that she was, or ever had been, a Red. She was re-instated on her job but only after the humiliation of seeing her picture in every newspaper in the land with a caption that she was a dangerous subversive.

Senator McCarthy has been accorded the full measure of the rights he denied to Mrs. Moss. We don't have any objections to that. We do think that the rights of Mrs. Moss, and the rights of thousands of others like her who have been smeared in quickie hearings, are just as precious as those of any United States senator.

Charity Begins at Home

We like the way the Daily News, on every occasion, and the Mirror, on some occasions, thunder against segregation and discrimination that is practiced a long way from home.

We don't like the way in which the Daily News and the Mirror have held their peace on the issue of racial segregation and discrimination in the Los Angeles Fire Department.

Both newspapers reported fully on the depositions given by Fire Chief John H. Alderson and members of the Board of Fire Commissioners. Their editorial writers know full well now that the NAACP was correct when it charged that Negro firemen were confined to two stations, that they can't be promoted to officer status to serve in other stations and that there is no intention on the part of the Board or the Chief to remedy this disgraceful situation.

It seems to us that opposition to segregation doesn't amount to very much when it is confined to thundering against the admittedly Jim Crow as practiced down South. However, such opposition, like charity, could well begin right here at home.

We know too that if the daily newspapers of this city would turn their guns on the Fire Department brand of segregation the Board would act and Alderson would either conform or bow out of his job.

We don't have much hope of getting editorial support from the Hearst papers or the Times but we do think that the Daily News and Mirror ought to take a good long look at our home grown brand of segregation and urge its elimination in municipal public service.

Twisting The Record

Delbert Morris, 63rd district assemblyman, is trying to kid the people of his district into believing that he is a supporter of FEPC and public housing.

The very opposite is true. Morris was absent in 1951 when FEPC legislation was voted on. In 1949 he opposed a genuine FEPC act modeled on the New York law and supported a bill that provided for "study" of employment problems. Support of the "study" bill was not support for FEPC, as Morris says; rather, it was opposition to fair employment.

As for public housing, the record shows that Morris tried to scuttle public housing with a bill which would have had the effect of repealing the 1938 law and of leaving slum clearance to the tender mercies of private builders.

Mr. Morris makes much of the difficulty he has in "reconciling" the interests of the people who live in the east end of his district with those of voters in the swank west end. The record indicates no such thing. It shows that he has sacrificed the interests of Negroes and workmen who live in the east side of his district to the interests of his west side constituents.

The only remedy for his sad state of affairs is to relieve Morris of his burden by voting him out of office. The best way to do that is to vote for Lomax.

No Civil Rights Laws

The Administration has dropped all pretense that Congress will pass any civil rights legislation this year. Truth of the matter is that the Republicans never made any serious claims in that respect but there were a few hints that something might be expected.

President Eisenhower is apparently still sold on the States Rights doctrine that the whole matter is up to the states. The hollow character of that claim can be gauged from the fact that Republican controlled legislatures in Illinois, Michigan, Pennsylvania and California have done nothing since Ike voiced those beliefs in the 1952 campaign.

Negro voters who will troop to the polls this fall ought to take a meticulous look at the records of candidates of both parties. Chances are that this fall's elections are going to be mighty close. Both the Democrats and the Republicans want to win. With this attitude uppermost in both parties there is an opportunity for some sharp bargaining.

By L. F. Palmer Jr.

NOTES FOR NEWCOMERS—This L.A. is some town! Even being a pedestrian has it's moments. Like when you step into a crosswalk and watch the string of big cars screech to a halt. How some drivers can cuss to themselves! . . . "Fashionable" West Adams—where everyone wants to live—is the established route for all houses to be moved. And brother, you ain't heard nothing 'till you've heard a piece of California real estate taking a trip at 3 o'clock in the morning. Pass the sleeping pills, pardner. . . .

There isn't a siren in the land louder than L. A. sirens. I'm talking about the kind that scream from four wheels—not two feet. I've heard 'em in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and Jehosephat, La. But these in L.A. are the most urgent sounding I've run across. . . . Don't cry, Dear Newcomer, you'll be recognized bye and bye. You see, there's some kind of misplaced egotism in L. A. that whirls around in the minds of the natives and makes them throw up a wall of protection against foreigners. But don't give up. Don't think it's too tough out here. Seems you're "in" after you've served a year as an apprentice Californian. Then you can make it hard for the next country bumpkin that comes West to hit gold. . . .

Didn't you get fooled when you took that first trip to Hollywood? Just like any other place, huh? . . . Know how many Negro businesses are located on Central avenue? This isn't official, but I'm told you can count 'em on a single hand. . . . And talk about prejudice! Who'da thought L. A. and Dixie wear the same pair of pants? . . . But, Dear Newcomer, it's a wonderful town. You can buy a home real quick—and turn it in every year on a new one just like the natives. And you can go back East and brag about being from "El Aye." You can even make a buck—if you've got what it takes. A printing press.

PEOPLE TO KNOW—There's some real people in L.A. Like Joe Walker, the Urban League's serious, hard working young man. . . . Ike Turner, newly arrived from the South, a clever, ambitious musician who can toot, pound or plunk on any instrument in the book. He's an import of Modern Records, their Director of Recordings . . . Harold Woodward, the hotel man who keeps things humming at the Watkins. One of the few Negro hotel managers who learned the ropes in school. . . . Dikes Phillips. Just a helluva nice guy. . . . Rebecca Barnes over on West 36th street who can bake a lemon pie better than Carter can make little liver pills. . . . And you for taking the time to read a column by a guy who's not so pure but plenty simple.

FINALE When you get a little discouraged, sing this song to the tune of Yankee Doodle. If it doesn't fit, make up some music.

Now that you're here in Ole L.A.,
You might as well prepare to stay.
Even if you think you're better off dead,
Remember, the fare back East is a lot of bread.
Frankly I like the place, myself.

Battleaxe and Bread

By Lester B. Granger

Out in Wichita, Kans., last week, I spent a day with the Kansas Anti-Discrimination commission, sitting in a commission meeting during the afternoon and addressing its first dinner meeting that evening. The commission was appointed last year by Governor Arn, following the legislature's action in passing an FEP law. The law is of the "toothless" variety. It rules against job discrimination as contrary to public policy and interest but it fails to provide penalties for those who disobey the law.

Lester Granger

The State commission consists of five members, two representing industry and business, two organized labor, and one the "minority" groups. The latter was the Rev. J. Russell Brown, pastor of a colored church in Kansas City, Kans.

No Public Meetings

The commission is expected to hear and investigate complaints of discrimination practiced mostly against Negro and Mexican workers of the state. After investigation, the commission is expected to mediate with the employers concerned. It cannot hold public hearings, however; it cannot punish or recommend for punishment in case of guilt; it cannot even publish its findings that an employer is guilty of violating the law.

This seemed like a pretty sad excuse of an FEP law. I said as much to the lieutenant governor of the State as we sat together at dinner, and I repeated the sentiment in my formal remarks.

However, I pointed out the very fact that the legislature had refused to put teeth into the law put an additional responsibility on the people of the state to make the law work by getting behind it unreservedly. I could be wrong, I declared; it was barely possible that a law without penalties for violation would work well enough to justify its passage. I would be coming around in a year, hoping to find my pessimistic evaluation entirely wrong.

The lieutenant governor, who is running for the Republican nomination for governor this year and is opposed by the Arn administration, said to me after my speech: "You know, we have a saying in politics that the art of compromise is taking the best you can get and then coming back for more." It will be interesting to see whether that works in Kansas.

And meanwhile down in Washington, D. C., the betting is two to one that nothing at all will come out of the Stevens-McCarthy hearings, except that bored housewives will wind up being even more bored before the business is all wound up. It's already evident that the art of filibustering is not confined to Southern senators, nor to the subject of civil rights legislation.

And it's even more evident that if South Dakota's Senator Mundt is not actively protecting his colleague from Wisconsin, he is certainly giving McCarthy every possible opportunity to protect himself—and his protege, Cohn, at the same time.

A newspaperman who covered the first couple of days said to me: "After two or three hours I had to go out in order to keep from shooting my breakfast. The stuff was so bad that McCarthy was serving up, I got really nauseous."

What makes it so bad is that if anyone but a senator, or someone under a senator's wing, were to violate the rules of a hearing, and most of the rules of decent debate as well, the committee would have had him thrown out in a hurry or cited for contempt. The conduct of the chairman, and even committee Counsel Ray Jenkins at times encourages the weary disgust for the ethics of senatorial conduct that is slowly spreading over the country.

I found this true in Kansas, which is a Republican state, as much as in Democratic Missouri territory. This is a voters' reaction which can spell bad trouble for the GOP, come election day, just as much as foreign policy or continuing unemployment. But maybe Senator Mundt figures that South Dakota is so safely Republican that he can afford to flout the independent and ethics-conscious voter-opinion.

Anyhow, to repeat the talk of the wise boys, the odds are that the hearing will drag on and on until the public gets so tired of it that few will worry about any findings. Then the committee will quietly fold up its proceedings, make a return of "no finding," and hope the public will forget the whole business. Which is just what the public probably will do, bless its forgetful little heart!

To the Editor:

I have just read your column "Loren Miller Says" in this week's Eagle. I congratulate you in presenting the problem in a clear and concise manner.

There are attempts by some of the Central Avenue Chamber of Commerce members to alter the situation. Your message will greatly aid us.

I would like to see a reprint of that column in the hands of every merchant in the Central-Vernon neighborhood. Is it possible to arrange this?

Meet Richard R. Wright, III

"Major Richard Wright, Sr., deceased banker and trustee of Allen AME Church . . . was sold in slavery for $75 but became the first ex-slave to win two degrees . . . Bishop Richard R. Wright, Jr., held a Ph.D. from both the University of Pennsylvania and the University of Berlin, Germany . . . he also was a banker." So says the encyclopedia of the A.M.E. church. And that is why this story concerns Richard R. Wright, III, the dynamic manager of the Broadway Federal Savings and Loan Association of Los Angeles.

Leon Steward

From this humble person's observation, Richrd R. Wright, III, was just about due to be a nobody. That's what usually happens to successful men's sons. Of any race. But not so with the hero of this story.

In Belgian Congo

Since his dad was a banker in Philadelphia, his son was born there and there he went to school. Wilberforce was his choice of a college, because his father was president. Graduated with a Bachelor of Science in Commerce in 1935, he went to West Africa to become a missionary teacher of finance in the Belgian Congo. Returning to the U.S. he entered Ohio State and secured a master's degree in Business Administration.

In 19 states he lectured on conditions in Africa and then went to Edward Warters College to teach business. There he found his mate, Miss Neva Gilmore of Jackson, Ohio. He then returned to Wilberforce to teach Business Administration, and was also budget officer for NYA in southern Ohio.

Banking Business

In December, 1946, Mr. Wright served as cashier in the then ailorning Tri-State Bank of Memphis, Tenn. It was worth 1½ million dollars when he left in 1949 to become business manager of Morris Brown College, from which he resigned to come to Los Angeles.

Mr. Wright came to this city to manage the Broadway Federal. The new policies which have been enacted since his advent have just about ended any staff turnover which had previously beset the institution. Among those policies are the insurance which the bank has taken out on each of its employees; the encouraging of every employee to enroll in night courses to give them better insight into their work; and the vacation plan. These policies and others make the Broadway appear in the forefront of institutions employing a number of persons.

Another evidence of improvement is the fact that the Broadway has grown in assets from $3¾ million dollars in 1951 to $8¼ million dollars, as revealed in its December statement. Thus the Broadway, though not the oldest of the three excellent banking institutions among us, is the largest in assets. Mr. Wright declares that "this growth is attributable to the splendid team work between our president, Dr. H. C. Hudson, our Board of Directors and our staff." Well, that sounds pretty much like modesty to us, which is another evidence of real character and self-confidence.

Community Activities

The community is served well by the Broadway Federal through its manager other than as a banking service. Mr. Wright is a trustee and steward in the Second AME Church and financial adviser of the Southern California A.M.E. Conference. He is on the Urban League Board, co-chairman of the Boy Scouts' drive for sustaining membership, member of the board of the Julius Chabala Educational Fund to train men of Northern Rhodesia in South Africa. The first such will be a medical doctor who will be trained in California when the funds are raised.

Mr. Wright is also on the financial committee of the L. A. Council of Girl Scouts, a member of Omega Phi Psi fraternity and the Prince Hall Free and Accepted Masons. Next year, Mr. Wright will be the chairman of Negro History Week, sponsored by Our Authors Study Club.

Has a Family, Too

It does not appear that such a dynamic and busy man would have time for a home and family, but Mr. Wright is different. His splendid and charming wife assists him to raise his sons, Richard, IV, 12, and Phillip, 11. Now, with a bit more time and energy from their capable mother and the best efforts of their dad, they, too, might defy nature and become bankers. Here's believing that they will.

Los Angeles is happy to welcome this fine family and this energetic leader and hustler and hopes they will remain in California from now on.

sional career, and the presidents, governors, mayors, and city councilmen who make his laws.

Who's Kidding?

No Negro has to be overly bright to understand that race is a factor in the appointment of postmasters, district attorneys, dog catchers, judges, election clerks and street sweepers. Nor does the fact that in a few instances such appointees are Negroes destroy the validity of that observation. Every Negro appointed to the bench in America has been appointed because he was a Negro and because the governor or other official who named him wanted to appoint a Negro at that given time. Each governor wanted to "make a Negro appointment" because he knew that race is a factor in American life and wanted to take advantage of it, for good reasons or bad.

Our two Negro California assemblymen are there because they are Negroes who happened to live in assembly districts where the Negro vote is a majority or very close to it. That isn't to say that either our assemblymen, or our handful of appointed officials, lack ability. Far from it. In many instances they have ability far above their opposite numbers of other races. Our assemblymen had, and have, ability AND they happened to live in "Negro" districts. If either had lived in Beverly Hills or South Gate neither would have been in the assembly today.

Common Sense

Wherever Negro voters live in an assembly district in such numbers that they become decisive in the selection of an assemblyman common sense dictates that they should turn the ever present American race factor to their own advantage. They should elect Negro assemblymen and it is hard to make me believe that their choice will fall below the level, of say, Joe McCarthy, Jimmy Byrnes or Parnell Thomas.

Timid opponents of this point of view trot out the bogey man right here. They argue that if Negroes act on the advice I have just given whites will do the same thing. They foresee all manner of evil if that is done. The argument isn't worth much. In the first place, the facts and figures show that with trifling exceptions the majority of white voters does that very thing right now as far as racial preference in candidates is concerned. In the next place, the majority does not have to act as the minority does in order to meet its problems. The elimination of discrimination, the destruction of racial handicaps, the attainment of equality—the ends sought in the election and selection of Negroes to public office—are as much in the long-run interests of the majority as for the short-run benefit of the minority.

Symbol—Triumph

The presence of a Negro in public office, elective or appointive, is a symbol of equality attained, of triumph over discrimination and racism. As an American familiar with general problems the Negro office holder will offer representation equal in quality to that of other public servants. The majority voter can be sure that the Negro public official will not act in the special interest of the Negro except insofar as he seeks to root out discrimination and implement equality. Both majority and minority will benefit by that course of action.

On the other hand the existence of discrimination and lack of equality have created special problems for Negroes. One of those special problems is difficulty in finding a job or a home; another is that of getting a political appointment purely on merit; and still another is that of getting elected to public office. Special problems require special remedies.

As Negroes we have no recourse but to appeal to the majority to drop barriers against employment or against home ownership, or to make appointments on the basis of ability. But we have it in our own power to overcome the difficulty that bars election of Negroes to public office. We are chumps if we don't help ourselves by electing Negroes. The good thing about this self help is that the election of qualified Negroes by Negroes will help demonstrate what most Americans don't know yet: that race isn't important in public service. Heaven helps those who help themselves and we can give heaven a boost by electing Negroes in the 55th and 63rd assembly districts.

UNITED NATIONS was the theme of the extraordinary production Friday night at Second Baptist church, planned and directed by Mrs. Velva Lorette Henderson, organizer and director of the Recruiter's league. Rev. Dawkins Preaches Last New York Sermon

The Rev. Maurice A. Dawkins, Sunday, preached his farewell sermon and was given a public reception by the congregation of The Community Church of New York.

Rev. Dawkins, minister of education at the church since 1948, has accepted a call to become minister of the Peoples Church of Los Angeles. He is the first Negro to have served as a minister of Community Church in its 129 years.

At a public reception following the service, Rev. Dawkins received high commendations and several gifts from the congregation, from the groups and organizations of the church and from the treasurer of the church, as symbols of their appreciation of his work.

The groups presented him with a beautiful pulpit robe and a Master's hood.

Liberty Church Gets Home

Sunday, May 2, marked the beginning of a new venture for the pastor and members of the Liberty Baptist Church which was formerly located at 7516 S. Central avenue. Sunday, the congregation moved into the new church home at 1182 E. 35th street.

Liberty was organized on Sept. 27, 1953, at the Central avenue address. During the seven intervening months the church has steadily grown under the leadership of the Rev. K. L. Buford, pastor.

A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend the services. The church calendar is as follows: 9:45 a.m., Sunday school; 11 a.m., worship service; 6:30 p.m. B.T.U., and 7:30 p.m. evening worship.

The Bible Training school of Calvary Baptist church in Santa Monica is now in session. Instructors are Dean Mayes and Rev. and Mrs. W. P. Carter.

DR. N. S. CURRY MAY BE MADE CME BISHOP

If any bishops are elected at the General Conference of the Colored Methodist Episcopal Church in Memphis, Dr. N. S. Curry of Los Angeles may win one of the coveted positions.

Informed sources within the CME church report that Dr. Curry will be in competition with Dr. C. H. Washington of Shreveport, La.; Dr. M. Thompson of Phoenix, Ariz.; and Dr. D. N. Humphreys of Tulsa, Okla. One of these clerics would represent the Fifth Episcopal district in the event new bishops are named.

That is the big question centering around the conference. No one can say for sure that new bishops will be named. The conference is divided on the issue and a lively discussion is expected before action of any kind is taken.

In the event that Dr. Curry does not win a bishopric, he is expected to seek the post of editor of the Christian Index.

Voices of Victory Anniversary Tonight

The Voices of Victory, the television choir of Victory Baptist church, will celebrate their 1st TV anniversary tonight (Thursday, May 6), at 8 p.m. in the Church auditorium.

37TH ANNIVERSARY of Conner-Johnson mortuary was celebrated May 2, 3 with open house at the firm's beautiful funeral home, 1400 E. 17th street. Official host and hostess were Mrs. S. P. Johnson, Sr., vice-president, and S. P. Johnson, Jr., president. Not shown is Mrs. Fannie Benjamin, secretary and manager.

Forrest Weir To Speak at Phillips CME

Dr. R. M. Davis delivered the communion meditation at Phillips Temple C.M.E. church on Sunday. Dr. Davis emphasized the fact that Christ chose bread as an emblem of his broken body because it is something we can live with each day. Following the meditation the Holy Communion was given to more than 700 persons.

With the opening of the C.M.E. General Conference in Memphis, Tenn., an appreciable group left Phillips Temple to attend. Delegates to this Conference from Phillips Temple included the minister, Dr. Curry, and Mrs. M. M. Penn.

The following persons also will be attending. Henry Chatman, Namon Wise, Mmes. Abigail Carter, E. M. Mayes, Josephine Hill, Christine White, Leona Sherouse, Willette Meshack, Bertha Wright, Essie Martin and Jettie Mathis.

Next Sunday morning at the 10:45 a.m. hour the Church will have as its speaker Dr. Forrest C. Weir, who is president of the Church Federation of Los Angeles.

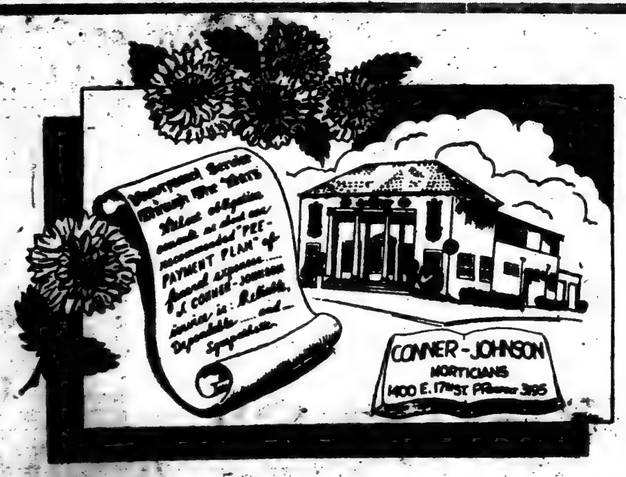
COSTS ARE MODERATE



Any family consulting us, regardless of their financial condition, is shown the full range of our prices.

Families are urged to make their own selection. They may choose a service costing less than one hundred dollars, or one costing several hundred.

Prices are plainly marked. The cost is estimated chiefly by the casket chosen.

Every service is complete to the last detail. We are able to provide so fine a service at so moderate a price because of our volume of business. Even the poorest family will find it more economical to select Angelus Funeral Homes.

City Prep Tracksters Vie In Sizzling Loop Finals

The town's top prep cindermen compete for crowns in all six city loops this weekend.

In the Dixie league, where Estell Johnson and John Childress' Jefferson High tracksters have had a monopoly on the title for twenty years or more, the competition should prove the keenest. Fremont who will be operating with the highest number of men, and Manual Art's powerful outfit are itching to break up Jeff's monopoly.

Fremont's title ambition will count a great deal on how well big Bob Durkee does in the hurdles. Manual will be relying on sprinter Everett "The Horse" Jackson, Norm DeBase, (880); and Ernie Hall, (Hurdler); to pick up their share of digits. Jeff's big guns are expected to be sprinters Joe Winslow, (if his injured legs permits) and Ed Walter, 440 men Henry Cooks and Leo Payne, Miler James "Duck" Davis, 880 man Albert "The Flying Irishman" McDade, and hurdlers Cliff Smart, and Will Chappell and broad jump and shot put ace Joe Stafford.

L.A. the Western loop favorites with all-city footballer, Thad Winston, who set a new minimum in the highs with a 14.8 clocking in last week's prelims along with sprinter, Carl Robinson, should come through with flying colors.

It looks like money in the bank for Jordan in the Marine league finals . . . Sprinters Booker T. Washington, Travis Mathews and Calvin Brown—(Calvin is the brother of the ex-Jordan and UCLA star, George Brown!) Shot star, Dan Everage, and halfmiler, Jim Clayton, should romp in their events.

South Parkers Host Fresnoers

The South Park Sluggers, composed of youngsters under 13 years of age, play host to a team of boys of their equal from Fresno this Saturday (May 8) on their home grounds at 10:00 a.m.

The South Park Sluggers in their last outing whipped the 49th Street School All-Stars.

These youngsters, who are the future Bakers, Robinsons, Campanellas, DiMaggios, Fellers, and Easters of tomorrow deserve the support of the community.

A track meet is scheduled for 12:00 o'clock. Boys under 17 still have time to register in order to be eligible for competition.

Following the track meet both boys and girls will be treated with refreshments, provided by a local merchant.

Johnny Lee, who portrays the Calhoun character on the Amos & Andy Show and other members of the cast are scheduled to provide entertainment for the kids after the meet.—B.P.J.

RANDOM DATA—

Big Ed Sherrill—the ex-All-Southern California JC quarterback, via East Los Angeles JC—hit four for four Saturday in pacing his L.A. State mates to a 6-2 win over San Diego State.

The Korean hero who flipped 14 tds for Al "Ace" Hunt's undefeated, unitied & uninvited '49 ELAJC outfit is being counted on to put the L.A. State eleven on the map this fall. . . .

Oxy's star 440-man, Jim Willard, won the SCC Frosh title in 51.3 Sat. . . . Is it true Willard is the first of the race from Jeff to compete on an Oxy athletic team? . . .

Oscar Johnson, perhaps the greatest Tennis star produced at Jeff High in recent years, is being sponsored in a nation-wide tour by Richard Hudlin of St. Louis. . . . Johnson will play all of the big Eastern cities on his rounds. . . . Oscar stops here at the L. A. Tennis Club for a September date. . . .

J. C. Gipson, the fabulous ex-Jeff cage great, was in town to take in the Jeff-Manual thriller. . . . Gipson, who picks up his coffee and cakes with the world-famed Harlem Globetrotters, is currently on his annual vacation from the club.

ELAJC's JETER TOPS—

Flying Floyd Jeter posted a 14.6 clocking in the 120-highs in the Metro cinder finals Sat., the fastest recorded by a JCer this season. . . . Jeter earlier this season tied the national JC high jump standard. . . .

Willie Mays is the subject of a feature in the curent issue of the Mag. SEE. . . .

Outfielder Harry "Suitcase" Simpson was sold this week by the Cleveland Injuns to their International farm club. . . .

Did you know the Oakland Oaks' rookie hurler sensation, Charlie Beamon, & UCLA'S tailback-candidate, Sam "First Down" Brown, were horsehide mates at Oakland's McClymonds High? . . . In passing, Brown was the Bruins' hitting star against Cal Sat.

PYE's PICK-UPS—

UCLA has several outstanding Negro football lettermen competing in Spring practice, which got underway on the Westwood campus this week. . . . They're ends Roomie Loudd & Clarence Norris, guard Hardiman Cureton, & tailback Sam "First Down" Brown. All of the aforementioned are tops or near tops in their respective postions.

However, Doug Peters, a big, long, tall 195-pound all-Northern Cal fullback from Richmond's West Contra Costa JC, who entered Bruinville this semester, may outshine 'em all. . . . He's genuine. We saw the big Peters boy perform in several games last fall. . . .

In the popular Red Rooster restaurant in N.Y. there is a sign which reads as follows: "All the King's horses and all the King's men cannot bring Brooklyn back again. Giants vs. ? . . . Giants fans make reservations for World Series Tickets here!"

It is our considered opinion the Giants & their fans will all be buying tickets to the Series. . . . It's our guess the Bums will repeat. . . . As of now this is 25 & 5. . . .

Kappas Eye Omega Upset

By BRAD PYE, JR.

The Sigmas were leading the undefeated Omegas in the 22nd Annual Inter-Frat Series at Loyola High Saturday night, in the last minute of play, but the game lasted forty-five seconds too long for the latter club!

The Sigmas had a 57-to-55 advantage at this point, and with the ball in their possession. The Omegas' two Charles boys, that is, Charles Hill and Charles Reed, were the big heroes.

Hill stole the ball and eluded three Sigmas to score on a breath-taking lay-up shot to knot the score. Reed was the recipient of two charity tosses and needless to say he made good on both of them for the Omegas' margin of victory.

The Omegas came back like true champions, after trailing throughout the contest, in the dying seconds to eke out their thrilling two-point verdict! The efforts of Sigmas Leroy Mims, the pounding Pounds brothers, Wallace and Bobby, Ernie Bond, Douglas Shaw, Fred Batiste, Len Pollard and Clyde Thomas were by no means less sensational.

A lot of the credit for the Sigmas' fine showing should go to Spot Thorton, the ex-Sigma star of way back when, who directed the boys from the bench. The Sigma five is the only team to come within two points of the champion Omegas in the current series.

In the first game of the night the Kappas gave the winless Alphas their weekly whipping 85-64. However, Long John Barber, the Alphas' and series scoring leader, pocketed 36 points to bring his total to 153 for six games.

Dallas Perkins' 26 was tops for the victors. Pete O'Garo's 19, Ed Nichols' 12 and Fenton Gilmer's 11 were other Kappa highs.

The high scoring twice beaten Kappas and the undefeated Omega fives vie for the 1954 championship in this Saturday night's feature game. In the consolation game the hard-luck Sigmas battle the victory-less Alphas.

Associated Clubs Softball Games Drawing Record Gate

The heavy Sunday morning traffic currently jamming the freeways to Pasadena and to South Los Angeles is the crowd flocking to the Associated Clubs regular Sunday morning softball games.

Last Sunday over at Brookside Park in Pasadena the Sir Debuteers defeated the Ebony Earls in an air-tight pitching battle that featured the sterling mound performances of Wilbur Dukes of the Debuteers and Elgin Gardenhire of the Earls. Lowell Colbert's home run highlighted the day's game. Also in the hitting department Cleve Macon and Earl Thomas's timely raps proved winning blows for the Debuteers.

Over at Will Rogers the baseball fans got a treat in watching Lloyd White of the Royal Kingsmen limit the Royal Dragons to only three hits while his teammates compiled four runs off six hits to win 4 to 1.

Other games: Conquistadors defeated Y.M.P.L. 2-1. In defeating the Y.M.P.L. the game featured some brilliant defensive fielding by the Conquistadors as they fought back the last-inning bid of the Y.M.P.L. Billy Mills' all stars defeated the Social Barons 3-2 in a game that could have gone any way. The Barons played the game under protest and will have a hearing before the group.

The standings:

National League
Teams—	Won	Lost
Social Barons	2	0
Y.M.P.L.	1	1
Kingsmen	1	1
Dragons	0	1

American League
Teams—	Won	Lost
Sir Debuteers	1	0
Ebony Earls	1	1
Conquistadors	1	1

Next games are May 16.

On the Turf

By GEORGE RAMSEY

BEAUTIFUL CALIENTE IN OLD MEXICO — Big Brownie, from the stable of Barthel and Waters, erstwhile route scourge of Baja California racing, was transformed into a sprinter last Sunday and the experiment proved a crowning success in the Pittsburgh Handicap. Big Brownie is known for his cyclonic finishes in middle-distance features, but in the featured six-furlong sprint he laid close to the early pace set by the favored Ara Time and was well in haand to the half-mile post. Turning into the stretch Jockey Ocar Andrade gave the son of Pere Time-Solital his head and with mild urging he passed Ara Time to win by a neck, paying in the mutuels $10.40. It was his fourth victory in 11 starts this year.

RAMSEY

Caliente's first spill in several months took place in the eleventh race when Mary Hays' Bite Size fell entering the clubhouse turn and Jockey Emilio Castro was hurled to the ground. Extent of his injuries were not determined at the track. He was sent immediately to a Tijuana hospital. Daily double holders of Lampglo, winner of the fourth race, and Ready Cash, victor of the fifth race, received a lush payoff of $100.60, while the quinela backers of By-Law and Wheat Huler, who finished in that order, were rewarded $50.20 for $2.

Sepia Rookie Tops Majors

Robert Trice, the big pitcher who moved up with the Philadelphia A's from Ottawa at the tail end of last season, is the hottest rookies hurler in either league.

The swift right hander has won three straight and if he can continue his winning ways he'll have to get into the Rookie of the Year picture soon.

His mate, Vic Power, the boy the NY Yankees didn't want, is currently getting most of the raves for the honor of rookie of the year.

Curt Roberts of the Pittsburgh Pirates, Gene Baker and Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs are other strong candidates for the honor.

Morgan Staters Accept Relay Bid

Eddie Hurt, coach of the famed Morgan State spike brigade, accepted an invitation this week to enter his sprint medley relay squad of Bob Robinson, Otis Johnson, Jimmy Rogers and Ken Kave in the Los Angeles Coliseum Relays

HONORED GUEST on Mother's Day will be Mrs. Dorothy Houston, pioneer resident, seated in center. Standing, left, is her charming daughter, Mrs. George (Mildred) Price, Jr. Mrs. Price's children, George and Paula are being held by their grandmother. Standing, right: Mrs. J. La Marr ('Puffy') Hill, popular wife of the president of Angelus Funeral Home. The Hill children are: John, seated on right, while Dorothy and Jan are on the floor. (Sheffield Photo.)

What Is A Mother?

By L. F. PALMER, JR.

What is a mother?

A mother is that human machine who cooks, washes, cleans, worries, frets, loans you money, comforts, prays, scrubs and scrimps. She's that gem of God who sees the good and fights the bad. She's up early and up late. She fights fatigue and conquers fear.

A mother is that bundle of nerves, love, compassion and muscle who outlifts, outlasts, outloves and outlaughs anyone. She can worry more, cry more, care more and carry more than any human being on earth.

She'll take a penny and make it a dollar. She'll take a hole and make it whole. While the rest of the world is playing, she is figuring. While other's are figuring, she's still pitching.

A mother can look like an angel and fuss like the devil. She can find the best in the worst and the worst in the best. She'll call the signals, wear the pants, spend the money and at the same time smell like a rose.

What's a mother"

She's that sacrificing, scintillating, steady slave who lives, eats, breaths and moves so you can live higher, eat better, breath easier and move faster. She's the one who pays while you play, who has a song and a drudge while you have a song and a dance.

That's what a mother is. A loveable, lively, laughing lady whose life is your life, whose love is your love, whose dream is your dream.

Her heart is yours. Her life is yours. She is yours.

Thanks, Mom. Thanks for everything.

DYNAMIC MOTHER, Mrs. Steve (Dorothy) Rowland, retiring president of the Hobart P.T.A. Photoviewed by Sheffield Studio of Photography. The Rowland children, Nancy and Steve, Jr., appear to be proud of their mother's accomplishments.

SHAPELY Dorothea Towles, former local instructor who has since become an international figure of fashion, will present her fabulous one-woman style show, Sunday, May 16th, 3:00 p.m. at Florentine Gardens, 5959 Hollywood Boulevard.

Dorothea Towles Presents Famous Feminine Styles Sun., May 16 at Gardens

Dorothea Towles is bringing her $250,000 wardrobe to Los Angeles! FEM, Libby Clark's excitingly new pictorial magazine for women, will present the statuesque beauty, internationally famous for her ability to wear clothes, on Sunday, May 16, at Hollywood Canteen (Florentine Gardens), 5959 Hollywood Blvd. Affair will commence promptly at 3 p.m. and 'stylsational' Dorothea will make her appearance promptly at four. Scholarships will be given Henrietta's Beauty School from proceeds.

Popularly Priced Ducats

Tickets will sell for $1.90 general admission and $2.80 reserved. A limited number of patrons' tickets (ringside) will entitle the bearer to the buffet-cocktail party at which Miss Towles will be guest of honor immediately following the style show.

Tickets went on sale Monday at FEM magazine offices, 2716 West Jefferson Boulevard. Reserved tickets will be delivered by calling REpublic 4-3534 during the hours of 9 and 5 p.m.

Toast of Paris, Rage of New York and Pride of Los Angeles, Dorothea Towles combines artistry, good taste and showmanship in her one-woman style, extravaganzas which have been highly acclaimed throughout the country.

Internationally Known

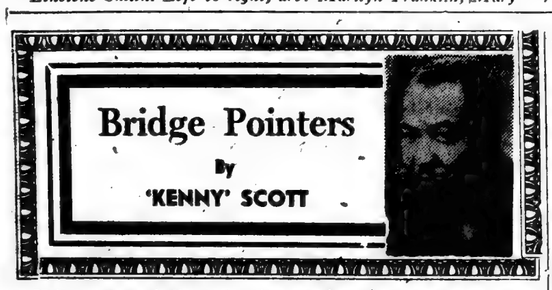
Miss Towles will feature an entirely new collection of Paris originals, fashioned by world-famous designers especially for her. Her famous white poodle will be much in evidence.

As a high point of the show Miss Towles will wear a fabulous creation fashioned exclusively for her Los Angeles appearance and of course the elegant gown has been dubbed FEM. Included also will be a $100,000 collection of spring and summer furs from the Meyer Berliner Salons of New York, Chicago and Los Angeles.

Her Los Angeles show will end a six weeks tour of some twenty cities for the beautiful model, who has her own radio show and has appeared on stage and in television since returning to this country.

Oratorical Contest

The time is drawing near for the second annual oratorical contest for young voters on May 16 at 7 p.m. at Holman Methodist church, sponsored by that militant group of Greek-letter organizations, the American Council on Human Rights, headed by Mrs. Emily Woody.



FERNONDALE GOLF CLUB members are busy preparing for their Frolic and fashion show to be held at the El Sombrero May 21. Above are a few of the lovely models who will take part in the big May time extravaganza. Hazel Macon, Louise Hill, Eunice Haygood, Pamelia Jordan and Carolyn Cain.

Bridge Pointers

By

'KENNY' SCOTT

This week our discussion is about no-trump hands. How often have we heard it said: "I just can't play no-trump hands." Actually, there is nothing difficult about playing a no-trump hand if certain principles are observed. In fact, there is less to learn about the play of no-trump contracts than suit contracts.

Timing is the most important thing in no-trump. By this we mean the ability to set up your suits and take your tricks before the opponents are able to set up their suits.

Two Types

No-trump hands generally fall into two types, those which make five or six tricks in a long suit with enough side tricks to make the bid, and those which require at least two tricks in three suits and three tricks in the fourth.

A standard lead against no-trump contracts is the fourth best card of a suit. This lead may give declarer clues on how to finesse. It certainly helps in establishing suit lengths in opponents' hands.

Generally speaking, these rules will assist no-trump play.

Rules to Follow

1. Set up your long suit first. Usually this suit will have no more than one loser. At most it should have but two.

2. In a hand with eight sure tricks try to establish the ninth before taking the eight sure tricks.

3. Run a long suit as early as possible. Opponents may make bad discards and enable a suit such as AKxx to produce four tricks instead of just two.

4. Remember that entries must be established. Failure to do this defeats many hands which otherwise could be made.

5. In playing no-trump contracts it is often easy to make opponents defend badly. Unless the hand is hopeless from the beginning, it is easier for declarer to make it than defenders to set it.

The following example shows one type of no-trump hand.

—N—
S—A Q 10 6
H—K J 10 2
D—K 6 4
C—10 6

—E— —W—
S—8 5 2 S—K J 9 7 4
H—A 9 8 3 H—5 4
D—A 10 8 3 2 D—9
C—7 C—A 8 5 3 2

—S—
S—3
H—Q 7 6
C—K Q J 9 4

This hand was played at three no-trump by South. The opening lead was the three of diamonds which is a normal lead. South's correct line of play is to set up the club suit first. This will give him four tricks. When East takes his ace of clubs there is nothing he can lead that will be damaging. If he leads back a club, South will then set up the heart suit. South will never play spades voluntarily until the last. This hand will make four club tricks, three heart tricks, one diamond and one spade trick for a total of nine. There is also a strong chance to make an extra diamond trick.

Town, Country Art Show Thrills Guest At YWCA

The Town and Country Art Club held its second annual art exhibit last Sunday at the YWCA on the University of Southern California campus.

More than 200 guests enjoyed work done by the members in knitting, weaving, croquetteing, sewing, beading, ceramics, needlework and lamp craft.

In addition the club presented as guest exhibits work executed by Dr. Heard of Santa Monica, Ruthe Levingston, Sandra E. Bain and Velma Clarke.

An oriental theme was carried out in the decorations and refreshments. Highlight of the decorations was the huge flower bedecked bird cage housing love birds which served as a centerpiece for the tea table.

Whisteria Club

The members of the Whistria Social Club royally entertained their husbands Sunday, April 25, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wincell Kelly, 14009 Nastar street, Compton.

Following a delicious dinner, the evening was delightfully spent getting acquainted and playing games.

This being a newly organized group, the members are quite enthusiastic in planning a program including charitable as well as social activities.

PHILIPPA SCHUYLER A PIANIST OF 'NOTE'

By ELLIOTT CARPENTER

Skilled craftsmanship combined with emotional intensity is what greeted the patrons and auditors present at the Forum Theatre for. Miss Philippa Schuyler's pianistic debut last Sunday. Except for a few conventional irregularities that seem to be always present at most recitals (of which I shall speak later) the concert was an artistic triumph.

Proficient Performer

Miss Schuyler is the youngest, most capable Negro pianist appearing before the public today and with maturity through tenacity I shall predict she will become one of the world's all great. She plays with assurance and authority and a deft knowledge of her literature.

Permit me to say as of now I am not a devotee of the Bach-Busoni or Bach-liszt school. When given to me in great doses I always depart from the concert hall with musical indigestion, and unless there is a certain amount of gravy given to make them slip down well. By that I mean the artist must have such a profound knowledge of the inner intensity and

Widest New Screen At Bill Robinson

Work has begun on the new wide screen for delivery this month to the Bill Robinson theatre. Manager George Bierdeman informs us that about the middle of May the Bill Robinson will break out in its new wide screen look, as a 18' by 40' R.C.A. Cinemascope approved screen will bring the finest in movie entertainment to the patrons of this fine local theatre.

The expense will be great, but Mr. Bierdemann feels that the customer response will be worth the money and effort expended. He also assures the theatre patronage that as the new screen systems are developed and proven they will be installed in the Bill Robinson Theatre so that its customers will always be entertained in the finest manner possible.

Deltas Sorors Open Annual May Week

Delta sorors excitedly completed plans for the annual, national observance of May Week at their May meeting Saturday at Wilfandel. This year the week, set aside and dedicated to the encouragement of girls to go on to college, is crammed with interesting and fascinating activities. The calendar includes:

May 8—Brunch for high school girls, YWCA, USC, 11 a.m. Theme: Key to Higher Education. NBC broadcast and tour of TV station, 2:30 p.m., Sunset and Vine.

May 14—Mrs. Macio Tolbert interviewed on Channel 4 program, "Today in Los Angeles," 9:15 a.m.

May 15—Mrs. Alice Houston (studying telecommunications at USC on a Ford Fellowship) on KECA "Man of Color," 6:30 p.m.

May 16—Delta service. Church of Divine Guidance, 4050 W. Pico Blvd., 11 a.m. Rev. Clayton Russell, minister.

May 23—Jabberwock. Bovard Auditorium, USC. 3 p.m.

Officers Elected

Officers for the coming year were also elected. The roster stands: President, Geraldine P. Woods; first vice-president, Paullyn Glass; second vice-president, Hilda Allen; Recording secretary, Ruth Spencer; corresponding secretary, Vivian Dunning; financial secretary, R. C. Ola Brown; treasurer, Willa Hughes; journalist, Leatrice Porter Bryant; historian, Vassie Brown; sergeant-at-arms, Maurine Perkinson; parliamentarian, Anna Lois Schooler.

KITCHEN BLUES — That gal headwaiter is creating a general unrest among her employees because she fails miserably in transferring tranquility among her hired hands!

ALICE KEY is said to be wrapped up in one of the hottest womances in her radiant red-headed life. He's a bartender at one of the top West Adams spots!

VARIETY SHOW, the combined efforts of the Medical, Dental and Pharmaceutical and Auxiliary, was a smash before a packed house. Drs. Lincoln Shumate, D. Overstreet Gray, Wayman G. McCoo, and Otis Rene are master showmen!

FRANKYE PRICE, top Western Avenoo hair stylist, has the secret of good business. She keeps her own hair well groomed!

LA COIFFEUR — Rogers of New York, the noted gas king, isn't operating out of the swank Western avenoo shoppe. Tonsorial whispers about his sudden exit are that Pat Moore who operates a few feet away was showing him up!

ERNIE JOHNSON isn't the famous college football player. She is the Redwood Kitchen's sex-appealing waitress that is making the males order double so they can stick around longer!

KATRINA LA BLANC, a willowy, shapely lass, will surprise Julia Houston, Bordan Drugstore cashier, Saturday night with a birthday pawtee!

LAWRENCE SWEETWINE, Roland Hamilton and Erma Fletcher aren't shouting about it but they are bringing that old gang back to the Paradise!

ELIZABETH REBETTES is, like thousaonds of girls about our big city, never doing anything big to get their names in the paper. However, she is the mother of a five-year-old, has a hubby and a nice home! But never doing nothing "big"!

PHILLIPA SCHUYLER is off for Alaska after her Sunday concert which most topflight music critics claimed was a display of perfection at the piano. But her music lacks soul. You can't feel it!

JOSEPHINE WALKER, the pretty Thrifty clerk, is sporting a cra - - zee ducktail hairdo that is causing the 43rd Place store to do an unusually large business!

Holy Name To Present Show 'Scoop Reporter'

The men of the Holy Name society at Holy Name parish will present an evening of lively entertainment Friday, May 14, at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium, West Jefferson and Cimarron streets.

The program will be a one-act melodrama "The Scoop Reporter," surrounded by a variety show of both amateur and professional talent.

The play is under the direction of Felton Alexander, actor and motion picture player and member of the Holy Name society.

Assisting the Holy Name men as guest artists will be Miss Jeni Legon, popular dancing school operator with her students and Leon Rene.

feeling of the composer and music that the mechanical skill is only a medium through which the emotional depth can be transmitted. In these Miss Schuyler remained primarily in the academy. Her interpretation of both Bach-Busoni, Bach-Liszt was slick, well defined and expertly schooled but lacking a natural feeling of dramatic depth.

Vivacious Virtuoso

Her playing of Scarlatti was magnificent, bouyant and delightful. I was intrigued, but it was not until the end of the programme that she began playing as an inspired artist. She lost sight of the academy and gave us the real emotional Schuyler, with the result, her rapport with the audience was instantaneous and the response spontaneous.

Her Chopin and Ravel were as delightful in their nuances as her Griffee was forceful, dynamic and explosive in its pyrotechnics. Of course her encore numbers with which she was very generous were greatly received as they were in popular trend especially the Fir Dance."

Miss Schuyler deserved a far greater attendance than was present but I am sure as news of her prowess grows she will gain in popularity.

Sharps and Flats

On a note of audience decorum: Why, oh why do audiences arrive intermittently between 3:00 p.m. and 4:00 p.m. when a concert is scheduled to begin at 3:00 p.m.? Why must a concert start 15 or 20 minutes late because of this? Why must an artist rest immobile at the instrument in rigid anticipation of absolute quiet as a few desultory members of the audience scamper for their seats? Do they not realize that these irregularities to say the least are disconcerting. It is really unfair to expect perfect rendition under such disturbances. A little punctuality, more thoughtfulness and a little less exchange of cordialities across the concert hall during performance would remedy this and I am most certain would be appreciated by the performing artist. The concert hall is to see and hear the artist and not a social club where one comes to be seen.

JAZZ A LA CARTE . . . Norman Granz will present the greatest collection of musicians and vocalovies ever to 'blow' in our parts. Plan to collar this mellow session Tuesday, May 11.

LONG BEACH, CALIF.

"Welcome, Rheingold, to Southern California"

The largest-selling lager beer in the East is here!

Says DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS, JR.—"Welcoming Rheingold is like greeting an old friend. For it has long been my favorite in the East."

Says IRENE DUNNE—"Rheingold has long been a must on the menu when I'm in the East. And now here at home, too!"

Says DICK POWELL—"Glad to hear my favorite Eastern beer has come to California. Yes, I mean Rheingold Extra Dry."

Says STEVE COCHRAN—"Sure I'm pleased to see Rheingold out here in California. Back East, it's always been my beer."

Says PAUL DOUGLAS—"Rheingold's arrival is good news, believe me. In the East it has always been a favorite of mine."

PHOTOGRAPHS BY PAUL HESSE

Says LILLI PALMER—"I've always enjoyed Rheingold in the East. So it's a pleasure to welcome it to California."

Rheingold—the original Extra Dry beer that is the favorite of so many distinguished Hollywood personalities who frequently travel East—is now available here in California.

Yes, you can now enjoy the very same Rheingold Extra Dry that is the largest-selling lager beer in the East.

Brewed with all the skill of 117 years, Rheingold Extra Dry is often imitated, but never equaled. You'll find it's beer as beer should taste—with every glass as perfect as the one before.

Rheingold EXTRA DRY Lager Beer

Watch for MISS RHEINGOLD—selected annually in America's second-largest election.

Copr., 1954, Rheingold Brewing Co., LOS ANGELES, CALIF., A SUBSIDIARY OF LIEBMANN BREWERIES, NEW YORK. BREWERS FOR 117 YEARS. ESTABLISHED 1837.

Carl Haley Says:

"Whether you wish a dish that's hot or cold . . . it's always delicious when prepared with RHEINGOLD."

Sales Representative of Liebmann Breweries

CASSEROLE SEAFOOD RHEINGOLD

(Exclusive to California Eagle by Barbara Mourin)

● ½ cup RHEINGOLD BEER

Combine three or four kinds of seafood or use your favorite one for this:

½ lb. lobster meat
1 cup minced fillet haddock
1 cup shrimp tuna or oysters
1 lb. mushrooms or one package
1 cup Rheingold beer
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
2 tablespoons chopped bell pepper
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
1 tablespoon chopped pimiento

DIRECTIONS:

4 cups cream sauce to which ½ cup Rheingold beer has been added and sauted parsley add onion and pimento, fish and mushrooms used in layers with cooked drained noodles or spaghetti. Sprinkle with bread crumbs and cheese and brown in oven for about 25 minutes. After cooking for about ten minutes, pour over it ½ cup of Rheingold beer and continue cooking till browned in a 350 degree oven.

musician (in his early thirties) 'boarding' with the couple's daughter (in her early teens). Next evening father unexpectedly discovered the music maker 'playing a tune' and 'conversing' with daughter in her bedroom. 'Santa Claus' called the 'happenings' to the attention of mother (a fashionable forty) and his never-loving wife called him a liar. The musician called the 'businessman' a 'sack of marbles.' Father called the musician outside and while the musician called for help, daughter called the cops. Next day mother called at the 'House of many slammers' bailed out the musician, leaving the 'broke' broker to remain as a guest of the city. While father is 'confined to quarters' . . . mother is suing for divorce . . . daughter is 'gaining weight' and the unemployed fellow is 'making music' in the master's bedroom!!!! (RENT FREE!!!!!!)

BETTY HALL, a Pittsburgh cutie, is getting telephone notices from the home grown wolves. She is making up her mind about relaxing out here for a spell!

WESLEY GALE, the Jamaican artist, actor of Caribbean arts drew the top society brass of the city Sunday afternoon including our boss Juanita!

DOROTHEA TOWLES is bringing a $250.000 wardrobe to town to dazzle some of her old school teacher cronies who said she could never make modeling pay!

Best Salesboys In Bay Sectors

Garfield School Open House in Santa Monica

Santa Monica's Garfield school held an open house recently and reports are that it was a tremendous success. Parents and friends said they were greatly inspired by the works of art on display to show the handiwork of Garfield students. Mrs. Hawkins is principal of the school.

The Santa Monica branch of the NAACP, headed by E. G. Allen, 1512 16th st., will hold its next meeting on May 20 at 7:30 p.m. at the Masonic temple, 18th and Broadway.

Aspiring political candidates will be presented. Every member is invited to be present and is urged to bring along at least one friend.

NIP WATTS PASTORS IN BIG LOAN FRAUD

Federal Action Expected Soon In Shady Deals

Five South Los Angeles ministers Monday charged in a complaint to the U. S. attorney's office and the FBI that they had been bilked of thousands of dollars in unbelievable deals with the now defunct Enterprise Construction Company and the United Credit Company.

The clerics said they were charged two and three times the amount of loans they made two years ago and never had any work done on their homes or churches.

Atty. Rayfield Lundy, candidate for the Assembly from the 55th District, who has been investigating the cases, represents the ministers.

The pastors, who said they got the money from the construction company's Irving Shayne, known as "The Money Man," are:

Nathan King, 11906 Willowbrook; Lonnie Johnson, 2520 Santa Ana boulevard; Ben Dixon, 2425 E. 113th street; Lucius Simpson, 2514 Santa Ana boulevard; and Mitchell Smith, 2124 E. 113th street.

One of the ministers' homes is threatened because he was unable to meet the exhorbitant overcharges, Lundy said. In some instances, the men found they had contracted to pay almost three times as much as the original loan.

Lundy said the deal worked this way. "The Money Man" would approach a loan prospect and sell him on the idea that he needed improvements

DEATH-TRAPS — Following up complaints of abandoned ice boxes at 4811½ Avalon, the Eagle discovered this large box in the rear of the yard. Anxious citizens recalled numerous deaths of youngsters trapped in boxes last year.

FRONT PORCH—Unusual resting place for another abandoned box presents inviting hiding spot for numerous youngsters playing in the block. Woman resident of the building inspects icebox.

Ice Boxes On Avalon Invite Playful Babes

Numerous complaints to the California Eagle led this week to the disclosure that two abandoned ice box "death traps" were standing unattended at 4811½ Avalon.

A reporter dispatched to the scene found an empty ice box with door unlocked on the front porch and a large unlocked box in the rear yard. Shortly after an Eagle photographer shot pictures of the death traps, the ice box disappeared from the front porch.

The Eagle learned that the box belongs to a "Mr. Robinson in the front." The reporter was unable to contact Mr. Robinson.

A woman resident of the building, who would not identify herself, said, "I have been intending to report those boxes, but I don't have any children."

However, the reporter found numerous children playing in the block.

The United States was alarmed last summer when a series of youngsters lost their lives by climbing into abandoned ice boxes and closing the doors.

States immediately brushed up on their laws and many, including California, now have statutes which make it unlawful to leave an ice box exposed without removing the door.

Builders Sued For Refusing To Sell Home

SACRAMENTO—A World War II veteran who says he tried to buy a home in a private housing development in nearby North Highlands filed a suit Monday that may make legal history.

The veteran, Oliver A. Ming, who claims that his offer to buy was refused solely because he is a Negro, complains that the housing development was built with the aid of FHA insured funds. He wants $5000 damages and an injunction preventing the owners and other FHA builders from discriminating against Negro buyers.

Behind the stilted legal language of the complaint lies the fact that the NAACP has unlimbered its legal big guns in an all-out war against builders and subdividers who get FHA insured loans and then refuse to sell or rent housing to Negroes. Listed as attorneys for Ming are Nathaniel Colley, Sacramento chairman of the Central Area Conference of the NAACP; Franklin Williams, NAACP director-counsel on the West Coast; and Loren Miller, chairman of the NAACP's West Coast Legal Committee.

Realty Board Sued

Although Milton Horgan and Joseph Frye, real estate brokers who refused to sell him the home, are Ming's prime targets, the suit also names the Sacramento Real Estate Board, its president and and a number of other real estate dealers and builders as defendants.

The suit charges a conspiracy among all Sacramento real estate brokers and builders to refuse to sell or rent FHA-aided housing to Negroes. Under FHA practice, the builder gets a loan from a lending institution and the government agency guarantees payment in event the borrower defaults.

Ming claims that FHA was established in 1934 "to assist private enterprise" in constructing homes for all citizens and that discrimination against him

How Fast Is 'Normal'? Driver Demands Answer

There's hardly a man in the city—or a woman, either—who won't have a lot of sympathy for Charles D. Wherry, who feels he was unjustly arrested for a traffic violation, and is prepared to fight the case all the way to the Supreme Court if necessary to prove his point.

The fine was only $5. But it's not the money, it's the principle. To make matters more galling, Wherry was not ordered to the curb for speeding, failing to yield to a pedestrian, or reckless driving. You guessed it, he was challenged for driving too slowly.

Not only has Wherry engaged the sympathy of his fellow townsmen, he has in addition intrigued a number of the city's attorneys. What is a "normal" rate of speed, Wherry asks, and who is to decide whether 15 miles per hour or 35 miles per hour is "normal" under given conditions.

Wherry was arrested for driving 20 miles per hour in the left lane on Central avenue, and charged with a traffic violation on the grounds that he was traveling below the "normal" speed. The case was tried Dec. 1, 1953, before Judge Martin Katz, with Wherry acting as his own attorney.

Judge Katz fined him $5 or one day in jail, whereupon Wherry, under protest, paid the fine and appealed the case. The Los Angeles Appellate Court turned down his appeal. But Wherry refuses to accept this as the last word, and plans to take the case to higher courts.

Wherry contends that the law is defective in that it fails to answer the question "how fast is normal?" He points out that what is normal will differ in the minds of reasonable people, and that this empowers the police and the courts to determine whether or not a crime has been committed.

Because of the vagueness of the law, he claims, a driver would not know, until after an arrest, trial and judgment, what the law was. The judgment of each particular jury would be the criterion which would have to be observed, he says, and this judgment cannot be ascertained until after the alleged offense has been commited.

Trio Gypped Of $837 In 'Con' Games

The bunco boys were busy last week and found plenty of takers.

Like Abraham Compton, 1054 E. 41st street, for example. Compton met two men at 31st and Griffin. They told him they had a large sum of money they wanted to deposit in a bank but wanted him to draw out some money to prove that banks are safe.

Compton drew out $400 and the men proceeded to play a dice game with his money. One won it all and the other claimed he had taken it illegally. He said he was going to call police. They disappeared and so did Compton's dough.

Watkins Case

Another man approached Mrs. Alice Watkins, 1737 Browning Blvd., at 57th and Central and asked her to direct him to a nice hotel. A companion joined the conversation and said he would steer him to a nice room.

The first man then asked Mrs. Watkins to keep a large sum of money for him. She agreed and let him tie his

Sue Sears Roebuck Over False Arrest

A damage suit in the sum of $25,000 has been filed against Sears, Roebuck & Company, by the Rev. Jesse W. Townsend of 1303 E. 59th place, pastor of the St. Matthews Temple Baptist Church on South Hooper avenue.

FABULOUS GOWNS—Dorothea Towles, internationally famous model, will present her $250,000 collection of Parisian gowns in a style show at Florentine Gardens, Sunday, May 16, sponsored by 'Fem' magazine.

The complaint, which was filed by Atty. Curtis C. Taylor, charges that an January 12 officials of the huge department store caused his arrest on a charge of petty theft.

The minister complains that he was deprived of his liberty for three days and that he was not informed of the charges against him until he was arraigned in the Municipal Court. He was forced to post bail in the sum of $500 and on February 11 was acquitted by Judge Ben Koenig of the charges and released from custody.

In the complaint the minister complains that he was humiliated and embarrassed before his congregation and that he suffered irreparable damage to his reputation by virtue of the false report being circulated around that he had committed a theft.

In addition to his general damages the Rev. Townsend is asking for $350 which he was compelled to pay his attorney and $50 which he was compelled to expend as a premium for his bond. In addition to his duties as pastor of St. Mathews Temple, the Rev. Townsend is an employee of the Los Angeles County General Hospital.

Merchants' Support

I have a letter from a customer who says I must be "stupid" if I don't understand why local merchants and business men in Negro communities don't support community institutions and don't do much to help eliminate racial discrimination.

LOREN MILLER

He says it is "plain" that these merchants "want to keep segregation" and want "to keep Negroes down" because "segregation and discrimination give them a ready made list of customers who are easy to gyp." His proposed remedy is to support only Negro merchants and to "build up our own business."

I don't think the matter is

Irene Gaines Will Keynote Women's Meet

Mrs. Irene McCoy Gaines, president of the national association of Colored Women, will be the keynote speaker for the annual Citizens Conference on Human Relations May 15.

Sponsored by the Southwest region of the association, sessions will be held at the Cosmopolitan hotel, 360 S. Westlake, from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Mrs. Gaines, a Chicagoan, is serving her 12th term as president of the Chicago Council of Negro Organizations and engages in numerous civic activities. She is a social worker.

The Southwest region conference will attract delegates from Arkansas, Arizona, California, Louisville, New Mexico and Texas.

Among the committee heads planning the meet are Mrs. Mabel Gray, regional president; Mrs. Esther Keys, souvenir journal chairman; Mrs. Tecelia O. Ross, journal executive secretary; Mrs. Ella K. Mays, public relations chairman; and Dr. Maybel L. Oliver, human relations chairman.

NATIONAL PRESIDENT—Mrs. Irene McCoy Gaines, national president of the National Association of Colored Women, Inc., is in Los Angeles for the southwest regional conference of the association this weekend. She will keynote the conference at the Cosmopolitan hotel Saturday.

Planning a Motor Trip? Elephant Hide is a 'Must'

By GRACE E. SIMONS

Planning a motor trip this summer?

It's a pleasant way to spend your vacation, but here's a tip. Along with your bikini, fishing tackle and shorts, you'd better pack your best, stoutest and easiest-to-put-on elephant's hide. Chances are you'll need it.

Miller Barbour, western field director for the National Urban League, in discussing the joys and hazards of motoring, didn't put it quite that way, but that's about how it added up.

Write Ahead

Even in California and Washington, said Barbour, where conditions are relatively good and where the better hotels in the major cities will generally accept Negroes, it doesn't hurt to plan your itinerary in advance and write ahead for reservations. Better still, enclose a check with your request for rooms and ask for confirmation.

In some cases where the hotel officials have adopted excellent practices, clerks take it upon themselves to "interpret" the policy in the light of their own whims. And in such cases, it's just as well to be able to back up your request with an official confirmation.

Another helpful gadget to have around is an M.D., D.D.,

New NAACP Compton Branch Slates Meeting

The newly formed Compton branch of the NAACP will hold its next meeting May 17, 7:30 p.m., at the Abraham Lincoln School cafeteria, 704 S. Tamarind street.

Guest speaker of the evening will be Colonel C. S. Smith, market owner and newspaper publisher, who will discuss the proposed school tax increase and the school unification issue in Compton.

Jessie L. Robinson, president of the branch, urges all interested residents in Compton, Willowbrook and Enterprise to make a special effort to attend the informative meeting.

Plan Survey of Negro Jobless

A survey of the extent and degree of Negro unemployment has been requested by the regional office of the NAACP from each of its more than 90 branches throughout the seven western states.

In commenting upon the survey, Tarea Hall Pittman, field secretary for the Association, stated that the organization was especially interested in cases where Negro workers at government installations had been dismissed or refused promotion or suspended for trivial or invalid reasons.

Walter Gordon Endorsed by AME Pastors

The AME Ministers Alliance, comprising some 40 churches in Los Angeles county, at a meeting Tuesday at the 8th and Towne church, unanimously endorsed Atty. Walter L. Gordon for State Assemblyman in the hotly contested 62nd district. The Alliance also endorsed John C. Doran for sheriff.

The group undertook to urge the entire constituency to support these men at the polls in the June 8 primary.

Atty. Gordon appeared before the Alliance Tuesday and gave a forceful presentation of his views and reviewed his qualifications for the office. A Republican, who has cross-filed on the Democratic ticket, Gordon emphasized in his speech that what is important in the forthcoming election is the man rather than the party label.

One of the best known and most able attorneys in Los Angeles, Gordon has been actively campaigning for the Assembly ever since the first of the year. His supporters feel that his clear, sharply trained mind, plus his active concern for community problems, fit him exceptionally well for the challenge on his home and church. Then, Lundy said, he would lay out bundles of cash on a table and tell the minister to take any amount he desired.

Sign Papers

After the pastor had chosen amounts ranging from $300 to $1700, he would sign papers which included a work completed form. When the payment book came from United Credits, the minister learned to his sorrow that he was in debt way over his neck.

Reverend Smith, for example, borrowed $1700 and discovered later that he owed $4725.08. And he never got any work done on his property. Complaints were made to the District Attorney's office last June.

The U. S. Department of Justice verified reports that agents were investigating the construction and credit companies. U. S. Atty. Laughlin E. Waters said the case had been pending in his office for several months.

THURGOOD MARSHALL

Mass Meeting to Close NAACP Members Drive

Thurgood Marshall, prominent civil rights lawyer who has piloted the famous school equality cases to the Supreme Court, will be the principal speaker at a mass meeting Wednesday, May 19, which will mark the official closing of the NAACP 1954 membership campaign.

The meeting has been scheduled for 8 p.m. at the Zion Hill Baptist church, 51st street and McKinley avenue.

In discussing the meeting, Dr. J. F. Evans, chairman of the membership campaign, pointed out that the "progress made by Negro Americans has been possible through the united efforts of thousands of citizens who comprise the NAACP."

Dr. Evans urged everyone to pay up their membership dues this week, so that all names can be included in the final report that will be made Wednesday.

At the meeting special recognition will be given to outstanding teams in the campaign, as well as to individual pace-setters and all life members of the branch.

Judge Bans Race Schools In Arizona

PHOENIX, Ariz. — On the grounds that segregated schools perpetuate "superiority-inferiority values," a superior court judge here last week ruled that jim-crow elementary schools are unconstitutional and cannot be permitted in Arizona.

The Caricopa County attorney followed this up immediately with a ruling that school boards cannot legally spend money to mantain separate schools for Negroes. The decision follows by one year a similar decision banning segregation in Arizona high schools.

Asked to Resign

The test case was brought by Negro parents in the Wilson district just outside of Phoenix. Immediately following the trial, two teachers in Wilson's Negro school charged that they were asked to resign. The two, Mrs. Melba Wilson and James Day, stated that Superintendent G. S. Skiff told them their contracts would not be renewed unless jim-crow schools continued. Mrs. Wilson also claimed that Skiff told her: "If segregation were permitted to continue, I would be the first to be considered for employment next year."

No Authority

The decision, handed down by Judge Charles C. Bernstein, stated:

"The school board does not have authority, because the State Legislature has not conferred power upon the school board, to establish separate schools for, the education of white and colored children.

"A segregated educative system is likely to transmit to each succeeding generation the superiority - inferiority value attitudes of a racially conscious society."

NAACP Plans All-Out Fight in Holman Case

SAN FRANCISCO—The NAACP will take whatever action is possible to re-open the case of George Holman and will "stay with it" until Holman has been freed, according to Franklin H. Williams, secretary-counsel of the association.

Holman has been in San Quentin for the past 10 years following his conviction of multiple murder as a result of the New Amsterdam hotel fire in San Francisco in which 22 people lost their lives.

The case was brought to public attention recently when the Rev. Hamilton Boswell, pastor of the Jones Methodist Church, declared he believed Holman innocent and asked the association to intervene.

Williams made his announcement after he and Atty. Joseph G. Kennedy interviewed Holman for two hours at San Quentin. Holman has consistently maintained that he is not guilty.

Headquarters For Redding Opened Tues.

A large and enthusiastic crowd greeted the opening of the Ned Redding headquarters, 4109 S. Central avenue, Tuesday night. Redding is running for Congress against Jimmy Roosevelt of the "kiss and tell" letters.

Redding roused the crowd to spontaneous applause when he came out unequivocally for equal employment opportunities and some kind of federal legislation to achieve the goal.

The jam-packed headquarters heard the candidate for Congress in the 26th district take a straight-forward position on the important question of job opportunities.

Redding also came out for low-cost public housing, aid for senior citizens and a full employment program.

After the meeting, Redding declared that he was interested in district representation for voters of the 26th district and would welcome any suggestions from voters of the district.

Redding has a long history of community service in the district. He is active in the Kiwanis movement, sponsors an athletic award banquet at Jordan high school, and is generally active in the community.

Launch Attack On Jim Crow In Yuma, Ariz.

YUMA, Ariz.—"Colored Trade Not Solicited" signs hung prominently in Yuma restaurants were roundly blasted here last week as the opening gun of an all-out campaign by the NAACP to overthrow the rigid jim-crow policies practiced by local businessmen and city officials.

Some of the practices that came in for condemnation by delegates to the Southwest Area Council of the NAACP are: refusal to serve; segregation in local swimming pools; discrimination in selection of teachers for schools of higher learning; absence of laws prohibiting discrimination in places of public accommodation, and absence of a fair employment law.

NAACP officials and delegates, representing numerous Arizona cities, stated that they were "subjected to the worst kind of embarrasment and humiliation" because of the signs displayed in restaurant windows throughout Yuma.

"We rarely meet with this type of unabashed bigotry outside the deep South," Franklin H. Williams, NAACP secretary-counsel of San Francisco declared.

on the basis of color violates constitutional guarantees.

Negroes Excluded

"The record shows that only 50,000 of the 2,761,000 homes constructed with aid of FHA guaranteed loans from 1935 to 1950 were open to Negro occupancy," Williams told the Eagle. "That is less than two per cent. The record since that time has improved very little. We are attacking the practice of racial discrimination by builders because their practices prevent Negroes from living where they choose in homes made possible through government guarantee of loans."

Although Ming alone is named as plaintiff, he alleges that he brings the suit in behalf of all other Negroes who are in the same boat with him. Williams said the case will establish a precedent in other cases throughout the state.

FHA requires builders seeking loan guarantees to agree that they have not recorded a racial covenant on the land since Feb. 15, 1950, and that they will not record such a covenant during the life of the loan. However, FHA rules and regulations permit the builders to refuse to sell or rent to whomever they choose.

Williams pointed to Lakewood, California's newest city, as an example of what is happening under the FHA program. Builders there, as elsewhere, have refused to sell or rent to Negroes, Mexicans or Orientals. "The result is a lily white city made possible by government aid through FHA loans," he said.

Lesson for Los Angeles

Until January of this year, Pittsburgh, Pa., confined its Negro firemen to two stations.

All Negro officers were assigned to those stations and every effort to make a change had been met with predictions of dire disaster and with assertions that white firemen would quit rather than serve with Negroes or under Negro officers. Sounds familiar, doesn't it?

Pittsburgh finally took the bull by the horns. The head of the department announced that racial segregation was going to end.

Negro firemen were shifted to other stations. White firemen were transferred into the two stations formerly completely manned by Negroes. Negro officers were left at one of the stations and, of course, the fire fighters who came in went under their command. Other Negro officers went to other stations to command mixed crews.

The world didn't come to an end.

White firemen didn't quit or strike.

Nothing happened! Nothing!

There's a lesson in that for Los Angeles.

We are convinced that the tall talk of wholesale resignations from the Los Angeles Fire Department in the event of integration is just so much hogwash spread by Fire Chief Alderson, who loves Jim Crow more than he does the democratic way of life.

We heard this same kind of wild talk when the Supreme Court outlawed segregation in graduate schools in the South and when it struck down white primaries. Blood would run in the streets, the reactionaries wailed. Students wouldn't stand for it, the Dixiecrats wailed. Parents would withdraw their children, the segregationists yelled from the house tops. Negroes who dared to vote would be mobbed, the politicians yammered.

None of these evils materialized.

We know that Los Angeles firemen are just as sensible as firemen in Pittsburgh and just as sane as Southerners who have lived with Jim Crow all their lives.

Many Los Angeles firemen served in the armed forces with Negroes.

Most of them have gone to school with Negroes.

They're Americans.

They're civil service servants.

They know that segregation isn't compatible with the American way of life.

They know that civil service has no place for racial segregation.

It's time for Chief Alderson and the Fire Commissioners to quit trying to blame the rank and file of firemen for their worn-out Jim Crow policies.

The fault isn't in the firemen. It is in Chief Alderson and in the Commissioners.

And it is high time that the chief and the commissioners stopped subverting the law and the public policy of this state to serve their own prejudices.

If they don't want to observe their oath they should have the decency to step down and let some law-abiding citizens take their places.

New Housing Test

The NAACP is on the right track in filing a suit to test racial discrimination by builders who get FHA guarantees for home construction. Such a suit has been filed in Sacramento.

These builders claim the right to exclude Americans from the purchase or rental of homes, solely on the basis of race or place of national origin.

The fruits of their discriminatory policy may be seen in Lakewood, our newest city, which is lily white by choice of builders and by consent of government which guaranteed the loans that made the construction possible.

It is quite true that FHA doesn't lend money for home construction. What it does do is to guarantee the lender that if the builder doesn't pay the loan the government will step in and foot the bill.

That means that the credit of every taxpayer — Negro, Mexican-American, Oriental and white alike —is pledged. There is no reason why any of these groups should be excluded from the housing that his credit has made possible.

This fight may be a long and costly one but we're sure that the Constitution doesn't sanction this kind of discrimination and that the courts will say so.

McDonough Has Changed

The Fifteenth Congressional District needs a new deal. Gordon L. McDonough has long since outlived his usefulness. He is being opposed by Frank O'Sullivan who is as liberal as McDonough used to be on the issues of prime interest to Negro voters.

The McDonough record as compiled by the NAACP shows that he has turned against FEPC and that he voted to lodge power in the House Rules Committee to bottle up legislation.

The Rules Committee has been sabotaging civil rights bills for years by refusing to bring them out on the floor where they would receive a majority. It has done the same to other social legislation. House members curbed the Rules Committee's power in 1948 but reactionary Republicans and Democrats ganged up to restore it to its old position in 1952.

The NAACP fought the move bitterly but nothing it could do or say moved McDonough. Once a liberal as a supervisor and during his first congressional terms, McDonough has now reached the point where he votes with the Dixiecrats.

O'Sullivan is one of the founders of USC's interracial fraternity. He is outspoken on civil rights. His generally liberal stand reflects an attitude attuned to the needs of his district. We urge Fifteenth District voters to cast their ballots for O'Sullivan for Congress on June 8.

Vote On June 8th

Primary election day is just around the corner—it's June 8.

If past experience is any guide, less than half of those who are eligible will bother to cast their ballots on that day.

The rest will stay home and spend the rest of the year complaining about the low quality of representation in state and federal offices.

They won't take time to vote or will forget all about it or just won't bother.

If California was one of those states that sought to curtail the voting privilege on the basis of race, we could fill the Shrine Auditorium with a protest meeting. Oratory would flow. The audience would shout and stamp its approval of every demand that all racial barriers be abolished.

We don't have to go through all that. The ballot box is open to everybody who had the good judgment to register.

You'll show what kind of a citizen you are by whether you stay home or vote on June 8.

A Good Appointment

Most of us in Los Angeles have known Fay Jackson so long that we're sorry to lose her even while we're glad to learn that she has received a federal appointment.

Her long service to the Republican Party and her undoubted ability made her a natural choice for an important place in the Eisenhower administration. We know that she will do a good job and that she will prove what some Americans still don't know: that merit has nothing to do with race or color.

We congratulate Fay Jackson on her new job and the Republicans for having the good sense to use her talents.

Pure and Simple

By L. F. Palmer Jr.

See by the papers that it's costing us taxpayers $1700 per day to stage the McCarthy hearings. Or is it $17,000? It really doesn't matter to the budget boys since it's just our money they are spending.

All that dough and all those words just to find out if some rich guy got special treatment in the army. How silly can you get? Everybody knows that all you had to have was just one special talent and you got the red carpet rolled out for you when you put on those dear ole olive drabs.

Take Pvt. X from my company. (Let's be real mysterious about this thing.) Well, he was just another guy when he put on a uniform until Uncle Sam discovered he was one of approximately a hundred or so Americans who could speak, read and write Japanese.

Red Carpet

Pvt. X became an overnight sensation. He was a celebrity. So the army rolled out that red carpet, plush lined, for him. They gave him a job unloading ships down at the dock.

Then there was this guy, Pfc. Y. In civilian life he was an up-and-coming civil rights lawyer. Dedicated to the cause. So the Army took him and sent him to the Judge Advocate's school where he learned all about army law—courts-martial and stuff. After almost a year as a student-soldier, they assigned him to the motor pool, as a grease checker, no less.

The case of Pvt. Z is especially called to the attention of the distinguished Senatorial investigators. This particular gentleman was head men's room attendant in a top New York hotel until he was rudely thrown among the hoi-poloi of the U.S. Army. But, he had connections.

Made Corporal

I have documentary proof that the hotel's vice-president in charge of men's rooms threatened to have my camp commander's maid fired unless he saw to it that Pvt. Z was made a Corporal and placed in charge of all latrines (Johns, heads, bathrooms).

Seems the commander's maid was first rate so Pvt. Z became Cpl. Z and he set up shop in Headquarters latrine.

And speaking of coddling athletes! You ain't heard nothing yet. The reception that Sgt. P got when he arrived at my post of duty was a lulu. He was met at the station by the top brass who brought along a band, some imported majorettes, a Cadillac convertible and a couple of model models.

A Lieutenant was assigned to carry the Sergeant's duffel bag and a Captain to transport a small gold case which contained a specially prepared deck of playing cards (marked, no doubt). Seems the noted soldier was the nation's pinhocle champion.

Manly Game

He was assigned to the officers quarters where all he did to aid the war effort was to teach officers and their ladies the manly game of pinhocle.

I could go on and on. I watched this daily game of favoritism and coddling as I fumed from my back breaking job of rack-boy for the third pool table, left, rear, in the rec hall.

Shucks, the tales I could tell. And I'd talk for free. If anybody'd just ask me. I could save the government that $1700 per day. Or is it $17,000?

Battleaxe and Bread

By Lester B. Granger

Last week I spent two days in Washington, talking about the problem of "wet-backs." Actually, this wasn't the whole problem under discussion, since the meeting was on the subject of seasonal farm labor, but wet-backs took up a large part of the talking-time — and were indirectly the reason for the meeting being held.

Lester Granger

A wet-back, as most newspaper readers now know, is a Mexican worker who has entered this country illegally. He is believed, in most cases, to slip across the border at night, getting his back wet in the process of wading across the Rio Grande. Once across, he slips into one of the many large Mexican communities to be found in South Texas cities.

From there, he and his wet-back brothers fan out across the South West, finding jobs on farms and ranches and making two or three times the wages they would back home, even when they work for less than the going American rate for farm hands.

Serious Problem

Wet-backs have gotten to be a serious labor problem, so much so that organized labor is making strenuous demands for the government to find some means of putting an end to this widespread illegal entry of Mexican nationals. So far, labor's protests haven't produced much result.

The latest estimate is that at least one million, and possibly two million wet-backs come into this country in the course of a year. Some stay during the farming season and then go back home, to slip over again next year. Some stay for two or three years—provided the immigration service officers don't catch up with them—and return home to invest their savings in a piece of Mexican real estate.

Still others manage to find steady jobs, get married, move to Chicago or Detroit or some other industrial center, and settle down as permanent residents, once their seven years of successful ducking and dodging are over.

Employers Encourage

It's understandable that labor leaders should be indignant about this situation. They hold that many wet-backs work for little or nothing, thus undercutting wage rates for American labor. This is bad enough in boom periods; in periods of job lay-offs and wage retrenchment the danger doubles and triples. So why isn't something done about the problem, is a natural question.

It isn't that easy. In the first place, it's a hundred times easier for a thousand wet-backs to slip into this country than it is for immigration service officers to catch a hundred of them and ship them back home. And when they are caught and shipped, there is nothing to stop them from turning right around and coming back the next dark night.

In the second place, wet-back labor is encouraged by hundreds and hundreds of farm employers who claim that there isn't enough American labor to take care of their short-term seasonal worker needs. These will cheerfully hire any and every able-bodied Mexican who shows up, with or without proof of legal entry.

Work For Less

Our government makes provision for about 250,000 Mexican nationals who come in legally, under contract to work for agreed wages and to be returned home at the employer's expense when the contract expires. The trouble is that these contract workers are paid the prevailing wage in a given area; they are protected in their rights by our own Labor Department and the Mexican consulates. Any employer who welshes on his agreement can find himself in serious trouble.

So many employers much prefer to hire these wet-back boys who show up with the same skills but ask less money. They hire them for the sugar-beet crop, apple-picking, cotton-picking—for all the seasonal farm jobs that involve heavy labor, long hours of stooping over, and at pay that any American worker would scorn to accept. That's the way the wet-back problem started—and why it gets more and more serious every year. And it's easy to see why colored Americans have a stake of interest in the problem.

One Man's Opinion

By LEON STEWARD

In an effort to aid young Negroes secure medical education, the Medical, Dental and Pharmaceutical Assn. made a big place for themselves in our local community in the entertainment field. Or were you there Saturday night a week ago when such folks as Dr. H. H. Towles, N. A. Fearonce, B. L. Boswell and William Bailey were cavorting in a chorus singing special lyrics to "It Ain't Necessarily So" and with gusto. That was their first annual Variety Show. It was held at Bovard Auditorium (USC), which was packed as far as we could see. And the crowd could hardly listen for laughing.

Leon Steward

Dr. Lincoln Shumate started the show off with a bit of shuffling or tap dancing as "Mr. Tiptoe." He later came forward with a tango with Mrs. Glenna Hayes. Glamour swept the stage when Mrs. Edwina Fearonce sang "Can't Help Loving That Man." Mrs. Marie Frederics and Mrs. Geneva Wallace, accompanied by Mrs. Laura Smitherman at the piano, sang "Lost in Lovliness" from "The Girl in Pink Tights."

Dr. Cruzat Scores

Dr. Roscoe Cruzat sang from Pagliacci and scored. Mrs. Geraldine Woods and Dr. Wayman G. McCoo pleased greatly with an Apache dance as did the same doctor in singing and interpreting "Stranger in Paradise." Dr. Oner Barker proved a pianist of parts in rendering three Chopin preludes and Rachmaninoff's "Prelude in C Sharp Minor."

Dr. Mary H. McCoo did a monologue, "A Proposal of Marriage" just like a professional would.

And the Medical Melodeers, consisting of Drs. George Thorne and J. Phyromn Taylor, tenors, and Wayman McCoo, baritone, and Herbert Sheen, bass, made a real hit . . . as did soloist Dr. B. L. Boswell, who brought the house down singing "I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now." All of those who were old enough joined him in the repeat chorus . . . and Otis Rene, ASCAP composer who sang songs he had written and sung of other occasions in his wide experience. The throng enjoyed Dr. Charles Brown's rendition of James Weldon Johnson's "The Creation," and Drs. Leroy Weeks, violin, Wm. E. Bailey cello and Thomas Roy Peyton in "Chamber Music."

Some Good Skits

"The Screen" was a fetching comedy enacted by Mesdames Vivian Thorne and Davine Carney and Drs. Wm. H. Atkinson and Howard Allen, with a script by Mrs. Marjorie McPherson. "Tears and a Dream," written by Mrs. Joyce Cockrell, made a big splash of success with Dr. H. H. Towles and his good wife as the king and queen of Hawaii and a cast which included Mesdames Doris Robinson, Cadence Hines, Janice Edwards, Maggie Rawls, Alice Foster, Lillian Sanford, Vionetta Battiste, Emily Portwig and others. Otis Rene was aided by fellow druggist Jack Bratton, cornetist and Mesdames Martha Gantt and Mrs. Rene in a drug store skit featuring a song, "The Drug Store Blues," which Mr. Rene composed.

We could not overlook such "stars" as Dr. D. Overstreet Gray and his piano, plus Mr. Bratton. Nor would it be fair not to recall that the doctors heaped praise upon and presented Messrs. Flennoy E. Miller and Jester Hairston who directed the show, and Charles Lawrence and His Combo for their musical support.

It was indeed an enjoyable affair and we are sure that the medics will have to find a larger place than "Bovard" for next year's Variety Show.

Tough Skin Helpful

The hotel situation on the coast, said Barbour, is fairly good. As for motels, the picture there is improving. Some places you'll have no trouble, whereas in others you'll probably be able to obtain accommodations if you're persistent. At least that is so in the larger towns. But it's when you're motel-hunting that the elephant's hide will come in quite handy.

Barbour advised starting rather early in the afternoon to find a place for the night. Where there are a fair number of motels, he said, you will usually find at least one that will accept Negroes. If the first place turns you down, try the next one. You'll undoubtedly be successful, if your patience holds out.

Advice Is 'Don't'

With regard to trying the smaller towns, especially in the cow counties, the advice is "don't." Even the elephant's hide won't help there. You'll just have to drive on until you find a more hospitable climate.

But if you get a little discouraged about California, you'd certainly better skirt gingerly around some of the mid-mountain states, and most emphatically you'd better leave your trailer behind.

Barbour tells of one of his experiences some months back in Salt Lake City, Utah, when he was traveling with a trailer in tow. He was turned down at the first trailer court, and the second. In fact he was turned down at every trailer court he was able to locate.

Called For Help

Finally, he decided to call for help. He found a 20-minute parking zone on the street, parked his car, got out and telephoned the police. He placed his problem in their lap. They were apologetic but couldn't come up with any helpful suggestions. He got the impression, though, that they wouldn't be too anxious to give him a parking ticket.

Forty-eight hours later he returned to his car and trailer which he had left in the 20-minute zone. He got in and drove away. Police had managed not to see the offending vehicle in the two-day period.

Bright Spots

But the picture isn't entirely discouraging. There are many bright spots, motel-wise and hotel-wise, if you know where to find them.

Next week we will deal in more detail with specific information on where it's easy and pleasant to find accommodations. There's a technique in traveling, as in most other things, and if you know the ropes and how to avoid the pitfalls, it can be a lot of fun.

that simple. The lack of concern by merchants is more due to an entire failure to identify themselves with the problems of their customers and to (they'll deny this) an unconscious acceptance of the current belief in inferiority of Negroes.

The lack of identification with their customers' problems is easily seen. They don't belong to local churches. They don't participate in the Urban League or the NAACP, even when they're nominal members. They don't participate in any community organizations for that matter. There isn't now and there has never been a going local Chamber of Commerce.

Lack of Concern

Back of that lack of concern with local problems lies the fact that these merchants don't live among us. Their children don't attend local schools, or belong to local Boy Scout troops. The merchants' wives don't belong to local P-TAs.

If their kids went to local schools they would be concerned about those schools and about playgrounds and about other recreational facilities. If they lived in the communities in which their businesses were located they would be on their toes to see to it that the communities had better police protection, cleaner streets and other things that go to make life better. They don't live here so they don't care.

And they don't live here because residential segregation is part of the American pattern. They subscribe to it without thinking, and accept it without protest.

Just Don't Care

These merchants lack concern about fair employment laws because they themselves are pretty lax in the matter. Oh, I know most community stores have a Negro employe, or two. But take a look at the managers and the supervisors. Is it an accident that there are few Negroes in these positions, except in the chain stores? I doubt it. Here again the merchant goes along with current practices. He accepts (even while he denies it to his customers), the prevailing belief that Negroes aren't quite up to holding top positions.

All of this adds up to the fact that while the local merchant may not believe in segregation or discrimination, as such, he helps these twin evils along by his practices. The problem is how to jar them out of their complacent attitude and how to convince them they have a duty to their customers.

Facts and Figures

That isn't easy but I am a great believer in facts and figures. I think it would make interesting reading for the NAACP and the Urban League to publicize the list of contributors and members and another directory of local merchants, their addresses and their participation, or lack of it, in community affairs.

Furnished with such information, the customers could decide which of the merchants deserve patronage and which do not. I would like to publish the information.

O. L. Jaggers To Appear at Savoy Theater

Dr. O. L. Jaggers, famed radio and television pastor of the World church in Los Angeles, will appear at the Savoy theater 54th and Central, May 19 and 20 at 7:30 p.m.

The service is sponsored by the Edmonds Gospel temple of which the Rev. Anita L. Edmonds is pastor. Dr. Jaggers began his divine healing ministry here in 1952 at Calvary temple.

Miraculous healings have been reported in his services. Rev. Edmonds urges all who are afflicted to come to these meetings and see God work for this man.

Many famed gospel singers will appear, including the Ford singers, the Gospel Fire Balls, with Miss Gwendolyn Cooper at the piano.

Rev. Washington At St. John's

St. John Baptist Church of Palm Springs had regular service Sunday morning which included a Mother's day program during the afternoon. During the week Reverend Washington from Oxnard was the guest speaker when the church carried on a five night spiritual revival.

Rev. T. H. Reagan is pastor of St. John and Mary Gate is church clerk and Shirley Phillips is reporter.

Gospel Singers At Fellowship

Rev. M. M. Jones, pastor of the Greater Fellowship Baptist Church at 3330 S. San Pedro street, preached a wonderful Mother's Day sermon which was enjoyed by all.

Hazel King Jones, booking manager for gospel groups and radio broadcasts, will present the Moonlight Singers of San Pedro as their guests, also the Ever Ready singers along with the Fisher Brothers will complete the program.

Also featured will be the famous Mt. Sinai Choir in several numbers, as well as other nationally known artists. Efforts are being made to line up a number of Hollywood's greatest personalities who will make personal appearances on Sunday's program.

AME Laymen Annual Revival At 2nd Church

"Jesus Christ, the Hope of the World" was the theme of the annual revival Sunday of the Southern California Conference of the Laymen's Organization of the African Methodist Episcopal church May 2 at Second AME church, 213 E. 43rd st.

The meeting was led by Evangelist Eddie Ross. An organ prelude was played by Mrs. Lois Foley of Second AME church. R. R. Wright, III, of Second AME, offered the call to worship and Mrs. Cora Fanner gave the invocation. She is president of the Stewardess' Alliance of the conference.

Evangelist Nicie Edwards of First AME read the scripture and Philip M. Robinson, president of the Laymen's organization, gave the decalogue.

The Altar Meditation was brought by the Rev. Effie Harris and music was presented by Mrs. Ida Countee of Ward AME, Edward Shaw of Ward AME and Mrs. Angie Shivers of Bethel AME.

Henry H. Pettigrew of Walker Temple AME delivered the message and the Rev. Jerry Ford of Second AME, the invitation.

A move to encourage the saying of Grace before meals has won the endorsement of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Los Angeles.

Rev. J. Owens Exhibits Work In Art Festival

Rev. John H. Owens of 1478 W. 37th St., T Sgt. and acting staff adjutant of the Air Force auxiliary, Squadron 7, was invited by the Rev. Stephen A. Fritchman, pastor of the First Unitarian church, to exhibit in the third annual Festival of The Arts, sponsored by the church.

Rev. Owens submitted three entries in the cartoon-print category, two of the prints being humorous cartoons and the third a serious one on Hitlerism and racial bigotry entitled: "Not Dead Yet." The work was in black and white with a touch of color-guache overtones.

Two years ago, Rev. Owens exhibited in the art festival sponsored by the Municipal Art commission of the City of Los Angeles. It was on the general theme of peace. The work was purchased by the Italian artist Scartilla and taken back to Italy.

A graduate of Los Angeles City college, Rev. Owens pursued some art work there to balance off the heavy studies in physics and engineering mathematics.

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Find Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name Preparation H.® The price is only 98¢ a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember—if not entirely satisfied—your money will be refunded promptly. ®Trade Mark.

HEAT'S ON JEFF IN CITY SPIKE PRELIMS

Prying Pye

By Brad Pye, Jr.

IS THIS JEFF'S WEAKEST SPIKE BRIGADE?—

The so-called experts and local prep prognosticators have dubbed Estel Johnson and John Childress' current cinder brigade as the "weakest in recent years. This is hard for this column conductor to swallow.

Let's take a look at the record. Sprinters Ed Walter and Joe Winslow have both bettered 10-flat and 22 seconds. . . . Cliff Smart, the high hurdler, before his illness was flirting with the school record of 14.7 held jointly by Paul Johnson and Maurice Hill of the '49 outfit.

Half-miler Albert "Flying Irishman" McDade (1:58.7) and James "Duck" Davis, the miler (4:31.9), should be rated with the all-time greats in their events.

No other Jeff miler since '46 has ran any faster than Davis. If our memory is working, even the fabulous Mal Whitfield, in his undergraduate days at Jeff, didn't top McDade's mark.

Broad jumper-shot putter Joel Stafford's marks of 23-7 (city's best) and his put over 56 feet would undoubtedly earn him representation on any Jeff team of the past. . . . High jumper John Thomas' 6-5 and a fraction effort is one of the best performances ever turned in by a Demo high jumper.

RATES WITH ALL-TIME GREATS—

We agree Jeff's present relay squad, the quarter-milers and one or two other events aren't as strong as they usually are. However, it's our considered opinion the only squad in the last 20 years the aforementioned boys would have had trouble making would've been the '50 outfit which featured such headliners as Lawrence "Teddy Bear" Williams, Guy Balckburn, Jr., Gary Green, Lang Stanley, William Johnson, Art Scott et al. . . . Could it be Jeff's opposition today isn't what it used to be? Has it gotten better? . . . The record indicates this is the case. . . . This so-called "weakest team in recent years" wrapped up the Dixie loop crown last week in fine fashion.

The present Jeff spikers may be the weakest in recent years as the experts emphasize. . . . It's our hunch when the '54 season is history, the Jeff athletes won't have nothing to be ashamed of.

PYE'S PICK-UPS—

Pfc. Gilbert Strange, a Class C city champion at Poly High in the '40s, is currently competing in the sprints for the USMC's spike team at Camp Pendelton.

Omegas Win Frat Series

By BRAD PYE, JR.

The final game of the 22nd Annual Inter-Frat Series between Gene Williams' scrappy Kappas and Fred Griffin's come-through Omega five went into two overtimes before the latter could wrap up the 1954 championship as a standing room crowd looked on at Loyola High Saturday.

The Kappas all but had the victory in their hip pocket in the regular game when the brilliant Dallas Perkins put them out front 73-71 with two points and a free throw.

However Omega man Charles Hill, the same lad who saved the night for them last week, got away with less than five seconds remaining to tied the score at 73-73.

In the first overtime the Omegas built up a six-point lead and looked as though they were off for the races.

However, timely buckets by Perkins, before he left the contest during this period via the foul route, Fenton Gilmer, Pete O'Gara, cagey Cornelius Barnes and Dave Williams enabled the red shirted athletes to tie the Omegas 85-85.

Playing without the services of Perkins in the final stanza the Kappas weren't any match for the effective shooting of Algin Sutton, Larry Dugan, Charles Hill, Jim Powell and Charles Reed.

This is how the scoring went: KAPPAS — Barnes 17, Gilmer 6, Ernie Hartzog 15, Ed Nichols 11, O'Gara 10, Perkins 23, D. Williams 6. OMEGAS—Dugan 32, James Gilbert 11, C. Hill 8, Reed 6, Sutton 13, Powell 25.

In the curtain raiser between the Sigmas and Alphas it was the same old story. Sigmas 78—Alphas 63. John Barber, the big Alpha star, copped high point laurels with 28 rossing out Sigma Ernie Bond by three points for the honor.

The other point producers were: ALPHAS—David Butler 2, Hugo Hill 11, Kenneth Hill 15, Clayton Moore 2, Watson 3, and B. Hill 2.

SIGMAS—Fred Batiste 2, Fred Bluett 1, Isiah Thomas 6, Leroy Mims 10, Len Pollard 5, Robert Pounds 12, Wallace Pounds 13, Art Spencer 2, and Clyde Thomas 3.

The Omegas will meet the winner of the northern California Frat Series. Time and place will be announced shortly.

SPORTS

PRIZE PUPIL—Charlie Powell, 6-3, 216-pound, erstwhile S.F. 49er grid ace, makes his debut as a main-eventer against Harlan Kelley this Monday night at the Olympic Auditorium. Powell has been hitting his stride under the capable management of Suey Welch, well-known local sports figure.

Kids Hail South Park Feast

More than 800 boys and girls and adults enjoyed themselves at South Park Saturday. Picnic, track meet and a baseball game was on hand.

Coach Ward's L.A. "Sluggers" started the day off by soundly defeating the Fresno "Stars" in a morning baseball game. Thus the Sluggers carried their winning streak to four (4) straight games.

The track meet, which was a hotly contested affair, assures South Park as a strong contender in the Junior Olympics. Times in the dashes and the relays proved to be very fast. The broad jump in the junior division was better than 19 feet.

Following the track meet, the picnic, sponsored by the "Buddah Market," served the "young and old" climaxing the day of activity. Plenty of "free' hot dogs, potato salad, pop, potato chips and punch made it a big day for all.

A similar day of festivity will be held when South Park presents its May Day program on May 20th at 4:30 p.m. Make this a must on your calendar—"Sleeping Beauty" is the theme this year.

BEAUTIFUL CALIENTE IN OLD MEXICO:

THE CHAMPIONS AT THE PAST BAY MEADOWS meeting, Willy Harmatz and George Taniguchi, were forced to take a back seat to a pair of Caliente regulars, Jose Olguin and Wayne Burgin, in last Sunday's program of 12 races.

RAMSEY

Harmatz, who was the leading jockey at the Bay Meadows meeting, scored only one winner out of the five mounts he had. His winner was Princess Lupe, the hot favorite in the third race. She paid $4.00.

George Taniguchi, the Japanese-American who was a sensation at the northern track, failed to score a win out of his four mounts. Although he had Fast and Fancy up to be second in the sixth race to pay $9.40 a place and $7.00 fo the show.

HOLLYWOOD PARK

One of the most beautiful race courses in the world will open its thirteenth season Friday, May 14th, for 50 days of racing. Some of the greatest handicap horses seen in these parts in many years will be on hand to contest for the rich stakes Hollywood Park has offered to the horsemen .The track of lakes and flowers with its pretty goose girl and imported swans will be host to the lovers of the sport of kings until the closing day July 24th. The feature for the opening will be the Hollywood Premiere Handicap at six furlongs for 3-year-old and up. It carries an added value of $25,CCO, and on Saturday, May 15th, the Will Rogers Stakes for 3-year-old colts and geldings will be the main attraction. It's also a six furlong dash, and carries an added value of $25,0CO. An expected crowd of 40,000 will welcome back thoroughbred racing to Southern California.

BIG CATCH—Charles Williams, member of the Western Rod and Gun club, hauls in a big one during the club's recent annual ocean fishing trip.

Jordan, Manual Threat to Demos' 'Weakest' Trackmen

By BRAD PYE, JR.

Jefferson High's 1954 edition of tracksters, reputed to be the weakest in recent years, bid for greatness in the city prelims in the L.A. Colisuem this Saturday.

However, the Demos' real test will not come until the night of May 21 when the all-city finals will be held in conjunction with the 14th annual Coliseum relays.

Estel Johnson and John Childress' athletes haven't lost the city title since '48 when the Jordan High Bulldogs cut them out by one point. The Demo's strongest competition is expected to come from this same Jordan High and the powerful Manual Arts High performers, who have given the Jeff spikers an awful rough time in their two meetings this semester.

Jeff's four Dixie loop champions Will Chappel, (15.1 HH); Albert "Flying Irishman" McDade, (1:58.7—880); Henry Cooks, (51.2—440) and Joel Stafford, (23' 7"—BJ), should place high in their heats in Saturday's meet.

Manual will be paced by sprint loop titlist Everett "The Horse" Jackson, (9.8, 21.5 best times to date); Earl Hall, (19.9—LH, 14.8—HH); Alfred Morris, HJ—6ft. 3¾ in.); Harry Thomas, (12-9—PV); and its crack 8-man mile relay squad.

Poly High doesn't figure to be a threat for the city championship but with Northern league quarter-mile record holder John Bowden, (49.3), and loop mile record setter Joe Washington, (4:29.7), the Parrots could come through with two individual champions.

Jordan's big guns should be student body prexy and shot put ace Dan Everage (60-2) and sprinters Booker T. Washington and Calvin Brown.

Thad Winston of L. A. who tied Dorsey's Odell Lomax in 19.6 for the second time this semester to establish a new Western record, and his unbeaten sprint mate Carl Robinson (9.8, 21.7) should shine for the Romans.

Mad Rush for Relay Tickets

Officials of the Southern California Committee for the Olympic Games, sponsors of the 14th annual Los Angeles Coliseum Relays, report a big demand for tickets to the huge trackfest as tickets went on sale this week at public agencies.

All Harris & Frank stores, plus the ticket offices of the local universities and colleges, including UCLA and USC, and the box office of the Los Angeles Coliseum are handling ticket sales.

Officers Are Installed at Lullaby Guild's Luncheon

The Lullaby Guild of the Children's Home Society was hostess at its third annual luncheon May 6 at the Cosmopolitan hotel. Mrs. Albert Maddox gave the welcome address and yearly report of the organization.

Highlights of the report were the achievements made by the group in its social work with the Children's Home Society and the community.

In January of this year the California Eagle cited this organization for outstanding achievement during 1953.

Official reports from the home state that adoption of minority children has tripled since the Lullaby Guild was organized. Its members have closely associated themselves with the home located at 3100 W. Adams blvd., and served as speakers, clerical workers, hostesses and furnished transportation to and from the clinic for the babies and boarding mothers.

Mrs. E. V. Hardimon, chairman of the Volunteer committee, was in charge of the motor corps which furnished this transportation twice each week.

Mrs. Maddox announced that a benefit to be given in October of this year will be an added project of the guild.

Mrs. Wayne Howard installed the officers. Using a beautiful large doll of her own, she presented it to the guild and christened it "Miss Lullaby Guild," appointing the president its godmother. Officers installed were:

President, Mrs. Albert Maddox; vice-president, Mrs. Edward Atkinson, Jr.; recording secretary, Mrs. Paul Landacre; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Laura Slayton; treasurer, Mrs. Norman Houston; (stand-in, Mrs. Ernest Weaver).

Les Bon Amis Club Fetes Mothers on Their Big Day

A tribute was paid to mothers on May 9 at the Victoria avenue home of Mrs. I. J. Franklin.

Members of the "Les Bon Amis" club staged a Mother's Day Tea in a very attractive setting in color schemes of pale blue and yellow with after-five fashions being very well displayed.

Members responsible for this gala occasion were Misses Lenore Thomas, Patricia Alexander, Margaret Bird, Jurrie Emerson, Thelma Graham and Claudia Brady, who is a former member.

The honored guest speaker was Chukuemeka Okeke who delivered a Mother's Day message concerning "Sociological Meaning of Mother's Day in West Africa." Okeke is director of South West Area Counsel for International Students and also a public administrator attending U.S.C. doing graduate work.

Among those present were Mmes. I. J. Franklin, Thomas E. Brady, J. L. Rivers, A. Brooks, Inez Miles, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil C. Price, Mr .and Mrs. Lloyd Johnson and others.

By 'KENNY' SCOTT

One of the most persistent fallacies of modern bridge is the fallacy of no-trump distribution. Among new and old players the cry is heard, "You didn't have no-trump distribution." We suppose that this fallacy arose under the more or less natural assumption that the fewer cards that one held in a suit the more the opponents held, and in no-trump they would be able to establish this suit and defeat the contract.

The classic no-trump distribution is 4-3-3-3. This is a perfectly balanced hand. Then 4-4-3-2 and even 5-3-3-2 distributions were allowed although against great opposition. If the reasons for playing contracts at no-trump were fully appreciated, it would be evident that there is actually no such thing as no-trump distribution.

Classic Example

In playing no-trump contracts it is necessary to have each suit stopped once. As we said last week, there are two types of no-trump hands, those which take their tricks in all suits, and those which take the majority of their tricks in one suit. These lattre type hands may hold singletons or voids so long as they know their partners can stop these suits and then play their long suit to fulfil the contract.

A classic example is a hand we held one day which was void in spades.

H. Axxx
D. AKQxxx
C. KQx

Blackwood Convention established the fact that partner held both aces and one king. Six no-trump is now the correct bid. The few who bid it received top scores. Six diamonds was also possible to make, but of course scored less.

Hands such as this can also play three no-trump.

S. KQx
H. x
D. Q10x
C. AKQxxx

After partner has bid the heart suit three no-trump is the logical thought and probably the best contract. The club suit should produce six tricks and three others will most likely be found.

Made Easily

We should like to show this hand again. It was used last week as the South hand.

S. 3
H. Q76
D. QJ75
C. KQJ94

With East and West passing throughout, North opened one spade, South bid two clubs, North bid two hearts, and South bid three no-trump. Note that this hand is not nearly so good as the one just above. Yet three no-trump was made easily.

With long minor suits think of no-trump before minor suit contracts. For reasons of score alone it will pay dividends.

To sum up remember that in no-trump contracts all suits must be stopped at least once between the partnership. By stopped we mean the ability to take the first or second trick in a suit. With exceptional hands third round control is acceptable.

Higher Score

As a long suit is played opponents must strip their hands, often leaving vital cards unprotected.

No-trump offers the lowest game level and trick for trick a higher score than any other contract.

A word of warning must be made before closing. Hands with two singletons or a singleton and a doubleton are almost without exception too unbalanced for no-trump play. Hands of this type must be played in a suit.

In our class Tuesday at the YWCA we discuss all phases of bridge using actual hands. We extend a cordial invitation to all to attend. Classes begin at 7:30 p.m.

Fashion-Minded Agog In Wait for Towles Review

Tickets were selling at a rapid pace this week for the mammoth and unique style review and dance FEM magazine will stage on Sunday afternoon, May 16, with the fabulously fashionable Dorothea Towles as the stellar attraction. Three to six are the appointed hours.

Speculation is rampant about the $50.000 creation Miss Towles is having flown from Paris especially for the occasion. The gown has been named FEM, after Libby Clark's new publication for women.

"Femininely Fashionable" is the exciting title Wini Orr has given the revue and according to the able newspaperwoman, who is coordinating the afternoon's festivities, the event will be the season's highlight affair. It will be held at Hollywood Canteen (Florentine Gardens), 5955 Hollywood Blvd.

Urging interested persons to immediately call RE. 2-5746 or RE. 4-3534 for tickets, Miss Orr said, "FEMininely Fashionable" would feature Rosza Glenn, triple career girl (designs, sings and sews), as guest chanteuse and Frances Gray's all-girl orchestra.

"Women guests are urged to bring an additional hat than the one they are wearing," Miss Orr said, "but it need not be milady's latest Parisian chappeau."

The afternoon will be full of surprises and there will be audience participation in several numbers.

Persons holding the $5 patrons tickets will be admitted to the elaborate cocktail party being held for Miss Towles immediately following the show, at the Pacific Town Club.

Pretty and popular members of the Sinqunon Club and the FEM girls will serve as hostesses.

VIRGINIA ROAD PTA CARNIVAL FRI., 14th

Mrs. Bessie Burke, principal of Virginia Road School, and Mrs. Ethel Behar, chairman of Parent education, are being represented at a breakfast conference on May 12 at the First Congregational church.

A Carnival of Western Style with Buz Carson and his show will be held on Friday, May 14, at the Virginia Road school. It is being sponsored by the Virginia Road P.T.A. A Variety of Games and Booths selling all types of merchandise such as Hot Dogs, Candy Cotton, Candied Apples, etc., will be featured.

Mrs. J. Naka, clipping chairman of Virginia Road P.T.A., is now vacationing at Denver, Colorado.

Mrs. A. Turner and Mrs. H. Safer represented Virginia Road P.T.A. at a Council Meeting held at Western Avenue school recently.

Slate Stars for Calendar Concert

The Servamus Club will present a Calendar concert, Sunday, May 16, at 3:30 p.m. at the First A.M.E. church, 801 Towne ave.

Faustina Johnson will act as narrator for this unique concert, whose theme will be the months of the year and the significance of each. There will be twelve participants among whom will be some of the most outstanding artists of the city.

JOY JACKSON smiles for cameraman as she reigned over May Day Festival last Thursday afternoon. Over 1000 beautifully costumed children presented a story pantomine "Recipe for Spring." Local community leaders, school teachers, principals, camp-fire and over 600 parents were very much in evidence. Pictured are: Heralds—Mary Ferguson, Carla D'Antignac; Ladies in Waiting, Patricia Guidry, Norma Bertrand, Gloria Kenchen, Diane D'Antignac; Crown Bearer, Frank Harris; Crown Queen, Edith Harris, May Basket Dancers, Sheild Burrell, Priscilla Jackson, Mary Ann Bascus, Otilie Lewis, Andra Owens and Barbara Ann Lewis. Directors are V. Johnson, L. Whaley and D. Murray.

Concert Lovers Await 'Exciting' A. Dumas Lee

Alyne Dumas Lee, Chicago soprano, will make her first West Coast appearance Sunady, May 16, at 3:30 p.m., at the McCarty Memorial Christian church, W. Adams and 11th ave.

Mrs. Lee has made two Town hall appearances, the last being in November, 1953, when she was widely acclaimed by the New York critics. She is to appear for the third time in the fall of the year after her 10 weeks concert tour in Europe, which will begin shortly after her Los Angeles engagement.

Mrs. Lee possesses one of the most remarkable soprano voices on the cincert stage today. Adjectives such as "tremendous," "thrilling," "deeply moving," "spectacular," and "sensational" come easily to the lips of those who have heard her sing.

In the Sunday recital Mrs. Lee is opening with three numbers by Handel and in her last group she sings for spirituals which have been arranged by the well-known Hall Johnson, Los Angeles resident.

Mrs. Lee is being accompanied by Perry W. Beach, who holds a Ph.D. and is a music instructor at the Emmanuel Missionary college in Berrien Springs, Mich. Beach is also a composer and several of his works have been accepted by the music publishers, Schirmers's.

The concert is being underwritten by sponsors and patrons and those attending will have an opportunity to give an offering as donors. Proceeds are to be used for the new Berean Church Building fund.

A reception will be given for Mrs. Lee by the Artists' guild of the Berean church immediately following the concert in the church's lounge.

RECEPTION HELD

The elaborate wedding reception of Rosie King Talbert and Ira Lee, was a swanky affair Sunday afternoon, May 2, at the Henderson Community Center, 911 East 25th Street. Throngs of friends enjoyed the reception and there was no end to the many hundreds of gorgeous and beautiful gifts given to Mr. and Mrs. Lee.

This was a beautiful affair. All hostesses were dressed like dolls. Many photos were made by her son, Stanley G. Talbert. Rosie King Talbert is the youngest daughter of the late Deaconess, Mary S. King, and her father, John W. King, both members of Second Baptist church.

Town & Gown Club Seeks 'Mrs. Bronze California'

Town and Gown Social club, a group of enterprising matrons mostly known for their participation in worthy philanthropies and their fabulous fantasies — fashions — cottons and furs, depart from their usual yearly fashion show to present one of the most unique affairs the entertainment world has known.

Remembering past successes of chairing committees, the president, Mrs. Mattie Tarvin, appointed that versatile Mrs. Climentine Robertson head of planning, ably assisted by such capable workers as Mrs. Margret Cheatum, Mrs. Mona Hayes, Mrs. Bessie Speight, and Mrs. Carrie Wynn.

Although Mrs. Robertson manages a few select prenursery school babies by day and receives new borns in an exclusive Baldwin Hills hospital nights, and frequently acts as fashion model for a well known designer, Towners feel confident that their Mrs. Bronze California contest will set the entertainment world on its ears.

Equally as busy, Mrs. M. Cheatum, vocation dietetic director at Veterans hospital in Sawtelle, uses costume design as an avocation with her Otis Art Institute background studies. Mrs. Carrie Wynn, vocation physical therapist at County hospital, chooses as her avocations beauty culture and real estate.

Bessie Spright is a busy little housewife with a millinery interest which is turning into a full time job. The president, Mrs. Tarvin, finding time to check with committees, solicits ads for souvenir programs, help interview the many contestants, and still has enough enegry left to be assistant manager and saleslady in one of Beverly Hills' most exclusive gown shops.

All contestants must enter no later than June 19. Rules: Contestants must be married, living with husbands, 20 years and over, have at least one child, and be able to wear a bathing suit. The prize will be a weekend in San Francisco for winner and husband at an exclusive hotel in that city. To register, please call Mrs. C. Robertson, RE. 3-4677.

ALL-PURPOSE CLUB

The All-Purpose club held its social meeting Sunday evening at the swank home of Pauline Saltier, 9500 Defiance, last week.

Members invited their husbands to the after club meeting and enjoyed cards, games, dancing and refreshments.

The president, Jennie Wood, was guest speaker and her topic was "Mothers of Today."

BIG DANCE TO BENEFIT SANTA MONICA NAACP

The smooth dance rhythms of Marl Young and his orchestra will be featured at a spring cocktail dance sponsored by the special activities committee of the Santa Monica NAACP on Friday, May 28, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. at the Crescent Bay Masonic Hall, 1720 Broadway.

Many of the town's leading social clubs are lending their support to assure the success of the dance not only as a gala social function, but as one of the projects of the Santa Monica community to back the NAACP's Fight for Freedom program.

The dance is one of a series of projects to raise funds for the NAACP drive to eliminate all forms of legal discrimination in this country by 1963, the centennial anniversary of the Emancipation Proclamation.

Other projects on the schedule are a barbecue in the summer and a fall concert by an oultstanding Los Angeles contralto.

Committee members are Frederick Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Baugh, Mrs. Sadie Young, Mrs. Cornell Tucker, Mrs. Ruth Brown, H. L. Lawson, Mrs. Marguerite Spears. Frank Barnes and Robert Brown are advisors.

ARTHUR N. FARNHAM, Principal of Jefferson High School, receives a contribution from the Prince Hall Masons to the Alvin Echols scholarship. Making the presentation is Archie W. Herbert, president of the Past Masters', Masters' and Wardens' Association.

IF IT'S ANY NEWS TO YOU

For a brief span, we have been unable to bend elbows (in the plural sense) with the scotchin' with the soda set. And we've been sorely missed by the filet mignon and the neckbone set due to the sprain and pain we inflicted on our right arm a few twilights ago. You stargazers never told us we were riding for a fall. But we're on the mend now, after having "broke bread" with Grady Orange, the medico, and you folks can stop calling us lefty, before the Senator from Wisconsin gets any ideas. Point of order!

And while we're mentioning prime favorites among the "healing crowd" please allow us to give a nod to village newcomer Harold Anderson, the ear-nose-throat specialist who cured singing Lawrence Stone of the hassle with his "hornpipe." Anderson has new quarters at 621 E. Vernon. He and Doc Orange are nelly bout perfect medicine men.

NO FOLKS LIKE SHOW FOLKS

A friend was telling us that he was both shocked and hurt to hear of thrush Lil Green's death. He remembers the time he caught her act in a prejudiced Florida theater. When she began to chirp "In The Dark" the management lowered the lights and blacked out the house. He claims that when the lights went on again, there was no more noticeable discrimination. Now, that's what the man said!

In Istanbul where they drink wine in place of water, we have a source who claims that Jo Baker, the chanteuse, was there in concert recently, and her hair was dyed green. We're pretty sure Josie has also changed the lyric to the "Two Loves Have I" tune. She can go back to Constantiople*

Boston cream-skinned Olga James, the soprano who is preached about more in this column than any column in the country, snagged the part of Cindy Lou in the upcoming "Carmen Jones" movie. She reminds you of Leslie Caron, the French star.

What are you waiting for, if you haven't heard Nat King Cool warble "Alone Too Long?"

You may have read in the dailies where Dot Dondridge is being screen tested by an Independent Producer for the part of a white girl (the romantic lead) in a movie to be called "The Lovers" . . . Love will find a way! . . . Next week bit player Wesley Gale will feature West Indian weskits for men at his House of Caribbean Arts on Western. Crazy, man Crazy! . . . There's a big controversy going in the eastern press as to whether Eartha Kitt's "new face" will be around for a while, or whether she'll get "Montonous" . . .

Stuff Crouch still looking for a big name band to open his Savoy ballroom. Nearly everyone is booked solid for a while. Stuff, have you tried Erskine Hawkins or Buddy Johnson??? . . . Wonder if Anita O'Day was embarrassed when she warbled "Lullaby Of The Leaves" at Jazz A La Carte, and the audience giggled. . . . When Sugar Ray arrives, will the local newsgals and guys question him about his beef with the Dominoes and his alleged high hat attitude the same way the press has done throughout the states? . . . The songster known as the "pulchritude of swing" now appearing in the bay area took time out from his battle with his erstwhile press agent to send the ballyhoo merchant's mom a mother's day verse. Then he resumed the squabble. Point of order, Mister Barrows! . . . We're told exotic Shantez Forniz is driving around in a low slung limousine and purchasing prize property. Yogi or yogurt, doll? . . . We're campaigning for James Humphrey to be elected as Captain Video. That's the fellow who repaired

The Male Animal Closes Playhouse Run Sun., May 23

Tallying some of the heartiest laughs on record, "The Male Animal," comedy revival now at the Pasadena Playhouse, will hold for a fourth week, closing Sunday, May 23.

Co-scripted by James Thurber and Elliott Nugent, "Male Animal" details with kindly humor the relationships of Professor Tommy Turner, his wife Ellen, and ex-grid great Joe Ferguson, her old flame. Timely gibes at college trustees out to squelch ideas add liveliness to the staging.

Marjorie Lord, William Schallert and Robert Nash star in the Playhouse revival, directed by Jack Bernhard. Also prominent in the cast are Stafford Repp, Dona Lowe, Paul Burgess and Gilbert Fallman.

"Gown of Glordy," Irving Phillips' dramatization of the best-seller by Agnes Sligh Turnbull, is next at the Playhouse, opening Thursday, May 27.

Bowl Concerts Feature Famous Musical Scores

The first of eight outstanding Saturday night "Pops" concerts at Hollywood Bowl this summer will feature Richard Rodgers, beloved American light opera composer, conducting the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchstra in of program of his own music on July 17.

For the occasion—which will be Rodgers' first Pacific Coast conducting appearance — his own choral director Crane Calder will be guest director of the Roger Wagner Chorale.

Presented as a tribute to Rodgers, the concert will spotlight music from Rodgers-Hammerstein stage successes and music for which Lorenz Hart wrote the lydics; and orchestral works composed by Rodgers.

Top-flight soloists will be Annamary Dickey, soprano; Claramae Turner, contralto; Robert Weede, baritone; and Davis Cunningham, tenor.

Haitian Voodoo World Premiere May 21st-22nd

Two torrid hours in hidden Haiti await first nighters at "Dance Voodoo," new concert spectacle which has its world premiere at the Assistance League Theatre, 1367 N. St. Andrews Place, Hollywood, on Friday and Saturday nights, May 21 and 22. The Irwin Parnes touring presentation combines the talents of balladeer Le Roie Antoine and the dynamic young Afro-Haitian dancer Bob Le House, with a company of 12 dancers, singers and drummers.

Los Angeles audiences will see, for the first time, the terrifying "Zombie Dance." Programmed to open the show is "Hountandehoun," the traditional invocation to voodoo rites, with such unusual offering as a werewolf dance. "Chango," a drum prayer daance, and "Dambala," in which a priest and voodoo priestess fight for the possessed victim of the snake god. In a lighter vein are "Bagette," a mock stick battle, "Minuet," in which the Haitian slaves mimic the courtly pretensions of their French masters, and "Coq La Chante," a fighting rooster dance.

Mail orders for "Dance Voodoo" tickets, at $1.20, $2.50 and $3, tax included, are being accepted at the Assistance League box office. Tickets are also on sale at Southern California Music Company, 737 S. Hill street, and at all Mutual ticket agencies.

On stage, dancer Carmen De Lavallade is often as bewitching and bedeviled as Bizet's operatic Carmen. But sitting cozily talking to a shy newsboy she's as coy and demure as Mona Lisa's half smile. In short, she's a real doll and has real talent. But the "newsbreak" of this piece is a lad named Alvin Ailey. For young Ailey will resume where the late, beloved Lester Horton left off, where choreography is concerned. And thereby hangs a tale!

INVINCIBLE INFLUENCE

When the shocking news of Lester's death came that fateful Monday morning, everyone of the Horton theater "stood pat" but every heartbeat pounded the query, "where do we go from here?" A meeting was held, and it was then the dancers realized their fretfulnes was a bit rash. Where else to go but onward? The dancemaster would have wanted it that way. He had certainly given them more than basic training before completing his span, and his tremendous technique had been instilled in their minds and limbs. The advance group which included Miss De Lavallade, Mr. James Truitte and Mr. Ailey, were more than ready to meet the challenge. And the challenge is being met by the entire ensemble.

LIQUOR STORES, certain package stores along the avenoo, have renewed their efforts to freeze certain Negro salesmen out of their commission. The gimmick is to pit salesman against salesman while the ofays step in and get the big fat orders. For instance, that owner who operates two stores in the heart of the Negro area has the habit of treating his customers as uncouth as possible. He contributes as little money as possible to the welfare of the community. Negroes can best correct this deplorable situation by taking their business to Oscar Davis or Al Austin just a block away!

Gordon Wins at Golden State

Wilbert K. Jordan of Los Angeles was awarded Golden State Mutual's highest and most coveted honor, "Man of the Year" for 1953-54.

The "Man of the Year" and twelve other top awards for excellence in policyowner service in the Los Angeles district were presented by Chairman of the Board George A. Beavers, Jr., in special ceremonies in the Home Office GSM auditorium May 9.

Top honors for Ordinary Life production went to designated "Torchbearers" Representatives Lonnie Eberhardt, Ed Ford, Malachi Mondy, Ben Graham, Demmit Griffin, Charles Robertson, Nolan Payton, and Johnnie Cochran.

Manager Kemp

Manager Miller Kemp and his staff of representatives, Parnell Neal, Ira Pulliam, Robert Arnold, Ernest Walton, Wallace Bailey, Dexter Cleaver and Ralph G. Foster, won second place for the President's Challenge trophy, the highest award for staff performance.

The winners receive a share of the $2,095 given by Golden State Mutual this year to more than 62 field representatives and management men in California, Illinois and Texas.

Over 200,000 policyowners are insured with Golden State Mutual in California. In Illinois and Texas with policies valued at more than $80,000,000. The firm's assets exceeded 8½ million at the end of its 29th year.

Ask Review of Firing of Officer In Santa Monica

SANTA MONICA—The City Personnel Board of Santa Monica last Friday was asked to reconsider the firing of former police officer Hayward Jernigan and reinstate him to the position he has held for the past 16 years.

Wayne Higbee, personnel director, advised the Eagle that the request from Jernigan's lawyer, David Sokol, will be considered by the board at its next meeting, scheduled for the first week in June.

Jernigan was dismissed from his post on charges that he left his assigned beat without notifying his superior officer or obtaining authorization.

At the time of the alleged infraction Jarnigan claimed he was suffering severe pain from an infected tooth and that he had gone to see a doctor, testimony that was corroborated by his dentist. Jernigan, one of the only two Negroes on the police force, had asked a fellow officer to advise the proper authorities, and the authorities were duly informed.

A number of members of the local community, including representatives of the NAACP, appeared at the hearing prepared to testify in Jernigan's behalf, but were refused an opportunity. Board Chairman Robert O'Hare ruled against hearing the character witnesses on the grounds that he wanted testimony only from persons who saw Jernigan on the day in question.

The board unanimously upheld the action of Police Chief H. W. Hutchinson in firing Jernigan.

Bakersfield Motel Sued For Damages

BAKERSFIELD—Dr. Edna L. Griffin, prominent Pasadena physician, and the Rev. and Mrs. Jesse L. Boyd this week sought $$11,500 in damages against El Portal Motor Court of Bakersfield for refusing to rent them rooms on two occasions last year.

They complain that the refusal was based solely on their race and ask for damages for mental suffering and humiliation caused them. Attorneys James R. Abernathy and James Benjamin, who represent the plaintiffs, said this is the second civil right suit filed in the history of this city.

Lotus Temple Services Sunday, May 16th 11 AM

Lotus Temple continues services in their beautiful new Temple May 16, 1954.

Lotus Temple is still enjoying the wonderful blessing of God.

Sunday May 16, 1954, 11:00 a.m., services will be conducted by the most wonderful assistant Pastor Rev. M. M. Stewart, one who is a God sent woman. She lives what she preaches.

Rev. Mother M. M. Stewart

Rev. Arthur A. Smith's theme for morning worship will be "Faith of a Christian."

Sunday May 16, 1954, 3:30 p.m., Rev. George W. Bell and Congregation, Ajian Baptist Temple, 123rd street and Compton Avenue, will be guests of Lotus Temple. He is one of the most outstanding ministers of the city and a great friend of Lotus Temple and Rev. Smith the pastor. Rev. George W. Bell's theme for Sunday afternoon will be, "Progress through Unity."

The great day will be climaxed with one hour of Evening Vespers at 6:00 p.m., to 7 p.m., conducted by Rev. Arthur A. Smith, Pastor.

Rev. Smoot and congregation will be guests of Lotus Temple Wednesday 8:30 p.m., May 19, 1954.

On May 20, 1954, 8:15 p.m., Mrs. Addie Williams, Organist and Dean of Musical Department is presenting some of the outstanding solosists and Choral groups of city. Such artists appearing are R. L. Hatter Choral Ensemble, Pearls of Harmony, Margaret Davis, Rev. Leslie Friar, Emmanuel Chapter Choir, George Smith, Mr. J. Cummings, Attorney Chris A. Wright, D. A. Howskins and Lotus Temple Choir.

Lotus Temple is now located at 1873 W. Jefferson blvd. and the public is invited to attend all the above services including Sunday School 9:30 a.m., each Sunday.

eve in the Rubaiyat Room for his drinking party. He selected sportsman. Elihu McGee, Sonny Maddox, Hotelman Bill Watkins and Newsman Abie Robinson!

RUTH POWELL, the attractive and sexy real estate operator's name is attached to the license of the Club Capri and the bar-flies who figured they are going to get even drinking Jimmy Goodlow up are in for a disappointment.

TOP SALESMAN — Golden State's Ed Ford and Roy Spencer are the company's leaders in art of selling insurance!

THE FAWN joins the long line of good places to eat along Western Avenoo. John Robinson, celebrated caterer, is reopening the restaurant after seven years!

WINI ORR, who handled the Fawn's press pawtee the other eve, gets our vote as one of the best in the business. She provided for the news hawks in an unbelievable atmosphere and they dined awhile!

CARL HALEY, Rhinegold's busy sepia salesman, is moving the brew in all the popular places at a fast clip and it could be he's pushing a good product! Rhenigold seemingly has captured Southern California like the bright sunshine!

Show Business

make a name for himself as a choeographer if his thoughts on the matter are any indication. Whereas the Horton group has already interpreted Ellingtonia and the man Stan Kenton's music with pulsating projectory, this well developed young hoofer has a yen for the works of Tennessee Williams. He plans to stage a ballet on the order of Williams' "Streetcar Named Desire" with New Orleans as the locale. Beautiful Carmen and the talented Mr. Truitte will probably dance the leads, and Ailey may be featured himself.

This feat will call for soul-stirring emotions, and a down-to-earth perspective, but when the curtain goes up this summer with the theater's Choreo 54" they're sure to "make their point" well received. The Lester Horton dancers have attained show-business maturity, or I miss my guess. — "Chazz" Crawford.

WHO'LL BE QUEEN OF JABBERWOCK? Speculation is running high. The race has narrowed to seven pretty seniors of local high schools. Representing Manual Arts is contestant Thelma Brown; Jefferson High is represented by Joyce Ewing, Edmonia Morris and Jean Hendricks; Los Angeles contestants, Paula Pierson, Patrick Smith and Peggy Parks. The Queen's identity will be revealed May 23rd, 3 p.m., at Bovard Auditorium, U.S.C., when local club and fraternal groups compete in "Jabberwock of '54'. Popularly priced tickets on sale at U.S.C. box office, 3605 University Avenue.

Elbow Bend Lounge Opening A Great Success

The gala Grand Opening of the Elbow Bend Cocktail Lounge turned out to be a "standing room only" event.

The huge throng who participated in the affair were the recipients of a buffet supper, served from nine 'till closing with cocktails, greeted by the new owners, Lela and Charles Rezk.

The Rezks, each an asset to the other, are contemplating doing a terrific job of serving the public with the better brands of liquor, in conjunction with the pleasant and congenial atmosphere personalized by the owners meeting and greeting each and every customer who enters the swank cocktail lounge.

Hostesses for the evening were Dorothy Foster, Jean Woolridge, Mary Davis and Mrs. Elsie Jacobs. Hosts were Craig Bell and "Bill" Boswell, beginning their careers as "bar" boys graduating with flying colors as bartenders and "mixologists." Their boss, Mr. Rezk says: "They are among the best." Why not make them prove it by stopping by soon?

Hollywood Gold Cup

With many of the nation's leading thoroughbreds now heading for the opening of the Hollywood Park racing season next Friday, May 14, Racing Secretary John Maluvius today announced an imposing list of 84 nominations for the $100,000 Hollywood Gold Cup.

The Gold Cup, third and oldest of three $100,000 races to be run at Hollywood Park during the 50-day meeting, is scheduled to have its 15th running on July 17.

L. B. Wilson To Speak On Nehru's India

Lawrence B. Wilson, cultural affairs officer of the American consulate general at New Delhi, will speak on "Nehru's India" at the 28th Street YMCA, 1006 E. 28th street, Sunday at 4 p.m.

The talk, which is open to the public, is being held under the auspices of the 28th Street YMCA Discussion club.

Wilson served for two and one-half years in the Bombay consulate, after which he was transferred to his present post. While in Bombay, he made an exhaustive study of the structure and functioning of the Bombay State legislature. For his work in this field, he was awarded a Ph.D. degree from the Bombay University.

Crack Made In El Centro School Bias

EL CENTRO. — A world's record for bringing a quick end to racial segregation may have been established by the NAACP last week when a Negro child was enrolled in the formerly lily-white Harding Grammar school here, seven days after the NAACP launched an investigation.

Monday, April 26, the Imperial Valley NAACP School Survey committee began its investigation of charges of segregation in El Centro schools. Monday, May 3, one week later, the first Negro child broke the barrier. Little Carolyn White's September entrance into the Harding Kindergarten looms significant in this southern California community.

Lester P. Bailey, NAACP field secretary, stated that the "NAACP is claiming no victory until all discriminatory practices against Negro teachers and students in El Centro are abolished."

The Survey committee charged local administrators with "perpetuating and maintaining" race policies and practices in the El Centro School district. Findings of the committee were broadcast throughout Imperial Valley.

El Centro's schools are segregated from kindergarten through the eighth grade in all excepting one grammar school, McKinley.

According to Rev. M. P. Jackson, committee chairman, a public hearing with school officials is being sought by the NAACP. Others serving on the survey committee are: Mrs. Winie Wipple, Mrs. Francis M. Burleigh and Mrs. Bertha Burleigh.

League Guild Plans Annual Bazaar Ball

"Jay Jackson, nationally known free-lance artist and cartoonist, did the art work on the Urban League Guild's unique subscription invitations" reports Idalee Harris, chairman of the Guild's Bazaar Ball committee.

Themed "A Night in Brazil," the Guild's second annual ball will be presented Friday evening, June 4, at the Los Angeles Breakfast Club, 3201 Los Feliz blvd.

Latest recognition of Jackson's talents was a commission to do the art work for the television telecomics picture entitled "Search for Christ."

Included among the highlights of the evening will be an exhibit from the Brazilian Consulate; a market place where guests may purchase products from South America; dancing and music; top name South American entertainers; a chorus line composed of Guild members; and the raffling of an item of chance.

Santa Monica's Adventists Will Dedicate Church Sat. In Impressive Ceremonies

One of the most significant events in the history of the 20th and Delaware Seven Day Adventist Church will be celebrated Saturday, May 15th, at the 11:00 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. services.

Free Of Debt

Garland Millet, prominent pastor of Santa Monica's community center, proudly announced exclusively to the California Eagle that this enterprizing edifice is now free of debt. Built in 1951, the church has continuously undergone improvements and is now one of the most attractive structures in the entire Bay Area.

Outstanding Participants

Elder C. E. Mosely, World Field Secretary, enroute to San Francisco world session of Quadrennial Conference, will be featured as the morning speaker.

Elder R. R. Biets, president of Southern California Conference, will deliver the dedication sermon Saturday afternoon at 3:30 p.m. Betty Jean Tarver, talented tot, and granddaughter of E. G. Allen, Santa Monica president of the N.A.A.C.P., will give a recital in the afternoon.

Guest choirs, former pastors and past members, including Dr. Carl Dent, Delaware Avenue's chief booster and friend, will converge upon the Seven Day Adventist Church in the most important services in its history.

Who gets the money Standard takes in?

Goods and services—from paper clips to professional services—cost us $324,743,000. It was spent with thousands of firms, large and small.

Crude oil was a big item. To supplement our own production we bought $135,600,000 worth—an important sum to crude oil producers.

Wear and tear, depreciation and upkeep cost $157,834,000. Part of it will replace worn-out facilities, but millions went to workmen, technicians.

New construction, such as refinery facilities, to make more and better products, cost $145,000,000. This helped meet builders' payrolls.

Exploration to replace oil our customers use is a vital operation. Our stepped-up search for new oil reserves cost $79,000,000 in 1953.

Employees' wages for time worked took $163,947,000 of our income. Another $43,000,000 went for employee benefits for Standard Oilers.

Taxes paid by Standard to U. S., states, counties and cities amounted to $106,300,000—enough to buy plenty of fire trucks, schools, bridges.

112,000 shareholders' profits came from what was left. They received about 5½¢ on each dollar's worth of stock. Total: $86,020,000.

Your picture belongs here, too. Because most of the $1,156,757,000 Standard Oil Company of California took in last year ended up with you—the public. Whether one of the hundreds of millions of dollars worth of checks Standard wrote last year was sent to you, or spent with you, or helped make possible better gasoline and oil for your car, you and practically everyone else in the West benefited. Thousands of merchants and professional people in hundreds of towns profited from the pay checks Standard Oilers spent. Our tax payments helped finance schools for your children, parks for vacationers, and bridges for motorists. Carpenters, steelmen, lumberjacks benefited from the facilities we built and the maintenance work we did. It all fits together: 1953 was a good year for Standard because so many of you thought our products well made and worth buying. And by making it a good year for us, you made it a good year for many others.

South Seeking Schemes To Evade School Decision

WASHINGTON—Southern states cast about frantically for a way to retain Jim Crow schools this week in the face of a flat declaration by Chief Justice Earl Warren that "separate educational facilities are inherently unequal."

The chief justice spoke for a unanimous Supreme Court in five cases involving racial segregation in schools in Kansas, Delaware, South Carolina, Virginia and the District of Columbia.

Southern hopes centered around the fact that the Court gave no directions as to how de-segregation is to be achieved. It left that matter open for argument this fall and invited attorney generals of all the affected states to give their views on the matter.

District Obeys

The District of Columbia moved to obey the Court's mandate as its Board of Education conferred with President Eisenhower Tuesday. White House spokesmen said it was hoped that the District can lead the way and offer an example to other areas where segregated schools are maintained.

Indications are that the states will try to work out some kind of a "zoning plan" as an evasive measure. Under that plan Negro students would

Marshall Says NAACP Will Enforce Ruling

The NAACP will carry the war for compliance with the Supreme Court decision ordering the end of Jim Crow schools direct to the enemy's camp, Thurgood Marshall, NAACP chief counsel, told the Eagle Wednesday.

A meeting of Southern state directors of the NAACP will be held in Atlanta Saturday noon at which Marshall will preside. That meeting will lay specific plans to meet the situation.

Marshall said that it might "take up to five years" to secure complete compliance and added that he believed that total freedom from state-sanctioned segregation would be achieved by 1963.

"The Supreme Court's interpretation of the law is very clear," Marshall pointed out. "If that order is violated in Georgia or anywhere else on one morning we'll have the responsible authorities in court by the next morning, if not by that afternoon."

The NAACP has been training lawyers to grapple with this problem for many years and pointed out that there were competent attorneys in all states and "most communities" who will be able to shoulder the burden of local lawsuits.

The South will be given a reasonable time to comply with the order. He said he had not had time to confer with other attorneys as to the suggestions to be made for details of compliance in the Supreme Court hearing set for next fall.

FIVE SUPREME COURT JUDGES NAMED BY FDR

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court which overthrew grade school segregation is composed of five Roosevelt appointees, three Truman appointees and one Eisenhower member. Seven are Democrats and two Republicans. Roosevelt appointees are Justices Stanley Reed, Hugo Black, Robert H. Jackson, William O. Douglas and Felix Frankfurter. Truman appointees are Justices Sherman Minton, Tom Clark and Harold Burton. Chief Justice Earl Warren is the sole Eisenhower appointee. Warren and Burton are Republicans. The others are Democrats.

Knight Says He's Opposed To Job Bias

Before a near-capacity audience at Mt. Sinai Baptist church, Adams boulevard and LaSalle, Sunday afternoon, Governor Goodwin J. Knight went on record as favoring complete integration of all of California's citizens into the state's economic picture, regardless of race or color.

He cited as an example his recent appointment of Lamar Hill, president of Angelus Funeral Home, as secretary of the State Board of Funeral Directors, marking the first time in the history of the state that a Negro has been so honored.

"In spite of strong objections from some quarters," the governor stated, "I appointed Mr. Hill because in my opinion he was thoroughly qualified, first of all, for the position and, secondly, because I know that Negroes die like anybody else, thus should be duly represent-

Blood Will Flow; Will Use Troops

Predictions that "human blood may stain southern soil" and that troops may be called out to prevent enforcement of the Supreme Court ruling outlawing segregation in public schools were described as "wild talk" by NAACP Attorney Thurgood Marshall, who arrived in Los Angeles Wednesday for a three-day stay.

The prediction of bloodshed was made by the Mississippi Daily News which said in a front-page editorial that "the dark red stains of that blood will be on the marble steps of the United States Supreme Court."

The proposal to call out the state militia came from Georgia where Gov. Eugene Talmadge recalled that troops were once called out to defy the high court. He said he would not be averse to seeing them called out again as a last resort to stymie Monday's decision.

Scouts Reports

Marshall scouted reports of Southern rebellion with the statement that similar predictions of violence had been made a "dozen times" in other cases involving voting, segregation in graduate and professional schools. Marshall said he expected the states to comply and pointed out that the decision "leaves no loophole."

Byrnes Shocked

Leading the Dixiecrat pack in its hue and cry against the Court were Gov. Talmadge and Gov. James Byrnes of South Carolina, both of whom said flatly that their states would not "permit mixed schools."

Talmadge charged the Court had turned to "low politics" and said "its action confirms the worst fears of the motives of the men who sit on the bench and raises a grave question as to the future of the nation."

Governor Byrnes, himself a former Supreme Court justice,

Long Beach Nurse Held For Murder

Eula Mae Scott, 30, a nurse of 1050 E. 16th street, Long Beach, is being held without bail, booked on a murder charge, following the fatal shooting of her love rival, Mrs. Willie Mae Gaines, 31, of 1125 Arcadia court.

Angered that her boy friend, C. L. Cheeks, 35, of 836 E. Anaheim street, drove by with Mrs. Gaines in the car, Nurse Scott first tossed a bottle at the automobile.

When he returned with the woman still in the car, Miss Scott fired at Cheeks and when the bullet seemingly went wide of its mark she fired again. Mrs. Gaines was killed. Cheeks was slightly wounded.

The shooting occured in front of Miss Scott's mother's home, 1412 Lewis avenue.

On learning that Mrs. Gaines was dead, Miss Scott told police:

"I didn't have anything against the Gaines woman. I was mad at my boy friend. He was the one I was after."

A preliminary hearing for Miss Scott has been scheduled for May 21 in Long Beach.

Dr. Lois Bent Divorces Her Medic Husband

The highly respected medical pair were married for more than 20 years, and have three grown daughters.

Dr. Lois Bent, who was represented by Attys. H. Leonard Richardson and Louis F. Sherman of Berkeley, was awarded custody of the three children, the couple's $16,000 home in Berkeley, the family car and attorneys' fees. Dr. Lois Bent is at present a member of the staff of a government psycho-neurotic hospital at Palo Alto.

Atty. Curtis C. Taylor represented Dr. Michael Bent, who is well known in Los Angeles medical circles.

Three Justices Are From Dixie

All are Democrats. They are Justices Stanley Reed of Kentucky, Tom Clark of Texas, and Hugo Black of Alabama.

Redding For Congress

(AN EDITORIAL)

The Twenty-Sixth Congressional district has a chance to elect a resident of the district to Congress.

The question of whether it will or not depends to a large extent on the 62nd Assembly district which holds the balance of power.

The candidate for Congress who is a resident of this district is Ned Redding. He lives here. He knows the district. He knows its people and its problems.

Redding's platform is one with which all voters must agree.

He favors fair employment legislation.

He wants the federal government to take some steps to stem the tide of joblessness that is running high and that threatens to overwhelm Negro workmen.

He favors housing legislation that will wipe out discrimination in public and private housing, constructed with government aid.

In short, he stands four square behind former President Truman's civil rights legislation.

His record gives substance to his promises.

As a business man, he has employed Negroes in his printing shop, and in clerical work.

He pitched in to help fight the freeway program that would destroy more than a thousand homes owned by Negroes.

He has never missed an opportunity to practice what he preaches.

Redding is the kind of a congressman the 26th district needs.

Mother, Lover Jailed After Girl Is Raped

A mother and the man she was living with were in hot water with police this week after her 12-year-old daughter complained that the man had had improper relations with her.

Bobbie Lee McGinnis, 42, a laborer of 1468 E. 107th st., was jailed on a crime against a child charge. The mother, Mrs. Anne Eliza White, 30, was accused of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

The charge against the mother grew out of the fact that she and her child were living with McGinnis despite the fact that the girl knew they were not married.

The arrest of McGinnis followed the girl's revelations that she had engaged in intimate relations with him. In a preliminary hearing Monday, McGinnis was held to answer the allegation. He faces a superior court hearing.

SUPPORT AUDITORIUM BOND ISSUE—Labor leaders of the AFL and CIO, both of which have endorsed the Bond issue for the Civic Auditorium, ponder ways of getting out a "yes" vote on Proposition "F" on the June 8 ballot. Lomax Lauds Miller For School Case Work

Eagle publisher Loren Miller was lauded by fellow publisher Lucius W. Lomax, Jr., Monday, for his part in writing the briefs on which the Supreme Court made its historic decision, unanimously outlawing segregation of Negro and white children in the public schools.

Miller, who has argued three civil rights and civil liberties cases before the Supreme Court, was one of more than a dozen lawyers participating in the preparation of the NAACP's briefs in the epochal case. He was admitted to practice before the Supreme Court in 1947, and has helped the NAACP write more than a half dozen briefs.

Lomax, Democratic candidate for the Assembly from the 63rd District, said, "Los Angeles should feel proud of having one of the greatest constitutional lawyers in the U. S. today in the forefront of the local fight for civil rights."

He pointed out that Miller, in addition to arguing the original anti-restrictive covenant case, Shelley vs. Kramer, before the Supreme Court, also wrote and argued the successful Barrow vs. Jackson case of 1953, which resulted in the decision that damages can not be recovered for failure to abide by the unenforceable covenants.

With the American Civil Liberties Union, Miller also argued and lost a civil liberties case before the high court, Hardman vs. Collins.

Redding Lauds School Decision

Ned Redding, president of the Board of Public Utilities and Transportation, this week wired the NAACP his congratulations for its successful fight in overthrowing grade school segregation.

CANDIDATE — Former California attorney General Fred N. Howser received the official endorsement of the Women's Political Study Club this week. His name will appear on the organization's sample ballot which is widely circulated throughout the state.

Political Spotlight

By James H. Anderson

The United States Supreme Court decision outlawing segregation in public schools overshadowed all political events this week. The decision brings into sharp focus the NAACP's unrelenting fight against segregation and discrimination based upon race or color.

ed on the state mortuary board, the same as anybody else."

State of Future

Gov. Knight laid stress on the fact that he realized California is truly the "state of the future" and as such has got to assume its rightful place of leadership.

"I want first of all a clean, honest government," he said, "and I intend to see to it that that government is a just, fair one. With me these are not mere 'campaign promises' but are meant sincerely from the heart. I believe my record will bear me out on this."

He stressed that the Hill appointment and his commutation of the death sentence in the Robert Wesley Wells case were not the result of any "pressure" but that they came about, instead, as a result of his deep conviction that justice should be served in the interest of all, regardless of race, creed or color.

Standing Ovation

Gov. Knight got a standing ovation when he concluded his half hour address, climax to one of the most entertaining political mass meetings staged here this year.

The occasion was marked by the appearance of most of the top Republican leaders in the community, along with many from the Democratic camp.

The governor was introduced by Paul R. Williams, noted architect, and chairman of the Citizens Committee for the Retention of Gov. Knight. Williams stressed the excellent record of Knight as lieutenant governor as well as his work during his brief few months as governor, following the elevation of the former Gov. Earl Warren to the U.S. Supreme Court last fall.

The program was opened with an invocation by Rev. H. B. Charles, host pastor.

Bertrand B. Bratton, longtime Republican leader and well known businessman, introduced the master of ceremonies, Atty. David Williams, who did a noteworthy job.

Representing the Democratic camp was Atty. Everett Porter, who pledged the governor support from himself and numerous of his Democratic colleagues; and Celestus King, III, who spoke on behalf of the "Young Democrats for Knight."

Rev. Clayton D. Russell, pastor of the Church of Divine Guidance, summed up the meeting and urged everyone in the audience, along with their friends, to cast their votes for Governor Knight in the June 8 primaries.

NAACP STAR—Sensational star Mabel Fairbanks will give dramatic solo presentations at the NAACP's annual special activities event Sunday afternoon, June 6, at the Shrine.

pectacular 'Festival On ce' Scheduled for Shrine

Tickets are going fast—but the Shrine's a big hall, d June 6 is only two weeks away.

The Special Activities committee of the NAACP arranged a spectacular stival on Ice," featuring in- nationally famous, unbeliev- y graceful Mabel Fairbanks, an interracial cast of tal- ented, spirited, highly trained youngsters, as its mammoth annual affair for 1954.

Mrs. Lillie Montgomery, chairman of the committee, and the entire group have been working overtime for months, planning, arranging, ensuring that everything possible is being done to make this spectacle, scheduled for Sunday afternoon, June 6, one of the most enjoyable ever presented.

Miss Fairbanks will headline the presentation, with solo displays featuring such difficult and breath-taking accomplishments as the Arabian Cartwheel and the Axel-Split, feats of perfection seldom attempted by even the most experienced performers.

But the Shrine is a large hall. It seats over 6,000. That means a lot of tickets. Have you bought yours? Has your club arranged for a block of seats?

Bowlin Crash Trial Opens In Pasadena

The manslaughter trial of Brandon A. Bowlin, Jr., 20, got under way Wednesday with the selection of a jury.

The son of prominent medic, Brandon A. Bowlin, Sr., was driver of an auto that collided with a police car last March killing David C. George, 17, Pasadena City college football star.

Superior Judge Kenneth C. Newell is presiding over the hearing. Attys. Richard P. B. Tyson and Robert M. Fisk, representing Bowlin, are lined up against James Kolts of the District attorney's office.

Bowlin, George and Melvin Grant, all city college students, were riding around after a party at the time of the collision at California and Fair Oaks. Grant was injured as was Bowlin.

Also injured were Officers Ralph E. Sullivan and Eugene S. Peron.

be zoned in one district and whites in another.

The decision was hailed as probably the most important U. S. race relations case since the famous Dred Scott decision of 1857, which held that a Negro was not a citizen. The Civil War reversed that decision.

Warren said because of the wide ramifications of the decision, formulation of specific decrees will be delayed until further arguments have been heard.

Denial of Rights

But the court by Warren's opinion laid down the rule that segregation is "a denial of equal protection of the laws" to Negroes.

This is the phraseology of the 14th Amendment to the Constitution, on which the Negroes relied in bringing their cases.

Some 9,000,000 white and 2,650,000 Negro children attend separate schools in 17 states and the District of Columbia.

Arizona, Kansas, New Mexico and Wyoming also have segregation in some localities.

The momentous ruling invalidates many provisions in state constitutions, laws and administrative regulations in the 17 states which now require segregation.

The 12-page ruling—a document that will rank in sociological significance with Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation—swept aside the "separate but equal doctrine" laid down by the Supreme Court in 1896.

Framers' Intent

Warren said that historical data proved "inconclusive" as to the intent of the framers of the 14th Amendment. Warren said, however, that "in approaching this problem, we cannot turn the clock back to 1868 when the amendment was adopted, or even to 1896 when Plessy vs. Ferguson was written. (Plessy vs. Ferguson was the case that established the "separate but equal doctrine" which Negroes have been fighting for 50 years to set aside.)

"We must consider public education in the light of its full development and its present place in American life throughout the nation. Only in this way can it be determined if segregation in public schools deprives these (complainants) of the equal protection of the laws."

"Today, education is perhaps the most important function of state and local government....

"In these days, it is doubtful that any child may reasonably be expected to succeed in life if he is denied the opportunity of an education.

"Such an opportunity, where the state has undertaken to provide it, is a right which must be made available to all on equal terms."

Miller Helped Prepare Briefs

Loren Miller, Eagle publisher and attorney, was one of the lawyers who helped in preparation of the brief in the grade school segregation cases. Another Californian given credit for his work in furnishing historical material for the brief is Howard Jay Graham, bibliographer of the Los Angeles County Law Library.

The NAACP legal staff was headed by Thurgood Marshall and included lawyers from all sections of the country.

TALKING IT OVER—Ned Redding, candidate for Congress from the 26th District, explains his campaign strategy to Celestus King, well known local business man, while Mrs. Redding listens with approval. The trio got together at the Dorothea Towles Fashion Show Sunday.

Redding KO's Race Clause

Courageous and outspoken remarks by Ned Redding, president of the city Public Utilities and Transportation Commission, caused removal of restrictions from an auto-for-hire permit granted to Mrs. Irma Brown, 4700 S. Avalon boulevard, this week. Redding is a candidate for Congress in the 26th District.

Mrs. Brown, manager of a local funeral home, petitioned the board through her attorney, David Williams, for a permit to rent her company's several limousines to other mortuaries for passenger services. The permit was originally filed on March 25 and was held for further action. The final hearing was held Tuesday at City Hall.

Prior to Redding's motion, the Board had voted unanimously to grant the permit, but ruled that the auto-for-hire service should be limited to Negro funeral homes only. Previous testimony by Forrest Pickett, of 1315 S. Central, a funeral director, and Attorney Williams, indicated that Negro funeral homes in the city had difficulty in renting extra passenger service vehicles from livery service firms.

President Redding told his fellow commissioners that he would go along with the recommendation with the express proviso that the word "Negro" be stricken from the permit provisions. He said he felt the permit should give the bearer the right to service any and all funeral homes without limitations.

Redding pointed to the momentous Supreme Court decision banning segregated schools as factual indication of the need for true democracy in Los Angeles and in this country.

His remarks resulted in a change in the wording of the permit as he desired.

Objections to granting the permit were voiced by a Watts auto-for-hire service and a downtown rental service company.

After the hearing, Redding was heartily congratulated for his forthright actions by Mrs. Brown, Pickett and Attorney Williams.

ENDORSED — The Rev. Edgar Johnson, pastor of Tabernacle Baptist church, 950 Hemlock, this week was endorsed by the Providence Baptist Ass'n in his bid for assemblyman from the 62nd district. Ministers called on members of all churches in the 62nd A.D. to vote for Rev. Johnson at the polls June 8.

Walt Ballou Says:

We've got to rid ourselves of "do-nothingism" from this district. Service to the voters of one's district is the highest aim of an Assemblyman. I will fight for more classrooms and teachers, and for the State College in the 63rd A. D.

Jay Jackson, Cartoonist, Dies From Heart Attack

Jay Paul Jackson, one of the best known cartoonists in the country, died suddenly Sunday morning, following a heart attack.

The attack occurred early Saturday. Considerably weakened, Jay was nonetheless well enough to walk to the automobile of a relative who drove him to Temple hospital. Death occurred, however, at 2:30 the following morning.

The funeral is being held at 11:30 a.m. today, Thursday, from the Angelus Funeral Home, 1030 E. Jefferson, with interment at Rosedale cemetery.

Jay was widely known and admired by readers of the Negro and white press. When Atty. Loren Miller took over ownership of the California Eagle in 1951, he became the Eagle's cartoonist. He also was a feature artist of the Chicago Defender from 1952 to the time of his death, having been a staff artist for the Defender publications from 1933 to 1950.

His last big job, and the one on which he was working when he died, was as illustrator for the Telecomics Corporation. He was also a creator of cartoons, among the best known of which were his "Home Folks."

Jackson received a citation from Henry Morgenthau, U.S. Secretary of the Treasury, for cartoons and posters for World War II bond sales, and two awards from the Newspaper Guild.

Born in Oberlin, Ohio, in 1905, Jay leaves his wife Eleanor, and one daughter by a former marriage, Mrs. Carrie Lou Travillion, as well as three grandchildren, Helen, Julie and Jay Travillion. He is also survived by his mother, Mrs. Nellie Jackson, and three sisters, Aimee Payne, Harriet Wilson and Daisy Adams, all of Delaware, Ohio.

Jay studied at Ohio Wesleyan College, Chicago Art Institute, Los Angeles Art Institute, and with the prominent artist Norman Rockwell.

The School Case Decision: Victory For Democracy

The United States Supreme Court righted a historic wrong—a wrong that has done untold harm to America—when it held unanimously that racial segregation in American schools is unconstitutional.

". . . In the field of public education," Chief Justice Earl Warren said, "the doctrine of 'separate but equal' has no place. Separate educational facilities are inherently unequal."

Those words are profoundly true. They have been said over and over again by Negroes in a thousand different ways in a thousand different meetings.

In the name of the separate but equal doctrine, Southern states condemned Negro school children to inadequate buildings, curtailed their school terms, denied them bus and other services furnished for white children, sent them to schools without libra- or even toilet facilities, and denied them the same kind of teaching available for whites.

That is the record as far as physical facilities are concerned and it made a sham of the claim that there was equality under separate school systems.

Based on Inferiority

Worse than that, the kept-apart, shoved-aside Negro children were branded as inferiors—in their own eyes and in the eyes of the white children.

The shocking truth is that the separate but equal doctrine was an evil system, designed to keep the Negro in his place, fashioned to keep him as near slavery as possible and based upon the unscientific doctrine that Negroes are inferoir because of race.

In retrospect, it is hard to understand how the courts ever managed to square the doctrine with the command of the Fourteenth Amendment for equal protection of the laws. As long as they did so they gave the lie to the American faith that all men are created equal, and stand equal before the law.

Our failure to live up to our ideals, the hypocrisy of preaching equality and practicing Jim Crow in our schools was widely known and commented on in every corner of the globe and we cannot escape the conclusion that world-wide disapproval helped to quicken the consciences of our judges.

There will be many to claim credit for this victory.

Some will say that "the liberal Southerners" are responsible.

Politicians will claim that they deserve the glory.

The truth is—and we should never forget this fact—that the NAACP, our NAACP, won this victory.

The Weak Protested

When the NAACP decided to challenge Jim Crow in grade schools, the timid and the weak-hearted cried out against it. The time isn't ripe, they said. The courts aren't ready, they chanted. We had better be satisfied with better segregated schools, they chorused.

The NAACP went ahead. It rallied its lawyers throughout the nation. They gave unselfishly of their time and talent. It called on historians and sociologists and they too responded.

The task was a tremendous one. Only a voluntary organization of dedicated men and women, served by dedicated lawyers, could have done the job.

The NAACP did it.

In the light of this victory it is difficult to see how any Negro, or any American who loves the democratic way of life, can dare withhold his support of the Association.

The NAACP Is the People

And at the bottom the NAACP is the people.

The NAACP is the poor and underprivileged parent who had the courage to demand admittance of his children to so-called white schools in South Carolina. The NAACP is the men and women who worked and saved and scrimped to give a dollar or two dollars to help in the fight. The NAACP is the lawyers who gave their time and their skill and their talent in this

The NAACP is all of us who have joined it and helped it, in local fights and in its great national struggles.

And we need to face up to the fact, too, that our work in the school cases is not done. The little men, the selfish men, the evil men who have lived and fattened off of Jim Crow so long will not give up without a struggle.

They will seek to evade the Supreme Court ruling.

They will try to sabotage it.

They will flout it.

Big Job Lies Ahead

Ahead of us lie many years of hard work before the decision becomes reality and before the last Jim Crow school is abandoned.

We should remember, too, that under our legal system the outlawing of the separate but equal doctrine in the realm of schools does not mean its automatic death in other aspects of our lives.

The die-hard South will try to cling to Jim Crow in parks and playgrounds and swimming pools and in places of public accommodation. We will have to take cases involving those facilities to the Supreme Court just as we did the school cases. And that means that the NAACP will have to carry the burden in those cases.

We must, each of us, be prepared to help, just as we helped in the school cases.

Certainly, we can all take heart by what has happened. We know now that we have reached the crest of the long, bitter mountain that we have been climbing since Reconstruction. Ahead of us lies the promised land of first-class citizenship. We need only to press on to reach it.

New Faith in Democracy

As Americans, we can rejoice anew that this decision vindicates the democratic process, that it refutes those who have been whispering in our ears that there is no equality for us in our democracy. We should all resolve anew to redouble our defense of that system and to reject utterly the counsel of despair that we cannot attain equality except by abandoning democracy.

In the last analysis, the school case decision throws the spotlight on democracy at its weakest and at its best. At its weakest because Jim Crow schools should never have been permitted or tolerated: at its best because a disadvantaged minority, victimized and persecuted, was able to overthrow an injustice rooted in almost a hundred years of custom and law.

Historians looking back at our time and at this decision will undoubtedly mark May 17, 1954, as a day when segregation was dealt a mortal blow.

Pure and Simple

By L. F. Palmer Jr.

A press card is a mighty mighty handy item to have around when the urge to eat gets a little stronger than the ability to purchase. I've dined at many a press table in my time and I've seen the tab picked up by a mess of folks. Politicians, preachers, teachers, sports promoters, entertainers. Even had an educated pup sign the check one time.

But the other day at the Watkins. I ate the best meal of my life. The Louisiana gumbo was excellent, the setting was superb, the service tres bon. But the best part about it all was the cops were treating. And, as they say in some circles, that was the end.

Daily Rounds

Where I come from, a newsman is to a cop what a flea is to a dog. My pockets used to bulge with cigars, cigarettes, pipe tobacco and snuff when I made my daily rounds to see who had cut the latest caper. At the end of the day, my pockets were cleaner than Mother Hubbard's cupboard and I was trembling all over for want of a smoke.

You really had to make with the gifts to get those guardians of the law to talk. But that was where I come from. Here in L.A. they truly try to prove to you that this is the city of angels. They give newsmen a meal and then give them a story. Man, that's livin'.

A tall, handsome chap, name of Sgt. Tom Bradley, explained to the gathering that the L.A. police department's public information division is anxious that the citizens know what's going on around town. Not only does the Sergeant's division help scrounging newspapermen get the dope on caper cutters, but it likewise fills 'em in on routine police business.

Name Examiners

Seems recently, . . . Decemb er, each of the public commissioners (there're five altogether) appointed two hearing examiners to aid the commission in determining whether license applicants are clean enough to pass muster.

These are important jobs when you realize that 4,000 hearings are held every year to determine who will get the go-sign to open a night club, a pawn shop, a pool hall or some other such business that just might attract characters the police like to keep a tab on.

Commissioner Herbert Greenwood appointed Attorney Erskine Ragland and Insurance Broker George Bryant. Ragland and Bryant hear cases in rotation after police officers have dug up necessary data on applicants.

Going Rate

They don't exactly get rich for performing this public service. The going rate is something like $3 per hour but none can take home more than $143.50 per month. And with business as good as it is, the hearing examiners put in a lot of overtime for which they get nothing but the ole feeling of a job well done.

Personally, I was glad to know that there is a Negro police commissioner in L.A., not to mention the hearing examiners. And I think it's real peachy the way the department introduced us.

I've heard a lot about the model Los Angeles police department. Supposed to be the best in the nation. I'm beginning to see why. They know what they have to do and they go ahead and do it.

And they feed hungry newspapermen.

Battleaxe and Bread

By Lester B. Granger

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—More than 6,000 social workers, from every state and territorial area of the United States, gathered here at Atlantic City's mammoth convention hall are a pretty inspiring sight, in spite of the popular cartoonized notion of what a social worker is supposed to be like. They are an increasingly competent group of professionals. Their discussions this week are a far cry from 20 years ago, when it was considered exciting daring for a social worker to admit any connection with organized labor.

Lester Granger

This conference has presented a strikink variety of speakers, including businessmen and industry leaders, trade union spokesmen, economists, governmental officials, social work specialists and educators.

Impressive Growth

The very range of conference subject matter, plus the variety of points of view expressed, illustrates the fact that social work is a half-century removed from the old "charity work" concept, but rather consists today of helping individuals and groups in building stronger communities.

And so it's natural that this conference, like its predecessors should exhibit impressive growth in the matter of the status of colored professionals. The conference keeps no racial records and there is no way of identifying members by race or religion. We are all members of the conference, and that's enough.

People As People

It's even impossible to tell if the speakers and discussants are colored or white, except by being present or knowing them personally. There are no "Negroes annexes" on the conference program. Discussions deal with social issues and problems—with programs that affect people.

It wasn't always this way, of course, as this column has pointed out before. It hasn't been long since Negro speakers at the conference were asked to discuss only racial aspects of general subjects. Their competency as specialists in social work, as such, was still not quite accepted.

But today you find a colored supervisor arriving with her white staff member in her train; you note white and colored social workers from Southern cities strolling on the board walk or drinking coffee together. Not infrequently you find them sharing the same hotel rooms. Social work isn't waiting for an "Supreme Court decision." The national conference started out a dozen years ago to clean itself up and, by golly, it's just about succeeded!

Reject Houston

And along the same line comes news in the daily press of a most heartening development in my own Protestant Episcopal church. The New York diocese has unanimously voted to reject Houston, Texas, as the site for the church's next triennial general convention unless there can be immediate guarantees of a completely non-segregated meeting.

Two years ago, at the Boston general convention, Houston was agreed upon on the basis of assurances by Texas' bishop, the Right Reverend Clinton S. Quin, that racial arrangements would be satisfactory to all concerned.

It turned out that "satisfactory" was distinctly unsatisfactory to those directly affected—the colored communicants and clerics as well as their white brethren who had the church's highest standards at heart. There has been a widespread protest against the Houston site, including local colored leaders who disassociated themselves from any plans or other convention responsibility.

The New York diocese's resolution urges Presiding Bishop Henry Knox Sherrill to change the site now, in the absence of positive guarantees that the "non-segregated" facilities in Houston will be actually non-segregated, including the all-important question of hotel accommodations. It seems that Houston "ain't ready yet," but a majority of Episcopal leaders are—if the New York diocese action is typical. It makes an Episcopalian proud of his church affiliation.

To Loren Miller:

The Compton Branch of the N.A.A.C.P. wishes to thank you sincerely for being the principal speaker at our opening meeting. Your talk was both interesting and inspiring, and we are sure it will fire up the brand new Compton Branch to build and carry on in the finest tradition of the N.A.A.C.P.

Thank you again for assisting us.

YOUNG VOTERS ORATE

"What My Vote Means to Me" was the subject orated upon by the seven finalists in the Los Angeles Council of the American Council on Human Rights' second annual Young Voters Oratorical contest at Holman Methodist church, 3320 W. Adams blvd. Sunday evening.

Could you think of any more appropriate subject to be discussed in the hearing of Los Angeles Negroes at this time and with elections coming up shortly? We ask this because with all the newspapers, radios and televisions blasting last year when we were about to elect a new president only every other Negro in some all-Negro districts took the occasion to vote.

Leon Steward

Young Woman Wins

Well to get back to the oratorical contest, it might be well to observe that every one of the young orators had his own ideas about why they should vote but they were very sure that every one should go to the polls and cast his ballot. One young lady declared that the word "idiot" was the term applied to Romans because they could not vote. With all the reasons why we think we should vote we are sure that would be a good name to call us if we didn't. And those who don't, look almost as bad to us.

The winner of the contest was Miss Anna Lynell Wilmore, a UCLA graduate. Another young lady, Miss Glenette Blackwell, a USC pre-legal student, was second and Benjamin Wyatt Jr. of LACC won third prize. The first prize was a hundred dollar bill given by William Watkins, head of the Watkins Hotel, second prize a radio clock, and third prize a $25 war bond.

All contestants received medals and five dollar orders on several stores. Pruitt Business College gave a $150 scholarship to the winner.

The Judges

Floyd Covington, of the Housing Authority; Dr. James Kirk, who heads the Sociology Dept. at Loyola University; John Long, a teacher at Jefferson High School; Mrs. Marjorie McPherson of the Foshay Jr. High School faculty, and Rev. L. L. White, pastor of Holman Methodist church, were the very good judges.

Good Project

Last year the contestants appeared to be better prepared. This brings us to the conclusion that these oratorical contests are very good for our future leaders. The young lady who won was too easily chosen from the rest, who were fairly good but had applied themselves insufficiently to claim a hundred dollar prize.

The project was also very good in that it encouraged the merchants and professionals of the community to invest in youthful projects of this nature and they appeared quite pleased to do it. Then, as we have said before, anything that can be done to wake these complaining Negroes up to go to the polls and vote is a good thing.

And finally this is a very good project to be undertaken by Greek letter fraternities which for too long have taken little organized interest in community welfare.

holding that the state could not maintain separate graduate and professional schools.

We hailed that as another great step forward. It was.

There were those who wanted to stop there.

They said we could not possibly hope that the Court would strike down Jim Crow grade schools.

The Sacred People

They urged that we content ourselves with merely trying to equalize grade schools—"make Jim Crow expensive," they said.

Thurgood Marshall opposed that step.

He said we ought to push on with a frontal assault on the whole separate but equal doctrine.

There was a division of opinion.

Finally, the NAACP decided that in the future it would file no more equalization suits in the school field.

It would assault the separate but equal doctrine head-on.

There were many dissenters. They said we were "going too fast." That we would lose all the gains we had made.

One by one the school cases were filed, challenging the separate but equal doctrine, arguing that segregation itself was unlawful. There was the Kansas case. And the South Carolina case. And the Delaware case. And the Virginia case. And the District of columbia case.

Supreme Court Ducks

The Supreme Court flunked out in the first argument.

It failed to decide.

It demanded briefs on historical matters, on what Congress meant when it proposed the Fourteenth Amendment. On what the States meant when they ratified the Amendment.

Last fall, lawyers and historians and sociologists—more than 60 of us—met in New York for a week's work to get the briefs ready.

It was hot in New York.

The work was hard.

The history was obscure.

There were voices of despair. And counsels of discouragement.

Finally we got a brief together.

The die was cast.

Our whole case rested on the argument that Jim Crow itself was unconstitutional, no matter how equal or nearly equal separate schools were.

Frankly, Thurgood Marshall can't receive too much credit for the manner in which he badgered us and argued with us and cajoled us into shaping up that brief.

And then the argument last December.

The NAACP against John W. Davis, great constitutional lawyer, one time candidate for president. The NAACP against the entrenched power of the South. The NAACP against almost 100 years of law and custom and prejudice.

You know the rest.

Monday Chief Justice Warren read a 12 page opinion: "We hold that the plaintiffs . . . are by reason of the segregation complained of deprived of equal protection of the law guaranteed by the 14th Amendment."

I'm Tired

That's it. Those dry, legal words mean that Jim Crow in schools, any school, violates the Fourteenth Amendment.

People ask me how I feel.

I don't know.

I am tired. Just plain tired.

Jim Crow in schools is dead.

And I am tired.

Tomorrow, or the next day, or the next, I will try to think and answer the question of what we do next, where we go from here.

But tonight I am tired.

Jim Crow schools are dead.

BOOKS

MAN'S SEARCH FOR HIMSELF by Rollo May

Dr. May has had years of experience in helping people work out their difficulties and he writes clearly and understandably in everyday terms. He reviews the discoveries of modern psychology and recent developments in one of the youngest of sciences; he stresses what psychiatric help can and cannot accomplish. He goes on to show how it is possible to build up a strength within oneself against the insecurities of modern life and to achieve eventual release from tensions. There are inspiring chapters about the reintegration of values, mental and spiritual.

THE WELL-ADJUSTED PERSONALITY by Phillip Polatin and Ellen Philtine

Like other branches of medicine, the most effective side of psychiatry is preventive psychiatry. In a practical and useful book, the authors show how much the layman can do to help himself and others deal with such symptoms as fear, worry, or insecurity before they become major problems and demand professional help. More specifically, the book discusses practical preventative measures for adolescents, students, married couples, workers, the aged, and other groups. It is recommended both to social and psychiatric workers and to the interested reader.

AMEZ Youth Hear R. R. Wright, III

The Junior church group of the First AMEZ church has the spotlight on the third Sunday in each month. On that day the gospel choir, composed of alert young people, furnished the music, junior ushers and junior trustees and stewards are in charge.

Sunday, May 16, was a gala day for the youth church. The officers invited R. R. Wright, III, manager of the Broadway Federal Savings and Loan association, to speak, and he addressed the assembly on the subject, "Get Ready, Get Set, Go and Keep Going."

He admonished the parents to develop in their children strong bodies and strong minds, character traits which will be acceptable to God and man.

He emphasized scholarship, reverence and faith, obedience, trustworthiness, honesty, courage, generosity, cleanliness, helpfulness, good sportsmanship, thrifty and patience as the desirable qualities in any young person, qualities which make for success.

He enlarged on these things and likened the human life to a marathon race with its handicaps and hurdles. He said "Perseverance and courage will aid us in breaking the tape of resistance and carry us triumphant to the goal."

Mrs. Gladys Buford, secretary of the Young Women's Missionary society, and advisor to the youth church, acted as mistress of ceremonies. The gospel choir, under the direction of Mrs. Joella Johnson Hicks, thrilled the congregation with tuneful spirituals and hymns. Miss Mary Ann Buford was at the piano.

Rev. S. H. Marion, pastor, commended Wright for his splendid address which was helpful to adults and the youth as well. He called upon his daughter, Mrs. Thelma Gilholm, to express the appreciation of the church to Wright.

Phillips Temple Young People Hold Services

The young people of Phillips Temple exercised their talents in each service last Sunday. The morning service found the pulpit filled with David Brown, director of Youth Work from the Immanual Presbyterian church, as guest speaker.

Brown spoke from the subject "They Shall Walk and Not Faint." The music was furnished by both the Youth and Junior Choirs under the direction of Mrs. Virgie LeNoir and Miss Geneva Batiste.

The day was closed with the evening service, and Miss Colleen Anderson as the speaker. Miss Anderson spoke from the National Family Week theme, "A Troubled World Needs Christian Families."

On next Sunday evening at 6:45 p.m. the senior choir will present their ninth annual Spring musicale. This year it will feature a male chorus, soloists, and a mixed chorus. Mrs. Minnie Albritton Hampton is the director.

Calvary Baptist Church In Santa Monica Bay Area Ground Breaking Sunday

Many notables will be present to participate in the ground-breaking services at the Calvary Baptist church of Santa Monica among whom will be Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz, Mayor Thomas McDermott, Chief H. W. Hurchinson, Hon. Donald L. Jackson of the 16th Congressional District and many others.

The church, pastored by Dr. W. P. Carter, will erect in the near future its educational building which will include a day nursery and many classrooms along with a social Hall which can be converted to many uses.

Dr. Carter has served as pastor for 15 years and has erected one of the most stately church edifices to be found any where. A huge colonial style building with beautiful landscape that gives the outside a magnificent appearance.

The general public is invited to witness this historic affair. Time, 3:30 p.m. Church located at 20th St and Broadway.

REV. HENRY M. BEECHAM, pastor of Gospel Mission Baptist Church, announced the opening of its enlarged new location at 7321 Miramonte Blvd., May 30th. Originally consisting of six persons in 1951, the present membership has advanced to 150. Public invited, 11 a.m. Sermon: "Treasurer Out of Darkness."

Lincoln Church Plans Musicale

The Music department of Lincoln Memorial Congregational church, 4415 South Hooper avenue, will present a Spring Musical Sunday, May 25, at 8 o'clock.

The Lincoln Memorial church choir and a chamber orchestra will be featured in excerpts from Cavalleria Rusticana by Mascagni; Edward Goldstein and Al Wilson, violinists, in the Double Violin Concerto by Bach and Madolin Slovinzic, pianist, in Pictures From An Exposition by Mussorgsky, Jack Fortney, organist, and Paul Sinia, director.

Members of the chamber orchestra include: Zoe Wise, Carolin Wise, Thomas Green, Danny Nipolitano, Edward Goldstein and Al Wilson.

Slate Hall Johnson Choir On Brotherhood 'Jubilee'

The Hall Johnson choir will be one of five choral groups appearing at the "Brotherhood Through Music Jubilee," sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews, at the Cathedral of St. Sophia, 1324 So. Normandie, Thursday evening, May 27. The choir is conducted by Hall Johnson.

Dr. E. I. Robinson, president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, will be one of the principal speakers between the musical numbers discussing "Unity Under God."

Also on the program will be Bishop Athenagoras, Father Leonidas C. Contos, the very Rev. Anthony Kosturos and the very Rev. A. Homer Demopulos, all of the Cathedral of St. Sophia; Dr. Max Nussbaum, rabbi of the Hollywood Temple Israel; Dr. Forrest C. Weir, executive director of the Church Federation of Los Angeles; and Dr. William Lindsay Young, executive director of the National Conference in Southern California.

The climax of the program will be the singing of Stanton's "Hymn For All People," by a massed inter-racial and inter-faith choir of more than 200 voices, which will be directed by Geraldine Smith Healy, music supervisor of the Los Angeles Board of Education.

The composition, according to Stanton, "reflects the spiritual aspirations of all freedom loving people around the world."

The program is open to the public, starting at 7:30 p.m., without charge.

The National Conference of Christians and Jews is a civic educational agency for the promotion of good will, justice, understanding and cooperation among people of all religions, races and national origins.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. O'Bryant:

The enclosed half page from the California Eagle displayinig your beautiful choir robes, was of tremendous interest to me. Perhaps it's because I'm the wife of a minister, or it may be because I like to help sometimes too. Never-the-less, when busy people take time out to do something good for somebody else just because it's good to do it, I think it is wonderful and worthy of commendation.

With every good wish for your continued success, I look forward to meeting your wonderful little family real soon.

Very sincerely,

Alabama Farmers Guilty of Slavery

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — In the second trial of its kind in Alabama since the Civil War, two prosperous farmers were found guilty late Friday of holding two Negroes in slavery.

The Dial brothers, Oscar and Fred, were arrested a year ago, along with five other white men, on Federal Grand Jury charges of enslaving four Negroes and murdering one of them.

Herbert Thompson died May 7, 1953. The government charged that his death was caused by the merciless beating he had received at the hands of the two farmers, Fred and Oscar Dial.

The jury Friday just before midnight, after deliberating for 14 hours, found the two guilty of conspiring to force two Negroes into involuntary servitude, but acquitted them of charges of operating a slavery ring. It also found Fred Dial guilty of forcing Thompson into peonage — making him work out a debt.

Judge Hobart Grooms set sentencing of the Dials for June 4.

The government charged that Thompson died three days after he was beaten when he attempted to escape from the brothers' farm in west Alabama. An autopsy showed that the cause of death was pneumonia.

At the trial, Coy Lee Tanksly and Leroy Brown both testified they were forced to work without wages on the Dial farm and were beaten by the defendants.

At the time of the arrest, the seven, six of whom belong to the Dial family, were charged with kidnapping the Negroes from rural areas in Alabama and Mississippi, keeping them on their farm under conditions of bondage, forcing them to work in the fields, beating them and treating them with the utmost cruelty.

Venice Men Arrested On Rape Charge

SANTA MONICA — Two Venice men are being held by police this week on charges of criminally assaulting a 19-year-old girl in the home of her sister on Westminster Avenue.

Identified as Arlie Leslie Beets, 32, 819 Coeur d'Alene avenue, construction worker, and Claude Ray Morris, 39, 14 Rose avenue, barber, the men were arrested after being traced through the license number of the truck in which they drove away from the scene of the alleged assault.

According to the story told police by the victim's sister, the men came to her home and asked if she had any furniture to re-upholster. When she answered negatively, they pushed her into the house and attempted to attack her. She broke away and ran for help and when she returned with a neighbor, found the men assaulting her sister, she said.

"The Meaning of Security." If God is with me who can be against me? The Los Angeles Baha'i's will meet Sunday, May 23, 3 p.m., at 331 S. New Hampshire Ave.

said he "was shocked to learn that the Court had reversed itself." He pointed to South Carolina laws providing for the abandonment of public education.

Close behind Talmadge and Byrnes were Southern senators, such as Eastland of Mississippi; Maybank of South Carolina and Russell of Georgia. Russell called it a "flagrant abuse of political power" and called the Court a "tool" of the executive branch.

Eastland openly predicted that Mississippi will not obey the court decision and said that Negro and white children "will never attend the same schools" in his state. Maybank said the decison was a "shameful political, rather than a judicial decision."

However, there were calmer voices that rose from the babble of vituperation in the South. Oklahoma, Kentucky, West Virginia and Missouri indicated that they will obey the Court's mandate while Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas was quick to say that his state "will not abandon public schools."

Senators Russell Long of Louisiana and George Smathers of Florida cautioned against rash statements and were joined by Senator John Stennis of Mississippi. All indicated opposition to the decision but said the matter deserved study and serious reflection.

Negro leaders in the South said flatly that the decision would be obeyed by the South and termed the statements of segregationists as "sound and fury." James N. Hinton, who sparked the South Carolina case, pointed out that the county superintendent of schools foresaw no insuperable barriers to putting the decision into effect.

A. T. Walden, Atlanta lawyer and long a figure in his state, contradicted Talmadge with the statement that despite protests the South had obeyed other decisions involving white primary laws and abolition of segregation in graduate and professional schools.

Rob Store On Central Avenue

"Don't try to be a hero," two armed thugs told James (Jimmy) Roy, clerk at the Central Avenue Feed and Fuel store, 4312 S. Central avenue, early Tuesday morning, as they ordered him to turn over the cash.

Roy had about $275 covering three days' receipts, which the bandits grabbed.

They entered the store about 8 a.m. Both were in their late twenties. One pointed a gun at Roy, demanding the money.

LES CREOLE BELLES—Popular group will sponsor a night at the Ebony Showcase during the current running of the hit play Caricature. The club event is slated for June 6. Members are: Grace Johnson, Geraldine McLarcher, Louise Jase, Tommie Lee, Billie McCoy, Lu Cille Hornk, Grace Johnson, Eula Turner, Victoria Haughton, Gloria McLollie and Catherine Price. Reserve June 6th as the night with les belles!

SCOUT FLASHES

An experiment in combined meetings of Intermediate Girl Scout Troops 527 and 409, of the 108th Street School, has resulted in highly gratifying work by the members, says Mrs. Willa Mae Armstrong, leader. Special ear-ring gifts for the mothers, and cakes for the PTA, are among the recent projects carried out successfully by the groups. Barbara Colbert won first prize in the cake contest; Elfernia Ringor was cited for best decoration. All 15 participants turned in good work.

Garden Motif Highlights AKA's 3rd Annual Dance

Friday night the Zenda Ballroom was transformed into an exquisite garden where manzanita trees and tropical flowers reflected the magic and romance of a beautiful moonlit garden. All the necessary requisites that made the ball the gayest and most enjoyable of the season were present. Amid an atmosphere of gaiety and a sylvan garden seting, guests of Alpha Kappa Alpha women in Los Angeles held forth to the wee hours of the morn socializing and dancing to the dreamy music of Jeep Smith and his orchestra.

Guests arrived to find a miniature garden on the center of the floor complete with a gleaming white birdbath topped by a statute of cupid to remind all of the theme, "In a Garden With You." Fans were given to the ladies, who used them with graceful coquetry as they danced in the garden with their beaming escorts. Imported miniature orchestra sets were presented to the gentlemen to keep them ever mindful that cares of the world were left behind and that Cupid and Bacchus were reigning.

As congratulations were pouring in to the genial chairman, Rubye Mills, who carried out the garden theme in her gown, graciously thanked her committee for giving Los Angeles THE BALL OF THE YEAR. The imposing list of Alpha Kappa Apha sorers who served on the memorable committee included: Shirley Spencer, Chairman of the Finance, Gwen Dusuau, Chairman of the Decorations, Burnette Durham and Jean Carol McGowen, Co-Chairmen of the Invitations, Ruth Redd, Chairman of the Souvenirs, and Cleopatra Johnson, Chairman of Publicity. Other hard-working sorors were Grace Davis, Vesta Smith, Carole Boswell, Vivian Gray, Jesse Walden, Frances Robinson, Alma Shaw, Norma Earles, Gwen Bradfield, Mira Hardon, Anna Wilmore, Cosetta Moore, Lucille Wyndon, Glodeen McClain, Mary Covington and Shirley Curry Green.

An elaborate "before" party, where champagne flowed freely, was held at the Velma Beck home on May 14 as a prelude to the AKA formal.

Among the sixty guests attending the party were: Lonnie and Zerish Eberhardt, William and Mildred Knox, Nellie Render, John and Mary Jackson, Jimmie and Glodeen McClaine, Exard and Jean Scott, Harold Hicks, Delema Perkins, LanDonia Dright, Robert Douglas, Thomas Redd, Lucille Reynolds, Fallace and LaVonne Bryant, Edna and Balford Moses, Mack and Ruth Calhourn, Alfred Glover, Clarence and Ruth Sams, Noah Purefoy, Clara Cravette and many others.

An "after" party was staged by A.K.A. Mildred Knox at her West Blvd. home.

Sojourner In 50th Year Celebration

The Sojourner Truth Home recently met at Harvard House with Miss Rehenia A. Gabriel of the Virgin Islands as special guest. Miss Gabriel is studying at Teachers' College of Columbia University while on leave from her teaching position in the Virgin Islands. Her studies include visiting Los Angeles and other key cities in the United States. Included in her itinerary are the states of Michigan, Illinois and Colorado. Then she will return to Columbia for a workshop session.

At this meeting the program chairman, Mrs. Ella Brown, read a paper entitled "Know Thyself." Mrs. Janye W. Holmassin, president, presided.

Plans for the 50th Anniversary Celebration of the Sojourner Truth Home were announced by Mrs. Gertrude Hicks, program chairman of the celebration ceremonies. A Subscription Appraisal Commitee was appointed for setting in motion machinery for stimulation of public interest in the Anniversary Celebration.

Serving with Mrs. Hicks on the committee are the following: Mrs. Margaret Scott, Mrs. Mary Williams, Mrs. Betty Hill, Rev. Eula Smith, Dr. Vada Somerville, Mrs. Bessie Osborne, Mrs. Irene E. Forsythe, Mrs. Gussie Bacon., Mrs. Sari Judkins, Mrs. Maud Rosemond Johnson, Mrs. Mary L. Johnson and Mrs. Brewington make up the committee.

Medical Society Auxiliary In Fashionable Bridge Set

NEWS IN THE BRIDGE SOCIAL CIRCLES

The Charles R. Drew Medical Society Auxiliary sponsored and promoted a thrilling contract bridge tournament Saturday afternoon, May 8, at the fashionable Wilfandel Club House, located at 3425 W. Adams. It was one of the largest and best-attended bridge tournaments ever held in the city. There were some fifty tables of bridge in play at one time during the tournament, in addition to six tables of canasta, which altogether comprised well over 200 players.

Mr. Kenneth Scott, a leading promoter and himself an expert bridge columnist writer for the Eagle Newspaper, directed the tournament. He was assisted by the Auxiliary President, Mrs. Edward Bailey, and the following General Committee members: Mrs. W. A. Bock, General Committee chairman; Mrs. G. F. Jackson, Co-chairman, and Mrs. Essie Tucker, co-chairman.

The Auxiliary wishes to express its sincere gratitude for the splendid and co-operative support given it by each player attending, as the tournament would not have been such an overwhelming success without such co-operation and support. Each year the Auxiliary awards a scholarship for a nurse to be trained at the County General Hospital. The Auxiliary expects to award this year's scholarship in June.

The interest shown in the tournament caused close, keen competition, and there were several ties at the end. Nevertheless, there were several prize winners who received grand prizes at the end of the tournament play, in addition to the prizes awarded to the winners in canasta. The group enjoyed wonderful entertainment and delicious refreshments at the close.

One of the specail attractions of the evening was the beautiful West Indian Island presentation by Mrs. Ochid Oliver and her cast. Mrs. Magdalene O'Rourke, a member of the group who traveled in India, was dressed in a costume which was characteristic of the style of dress in India.

MID-DAY MUMBLINGS

Haven't the days been nice lately? Its the kinda weather that makes a young man's fancy turn to thoughts of thinking before he speaks lest he finds himself on the receiving end of a preacher's "Do you take this woman" . . . Seriously, though, is it really the summer time that makes a young ruffian wanta get "hung up wiffa broad"? or is it something deeper like Snooker games, Gang fights and poker playing too hot to engage in during this season. . . . Whatever your conclusions are don't write us, we'll write you . . . Enough of this dribble. . . .

Filthy Gossip

Gossiping folk are notorious for their ability to distort the truth, but we distort nothing . . . unless it's our faces when we see an attractive pair of ankles . . . "oh, you kid!"

A GOOD ONE

Here's a choice bit of scandal that's been making the rounds of the frat houses. They say that a certain athlete known locally as a pretty profuse "lovah" let things get out of hand somewhere along his trail of broken hearts and had to backtrack to the point of saying "I DO." . . .

GIRLS ARE THE STRANGEST PEOPLE . . . There's a Delta pledge at state college who's getting the works from a group of on-campus sorors because she is seeing the ex-husband of an inactive Delta who doesn't care whether or not he dates the pledge or Lana Turner. . . . Why do they keep making it so tough for her when "Nobody's Mad"? . . . That's tellin' 'em.

PEOPLE ARE TALKING ABOUT . . .

Leon McCarty, former UCLA Pseudo-Geneous. His black eye, resulting from a savage one-man stand against an alleged 19 knife-carrying, bludgeon-toting rat-packers (and their baby brudders) is the prettiest shade of blue green to be seen . . . anywhere.

Nira Hardon, UCLA senior that made good. . . . Seems she's to be one of the students the Ford Foundation is sending to Europe this summer. . . .

Ballinos first affair. This newly organized club composed of some of the berg's more charming Damsels threw what we thought was going to be a champagne sip (don't know where we get these ideas) at the home of sponsor Lillian Randolph. . . But nobody shook our hand and said, "have some" so guess we had things mixed up . . . huh girls? . . .

Thenian formal. Rumored to be the richest college age social club on the scene, these gals could easily hold classes in how to make a club pay off. Although we missed the formal the whispers that reached our ears were conclusive enough to make us say "the Athenians have scored again." Incidentally, they're pitching one after the all-city trackmeet.

Dapper Willie McGhee shaking up the female populace of the California club the other wee hours. In a public statement to the pretties he said, "I'm interested in only one girl and that is my wife, Nadine." . . . Whaaaatttt?????????

Having heard the toughest act in the Dorothea Towles Sunday afternoon fashion show. The Harris sisters trio have arrived. . .

Everybody is progressing . . . Central Avenu's Bill Robinson theater has the new wide screen. . . . When there mention our names and you pay double.

EASTERN STARS FETE OFFICERS AT BANQUET

The highest ranking Grand Officers of the Golden State Grand Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, Prince Hall Affiliation, were royally entertained at a banquet given recently in their honor at the Cosmopolitan Hotel. This occasion was given to accord special honors to the officers residing in the northern part of the Jurisdiction, by those who are stationed in the Southern area. Mrs. Ann Powell, Mistress of Ceremonies, introduced Rev. Geraldine O'Connor, Grand Matron, who extended greetings of fellowship and the warm welcome of our fair Angel City to the visiting officers who were: Leon F. Marsh and Mrs. ley; Mrs. Arline J. Houston; Vivian Osborne Marsh of Berke. Bakersfield; Mrs. Abbie E. Cantrell, Portland, Oregon; Miss Dolly Fluker, Vallejo, and Mrs. Ethel L. Houston, Fresno.

Other dignitaries of the Golden State Grand Chapter present were: Mrs. Beatrice McCarroll, Mrs. Ida Mae Robertson, Herbert E. Lampkin, Henry M. Spears, Arthur Lewis Crosby, John L. Thompson, Mrs. Mary I. Firmes, Mrs. Carrie Ellis, Mrs. Marjorie L. Herbert, Archie W. Herbert, Mrs. Rose Laskey, Mrs. Bessie Osborne, Andrew Powell, John Narcisse, Mrs. Willie Mae Cowans, Mrs. Mignon Braxton, Mrs. Allie Cook, Mrs. Marie Johnson, Mrs. Mabel Prince, Mrs. Jewel Dudley, Mrs. Lillian Nelson, Mrs. Ann Powell, Mrs. Zora V. Thompson, Mrs. Grace Reynolds, Mrs. Ann King, Mrs. Lessie Postell, Mrs. Lucille Goward and Mrs. Irene Lampkin.

Clubs Competing In Jabberwock

Seven groups are in competion for the Jabberwock's cash prizes totaling $150; they are: the Sinquanons, Loreleis, Medical, Dental, Pharmaceutical Auxiliary; fraternal organizations are: Alpha Kappa Alpha, and Zeta Phi Beta Sororities, the Alpha Phi Alpha, and Kappa Alpha Psi fraternities. Skits, titles and plots are being kept under complete secrecy. Rumors are that much time and money is being spent in preparation for the show.

Queen For A Day

Seven must be the Deltas' lucky number this year as there are seven pretty high school seniors running for the honor of Jabberwock Queen. The girls are very excited over the prospect and are impatiently awaiting the day. Girls in the finals are Jefferson High's Joyce Ewing, Jean Hendricks and Edmonia Morris; Los Angeles High's Paula Pierson, Patrick Smith and Peggy Parks; Manual Arts' Thelma Brown.

Tickets on sale at USC box-office or call AXminister 2-1690.

Sans Pariel Plans Club Breakfast On May 23rd

Final plans were made by the Sans Pariel Social and Charity Club at a special call meeting Saturday evening for the club breakfast to be held on Sunday, May 23, at the Phyllis Wheatley, 2125 South Harvard Blvd. Breakfast will be served from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. A delicious menu has been planned.

The meeting was held at the home of Doris Allen, president, 2943 West View Street. Committee for the affair includes the president, Marie Zeurcher; vice-president, Bernice Pierce, recording secretary, Isabelle Nichols, treasurer, Thelma Alexander, benevolent chairman, Arabella Carr, chaplain, and Mrs. Ester T. Greenley, club advisor.

Club Pledges $500 to NAACP

As a follow-up of their selection of the NAACP as their major project for 1954, the Cavalrettes on Friday unanimously voted a $500 pledge to the association. In addition, each member obligated herself to take out an individual membership.

Two new members, Mrs. Carnelle Tucker, well-known real estate broker formerly of Santa Monica, and Mrs. Emma Lou Porter, who will join the ranks of real estate brokers in June, were welcomed to the club.

In addition to the business meeting, club members, who met at the home of Mrs. Zelma Nance, celebrated the birthday of Mrs. Julia Houston, who received many dainty and lovely gifts.

SURPRISE PARTY

A surprise dinner was given in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Coy Stewart at 332 E. 51st St. for their sister-in-law, Mrs. Leo Stewart of Santa Monica.

The table was decorated beautifully with lilies and colored candles. A delicious menu of turkey and all its trimmings was served.

Leo Stewart presented his wife with a huge cake decorated especially for her in Easter colors. The family gave her a beautiful Duncan Phyfe bookcase.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Bert Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Johnson, of Santa Monica, Mr. and Mrs. Shelba Stewart and little Michal, and Otis Stewart and son, Bud, of Los Angeles.

Invitations were issued to the membership for their forthcoming Garden Party slated for June 27 at the Wilfandel House. The meeting was adjourned for refreshments prepared by hostess Clara Prince.

Those attending were Ruby B. Wilson, Mae Bradford Allen, Josephine McDavid, Oneita Garrison, Elaine Polite, Selma Simon, Harriet Cochran, and Willa Weather.

Visit Bay Area

FRESNO—Della Thrower and Helen Lewis of 957 Boyd ave. in Fresno, spent the weekend visiting friends in the Bay area. Miss Thrower attends the Fresno State college nursing school and is the daughter of H. Williams, owner of the Vetta grill, popular eatery.

Bureau of Music Choral Festivals Sat. Night, June 5

The Los Angeles Bureau of Music will make the east Los Angeles area the site of one of its major choral festivals for the first time when more than 300 young singers take part in the Bureau's annual youth chorus spring festival on Saturday, June 5, at 8:15 p.m. in the auditorium of East Los Angeles Junior College.

Fred Waring's stunning choral setting of Tchaiwöksky's "Nutcracker Suite," sung by the massed choruses under Malcolm Groher's direction, and danced by the Iwanowa Ballet, will be the feature of the program. Eleven of the Bureau's 13 youth units will participate, with several offering special selections under their individual directors.

Admission to the program, sponsored by a division of the city's Municipal Art Department in cooperation with East Los Angeles Junior College, is free to the public, but free tickets of admission should be obtained by writing or calling the Bureau of Music, 1306 City Hall, Los Angeles 12 (MI-5211, Extension 2172).

Hollywood Bowl Opens 33rd Year Thurs., July 15th

The opening concert of the 1954 Hollywood Bowl season on July 15 will have a British accent. Sir Adrian Boult, who conducted the London Philharmonic last year for Queen Elizabeth's coronation, will conduct the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra in the inaugural of the Bowl's 33rd annual series of Symphonies Under the Stars.

Two renowned singers of the Metropolitan Opera Company—Eleanor Steber, leading soprano, and Jan Peerce, leading tenor will be soloists. Boult will also conduct three more concerts at the Bowl.

It will be the first time in the history of the world-famous amphitheatre that a regular season has opened on a Thursday. Thirty previous seasons opened on Tuesdays; one on a Friday, and one on a Sunday.

'DJ' Johnny Otis At the Red Hut

Bandleader Johnny Otis has turned disc jockey and has his own show on KFOX, 1280 on the dial, daily from 7-8 p.m. The Otis program emanates from the big front window of Scrivner's Red Hut Drive In at 3101 S. Western ave.

Johnny features the best in blues and rhythm with patter of the entertainment world and guest interviews.

The noted maestro who has quit the road and will confine his musical efforts to location jobs at home, said he was happy to be associated with the Scrivner organization. He said they operate seven drive-ins in the city and employ large numbers of Negroes in all capacities. A total of 23 are employed at the Red Hut.

Bridge Pointers

By 'KENNY' SCOTT

Almost all bridge players we know, even ardent duplicate players, like to hold big hands. And yet we also know many who do not know what to do with such a hand and will either bid it too low or will play the final contract in the wrong suit. These thoughts were forcefully recalled to mind last week as during an evening of duplicate play there were at least six boards which had slam hands.

One was an ice-cold grand slam at no-trump. A couple of others were cold for six and needed only a finesse for seven. (All finesses worked.) All the rest except one were cold and merely a matter of losing one trick to an outstanding ace. Yet on each board only about half the players in some instances, and many less in others, had bid the slam correctly.

In light of all this we should like to switch the trend of the column slightly this week and discuss slams.

Hand To Drool Over

With North dealer, South picked up the following hand:

S. AKQ10742
H. Q84
D. A2
C. A

This would make any one drool as it contains virtually unaided game in the top ranking major. Then the miracle occured. North opened the bid with one diamond. The suit actually is immaterial. The fact that North could open immediately marks him with certain values which can almost be itemized card for card. In the case we observed South made a waiting bid of two spades and North replied three clubs. South went into Blackwood Convention and discovered North had the ace of hearts.

Obvious Grand Slam

At this stage South knows North has either two kings and a couple of queens or three kings without bidding five no-trump. If by some strange chance North has only one king his diamond suit is at least KQJxxx. It seems that a bid of five no-trump would be giving more information to the enemy than to South and we believe the best bid now is seven no-trump.

Here is North's hand.

H. A96
C. KQ63

We think it would be harder to sit down and construct so obvious a grand slam. We certainly have seen no examples so easy. Yet upon looking at the score sheet we discovered that only at our table was this contract achieved. One team did arrive at seven spades. Others played at anywhere from four spades to six no-trump.

Last week we mentioned that level for level no-trump offers the highest possible score. This hand is a perfect example of a long suit with which it is impossible to ruff anything and is thus perfect for no-trump play.

Classes for beginners, men and women, are offered at the YWCA Tuesday evenings at 7:30 p.m. All are invited to attend.

MISS LOUISE BEAVERS, star of screen, radio and television interviewed Mrs. Loren Miller, wife of the editor and publisher of the California Eagle, on KOWL, Wednesday, May 19. Mrs. Miller, a Delta soror and charter member of Upsilon Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, appeared as Miss Beaver's guest in the interest of Jabberwock being staged May 23, 3 p.m., at Bovard Auditorium, University of Southern California.

Medical Dental Scholarship

The Medical, Dental and Pharmaceutical Auxiliary is receiving applications from Junior Science students for a year's scholarship.

The student selected may attend the university of his or her choice for one year starting with the fall semester. Selection of this student will be made on the basis of scholastic rating, financial need and future promise.

The task of determining the winner will be handled by Education Chairman of the Auxiliary, Mrs. Lydia McCain, and her committee.

The committee requests letters be mailed to 2321 Buckingham Rd., Los Angeles 16.

JEFF'S SPIKERS VIE FOR 'THE BIG PAY-OFF'

Prying Pye

By Brad Pye, Jr.

CHARLIE POWELL IS FOR REAL . . .

Charlie Powell, the erstwhile SF '49er defensive flankman, who scored a dynamic tko over Harlan Kelley (that the whole town's still talking about) in the first main event of his career at the Olympic Monday night is tabbed by Long John Thomas—the newly appointed state referee—as "a helluva prospect."

Thomas, who was perhaps one of the best lightweights the state has ever produced during the war, word is good enough for us. . . . Incidentally, Powell's little brother Ellsworth & his LACC side kick Eddie Cazenave, Charles "Papa Luigi" Lewis & Mrs. (Betty) Lewis were among the ringsiders at the Powell-Kelly match.

WILL THE NORTH WIN THE STATE? . . .

Will a Northern California prep team win the state prep meet in Berkeley next weekend? . . . Kingsburg High, with Rafer Johnson, one of the most sought after prep halfbacks in the state, competing in the hurdles and broadjump could win with him alone. . . . Piedmont's Monty Upshaw in the same events is another possibility. . . .

Delano High, with state sprint champ Leamon King and a fast relay squad, is another. . . . Alameda High, with James Jackson who set a new Fresno record of 9.6 in the prelims Sat. & the Hornets' veteran relay outfit should also be given strong consideration. . . . On paper it looks rough for the southerners.

IS THIS THE TRUTH? . . .

It's rumored around the grapevine, if Jeff loses the city meet it'll be because of the extra-curricular activities of several of its disappointing stars, namely James "Duck" Davis, Maudice Giles, and Joe Winslow. . . . Winslow & Giles have been nursing injuries since the Fremont meet. . . .

Davis has been apparently suffering from over (you name it), since the Manual meet. . . . Davis is perhaps the only one of the three who is a sure entry in the city meet. . . . Will he be a hero or a goat? . . . An athlete who won the city mile crown as a junior shouldn't be happy with anything less than the same as a senior.

REDDING PREDICTS 3:59.6

THAT FOUR MINUTE MILE—Ned Redding, candidate for Congress from the 26th district, makes like an athlete while he demonstrates to Mal Whitfield, Tank Younger and Eddie Atkinson how he thinks Mal should lower the mile mark to less than four minutes. Tank is the Ram's heavy duty fullback and Eddie is one of Loyola's All-Time football

WORLD'S GREATEST STARS VIE IN COLISEUM RELAYS

Estel Johnson and John Childress' unbeaten Jefferson High thinclads vie for the "big pay-off" against the best the metropolis has to offer in the all-city prep finals, which will be held in conjunction with the annual Coliseum Relays in the Figueroa street saucer this Friday night.

The Jeff athletes who have sneaked by their strongest pursurers — the powerful Manual Arts Toilers — in two previous meetings and also placed 17 men to the latter's 15, are slim favorites to retain the city crown.

Jeff's big wheels should prove to be hurdlers Will Chappell, Cliff Smart, sprinter Ed Walter, broadjumper - shot putter Joel Stafford, half-miler Albert "Flying Irishman" McDade, miler Jim Newman and James "Duck" Davis, 440-man Henry Cooks and Leo Payne, and high jump ace John Thomas.

Manual hopes to upset the Jeff boys with sprinter, Everett "The Horse" Jackson, who despite a leg cramp midway of his qualifying 220 heat Saturday went on to win it in 22.3, hurdler, Ernie Hall; halfmilers, Norm Debase and Jim Goodyear, et al.

Some of the town's top Negro prep stars should be Poly's miler, Joe Washington; 440-favorite, John Bowden; Jordan's 440-acre, Oscar Neal; sprinters, Booker T. Washington and Calvin Brown, and shot put star, Dan Everage. Los Angeles' Carl Robinson, a sprinter of note, Dorsey's hurdler, Odell Lomax.

Fremont's Class B sprint sensation, Ken Dennis, is a boy to watch perform on the Pathfinders record breaking 660yard relay squad.

Mal Whitfield, the fabulous two-time Olympic 800-meter champ, Andy Stanfield; Fresno's Les Laing and Herbie Turner, George Brown, ELAJC's Floyd Jeter and Jim Gamble; Hec Hogan, the boy from Australia who tied Mel Patton's world record of 9.3 in the century, SC's Ernie Shelton, Parry O'Brien are just hand full of the world greatest, who will be competing in the Coliseum Relays.

OUTFIELDER — Milton Smith is one of the two Smiths on the San Diego nine. He'll be seen in action against the Stars at Gilmore, this week-end.

UNBEATEN OMEGAS INVADE BAY AREA

Fred Griffin's unwhipped 1954 Inter-Frat Southern Division Champion basketeers invades Oakland to meet their Bay Area brothers Northern division kingpins for the state title in the Fremont High School Gym this Saturday night.

Griffin's gang has been waiting a year to get back to the Bay Area to redeem themselves for their sad showing last spring against the Bay Area all-stars.

Big Jim Powell, Larry Dugan, Algin Sutton, Charles Hill, Charles Reed, James Gilbert, Ed Tucker, John Sandoz, Fernandez Goode et al should turn the tide against their often beaten Northern brothers.

The Bay Area Omeaga five's top performers are Capt. Bob Crowe, Willie Steele, Dan Tyler, V. Carter and H. Harris.

The tune-up game will pit the northern Alphas against the Kappas. Officers of the Inter-Frat cage council in charge of the affair are Bob Lee—Alpha, chairman; Ura D. Harvel—Kappa, vice chairman; Shyrl Robinson—AKA, vice chairman; Gloria Keith — Delta, secretary; Thelno Knowles—Omegas, treasurer.

Ben Bowie Boxing

The voices of all sport fans in the community are loud and enthusiastic this week about the Junior Golden Gloves Boxing Tournament, sponsored by the Ben Bowie Post No. 228 American Legion, which is being held on Friday night, May 28 at the Allena Theatre Gym, located at 126 East Santa Barbara Ave.

GEORGE RAMSEY

BEAUTIFUL CALIENTE IN OLD MEXICO:

Careless Beau, the four-year-old son of Imported Khaled-Beauing scored his third straight victory in winning the featured "Berkley" Handicap at Caliente last Sunday.

RAMSEY

The handsome dark brown and royally bred son of Khaled just toyed with hsi field as he came under the wire by three lengths defeating some of the best sprinters south of the border in one of the fastest six furlong dashes in many months.

Those in the crowd of 7587 who established Careless Beau the favorite were rewarded at the rate of $4.40 for every $2.

The briskly wagering patrons kept the mutuels humming to a total of $243,922 for the 12 races.

Dr. H. R. Graves' Zigana continued her recent improvement to capture the co-featured Alameda purse at a mile. With Alex Maese keeping her going, she outgamed Dashing Beauty and the favored Toubo Did in a deserving race of 1:37 3-5 to pay $28.60.

Hollywood Park, the track with its beautiful lake, flowers, imported black and white swans and pretty goose girl, will have only four days racing this week (Wednesday through Saturday) but three stakes will be programmed.

The Goose Girl Stakes for three-year-old fillies at six furlongs will be the featured attraction on Wednesday. It carries an added value of $15,000.

Friday the Junior League Stakes for two-year-old fillies, California Bred, at five furlongs with $15,000 added, and on Saturday the Golden State Breeder's Handicap at one and one-sixteenth miles with $25,000 added.

Past winner of the Golden State were On Trust, he took it twice; Honeymoon, Your Host and Moon Rush.

On Trust still remains the greatest money-earning thoroughbred ever foaled in California and Honeymoon the biggest earner among the fillies and mares bred in the state.

DANGEROUS DON GRANT—Risks an unbeaten, untied ring record against Chebo Hernandez in the Olympic main event Monday night. Grant, who is handled by the capable Duke Hollway, has a record of 13 wins.

Brice Taylor 'Man of Color'

Brice Taylor, USC's first all-American footballer and currently on the Thomas Jefferson High faculty, has been selected to appear on the American Broadcasting Company's "Man of Color" program this Saturday (May 22) over radio station KABC at 6:30 p.m.

This weekly feature is directed by Jack Wormser and produced by Miss Estelle Edison, one of the few Negro radio graduates in the country. Miss Edison recently took over this post from Bill Luke.

Brice, the erstwhile great running guard on Howard Jones' '25 USC grid team, will offer some inspiring tips to upcoming athletes in his interview.

Sir Debuteers Capture 'Gift' Loop Game

The Associated clubs resumed their regular softball games after a week's layoff with a bang. Over in Pasadena in Brookside Park the Royal Dragons behind Tommy Mill's two home runs took the measure of the YMPL 5 to 2. John Finney's outstanding job behind the plate was one of the highlights of the game.

The Sir Debuteers maintained their lead in the American League race as they set back the Conquistadors 6 to 1 as Carl Green's big bat accounted for most of the Debuteers' runs along with Harold Washington's daring base-running.

At the Will Rogers playground the Social Barons edged out the Ebony Earls 2 to 1 in a tight and thrilling game. Bill Fay's late inning home run provided the Barons with the winning talley. Junior Bell and Pete McCaller played brilliant ball for the Earls.

Patterson In 'Real'

NEW YORK — Nineteen-year-old Floyd Patterson of Brooklyn, N.Y., currently ranked fifth in the light-heavyweight division, is "the greatest fighter in the ring today," declared DuMont sportscaster, Chris Schenkel, in an article in the current issue of REAL Magazine, just released.

SOUTH PARK STAGES MAY DAY FESTIVAL

The young and the old are anxiously waiting for the Annual "May Day" at South Park, which will be May 20, 1954 at 4:30 p.m. "Sleeping Beauty," a story of old will be the theme this year.

The boys and girls have worked very hard in preparation for this day. Your attendance means a lot to them so everyone come out and watch the boys and girls perform for you the "Sleeping Beauty," a play in song, dance and patomine.

Immediately following the play, "Kensleys' Kiddy Karnival" will be on the grounds, with rides for the boys and girls.

The "South Park Sluggers" continued their pace in the pre-season little league baseball by coming from behind in the last of the 7th inning to defeat Downey 7-6. Teams wishing games please call Mr. Ward at ADams 9606.

Not to be outdone by the "Sluggers," the South Park track team, a determined band of spikemen, won the South District track meet Saturday, May 15, at Manual Arts. The outstanding performance of the track meet was turned in by a South Parkman.

Joe "Flash" Batten turned in a remarkable time of 10 flat in the 100 yard dash. He rant the event in "tennis shoes," so watch for this lad in the Junior Olympics.

Don't forget "May Day at South Park, Thursday, May 20, 1954, at 4:30 p.m.

SAN DIEGO hurler, Theolic Smith is one half of the famous Smith act of the border city's nine which will perform against Hollywood this week-end.

Just maybe you didn't notice what the Time magazine man had to say about Eartha Kitt in "New Faces," so here goes: She makes the spectator feel like an iron filing when the magnet passes by! . . . Now lookee here, we've had an awful lot of people in the office tonight, and there's a guy here now who says there's not one youthful singer in the Negro race who has cracked the popular-song field. Instead of making the hit parade with Three Coins in the Fountain, and such-a-like, (Dredrick says) our young-blood troubadour is warbling either Old Man River or the blues. But Martin Dedrick says he'll break through! . . . Martin says Eckstein and Arthur Lee Simpkins are forty-ish, so they don't count, and Lawrence Stone, Ernie Andrews, etc., need La Rosa's and Eddie Fisher's song material. . . . If you're stout, you can melt lbs. away with the Starr-way to Health garments. R. E. Alexander, who is "beating the drum" for the ensembles, sold Dynamite Jackson one, and cute Pat, who owns the record box on Western, is Alexander's star model.

THAT FRENCH WALK

When Dorothea Towles strolled around the Florentine Gardens in that Bikini, you never seen such male nudging and femme shruggin'. For the most part, Dot was pin point sharp. Like commentator Wini Orr suggested, she's a model who just plain models. And Wini went on to say that although Miss Towles has acquired a French accent, the li'l dollin's still got a touch of Texas.

PRETTY SURVIVOR

'Weighty' Situation

People and Places

MALBROUGH, Ann and Joseph realized part of a dream when they opened their ultra modern dress shop gracing Western Avenoo at Exposition. When they closed their doors after the grand opening on Saturday the day's receipts totaled $1000!

DOROTHEA TOWLES' fabulous $250,000 collection of Parisian gowns had sparsely filled Florentine Gardens ticket holders chuckling! Several noted designers claimed that her collection of garments would draw praises from the forthcoming Antique Show to hit town this week!

TONY ATKINSON, pretty wifie of handsome Eddie helps hubby keep that plush atmosphere about the Town Tavern because she dresses so smartly and fashionably.

BRAGGING ABOUT A MAN— is that pretty brownskin social worker in the offices of West Adams and Grand Street. What she isn't telling friends that her charming hubby demands she make those eight hours, and deliver her paycheck to him uncashed!

BO FRANKLIN—ex-Club Alabam dancer is among the selected few remaining in the big 102 contest and the shapely dancer might capture the top prize!

DYNAMITE JACKSON is telling friends he'll be toasting himself on his birthday Wednesday, May 26, at his swank cocktail sip palace on 47th and Central Avenoo. The big time ring official will be set to greet some of the top figures in the city who will breeze through the doors of his smart place!

LLOYD LA BEACH and L.A. Rams Bob Boyd have teamed to give the sip-seekers two of the finest drinks since grandfather discovered the spirited drink. La Beach's newest bottle rage is Old Jim Gore; comes in a fancy bottle encased with a classy suede cover. Boyd is pushing an improved Seagram Gin and both are catching on with the eastsiders!

WINI ORR—who did a masterful job handling the Dorothea Towles show, almost came to blows with furrier Meyer Berliner who insisted on running things!

VIOLENT FILMFARE

SCREEN WRITER PAUL JARRICO makes his bow as a producer with "Salt of the Earth," much-praised new American film now playing its gala premiere at the Marcal Theatre, 602 Hollywood Blvd. Jarrico is the author or co-writer of 13 screenplays, including "Tom, Dick and Harry," "The White Tower," "The Search," "Song of Russia" and "Thousands Cheer." Rosaura Revueltas and Juan Chacon, above, are co-stars of "Salt of the Earth," directed by Herbert Biberman, from a Michael Wilson screenplay concerning the love story of changing relationships between a young miner and his wife.

Greek Theatre Opening July Fifth Will Feature N. Y. Ballet Company

From the program of attractions so far announced, it appears that the Greek Theatre is going to be the place to go again this summer. Festivities open July 5th with a return engagement of the New York City Ballet Company.

The repertory for this visit will be brightened by 6 west coast premieres and by George Balanchine's magnificent new full length production of "The Nutcracker," the ballet that recently enjoyed 25 sold out performances in New York and which Dance News lauded as "the high mark in the history of American ballet."

Noteworthy Presentation

This is the first time a complete version of "The Nutcracker" has ever been attempted by a major ballet company in America. Los Angeles will be the only city outside of New York that will have an opportunity to see this lavish production. To arrange for presentation at the Greek Theatre took some doing. To augment the 60 odd dancers of the New York City Ballet Company, 40 local young hopefuls between the ages of 8 and 13 will have to be painstakingly trained for the part they will play in this colorful dance fantasy.

Because the Greek Theatre does not have the same backstage facilities as the New York City Center Theatre, over $10,000.00 will have to be spent to faithfully recreate all of the scenic effects of the New York production.

Nellie 'Gone Gal' Lutcher Scores Hit at Club Oasis

The Club Oasis is going full stride to merit its well-earned tag, the Jazz Haven of the West Coast, with the unique stylings of Nellie Lutcher and her Rhythm drawing her hundreds of fans nightly at the Western avenue spot, and Sugar Ray Robinson, the middleweight champion of the world, demonstrating his fancy footwork, beginning Friday, May 28.

Colorful Entertainer

The most colorful fighter of the generation, Sugar Ray's great ring success was often credited to his sensational footwork and the startling rhythm of his punches. Retiring with the title, Sugar Ray shows his host of fans the agility and lightness that made him the all-time champion, via his dancing ability.

In the meantime, Nellie Lutcher, that "Real Gone Gal," is providing her fans with her rhythms and stylings which have made her a perennial favorite.

EXTRA

RKO TO FILM 'CARMEN' IN THRILLING CINEMASCOPE

Exclusively Interviewed by Chazz 'Sound Track' Crawford

"Maybe you haven't got the message yet, boy. Carmen is one woman nobody keeps on a leash." Dorothy Dandridge doing the talking as Carmen Jones on RKO studio's stage 1-B. And James Edwards listening hard to the luscious lady's salty speech. The action takes place on a rigged-up set that represents a down-to-soil furnished room that's been a haven of rest for Carmen and her guy Joe. Carmen is feeling lowdown and mean and feels no pain even if her man is standing "with egg in his face" and a hopeless, helpless love in his heart.

Another Eagle Exclusive

This scribbler stands quietly on the sidelines along with electricians, grips, cameramen, make-up men, wardrobe mistresses, actor David Niven, director Otto Preminger and his assistant Mac Slater. It's really a first test run for the all-Negro epic that's to be filmed in Cinemascope and handsome Technicolor. La Dandridge, just as I predicted some time ago (aw skip it, Louella) has "locked up" the title role. Jimmie is assisting her with the test by standing in as the romantic male lead. What he'll probably play is the part of "Husky" Miller, the handsome gladiator of the ring or the pug of the piece. All he needs is "twenty pounds and a few workouts." He has the punch for the role. Harry Belafonte wil play Joe and Pearl

Bailey and Olga James will have other starring roles.

They're rolling the scene again now. Dandridge is telling Edwards as how she's tired of being "cooped up in this alley" and about to make a break for the door (rolling slightly from the hips). Jimmie is telling her as how he's "got no place to go" but she just don't pay him no never mind. As she goes out the door, he stares longingly after her. Director Preminger beamingly yells "cut" and tells the help to "print that one." Edwards and I make a break for the commissary to break bread. Dandridge follows soon after, sauntering into the cafeteria, followed by admiring glances. Who could blame them?

"I'm just beginning to unwind," she tells me. The reason being her recent arrival in town from nitery engagements in the East. I asked her if the Carmen role doesn't belong to her for sure now. She grins and says it wouldn't be kosher for her to say. So Jim and I say it for her. Then she dimples prettily and admits that if and when the flicker is completed, she'll probably be a very uninhibited girl, cause this Carmen is really "some dame" and you have to live with the part.

Jim notices my sprained arm is trembling slightly, and tells me to calm down. "After all," he says, "this Dandridge doll is only human." I promise to try and remember, and quickly gulp my coke down. It's time for the next take, and as Jimmie picks up the tab, I ankle out arm in arm with Dandridge, and sneer at John Wayne who strolls by to make a phone call.

Dorothy and James have my undiluted affection for inviting me out on the lot, and powers that be my unsolicited gratitude for the promise of a possible part in the film on the strength of the "No Exit" play I worked. Let 'em roll like a big wheel!

The rates of per diem wages for each of the various classifications of work shall be the hereinbefore set forth prevailing rates of hourly wages multiplied by eight (8). Eight (8) hours shall constitute a day's work; it being understood that in the event that workmen are employed less than eight (8) hours per day, the per diem wages shall be deemed to be that fraction of the per diem wages herein established that the number of hours of employment bears to eight (8) hours.

WORKING RULES

1. Where a single shift is worked, eight (8) consecutive hours between 7 A.M. and 5 P.M. shall constitute a day's work at straight time for all workers.
2. Forty (40) hours between Monday 7 A.M. and Friday 5 P.M. shall constitute a week's work at straight time.
3. All work performed in excess of eight (8) hours per day or forty (40) hours per week or on Holidays and Sundays shall be paid for at the rate for overtime of the craft involved.
4. Holidays as herein referred to shall be deemed to be New Year's Day, Decoration Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Armistice Day, Thanksgiving Day and Christmas. If any of the above holidays fall on Sunday, the Monday following shall be considered a legal holiday.

It shall be mandatory upon the contractor to whom a contract is awarded, and upon all subcontractors under him to pay not less than said general prevailing rates of per diem wages to all workmen employed in the execution of the contract.

Notice is also hereby given that all bidders may submit with their bids, a sworn statement of their financial responsibility, technical ability and experience. Such sworn statement may be required to be furnished before award is made to any particular bidder.

Each bid shall be made out on a form to be obtained at said BUILDING BRANCH of the Board of Education; must be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check or bidder's bond issued by a surety company accredited by the Board of Education) for not less than Five Per Cent (5%) of the amount of the bid, made payable to the order of the Board of Education of the City of Los Angeles; shall be sealed and filed with the Counter Clerk of the Board of Education, Room 200, 1425 South San Pedro Street, Los Angeles, by not later than 2:00 P.M. on the date or dates shown above and will be opened and read aloud in public at, or about, said time and in the public hall, second floor, of the above address.

The above-mentioned check or bidder's bond shall be given as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into contract if awarded the work, or any part thereof, and will be declared forfeited if the successful bidder refuses to enter into contract after being requested to do so by the Board of Education.

The successful bidder or bidders will be required to furnish labor and material bonds in an amount equal to 75% of the contract price, and faithful performance bonds in an amount equal to 100% of the contract price, said bonds to be secured by a surety company or surety companies satisfactory to the Board of Education.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids, and to waive any informality in any bid. No bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of sixty (60) days after the date set for the opening therefor.

By order of the Board of Education of the City of Los Angeles.

South Ready To Scuttle All Public Housing

Dixiecrats started hitting back this week in deeds and in words against the Supreme Court action outlawing the South's cherished jim-crow practices, even as the court in new far-reaching decisions extended its rulings.

On Monday, the High Court banned segregation in public housing, publicly-owned theaters, golf links and colleges. These rulings followed by one week its historic action ruling that separate schools are discriminatory and therefore unconstitutional.

Symbol of Terror

On Tuesday in Washington, Sen. Burnett R. Maybank, Democrat of South Carolina, declared that in view of the court's decision he will oppose all public housing in the future.

In Birmingham, Ala., on the same day, a luxurious home built for a Negro owner was fired by an arsonist. And in the same city a fiery five-foot cross, symbol of terror, was burned in the yard of one of the local schools.

Maybank, chairman of the Senate Banking Committee

Gov. Talmadge Shouts Defy As NAACP Meets

ATLANTA, Ga.—While Governor Herman Talmadge screamed defiance at the Supreme Court, southern branches of the NAACP met in the shadow of the Georgia capitol to lay plans for de-segregation of southern schools.

The Association instructed its branch offices in Southern states to petition local school boards for action to abolish public school racial segregation "without delay."

Officials of the association estimated most of the petitions could be filed with school board officials within two weeks.

Each petition is to be accompanied by a letter requesting the school boards to arrange conferences at which Negro representatives could help work out details of ending school segregation.

The association called the meeting to plan action following the Supreme Court's ruling last Monday against school segregation.

A keynote address forwarded to the meeting by Dr. Channing H. Tobias, chairman of the board, had urged that the participants discuss the issue

ACCUSED OF MURDER—Mrs. Odessa Parks was taken into custody at 6 a.m. Tuesday morning after her husband, Hilliard Green, died from a bullet wound.

VICTIM—Hilliard Green died in General hopital Tuesday, victim of a gun-shot wound received Sunday. His wife, Mrs. Odessa Parks, is being held.

Bowlin Jr. Freed Of Manslaughter

After six hours of deliberation, a jury Tuesday found Brandon A. Bowlin Jr., 20, son of prominent Pasadena doctor Brandon A. Bowlin, "not guilty" of manslaughter in connection with the tragic automobile accident that caused the death of young Bowlin's friend, Pasadena City College football player David C. George.

Star witness for the defense in the five-day trial was Caltech professor, Dr. Dino Morelli, expert in mechanical design, who has appeared in some 300 to 400 court cases involving automobile accidents.

Refuted Charge

Dr. Morelli refuted the prosecution contention that young Bowlin was traveling 40 to 50 miles an hour and that he failed to stop at a stop sign when he arrived at the fateful intersection of California street and Fair Oaks avenue, Pasadena, after midnight March 14.

The traffic expert testified had Bowlin been driving at the alleged speed his car would have either cleared the intersection or would have been in such a position that it could not have been seen by the policemen who were approaching the crossing. He testified further that Bowlin could have been going between 14 and 18 miles per hour.

Bowlin, recovered from the brain concussion received in the accident, took the stand in his own defense. Dr. I. B. English was also a witness.

Bowlin, who was represented in the trial by Attys. Richard P. B. Tyson and Robert M. Fisk,

Freeway Route Will Cut Swank Westside District

Owners to Ask City Council To Save Homes

Lightly dismissing the serious race problems involved, the five members of the California Highway Commission Friday unanimously approved the Olympic Freeway route which will cut straight through the Sugar Hill and fashionable Westside residential section, pride of the entire Negro community and most desirable Negro-owned area existing anywhere in the United States.

In the official two-page release sent to the press from Sacramento, there was not a single word about the special difficulties posed for Negro and other minority group residents, barred from acquiring comparable homes in other areas because of race discrimination.

Plan Meeting

Members of the citizens committee who had protested the proposed route at a hearing here in March and who had sent representatives to Sacramento to plead their cause were planning another meeting to see if there is any possible way open to reverse the ruling.

Atty. Bernard Jefferson, who was one of the spokesmen for the residents, told the Eagle that a meeting would be called immediately to determine the next step. He said he thought it possible that the Adams Freeway Committee might be able to carry the fight to the City Council, which customarily must approve plans for clos-

Food Poison Fells Jeff High Singers

As the Jefferson High School A Capella choir was singing spirituals at Valley Junior College in Van Nuys Tuesday night first one member, then another, and then another crumpled to the floor. In all, 10 of the boys and girls keeled over, victims either of food poisoning or of an epidemic of mass hysteria.

Unnerved and alarmed by the sight, six members of the audience fainted dead away.

Two ambulances from Valley Receiving hospital rushed to the college and removed the victims. In all about a third of the 58 singers became ill.

Fire Department rescue squads also hurried to the scene giving first aid to those who had been stricken. Others were treated by private physicians.

The students, who were singing under the direction of Larry Larson, had all had supper in the school cafeteria at 6 p.m. City Dept. of Health officials were called to examine the food that had been served to see if any of it was tainted.

Dets. Frank Lynch and P. A. Poe offered the hypothesis that food poisoning or "mass hysteria" might have been responsible for the strange epidemic.

Knight Quit Bar Group On Bias Issues

Because he couldn't agree with the thinking of the Los Angeles Bar Association about five years ago when that body steadfastly refused to admit Negro attorneys into its membership, Goodwin J. Knight, then California's lieutenant governor, tendered his resignation.

This fact was disclosed last week at a non-partisan meeting of workers of both major parties busily engaged these days in seeing to it that Gov. Knight is re-elected in the June 8 primaries by the greatest popular vote ever accorded a state chief executive.

A significant fact, also, about the current Knight campaign is the disclosure that in the local communities there are found about as many Democrats as Republicans firmly entrenched in the Knight corner.

"Governor Knight is popular with everybody," explained Atty. Everett M. Porter, one of the city's leading Democrats. "Somehow one just doesn't think of party politics when thinking of the governor. He is an excellent combination of idealistic humaneness and practical administrative ability."

Loyalty Board Calls Bunche

NEW YORK—Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, principal director of the United Nations trusteeship department, Nobel Peace Prize winner, recipient of the Spingarn award, was called before the U. S. Employes' Loyalty Board of the U.N. Tuesday.

He was closeted with the board the entire day, but official sources would give no information as to the nature of the proceedings.

The board, established under a presidential directive, met secretly.

Supreme Court Decision Hailed By Ned Redding

"It's the most momentous decision since the emancipation proclamation," declared Redding, candidate for congress in the 26th district. "Our country is finally growing up. This decision should have been passed in 1860." Thus without any equivocation, Redding placed himself squarely on the side of full civil rights for all American citizens.

"I stand squarely behind Truman's civil rights program. It is the only decent attitude that one can have. I've always fought for full citizenship for all citizens. Second class citizenship must go, and must go now," Redding said emphatically.

"I fully supported President Truman's attitude on civil rights when I was a member of the California delegation to the Democratic National Convention. I fully support the idea that all persons should have equal employment opportunities, regardless of race, creed or national origin."

Redding not only talks about civil rights, he practices what he preaches. He publishes sev-

Odessa Parks, of Newton St., Slays Hilliard Green

Crack marksman Mrs. Odessa Parks, a police woman for the past 10 years, coordinator of the Deputy Auxiliary Police at Newton Street station, whipped out her service pistol Sunday evening, aimed and shot "wild."

The bullet she meant as a warning felled her husband, Hilliard Parks Green, piercing him through the groin and inflicting upon him a wound that caused his death.

Green, member of the widely known Green family and a famous football star who played right end on Jefferson High's legendary championship team of 1934, died early Tuesday morning in General hospital.

Charged with Murder

Mrs. Parks, who had been freed on a writ of habeas corpus obtained by her attorney, Earl C. Broady, was again taken into custody at 6 a.m. Tuesday morning, charged with suspicion of murder and lodged in city jail.

Mrs. Parks, the former Odessa Richards who met and fell in love with her husband when they were youngsters going to classes together at Jeff, and who has since become known as one of the best women shots on the police force, told officers that she fired one shot as

Suspect Jailed For Woman's Strangulation

Det. Lieuts. R. T. Reid and Lloyd Baughn arrested a 29-year-old procurer on suspicion of brutally murdering one of his "girls" by strangulation Saturday night in a downtown hotel room.

John Charles Curtis, of 4005 Wall street, was booked at City Jail early Sunday morning by Reid and Baughn after he told conflicting stories about the strangulation death of Naomi Wilkes, 25, 9901 Holmes avenue. He gave her occupation as prostitute and said he was her employer.

Reid and Baughn stated that Mrs. Wilkes was working for Curtis as a prostitute and that he broke in the door where she was entertaining a pick-up.

Officers found Mrs. Wilkes lying on the bed. There was no blood on her body nor were there any wounds. But she had had a "fix" of narcotics earlier.

Curtis said that in trying to bring her around after she passed out, he inflicted injuries severe enough to cause her to bleed badly. He stated that in trying to revive her he would stand her up and she would slump to the floor and one time she struck her head on a

Hearing Today In Shooting of Santa Monican

SANTA MONICA. — Willie James Battles, 45, admitted slayer of his wealthy Santa Monica wife, Mrs. Edna Mae Battles, was to be arraigned in Superior Court here today (Thursday) on murder charges.

Battles admitted to police after he was captured in Ventura that he had pumped all the bullets from his .32 caliber revolver into his wife's body as he stood over her at her home at 2009 4th street last Tuesday, May 11. He said he shot her because she had spurned his offers of reconciliation earlier in the week.

He also stated he and his wife had been married only 20 months before she moved out of their home at 1838 20th street.

He surrendered without a struggle and handed over the gun to police. The license number of his car and his description were given to officers by an alert citizen near the apartment of the murder.

Close friends of the couple said Battles became enraged when his wife, who was 51, refused to sign over valuable property holdings in Mexico, Santa Barbara and Santa Monica.

Mrs. Battles was a resident of Santa Monica for some 40 years and was considered one of the city's most respected citizens.

Funeral arrangements were being handled by Spaulding Mortuary. The body was to be shipped to her sister in Santa Barbara for burial.

HONOR BISCAILUZ—Staff members of Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz' campaign committee, along with well-wishers, are photo-viewed at Statler hotel testimonial luncheon marking Biscailuz' 47 years of service to Los Angeles County. South Los Angeles voters are being given the political works this week. The first was a meeting Tuesday night sponsored by the Friendship Democratic Club at the Elks Lounge on 102nd Street where top Democratic office seekers urged the voters to reject well financed Republican campaigns and vote for a democratic adminsitration pledged to FEPC, full employment and a continuation of the social and economic program initiated by Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry S. Truman and Adlai E. Stevenson.

The Betty Martina's Dance Studio, 10302 Graham Avenue is sponsoring its political office seekers marathon Sunday from 4 to 9 p.m. Candidates of all parties have been invited to present their program. Free entertainment, food and refreshments will be provided.

Willowbrook Elects Easter, Dr. Hendricks

In one of the most spirited elections held in recent years in the Willowbrook School District, William Easter, local businessman; educator Dr. William S. Hendricks and Mrs. Sadie Rubenstein were elected to the trustee board of the Willowbrook School District last Monday.

Local observers state that more citizens participated in this year's election than at any time in the history of the community. Easter and Dr. Hendricks will be serving the board for the first time.

Vi Brown to Emcee Show

Commencing Saturday, June 5, Mrs. Violet Moten Brown, newspaper writer, will emcee a half hour broadcast over radio station KFVD.

The program will consist of spirituals and news comments, and will be on the air from 1 to 1:30 p.m. each week. It is being sponsored by the National Travelers Insurance.

P. T. Anderson, J. Lewis Elected In South L. A.

An overwhelming victory was registered by John O. Lewis, local real estate broker, and Paul T. Anderson, businessman, in their bid to become members of the Enterprise Elementary School District Board of Trustees in last Tuesday's election.

Backed by the Consolidated Civic Committee, whose president is William B. Smith, Lewis and Anderson advocated the strong seven-point program of the committee.

"We are highly gratified by the support we received and the manner in which the community responded," declared Smith.

Graves Tells Program To Local Audiences

Richard Graves, Democratic candidate for governor, stepped up his appeal to local voters with an appearance before the Interdenominational Ministerial Alliance, a breakfast at Clark Hotel and a speech in South Los Angeles.

Asserting that he "would not make one speech in one community and a different one in another," Graves told his audiences that he favors a state FEP measure and a program to curb unemployment.

The officials of the Unemployment Insurance Department came in for observation from Mr. Graves. He contended that the treatment of those seeking unemployment benefits were deplorable and should be discontinued at once.

He charged Governor Knight with abolishing the position of minority relation advisor of the California State Employment Service held by H. B. McAffee. Mr. McAffee's duties were to seek from the employers a commitment to cease discrimination in employment on the basis of race. He alleged that Knight plans to also abolish the advisory committee that deals with discrimination.

He charged ministers with the responsibility of appraising their congregations of the facts in order that they can cast their votes intelligently.

Among those present at the Breakfast Club were: Revs. S. O. J. Evans, John N. Daggett, W. T. Ward, H. E. Fowler, T. W. Arnold, I. Eastlick, M. F. Mitchell, T. T. Turner, Anita Edmunds, George McCord, A. A. Peters, Jesse Glover, Glen Anderson, Mrs. Ann O'Ferrell, Mrs. Ethel C. Bryant, Richard Graves, William E. Pollard, Irene Phelan, Leon Washington, Tully Johnson, Herbert Ward, Rev. McCoy, George Thomas, Rev. C. W. Carroll, Rev. Johnson, and Mrs. Helen B. Williams.

Several ministers pledged their support of Graves. The Breakfast was sponsored by Tully Johnson, John Kelson, Ovid Scott, Everett Foley, James Campbell, Owen Ratliff and Willie Harvey, all members of the Dining Car Employees Union, Local 582. The meeting was presided over by William E. Pollard, labor representative and member of the "Graves for Governor Committee."

Liquor Store Owner Kills Burglar

Steve Tolbert, ex-convict from Alabama, lies dead in the city morgue after his ill-fated attempt to burglarize LeRoy's liquor store, 1896 W. Jefferson blvd., early Wednesday morning.

About 3:30 a.m., the 70-year-old owner, W. H. Adams, who sleeps in the rear of the store, saw a man peek into his sleeping quarters. Grabbing his pistol, he fired at the moving figure.

Believing that the suspect had an accompice, he then picked up his shotgun and fired at what he thought was another man.

When police arrived they found the suspect dead of gunshot wounds.

Police records in Los Angeles list Steve Tolbert as having been arrested for forgery Dec. 12, 1953, but found not guilty. The LeRoy's Liquor store is one of the oldest Negro business establishments on the Westside, doing business there for 14 years.

J. B. Bass Lodge In Grand Opening

The lounge of J. B. Bass Lodge, 1004, will have its grand opening Friday, May 28, it was announced by John H. Wilson, Exalted Ruler.

The public is invited to attend the opening at 10123 Beach street. There will be refreshments, entertainment and dancing.

George, a passenger in Bowlin's car, died two hours after the accident at the Huntington Memorial hospital. Melvin Grant, another passenger, and like the other two, a student at City College, escaped without injury.

Their car crashed into a police car, skidded and crashed head-on into a light standard. Officer Ralph E. Sullivan was seriously injured, but was sufficiently recovered to attend the trial. His fellow officer, Eugene S. Peron, received bruises.

Hysterical Sobs Mark Murder Trial Opening

Mrs. Genevieve Monroe, awaiting trial for the frenzied butcher-knife slaying of her husband April 2 in a fashionable West Adams apartment, broke into hysterical, uncontrolled sobbing in court Friday when her eyes lighted upon Mrs. Rita Malcolm, beautiful blonde named as the "other woman" in the tragic triangle.

Mrs. Monroe, 3207 W. Adams blvd., broke down completely and had to be carried from the court room.

Whose Witness?

The judge postponed opening of the trial until July 1, in Superior Court, Dept. 46.

The presence of Mrs. Malcolm in the court aroused widespread speculation as to whether or not she had been subpoened by the state or by the defense.

The Eagle reporter learned that a question has been raised as to Mrs. Malcolm's whereabouts on the night of the murder.

Atty. Earl Broady, who is handling Mrs. Monroe's defense, refused to comment on the nature of the plea his harrassed client will enter, or the line of defense that he will pursue.

Found Body

Under the circumstances, it was considered possible that Mrs. Monroe might rely on the "unwritten law" that she might plead legal "unconsciousness," or that she might possibly deny that she was present when the murder was committed.

The blood-soaked body of James Monroe, 34-year-old husband of the accused, was discovered some 36 hours after the stabbing in the luxurious apartment building on West Adams boulevard. Mrs. Monroe, a riveter, was foiled in a suiciide attempt in the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Steward, who manage the building, after she had spent the night with them.

When pressed for an explanation, Mrs. Monroe sobbed out a confession, and Steward hastened to the Monroe apartment where he found the body in a pool of blood.

Mrs. Monroe denied she had killed Monroe "over that blonde," but admitted that "she gave me plenty of trouble."

Mrs. Malcolm identified the body at the coroner's inquest.

Dying Man Names Wife as Murderer

"Dorothy killed me" were the last words of Henry Thomas Alexander, 30, 1625 E. 103rd place, just before he died at Georgia Street Receiving Hospital Friday night.

Witnesses stated that Mrs. Dorothy Branson, 46, Alexander's common-law wife, shot him several times following an argument because he refused to give her his pay check.

Mrs. Branson said Alexander shot himself while he was cleaning his .22 calibre J. C. Higgins rifle in preparation of going on a hunting trip the next day.

In his dying words Alexander stated that Mrs. Branson shot him with the gun she took from the closet when he refused to give her his pay.

Alexander was shot in the head, stomach, left thigh, foot and in the back as he ran from the rear door.

Minstrel Show In San Berdoo Brings Protest

SAN BERNARDINO.—Protests are mounting here over the proposed staging of an "old-fashioned" minstrel show at the San Bernardino High school here June 4.

Johnnie Morris, president of the local branch of the NAACP, attacked such shows as ways of promoting racial myths, encouraging hatred and contempt toward minority groups and contributing to the worsening of race relations.

Five Jailed For Knifing Of Gambler

Five persons were jailed in the wee hours of Saturday morning in connection with the knifing to death of a 32-year-old gambler.

O. B. Jackson, 1737 S. San Pedro St., died after a knife fight following a dice game at 774 E. 18th St.

Arrested on suspicion of murder were L. D. Watkins, 25, of the 18th street address; Ethel Lee Robertson, 27, same address; Henry Lee Sims, 34, 428½ E. Santa Barbara Ave., Alious Griffin, 22, 18th street address, and Charles Eugene Hines, 23, 2424 Santa Ana.

Jackson was dead on arrival at the receiving hospital.

All suspects denied using knives. The other four said that Watkins was the one who inflicted the numerous wounds about the body of Jackson.

Inquest is set for May 28, 9 a.m.

Crack-Shot Woman Cop Aims 'Wild,' Kills Husband

a warning, then fired a second time, intending this shot also as a warning.

The shooting took place outside the family home, 2325 10th avenue, about 6 p.m. Sunday. The couple reportedly had quarreled, and Green left the house, moving his wife's car from the driveway, then returning to get into his own auto.

Mortally Wounded

As he crossed the lawn, the first shot rang out. The bullet struck the window in the house across the street, 2324 10th avenue, and shattered the lamp by which Dan T. O'Brien was reading.

The next shot hit Green. He dropped to the ground, mortally wounded. Neighbors reported that two women rushed up and carried him into the house. It was there police found him shortly afterwards.

Saw 'Body'

They answered a call from O'Brien, reporting the shot that broke his window. When police arrived, a woman told the officers she had seen "the body."

"What body?" the astonished policemen inquired.

Neighbors reported that the couple, who have a 14 year old daughter, have separated several times and quarreled frequently. Police claimed that Mrs. Parks had been drinking before the shooting.

Kenneth Hicks, husband of Sara Hicks, acting as spokesman of the Green family, termed the killing an "unfortunate incident," adding that the family felt no animosity towards Mrs. Parks, and would await the trial before discussing details.

Hilliard Green was born in Atlanta, Ga., in 1915. His father, Reginald Green, brought his family to Los Angeles two years later. In addition to Hilliard and Sara, other members of the family include Frank, George, Carl, Samuel, Florence and Julian.

The funeral for Hilliard Green is being held Saturday at 1 p.m., at the Second A.M.E. church, with the Rev. J. W. Ford officiating. Arrangements are being handled by Crest Lawn Funeral Parlors, with burial at Evergreen Cemetery.

dresser drawer that split her head open.

Harry Blackwell of 470 E. 47th St., stated that Mrs. Wilkes picked him up at 5th and Towne and they went to a room at 507 Towne Ave.

Blackwell said: "Someone knocked on the window and said, 'Don't give her any dope. She just got out of jail yesterday for that.' Then this fellow broke the door in, knocked me around, and kicked me out of the door.

"I knew the girl had had a 'fix" when I was in there with her," he continued.

Reid and Baughn at first thought Mrs. Wilkes died of an overdose of dope but the Coroner's autopsy showed it was from beating and strangulation.

The inquest is set for June 1 at 9 a.m.

Redding Lauds Court Decision

eral community newspapers. Herman Hill, veteran local newspaperman, writes and helps edit the several papers, and Albert Lane is half of his print shop team.

"It didn't take a law for me to practice integration in employment," Redding said. "I needed a good linotyper, Albert applied for the job and I hired him. Same goes for Herman Hill. I'm not interested in a man's color, I'm interested in his ability to produce. That is the way it should be, and that is the way it is with me. Certainly I favor any legislation that will make fair employment posible. It is a basic principle with me, and if elected to Congress, you can rest assured that I will do all in my power through legislation to wipe out the national disgrace of unequal employment opportunities because of race, color or national origin.

"I think this Supreme Court decision is the death knell of racists. They no longer can peddle their brew of race hatred that so embarrasses America in the eyes of other nations. We can now look Asian nations straight in the eye when we talk about democracy as opposed to communism. While the decision is long overdue, let's be thankful that under our democratic way of life it finally came." Thus Redding summed up his feelings on the matter.

'The Eagle' Gets Around

The California Eagle has become accustomed to receiving subscriptions from people all the way from Alaska down to San Diego, from Texas, Kansas, Chicago and points East.

A letter arriving this week, however, caused something of a flurry. It asked that we send the paper regularly to a new subscriber in Teheran, Iran.

We don't know how this reader became acquainted with the Eagle, but we're glad he did, and we welcome him to our fast-growing, far-flung list of friends and subscribers.

California Eagle

Published Every Thursday

The Eagle stands for complete integration of Negroes into every phase of American life through the democratic processes.

We favor:

1. FEPC on local, state and national levels.
2. Decent housing for all Americans.
3. Representation in Government.
4. Adequate old age pensions and social security.
5. Collective bargaining rights for all workmen.
6. Development and encouragement of Negro business.

We oppose:

1. Jim Crow in all forms.
2. Communists and all other enemies of democracy.

Sound and Fury

Walter White aptly described Herman Talmadge's wild statements to the effect that Georgia won't obey last week's school segregation decision when he termed the governor's fulminations as "nonsense."

As the NAACP pointed out at the conclusion of its meeting Sunday, the decision as to whether or not to obey the nation's highest court doesn't rest with Talmadge at all. It rests with the local school boards.

The NAACP instructed its branches to request every local board to proceed with the de-segregation program and to cooperate with board members in working out details. The Association pointed out that it knows that such boards will face problems of varying complexity and urged its members and branches to try to help work out those problems.

The fantastic statements by the lunatic fringe of Dixie dichards to the effect that "blood will run in the streets" and that the South won't abolish its Jim Crow schools remind us of similar statements made when the voting cases were decided and when Negroes were ordered admitted to graduate and professional schools.

Each of those decisions, and others in a like vein, drew the same kind of statements from the same kind of southerners. There were threats that if Negroes dared to appear at the Democratic primary polls they would be killed, or worse. Negro Democrats did appear at the polling places and they have been voting in ever increasing numbers. There were no disorders worthy of the name.

Eleven southern attorneys-general filed a brief in the graduate school cases predicting bloodshed and riots if Negro students dared to try to enroll in southern institutions of higher learning. The first drop of blood has yet to be shed.

The worst that can be said of the Talmadge yapping is that it furnishes fodder for the Reds. It gives them a chance to scream that democracy doesn't work and can't work as far as Negroes are concerned and to paint Talmadge as the rule in Southern politics, instead of the exception.

Fortunately for us all, Talmadge, Byrnes and their ilk don't speak for the South. They speak for themselves and for a comparatively small group of reactionaries who are the beneficiaries of the Jim Crow system.

Their days are numbered. Within a few short years Negro and white children will go to school side by side and most of them will be wondering what in tarnation Talmadge was talking about.

Assembly Elections

Voters in the 55th and 63rd assembly districts have opportunities to do themselves and the people of California a good turn on June 8.

There are competent Negro candidates for the assembly in each of the districts. Election of a Negro in the two districts will add a third to the man who is chosen from the 62nd district where there are none but Negro candidates.

Californians, all Californians, will benefit by an increase in Negro representation. Such representatives can be counted upon to consider general problems with the same care that other assemblymen use. In addition they will take to the assembly special knowledge that will be useful and beneficial as this state comes to grips with problems concerning minority groups.

Lucius Lomax is the candidate in the 63rd district. The incumbent in that district is Gilbert Morris, a man who has shown no concern with civil rights and who has trooped along with every reactionary measure introduced into the assembly. He is worse than useless to the residents of his district and they should replace him with Lomax and his forward looking outlook.

The situation in the 55th district is complicated by the fact that Attorney Rayfield Lundy is a candidate on the Republican ballot and Attorney Erskine Ragland seeks the Democratic nod. Under the circumstances we urge Republicans to vote for Lundy and Democrats to vote for Ragland. If both are nominated the Eagle will make a choice in the final election.

Voters in the 55th and 63rd have been demanding representation for many years. Here is their chance to get it.

We Don't Need Censors

The long arm of the postoffice censor reached out a few weeks ago to bar a book from the mails. We suspect that most of our readers have never heard of Dr. Isidro de Rieras, the author, or of his book, Kala. Frankly, we hadn't either until he came in to tell us about his troubles.

Our book review editor hasn't handed in his verdict on the book but we wouldn't be at all surprised if most of our readers found it pretty dull going.

None of that alters the fact that this kind of censorship is bad and that it ought to stir us all into action. We don't need nosey censors to tell us what to read and what to leave on the book shelves. That sort of thing is better left to Russia and other totalitarian countries.

The book was banned on the ground that it is apt to corrupt the public morals. Nonsense. The author uses some words that aren't in ordinary use in drawing room conversation but that's not uncommon these days. There are many books that are more outspoken. We had supposed that even the postal authorities had learned that Americans are neither shocked or corrupted by realistic language.

The action of the censor is up for review and we hope that his superiors use more common sense than he has used. And if they don't we hope the author takes his case to court. If he does, he can count on us, and we hope on you, for support.

Deserves Our Support

In the midst of the political hurly-burly and excitement over the Supreme Court decisions we think we ought to edge in a word for the Ebony Showcase theater on West Washington boulevard.

Our theatrical department wouldn't thank us a bit if we attempted to pass on the merits of the plays being presented there but we're sure that Chazz Crawford won't mind us saying that they're of a high artistic caliber.

What we're after here is to urge support of the Ebony Showcase. Nick Stewart, its guiding genius, has sacrificed a good deal in money, time and effort to give the citizens of this community a little theater. He can be proud of his handiwork.

No venture of this kind can succeed without public support. Its success will bring credit to the entire community.

Ebony Showcase needs support in terms of customers at its presentations and we are sure it could stand financial contribution from citizens who have a spare dollar or two.

And just in case you don't care a whoop in hades about your community we can assure you that you can gratify your desire for good entertainment by attending the Ebony Showcast. It's about twice or three times as good as the last movie you saw.

Pure and Simple

By L. F. Palmer Jr.

Pardon me while I get purely personal and pass on to you these simple comments on the Thurgood Marshall meeting at Zion Hill Baptist church the other night:

THE AUDIENCE—I've seen huge auditoriums filled to the brim and then some when heroes of the bop and pop world come to town to show their wares. I've seen "bugs" cutting up the rug to show their love for the Gillespies, the Vaughns, the Jacquets and so forth.

So imagine my utter disbelief when I arrived at Zion Hill church and found empty seats patiently waiting to greet the No. One hero of the hour—Thurgood. Not a whole raft of them to be sure. In fact it was a pretty good crowd. But the place wasn't packed. And by all standards I can think of, the area around Zion Hill should have looked like the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day.

And do you think the show got on the road on time? Naturally not. At roughly 8:20 our dear people were still streaming in although the program said the curtain would rise at 7 p.m. with incidental music for a half hour with an opening prayer set for 7:30. True, the program listed Marshall to speak at 8:45 (it was 9:30 before he started) but how many people saw a program before they arrived?

Anyhow—there were too many stragglers for my money. But speaking of money, the audience—enthusiastic if late—chipped in $5500 to the NAACP. So who cares about a few late comers?

THE PROGRAM—When I get ready to go to a movie, I always call the theater and find out when the short subjects are going to be shown so I can carefully arrange to miss them. When I go to a prize fight, I manage to get there just before the main event. If there is anything I hate it is preliminaries.

Well, I had to wait an hour and a half the other night to hear Thurgood which is the only reason I went to the affair. To be honest with everyone, I didn't care who was there beside Thurgood and a whopping good crowd. Maybe it was goodwill, but the introduction of all the brass in the audience left me a little cold.

The music was wonderful. The jingle of coins and the slight rustle of folding money sounded good even if it did take a half hour of the time. That was a necessary evil which Rev. J. Raymond Henderson turned into a rather entertaining activity.

Hats off to my boss, Loren Miller. He came in for some mighty nice bows for the work he did in helping preparing the briefs for the Supreme Court argument Thurgood and his staff handled so effectively.

And when it came to introducing the main speaker, the boss was magnificent. I'll have to admit I couldn't hear a word he said (the mike was off or the boss was off mike) but it only took him a minute of two to say it. And finally, at long last, The Man was on.

THE SPEAKER—Terrific. Dixie never had a chance.

Battleaxe and Bread

By Lester B. Granger

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—When the Supreme Court decision on segregation in public schools hit this capital city of Arkansas, I was sitting at the desk of one of the city's leading bankers. His secretary came in, glanced at me out of the corner of her eyes, and without comment laid the afternoon paper on her boss' desk. He took a look at the headline, and whistled softly. He said, "I'll be damned!"

Lester Granger

Then he shoved the paper over to me, and, as I read the headline: "Supreme Court Bans Separate Schools," the banker said "Good!" I jerked my head up and asked him "What did you say? Will you say that again?"

Shadow Boxing

"Good!" he repeated firmly, and more clearly than ever. "I'm glad the decision is made. We have been doing too much shadow-boxing. Now maybe we can settle down and do the things that are most important."

I'll always regret that I didn't have time to explore more thoroughly that white Little Rock banker's instantaneous reaction to a history-making court decision. The hour of my plane departure was approaching. I had other appointments to keep before leaving—some with colored and others with white Little Rock residents. So the best that I could do was to pick up a scattering of reaction on the run—because, of course, everyone wanted to talk about what the decision meant.

Two Reactions

I was impressed with two types of reaction. Negro citizens were pleased but less jubilant than I expected. They realised soberly that the decision of the court made possible a revolution in southern affairs, but did not guarantee it without continued hard work, deep thinking and unified action.

White citizens, on the other hand—most of them—were as unhappy as I had expected, but less bitter. They had expected that the court decision would change the old order of things; they were trying to keep cool until they found just how much the order would be changed.

I didn't fool myself. The persons with whom I talked were by no means a cross-section of the town's leadership. They represented the top level of interracial thinking, but even for this top level an objectivity was demonstrated that went far past anything that could have been hoped for 20 years ago when I first visited the city.

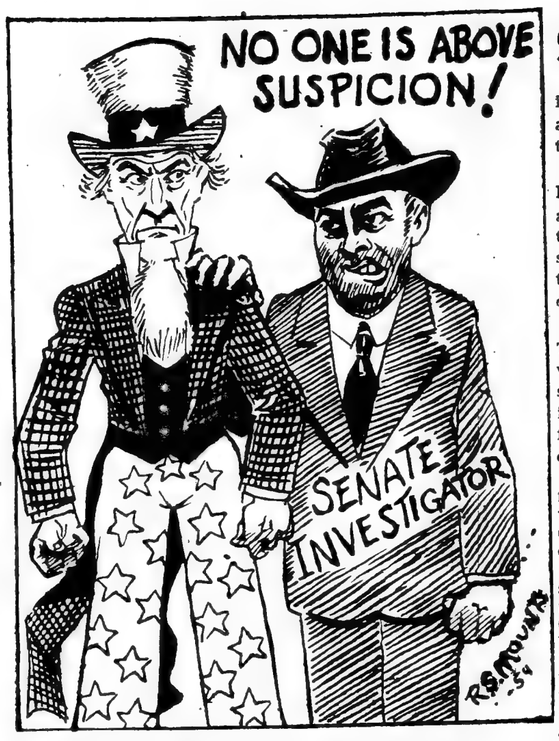
Previous Experience

Perhaps this isn't surprising, in view of Little Rock's experience with educational integration at the graduate school level. Many of the extension classes of the University of Arkansas are held in Little Rock. Several hundred white and Negro students have been studying together with such complete amicability that one of the professors told me a couple of years ago that the faculty had decided not to talk about it for fear of frightening some of the old razorback diehards. It will be remembered that Arkansas was the first state to admit Negroes to the State University without waiting for a direct court order.

Maybe some of this spirit has leavened the thinking of the entire population. Maybe not only in Little Rock, but in other principal centers, there will be some daring pioneers willing to assume leadership in making non-segregated education work.

I say non-segregated instead of "integrated" because, as I've pointed out a number of times, there's a big difference between the two. To desegregate a situation means removing barriers, generally legal, that have prevented the races from getting together. To integrate a situation means a voluntary coming-together of participants on both sides. This second step is possible only after the first step has been taken. The Supreme Court decision makes the first step possible.

BOOKS



YOUR MEXICAN HOLIDAY, by Anita Brenner

This is still one of the classics of all the guide books and has gone into many editions. It covers all the points any tourist going across the Rio Grande could possibly want, and is equally suitable for short tours or for long leisurely holidays. The varied Mexican scene from the cosmopolitan centers like Mexico City to the primitive villages, and the varied landscapes from temperate regions to jungles, are all depicted. Even if you don't see how you are going to get away on that Mexican holiday for a long time yet, it is fun to read this book and plan all the travel experiences that you hope will eventually materialize.

SPINSTERS IN JEOPARDY by Ngaio Marsh

Ngaio Marsh's people and backgrounds are usually as interesting as the mysteries she propounds—which are involved enough to suit any fan. Here, her well-known Inspector Alleyn and his painter-wife Troy and a charming new family member, son Ricky, journey to the French Riviera to encounter kidnapping, narcotics traffic, and murder among an erotic group of sun-worshippers. Add to this situation a touch of humor and you have a mystery in the best of the Marsh style.

One Man's Opinion

By LEON STEWARD

We attended a meeting for Walter Gordon Jr. at the Clark Hotel last Friday night. It was different from any political meeting we have ever attended.

In the first place, before the people had been in their seats and served and had time to clear their throats, the very candidate was busy introducing the persons attending his testimonial and, believe it or not, he knew just about all of them. Mighty good going for a man who expects to be elected to the State Assembly from the 62nd district on June 8th.

Leon Steward

We knew Walter when he was a boy, and before his mother and father died we used to recall those earlier days concerning him. To observe his conduct at this meeting convinced us that he really means business and that he might well be expected to be courageous and forthright if elected.

No Man's Collar

He met everyone coming into the meeting with a cheery smile which appeared quite sincere. We were interested to note his reaction when another man took the floor to speak and extolled the entire Republican ticket. The candidate from the 62nd really got him to understand that this meeting was intended for himself and no one else. "They have not invited me into their meetings and recommended me," he said. Appears that he shall "wear no man's collar."

Walter was born in Los Angeles County and, in his boyhood days, he sold newspapers in the 62nd district. He attended the University of Southern California but quite wisely left for Ohio State U. to study law. If we had our way every lad growing up here would leave California before completing his education. Since his return he has had very fine law offices at 4104 S. Central Avenue with excellent law partners and associates. He has been credited by none other than Atty. David Williams with being a very good lawyer, an imposing adversary in the courts who seldom loses a case.

To Work for Gordon

He is a member of the state bar of California and is admitted to practice in the federal courts. He is a member of the Defense Lawyers Bar Association over which, he says, Jerry Giesler presides. Gordon belongs to the Langston Law Club and is a member of the National Bar Association. He was one of the lawyers who worked hard to save the life of Wesley Wells.

He is a home owner in the 62nd District and has a host of people sponsoring his campaign which he will certainly need. Among them is Ivan Harold Browning, who, with Browning's pal in music, a Mr. King, rendered several numbers which added greatly to the enjoyment of the occasion.

Of course there were many lawyers and others present to say a good word for Walter Gordon. The meeting was very well attended with a lot of people whom we recognized or did not, but they all appeared to enjoy the affair which never bogged down and which stimulated many to work for Gordon.

Had we not intended doing likewise we would have been at a track meet at that hour. We haven't missed a big track meet like that since coming to the west coast. We wanted to see Walter Gordon in action and to hear him speak about his platform and purpose for seeking the legislature. We are quite sure that we were well impressed.

POLITICAL SPOTLIGHT

didate for the 62nd Assembly District, drew some 100 top community leaders at his $10 per plate dinner Friday night at the Clark Hotel and some 500 Sunday afternoon at the Elks' Auditorium. Gordon is scheduled to speak May 28 at a 7 p.m. banquet honoring Boy Scouts' parents at the Jefferson High School cafeteria and Sunday at the morning services of Rev. W. J. Taylor, Church of God in Christ at 4554 Compton avenue.

Supervisor John Anson Ford, Third Supervisoral District, now has endorsments of all major labor groups following the action of the Teamsters' Council last week. Ford is also being supported by many top community leaders, including Dr. E. I. Robinson and Atty. Loren Miller, publisher of the California Eagle.

Rev. Edgar S. Johnson, candidate for the 62nd Assembly District, appeals to non-partisan voters to exercise their franchise and elect new representation for the 62nd District on June 8. Rev. Johnson has the endorsement of the Ministerial Alliance, and is a member of the Union Usher Board, the NAACP and the Urban League, and pastors the Tabernacle Baptist Church, 950 Hemlock street.

Richard Richards, candidate for State Senate from Los Angeles County, this week announced the endorsement of his candidacy by the Inter-Denominational Ministerial Alliance.

Ed Roybal, Democratic endorsed candidate for Lt. Governor, was featured Wednesday night at a large rally at the Casa Del Mexicana, 529 Euclid avenue. Atty. Gen. Edmund G. "Pat" Brown and Les Claypool were speakers.

God. Goodwin J. Knight invaded Southern California this week with more than 50 speaking engagements scheduled between now and election in his efforts to win voters' favors June 8.

Supervisor Kenneth Hahn announced the appointment of prominent community leaders to the Citizens Committee for Proposition A, County bond issue for additional juvenile facilities.

Among those appointed by Hahn were Mrs. Fay E. Allen, Mrs. Fannie E. Benjamin, Mrs. Gilbert W. Lindsay, Mrs. Katheryn Mitchell, Mal Whitfield, Dr. Vada Somerville, Mrs. Mabel V. Gray, Charles Spencer, Mrs. Enola L. Chism, Robert Newman, Mrs. Harry Flowers Jordan, Andy Razaf, Willie Carson, Mrs. Eleanor M. Brown, Mrs. Ella K. Mays and Ed Warren. Proposition A is also being supported by the publishers of each of the local community newspapers.

Allen Woodard III and William F. Cummings are appealing to the community for support to the Roybal for Lt. Gov. campaign. Woodard and Cummings will present Roybal to community leaders at a luncheon 1 p.m. Wednesday, June 2, at the Omega House, 2069 South Harvard. Information regarding the luncheon may be secured by calling REpublic 4-3149.

Voters in the 63rd Assembly District are invited to an evening of dancing, entertainment and free refreshments to highlight the final rally at the Ballou Campaign Headquarters, 3839 S. Western avenue, on Sunday, June 6.

Most of the endorsed Democratic candidates will be on hand to meet the guests.

Talmadge Shouts Defy

in "a spirit of give-and-take" and that there be no attempt to "drive hard bargains."

A two-page typewritten "Atlanta Declaration," released at a press conference, declared that Negro leaders would "resist the use of any tactics contrived for the sole purpose of delaying segregation."

Gov. Talmadge declared Tuesday that Negroes and whites would not attend the same schools in Georgia even if troops were sent in to enforce the Supreme Court's ban on segregation.

"We're not going to secede from the Union," he said, "but the people of Georgia will not comply with the decision of the court.

"It would take several divisions of troops down here to police every school building in Georgia and then they wouldn't be able to enforce it," he said. "We're going to do whatever is necessary in Georgia to keep white children in white schools and colored children in colored schools."

Thurgood Marshall, Association attorney who argued the school segregation cases on which the Supreme Court based its ruling, said "the fundamental answer is the local level." "The politicians and others can talk all they please about strategy at the high level, but it is the local authorities who must deal with the issue and who realize that without compliance they will be the ones who end up in the courts," he added.

"We know there has to be reasonable time to adjust and the question is the definition of what constitutes 'reasonable time.' Our people are ready to take part in conferences, but we are determined to attain this goal without compromise of principle."

State Okehs Freeway

ing off streets and otherwise interfering with traffic.

Path of Bulldozers

The approved route, on which state engineers will now start immediate work, will connect the Santa Ana Freeway with La Cienega blvd. in Culver City. It will run slightly north of Washington blvd. from Alameda street to west of Figueroa, then cross Washington, and run in a generally westerly direction between Washington and Adams blvd.

Although the department has not yet released details of the precise route, it is certain that many of the city's most attractive homes will be directly in the path of the bulldozer.

Stating that the Chambers of Commerce of all nearby cities as well as that of Los Angeles favored the route proposed by the state engineers, the Commission declared that it had been guided by consideration of "the greatest good of the greatest number" and that it was "clearly demonstrated by the evidence that the recommended route is the proper one from the standpoint of the overall traffic pattern, cost of construction and all the other proper highway factors."

It stated further that the route would give the best traffic service, would cost $6,000,000 less than an alternate route, and would involve 256 fewer homes and 132 fewer business establishments.

Letters

Dear Mr. Miller:

Just finished reading your recent column re white merchants in the Negro community and I agree that you are correct. I do take some small personal satisfaction in the fact that I had already made a small contribution to the Lomax campaign but that is not my reason for writing.

A few days ago I decided to see if I could do something more in this direction and spoke to four of my competitors in the area, pointing out from a purely selfish standpoint certain facts. Half or more of their customers are Negroes, and were they to go on record as showing an interest in some of the problems that concerned these potential customers they would gain a measure of good will they could never get by advertising cars for sale. One firm agreed to join me in an ad endorsing the need for Negro representation over their firm name which I hope to have published next week.

My point then is this—What of the several hundred other white merchants in this area? Has anyone ever given them a chance to say yes or no? It would be pretty hard to convince me that an organized effort in this direction wouldn't result in a fairly decent response.

I don't know that this is a pat or effective answer to the problem but it could be a step in the right direction.

Sincerely,

HARRY TANNER

Youth Choirs To Sing At AME Meet

Tomorrow's Opportunities for Today's Youth will be the theme of the annual Youth Day at First A.M.E. Church, Eighth and Towne, Sunday, May 30.

The morning sermon will be delivered by Rev. G. Mansfield Collins, young associate minister of the Neighborhood Church. The combined Youth Choirs of the Neighborhood Church and First A.M. Church will furnish the music.

In the afternoon, at 3 o'clock, the program will feature Youth Choirs from several of the churches of the community. Miss Barbara Stephens of Ward A.M.E. Church will be the speaker.

The theme for the day will be emphasized in a special religious film and monologue at the Allen Christian Endeavor League meeting at 6:00 p.m.

Youth Day leader for this year is Jesse A. Eagans. Rev. Alvia A. Shaw is minister of First A.M. Church.

Herb Greenwood Will Be Speaker On Memorial Day

Herbert A. Greenwood, Los Angeles Police Commissioner, will be the principal speaker at the annual Memorial Services in Lincoln Memorial Park Cemetery, 16701 South Central Avenue on Monday at 11 a.m. The impressive annual rites are being jointly sponsored by the 29nd Buffalo Division, American Legion Post 532, Charlie Latimore, Commander and Magellan C. Mars Post 752, Carl J. Johnson, Commander.

Fitting tributes to our war heroes will be paid by Commissioner Greenwood, civic officials, leaders of service organizations and local clergymen.

Rev. Henderson Off to Virginia

Rev. J. Raymond Henderson, distinguished leader and pastor of the Second Baptist Church, left via plane this week to attend his class reunion at Virginia State University in Richmond, Virginia.

The popular minister will return in a week to launch his 13th anniversary program, May 31 through June 6.

Calvary Baptist Church Ground Breaking Affair

Calvary Baptist Church enjoyed one of the biggest days in its 33 years of existence in the Ground Breaking services held last Sunday. Dr. Carter, the pastor, was indeed to be congratulated for the fine program presented with some of the most outstanding persons both in church and political circles. Such names as Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz, Mayor Thomas McDermott, Congressman Donald L. Jackson of the 16th district, Dr. M. Evan Morgan, Superintendent of Schools, Dr. David Donnan, President of Bay Ministers Alliance, Dr. Horace N. Mays, Rev. Percy Williams, Rev. Tackett of Second Baptist Church, L.A., and many others too numerous to mention.

Significant Accomplishment

All speakers paid great tribute to the leadership of Dr. Carter, who has served the church and community for 15 years. After the services inside, the congregation filed on the outside forming a huge line and after prayer by Dr. Tackett the ground was broken with the three choirs chanting "My Faith Looks Up to Thee."

Calvary Church is one of the largest and best organized churches in the West. It not only owns the present site which represents an investment of $150,000, but another building at 20th and Delaware from which it gets a substantial income from rentals. The church also owns the original lot purchased by the church at its organization. This lot has a valuation of $10,000. Great organization, superb leadership and great blessing from the Lord.

Greatly Needed

The building to be erected now will accommodate the youth of the community. The cost of construction, approximately $75.00 work to begin in the early future.

Piano Students Plan Recital To Aid YMCA

Piano students of Miss Consuelo Pappy will display their musical talents and progress June 6 at the Assistance League Playhouse, 1367 North St. Andrews Place. The concert will start at 2:30 p.m.

William Grant Still, composer-conductor, will appear at this annual recital by students of the well known teacher of piano. The net proceeds from the recital will be given to the Boys' Department of the 28th Street YMCA. Mr. Still will make the presentation to Mr. Kenneth Morris, Director of the Boys' Department.

AME Opens New Church

The formal opening of the new Grant A.M.E. Church located at 10435 So. Central, will be held Sunday, May 30, at 3 p.m.

The Processional will be led by Bishop D. Armonde Walker, Presiding Bishop of the Fifth Episcopal District, asosciated by the Presiding Elders of the State of California, and followed by the dignitaries of the Church of Los Angeles and vicinity. Bishop Walker will deliver the Dedicatory Sermon. Rev. Henry W. Murph, pastor of Grant, will officate.

Among those bringing greeting on this memorable occasion will be Mr. Kenneth Hahn, County Supervisor; Mr. John S. Gibson, president of the City Council; Atty. Bernard S. Jefferson, Mr. Philip Robinson of the So. Calif. Layman's Association, and other distinguished visitors. Special music will be furnished by the Senior Choir of the Church under the direction of Mrs. Geraldyne Smith.

Prying Pye

By Brad Pye, Jr.

TOILERS TERRIFIC DUO—

Everyone by now, knows the city prep track title is on the Vermont campus of the terrific Toilers of Manual Arts High . . .

It went over there Friday night, for the first time in twenty years, as 47,611 fans watched Everett "The Horse" Jackson and Earl Hall double in the sprints and hurdles respectively in the Coliseum Relays to pace their mates to a 75⅛ to 68⅛ upset over the favorite Jefferson athletes . . .

Too much credit can't be given to Jackson for the great competitor he truly is . . . He's the lad who won his heat in the 220 prelims in 22.3 despite suffering leg cramps throughout the race . . . Therefore this second team all-city cager wasn't given a chance to win . . .

Manual isn't given too much of a chance to retain its state spike crown, but as long as Jackson competes it's hard to count 'em out.

By way of postscript—We know of Delano's Leamon King, defending state sprint champ, Santa Ana's Bill Swisshelm and its crack relay squad, Piedmont's Monty Upshaw, Alameda's James Jackson and vet relay squad, Kingsburgh's Rafer Johnson et al but somehow Manual looks like the best bet under pressure . . .

MORGAN STATE'S COACH FETED

Personable Madge Hibler, Prof. of Speech at Morgan State, who is presently on sabbatical leave studying at USC for a Ph. D. in speech pathology and Rosa Burr Morgan, instructor at Willowbrook Nursery School, pulled out all the stops in entertaining the popular Ed Hurt, the famed track and football coach of Morgan State at their swank 5th Ave. apartment Thursday night . . .

Coach Hurt was in town with his six tracksters—Bobby Robinson, Otis Johnson, Jim Rogers, Ken Kave, Josh Culbeath and Herman Wade—who competed in the Coliseum cindfest . . .

Among the guests were Brice Taylor, Jim Powell, Fred Griffin, Winston Smith, Lawrence Palmer and Prying Pye. . . . The Morgan State mentor who has been at the helm of 17 championship track teams has also coached 13 title winning grid teams. . . . We're ever grateful to Coach Hurt for some newsworthy tips, which space prevents us from using at this writing. . . .

JEFF'S NON-SPRING SPORTERS—

Two teams of basketballers composed of non-spring sport participants of Jefferson High are leading the American and National circuits in the Compton Recreation league . . . This, undoubtedly, will come as a pleasant surprise to Jeff's effervescent coach Larry Hanson . . .

The sponsors of these teams are local merchants . . . namely—Dave McCormick—Rick's Men Shop, Vernon and Central; Sam Ishiara B&B Stylists for Men—4362 So. Central and 45th & Central; Fred Griffin—Medical Pharmacy—3112 Western Ave.; and Jerene Webb—Webb Pharmacy—4715 So. Central and 231 West Vernon.

PYE'S PICKUPS—

Billy Joe Wright the shot put star of the '52 Jeff spike squad is being tabbed as the most versatile trackman on the San Jose Frosh squad . . . He now competes in five events . . . P.S.: Coach Bud Winters has been corresponding with Jeff's basketball and high jump star John Thomas . . .

George Rhoden, the Olympic 400-meters champion who won his masters at NYU after graduating from Morgan State is slated to move here next month.

George, who is now practicing in Jersey City, hopes to work out here as a physical therapist under Dr. John Aldes at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital . . . Will the LAAC make him the second Negro on their spike squad . . . Mal Whitfield is the first . . .

Family Dept.—My ever-loving wife—Eunice—dropped a double play at the General Saturday morning at 2:30 a.m. and 2:40 a.m. . . . The first was a 6 lb. 6 oz. boy, Brad Pye Jr., III, and the second was a 5 lb. 6 oz. girl Jenice. . . . The gang should be home from the hospital by the time this hits the streets. . . . P.S. Our first little runt Jan counts her second candle this Friday. . . . As of now this is 35 and 5.

Boxers Back Gov. Knight

A group of former great California boxers, who are urging the voters in California to retain Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, will hold a banquet this Saturday afternoon at Dynamite Jackson's, 47th St. and Central Ave.

Prominent sports figures supporting the Governor include Mal Whitfield, Henry Armstrong, Gorilla Jones, John Thomas, John Henry Lewis, Harold Dade and Albert (Chalky) Wright.

An elaborate dinner will be served following an eastside parade that is slated to run two hours. State Athletic Commissioner Everett Sanders will be guest speaker.

South Park's Batten Breaks Track Marks

Two record-breaking performances, in the senior division, by South Park's 15-year-old Joe Batten, highlighted Saturday's fourth annual Los Angeles Coliseum Boys' track and field championship.

The brilliant Batten shattered William Lockhart's 20-3 broad jump mark by one inch and bettered Rudy Robinson's 10.7s. standard in the century by one-tenth of a second.

Bakerfield's speedster Cecil Manning equalled the junior division's 50-yd. dash mark established in 1952 by Fremont's Kenneth Dennis, 1954 city high school B sprint champion.

BOY, WHAT A GAL!—The looks on the faces of these famous men seems to imply this impression, but they really are concerned about the price on the fabulous gowns modeled recently by world-famous Dorothea Towels. Libby Clark, publisher of Fem Magazine, explains the prices while the men get pained expressions, hoping their wives are not interested. From left to right are Mal Whitfield, two-time Olympic champion; Ned Redding, leading candidate for Congress in the 26th district; Tank Younger, the Rams steller back, and Eddie Atkinson, former Loyola star back and owner of the Town Tavern.

Hill Omegas' Top Scorer

By BILL ORME JR.

OAKLAND — The revenge-minded Los Angeles Omegas—Inter-Frat Series champs for two years running—sparked by the effective shooting of Charles Hill, Jim Powell, and Larry Dugan, beat their title winning Northern division brothers out of the state crown 65-39 here at the Fremont High gym Saturday night before a packed house.

Fred Griffin's L.A. five got sweet revenge, even if it did have to come at the expense of their Northern brothers, for its 72-41 loss in San Francisco last year to a bay area all-star five.

At the intermission Griffin's five was ahead of the bay area Omegas 21-19.

After the first half the southerners began to click. The L.A. Omegas's life saving guard Charles Hill and the losers' Bob Crowe, the ex-San Jose State great, tied for high point honors with 16. Hill's mates Jim Powell and Larry Dugan were the other high point producers with 13 and 12.

For the losing bay area Omegas Willie Steele, the erstwhile L.A. Ram and San Diego star, and Wesley Slade hit for 8 and 6 points respectively.

After the game the Los Angeles athletes and their coaches, Griffin and Winston Smith, and visiting Frat men Roy Brown, Thomas Nuesom, et al., were wined and dined to no end.

The eight "smog city" cagers who made the trek North were Algin Sutton, Charles Reed, Cortez Smith, Ralph Kaufman, James Gilbert, Powell, Hill, and Dugan.

In the preliminary game the Northern Kappas whipped the bay area Alphas 43-33. Ernest Chapman, the ex-UCLA student, was a standout for the losers.

Manual's Spike Kings Eye 2nd State Crown

By BRAD PYE, JR.

It'll be operation state meet for the city champion Manual Arts Toilers and the rest of the town's tracksters at the University of California's Edwards Stadium in Berkeley this Saturday.

The Toilers, who whipped the perennial title winning Jefferson High spikers 75⅛ to 68⅛ in wrapping up their first city title in twenty years, are the city's top threat in the state race.

As usual the defending state champion Toilers are counting on the unbelievable Everett "The Horse" Jackson the double sprint winner in the city meet and rambling Earl Hall who likewise doubled in the hurdles, plus a crack relay squad and four other city placers.

Jeff, who will have athletes competing in seven events, looks like an also ran on paper. . . . However its one city champion—Joe Stafford broad jumper 23-6—could cop the state title in this event plus picking up points in the shot put.

Joe got off the best put of his life in the city meet a 58-2 effort. This incidentally was only good for third place in the city meet. . . .

Jordan's big Dan Everage who erased the city mark with an amazing 60-10¾ put looks like a sure thing for the Bulldogs in the state race but after him there isn't too much to talk about.

Poly's city quarter-mile champ John Bowden (49.4) and second place mile finisher Joe Washington should pick up 9 points for their school. X. L. Emerson the defending state 440-champ is the favorite and could cut Poly's point total.

The state sprint field is undoubtedly one of the greatest ever. Heading the list is '53 titlist Delano's Leamon King, Bill Swisshelm, the Santa Ana flyer, Alameda's James Jackson among others. . . . All of these athletes have run 9.6 or better in the short dash and way below 22 flat in the furlong.

Two of the state's best all-around stars, Piedmont's Monty Upshaw and Kingsburg's Rafer Johnson, will get together in the hurdles and broad-jump. . . . Johnson is the highly rated tailback UCLA is trying to land.

Flash—Centennial High which isn't quite a year old could place awful high in the state meet with high jumper, Charles Dumas (6-5-½), Ken Thompson a 14.6 high hurdler and a 19.8 low lumber loper. . . .

competed for Jeff in '52.

It was a bad trick of fate that caused Fremont's B sprint king, Ken Dennis, to drop the baton on the final leg of the city relay finals. . . . The crack Pathfinder relay squad set a new city record in the prelims.

BERKELEY — Alameda High's sprint sensation James Jackson tied the fabulous Jess Owen's national Interscholastic 100-yard dash mark of 9.4 here over the weekend.

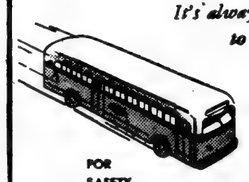
JOHN THOMAS—California ring official and a former great local lightweight boxer will host a party for estwhile middleweight king Sugar Ray Robinson at the Town Tavern, 36th and Western Ave., Monday night. Robinson is currently appearing at the Club Oasis.

Jordan and Wong In Olympic Main

Classy Don Jordan, the only man to hold a win over Andy Escobar, will meet undefeated Dickie Wong of Honolulu in the 10-round feature at the Olympic Auditorium, Monday night.

Jordan has had eleven pro fights; so has Wong. Both became main-eventers this year, in auspicious and impressive style. Jordan, in January, defeated Escobar; Wong, in March, trounced Robert Takashita in Honolulu.

Wong was brought here by George Parnassus, a kid who had done very well with imported fighters: Enrique Bolanos, Juan Zurita, Ceferino Garcia, to mention three outstanding examples.



Last year, in four and six-rounders, Jordan had eight fights, won them all—three by kayo.

E. PLURIBUS UNUM—Enjoyed one of the season's top affairs when they hosted a gay crowd at the International Room of the Hotel Cosmopolitan to annual Spring semi-formal. First row left to right: Marjorie Broady, Lula Perdue, Helen Wynne, Dorothy Benton, Calme Russ, Geraldine Harrison, Second row left: Gladyce Clark, Emma Taylor, Ursula Phelphs, Carrie Turner, Inez Johnson, Top row: Dorothy Harris, Lula Bendy, Bernadine Brown Aurora Hoskins.

E. Pluribus Unum Spring Dance Season Top Event

Matching strides with the beautiful California spring weather, members of the E. Pluribus Unum club held their annual spring semi-formal last Saturday night in the International room of the Hotel Cosmopolitan. The dance drew a fashionable and gay gathering as Sammy Franklin, the old music master, and his boys were at their best.

The well attended affair was highlighted when the members of the popular group were introduced to the public, in smartly gowned cool pastel shades. Atty. Dave Williams appropriately attired in a dark suit and bow tie introduced each member behind the faint strains of a "Pretty Girl Is Like a Melody." Following the music, the members came forward: Mesdames Marjorie Broady, Lula Perdue, Helen Wynne, Dorothy Benton, Calme Russ, Geraldine Harrison, Gladyce Clark, Emma Taylor, Ursula Phelps, Carrie Turner, Inez Johnson, Dorothy Harris, Lula Bendy, Bernadine Brown and Aurora Hoskins.

After the dance, members and their husbands enjoyed a lavishly prepared breakfast at club member Ursula Phelps. Cocktails were enjoyed by a few in one of the suites at the Hotel Statler just after leaving the dance.

The E. Pluribus Unum which means "one of many" is perhaps one of the best known social groups; their guest list reads like "Who Who" of the city. However, social activities are only one phase of the group's planning, for they have adopted the Outdoor Life and Health Association as their group charity, and do good work for the Association. Members of the club are active generally in community affairs, with special emphasis on the NAACP.

KERRY JACKSON and HAL MILLER

IN A JUGULAR VEIN

The bloody truth is, we made a slight error in the reporting of a choice bit of last week's scandal. . . . The sandy haired Delta pledge we talked about is in reality an AKA pledge. . . . If you remember, her trouble lies in the fact that her "BIG SISTER" (an AKA who's been made) didn't like the idea of her going out with the ex-husband of her girl friend which resulted in many demerits. . . . All we wanna say is she wasn't a Delta pledge . . . are you happy, Deltas?

FESTIVAL ON ICE

A thought of ice usually leaves us with a cold bottom but when we think of the NAACP's coming "Festival On Ice" extravaganza at the Shrine auditorium June 6th, we can only remember the victories won by this organization of organizations . . . It's your civic duty to be there . . . and it'll be tough.

NOT GUILTY

And Brandon Bolin, son of the prominent Pasadena physician, looked at the judge and sighed with relief . . . This legal fiasco which was the result of Brandon's auto accident with the Pasadena police last month ended on a happy note with him being absolved in a manslaughter charge.

ON THE GO

Everybody is going somewhere this summer . . . Sheila Montgomery is one of the girls who was chosen from UCLA to see Europe this summer . . . Pat Anderson, the fem you see on those beer ads is seeing Mexico soon . . . And Marcilyn Sykes the fourth estator will undoubtedly raise hades in the east come the hotter weather.

HERE'S SOME DRIBBLE

You can call this "dribble anonymous" cause everything we write from now on is strictly ad-lib (not that everything isn't!) . . . When Sherril Luke, the folks answer to Ralph Bunche came to town from Cal he wasted little time in seeing THEEEE Dorothy Cain . . . the gal who leaves men warped . . . Walker Bruce and his lovely fiancee Bev Pickett have set the date . . . it's the 22nd of August . . . Howard Morehead and his interests have the pretties in a tizzie . . . The other corner to that triangle has us wondering about M. L. Jackson and Joyce (Pookie) Grayson . . . What is happening . . . Hmmmmm . . . They're saying it's a fact that the fabulous Walter Miller and the equally known lovlie, Marie Varner are almost to the stage of aisle marching. . . . Sensational singers, the Harris sisters (Bev, Dimples and Bette Jean) are the most talked about female singing team since the Andrews sisters. . . . WHAT IS HAPPENING . . . we know we are echoing the statements of many of the young socialites in connection with Grump Smith and Dosie Towns who were once supposed to be anticipating the aisle march . . . first we saw Dosie out with George Travis and then we see Grump "sportin" with Mazel . . . the lovely one. . . . (Can't think of her last name). . . . Wail people. .

NOW WHAT?

What's Marge Robinson, of the Watts cab company going to do next. . . . She's so fabulous we're baffled. . . . Speaking of dinners, Roy Loggins has the barbeque set in stitches. . . . His after hours scoff has the corner of Van Buran and Jefferson jumping with empty bellied folk. . . . Oooooo . . . we're so crude. . . If you missed this year's Jabberwock don't speak to us. . . . Lorelies won and rightfully so. . . . Evabody's mumblin' 'bout Wanda Stept the lucious sumpn fum outa town. . . . Boy. . . .

Social Marques are chunkin one May 30th at the Beverly Chateau. . . . Wow . . . these cats don't play around. . . . That new Olds 88 recently purchased by Jack Thompson is attracting more than flies . . . tho the lovlie Erma Berry is still holding down the front seat.

. . . And another dirty thirty.

Twelve Hundred Enjoy Rainbow Club May Dance

Rainbow Bridge and Charity Club scored again by packing the Elks Auditorium when lovely Velma-Yarbrough, sponsored by Yarbrough Reality association, recently was crowned Queen of the May Dance. Twelve hundred guests celebrated in typical festive manner as beauty of the rainbow prevailed. Hostesses wore colorful Squaw dresses with Indian belts and leis of contrasting colors, and white carnations in their hair. Husbands assisted, wearing matching leis.

Robert Clemings, formerly of radio and stage, was M.C. Mr. Toussaint Jennings, guest of honor, led the grand march, wearing a king's crown as representatives from different groups joined.

These groups included the Los Angeles Widows Club No. 2, Imperial Mens Club, Leonidas Club, Larketts Charity Club, Ritzy 16 Club, 24 Hour Ice Venders' Service, L. and M. Beauty Supply.

Each hostess stepped to the microphone giving her name and club position, as Marvin Johnson and his band played "I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles." Members tossed colored ballons from the stage. President Maxine S. Reed was last to appear at the mike, giving a hearty welcome and graciously thanking everyone for their support in making the affair a great success.

The affair served three worthy causes as checks were given to Dr. E. S. Robinson, President of N.A.A.C.P. ($50.00); Gladys Jones of South Side Neighborhood's Kiddies-To-Camp Program, ($50.00) and John A. Jackson of Out-Door Life and Health, ($100.00). Robert Clemings, M.C., gave a public account of votes for prevention of miscounting, as contestants appeared in front of spotlight wearing ribbon banners bearing names of their sponsors. Each contestant received a gold loving cup of appreciation from the club.

Toussaint L. Jennings of the Y.M.C.A. crowned Queen Velma Yarbrough and presented Septa. The Queen's bouquet was presented by Doshia Blackman of Progressive 12 Club, the bouquet of roses was from the Santa-Sha and Gaylords Club. A twenty-five dollar cash prize was given to Queen Yarbrough. Ruby Miller won second place and a ten dollar cash prize; Rosa Lee Jarnet, third place and a five-dollar cash prize. Cash prizes were given by Rainbow Club and presented by Vice-President Alberta Brown. Corsages for first and second place came from Zeniths and Daffodil Clubs. Each contestant received a gift from various business and clubs.

Donations for gifts came from Santa-Sha Club, Gaylords Club, Progressive 12 Club, Civic and Charity Club of 42, Daffodils Club, Zeniths Charity and Social Club, Gladden Fine Cosmetics, J Liquor Store, Scotts Phar Tiny the Photographer, Scotts Pharmacy, A and J. Liquor Store, Ball Park Spot, Fine's Moultrie Paint Shop, J. S. Graham the Tailor, Adams Studio, Nickel Spot Cafe, Lee's Garage, Mae Crowder's Women's Apparel and Mae's Shoppe.

May Festival Attracts 500

More than 500 people enjoyed the South Park Annual May Festival on Thursday, May 20, 1954. A gay colorful affair with flowers, song and dance interpreting the story of sleeping Beauty, the Festival ushered in the Spring season at South Park. After the Festival, the enthusiastic audience enjoyed hot dogs, pop and cotton candy, while riding on the Kiddie Kanival's ponies, chair planes and merry-go-round.

Claudia Brady Is Bride-To-Be

Claudia Brady, attractive L.A. State College coed and popular Louis Q. Braddock, this week announced their engagement for an August wedding. The announcement came from the fashionable Wellington Road home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Brady.

The bride-elect is from Alexandria, La., and attends L.A. State College, also active member of the Les Bon Amis club. Louis Braddock is a graduate of U.C.L.A. and a member of the Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity.

ALPHARETTES SWIM PARTY

Let's all attend the Alpharettes breakfast, brunch and swimming party which will be held on May 30 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., at Ray's Guest House, 2221 East El Segundo Blvd. A truly lovely affair is planned at this beautiful setting.

Las Primeras Hold Meet

The Las Primeras held their regular business meeting at the home of the club reporter, Latillian Tyler. After the business session the group enjoyed entertainment from Melvin Scott and Dorothy Williams.

Members selected Lillian Holly, their Social Hostess, as the girl of the week. She was born in St. Paul, Minnesota, and attended Lincoln High School and a year at the University of Minnesota. She came to Los Angeles in 1936 and was employed at the Rose Shoppe, 4409 S. Central, as a sales clerk. Club members selected her for the interest and attention as well as hard work she is doing for the club.

Eastern Stars

To spread joy among children seems to be the chief aim of the 1950 Matrons of the Order of the Eastern Stars, P. H. A. On Mother's Day eve several of the members accompanied the enthusiastic president, sister Gertrude Allen, to the Orthopedic Hospital, 2424 S. Flower St., to present gifts to the handicapped children.

Having adopted a group of children at this hospital the members gave Easter baskets, at Easter. The success of the two ventures of the volunteers in the Order of the Eastern Star go to make this project one of the finest that this group has undertaken.

'SHAPING' PLANS—Models Joan Smith and Geraldine LeNoir; Estelle Sherwood, proprietor of SHERWOOD'S BEAUTY SHOPPE, 5113 Central Ave., and chief demonstrator; William Hibler, owner of STARRWAY REDUCING GARMENT; and models Ruth Hodges and Ann Price. Robertson Drive, Beverly Hills, has designed and patented STARRWAY reducing garment permitting men and women to REDUCE WITHOUT EXERCISE, drugs or diet.

QUEEN OF MAY DANCE—Toussaint Jennings, guest of honor at the Rainbow Bridge club annual May Day ball, crowns lovely Velma Yarbrough queen while Robert Clemings, master of ceremonies looks on.

Town and Gown Seek Mrs. Bronze Entry

Town and Gown Social Club was organized some 14 years ago by a group of club minded women who were tired of the usual round of the "play bridge —have formal" idea which was so popular at that time. Choosing Civic and Charity as their chief interest with the social as a minor interest they set about to find a worthy charity to concentrate the time and energy of twelve enthusiastic young matrons. With funds raised from one of their first public affairs Town and Gowners purchased the reception room furniture for the Outdoor Life and Health Institution at Duarte.

MATTIE TARVIN . . . president

As future successful affairs were staged, Towner's Charity calendar through the years has included such philanth pies as underwriting a worthy child's musical education for one year; spending an afternoon at Sawtell passing out a truck load of magazines, twenty dozen cases of candy, one hundred cases of gum, cigarettes and reading matter for the handicapped. Also a year's supply of juices to the Outdoor Life and Health, not to mention the time, money and energy put into the Laura Slayton youth program in which the club held a long-term membership; the Westview Hospital program, YWCA membership, NAACP and, recently, the Urban League.

However to most people, charities of a club play a minor part when one is remembering a group. The general public most likely associates those enterprising Towners with the uniqueness of their social affairs. They were first to introduce to the public the idea of the fantastic in the realm of fashion, with their Fantasy in Cotton, Fantasy in Fashion and their fabulous Fantasy in Furs. As with all groups vying with each other, it becomes necessary to try and keep one jump ahead with ideas. The entertaining committee in presenting the "Mrs. Bronze of California" idea to the group and feels that since the young unmarrieds always get all the glory for beauty, it is high time that some one glorify the "poor" married woman with children.

The contest is sure to win for some one national prominance after she is crowned and planes away to San Francisco with her proud husband. Contestants are limited so there is a great rush for sponsors whether it be firms, clubs or just an admiring husband to get the names of aspiring entrees to Mrs. Climentine Robertson, RE 34677, committee chairman.

Ivy Leaf Club Presents Dance

Lollipops will be given to friends and guests of the Alpha Kappa Alpha Ivy Leaf Pledge Club, when they attend the group's "Lollipop Lullaby" dance, Sunday, May 30 at the Diana Ballroom.

Although juvenile dress is optional, many couples will vie for the Kiddie King and Queen crowns. Prizes will be awarded for the cutest costumes. Everette Minor's combo will jump things up to a more adult beat.

In an effort to remind fun-lovers where to congregate Sunday evening, dance committee members will pass lollipops on local college camps this week.

Terry Matthews, Ivy Leaf president, said the May 30 date was set in realization that the following day will be observed as the Memorial Day holiday.

The decorations committee with Myrtle Davenport and Pat Flory as co-chairmen, will attempt to carry out the juvenile amosphere. Diane Watson and La Von Landry head refreshments.

Delta Jabberwock of '54 Finest Event In History

Around 1500 people witnessed a show filled with fun and color on Sunday afternoon at Bovard Auditorium, University of California, which was Jabberwock of 1954. Groups participating outdid themselves to give sterling performances in vying for prizes offered for the best skits. The show began with its overture (specially composed by Danellyn Mabrey) and Mrs. Lorenza Cole played by Sammie Franklin and his orchestra. From then on the audience was wafted from Beale Street, where the blues were born, to El Prado in Havana, from Ukwe Onye Ogbaaga in Africa to Basin Street in Louisiana, from Elm Street anywhere in America to East River Drive. The skits were in turn enchanting and amusing, sad and gay; the dances were skillfully done and the costumes were sometimes mirth-provoking, sometimes very beautiful, always eye-catching.

QUEEN OF JABBERWOCK

The audience in a holiday mood and dressed to the teeth viewed the seven pretty girls competing for the honor of being queen for a day with evident pleasure and admiration as they strolled down the aisle to the stage on the arm of their escorts. Dressed in varicolored evening dresses bought especially for the occasion they presented a picture of youth and beauty as one of their group was singled out to be "Queen of Jabberwock." That one was Edmonia Morris, lovely senior at Jefferson High School and daughter of Mrs. Lillian Morris. As "Queen of Jabberwock" she received an armful of gifts, including a two-piece set of luggage, 10 free lessons at the Dryden School of Dance, candy, stationery, records, jewelry and a dainty silver loving cup inscribed "Queen of Jabberwock of 1954." Receiving second prize pleasing, Peggy Parks was the thrilled recipient of many gifts among which were a nylon slip, records, stationery, candy and a clock radio. Peggy, a senior at Los Angeles High, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Parks.

Joyce Ewing, who simply sparkles when she talks, was winner of third prize. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andre Ewing, watched her accept her gifts which along with jewelry, candy, stationery, records, included a camera.

PRIZE WINNING SKITS

The show was closed with the presentation of the prizes for the best skits offered. Walking away with first prize was the Lorelei Club, who presented "Beale Street"; second prize of $50 went to the Sinquanon Club for "Ukma Onye Ogbaaga"; the third of $25 won by Kappa Alpha Phi Fraternity for "East River Drive." Milton Wood was Coordinator of the show and Danellyn Mabrey was production chairman.

SUCCESSFUL COMMITTEES

Functioning more harmoniously and successfully than any prior Jabberwock Committees in Delta Sigma Theta Sorority history, "Avenue Anywhere" will long be remembered as the greatest. As space does not permit praising each of the many members of some twelve committees, the invincible accomplishment of lovely Leatrice Bryant, as proficient publicist and jovial journalist, was highly commendable.

Bridge Pointers

By 'KENNY' SCOTT

We just happened to recall one of the most frustrating hands we ever had the misfortune to play. It was played about two years ago at an ACBL tournament in Santa Monica and it was the first hand we played. After this hand it seemed that everything went wrong, and while we weren't the lowest team, we certainly didn't come close to placing. Here is the complete deal and bidding. Both sides are vulnerable.

The seven of hearts was led and East took two heart tricks and switched to a diamond. At this point South's analysis of the hand included two possible club losers. However, there were four diamond tricks which meant that South would be able to discard two clubs from his hand and hold the club loss to one trick.

Set One Trick

South therefore led two rounds of trumps and played the king of diamonds to clear his hand before entering dummy on the last two-trump. Of course East ruffed and then played the ace of clubs, setting the contract one trick.

The first frustrating thing about this hand was the double. We realized that East had made a very illogical double, but had then been lucky enough to set what looked like a routine contract. Subsequent checking reevaled that on one made four spades. However, we were the only ones who were doubled. The lucky teams were those conservative players who stopped at two or three spades or who were lucky to set East at three hearts doubled.

Can Be Made

The second frustrating thing is that the four spades can be made if the jack of clubs is corectly placed and finessed against. However, following the dictum of never making an unnecessary finesse, all the South players played the hand the way we did, or at best, those that didn't played East for the jack of clubs. We would have too.

The recent regional at the Golden West Bridge Association was a great success and we want to congratulate all those responsible. This was the first Grade A regional ever held on the Pacific Coast. Winners were Mrs. Jessie Robertson and Mr. Raymond Hansen, and we wish especially to congratulate them because they literally ran away with first place.

Lessons are being given at the YWCA each Tuesday, Class begins at 7:30 p.m. and all, especailly beginning players, men and women, are invited.

MODELS NEEDED—Leon Wilcox and Cliff Hall of Ad-Graphic Studios, 1746 West Adams Boulevard, need 98 photographic models (female) at once. Call REpublic 4-3630, after 5 p.m., or ADams 4-7747 and leave message for an interview. Models are needed to advertise leading local and national products.

STUDY CLUB

The Study Club of the Order of the Eastern Star met at the home of the Grand Worthy Matron, the Rev. Geraldine O'Conner, Friday. Plans were made to entertain the Grand Officers from the north who accompanied the Grand Matron on her official visit to the Night Chapters of the Prince Hall Affiliation. A lovely party was given for them at the Cosmopolitan Hotel.

All members are urged to attend the next meeting on the fourth Friday night at 8 p.m. Plans are being made for the Grand Chapter, which will convene in San Diego in July.

Annual Flower Show In Berkeley June 6th

Phyllis Wheatley Club of the East Bay will hold its Annual Flower Show Sunday, June 6 at the South Berkeley YM-YWCA, Russell and California Streets, Berkeley from 2:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m.

The theme this year is "Moods in Flowers," and it is expected that many interesting and unusual arrangements will be displayed. Everyone is astir, delving into the meaning of flowers in order to properly depict this theme.

Announcements have been sent to individuals, clubs, and businesses to enter displays. There will be prizes for these three groups as well as for children, and a special selection on perfection of bloom. First, second, third and Honorable Mention prizes will be presented in each division.

Judges are professional florists from well known East Bay nurseries.

Not in competition with the other exhibitors, the Club members will also have displays. Many beautiful plants and flowers can be purchased from the Plant Booth during the show.

Mrs. Charlotte Stanton and Miss June Hall are co-chairmen for this event and they promise an afternoon of real enjoyment for the many flower conscious citizens of the Bay area. Refreshments will be served as is the usual custom with Phyllis Wheatley Club.

To date entries have been received from:

Mrs. Eleanor Hines, Mrs. Sarah Bryant, Mrs. Dorothea Overton, The Native Daughters, The Ladies of Leisure, The Nifty Eight Bridge Club, The 500 Club, Les Mesdames Metaus, Mrs. Green and Mrs. Johnson of the Simplicity Beauty Shop of Berkeley, Beta Chapter of Beta Phi Sigma Sorority, The Mirth and Melody Social and Civic Club, The Berkeley Victory Civic Club, St. Paul A.M.E. Church and Calif. Council of Negro Women.

Entries are still being received and Mrs. Stanton, the Chairman, has extended the dead line to June 3.

Stars of Bethlehem At Gospel Temple

The Stars of Bethlehem Quartette, the Spiritualettes, Girls' Quartette, the Edmonds Gospel singers, and many noted soloists and musicians will appear at Edmonds Gospel Temple, located at 1105 E. 21st St., corner of Griffith Ave., Sunday, May 30, at 6 p.m. Miss Edmonds urges the public to come early for a comfortable seat. There is no admission cost.

If you do not need anything but money to buy the special things you want, write to P. O. Box 2-6153, Station E, L. A. 26.

"SOUND TRACK"

Following tone poem from the pen of Elliot Horne. Lifted from the WW column:

PRESS AGENT SPRING SONG
My typewriter's fallen asleep
And I hope the boss doesn't mind
If I goof just like little Bo Peep
Must've goofed when her sheep ran behind.

For dat ol' debbil Spring is bewitching,
So how can I think of my clients?
They expect me to be "in there pitching"
While they love the "Bums" or the "Jients"!

The man means that the public relations folks would make every move a hustler's move. (Are you listening, Chazz?)

SHHHHHHHHHHHHHHH!!!
HE'S ON THE BEAT!

Stacked up Florine Colette isn't a blonde anymore. She's brunette! . . . Sports scribe Brad Pye and the misus welcomed twins. A guy and a doll. . . . And the Noel Scotts joined the Stork Club! . . . Dolores Piper has just about cinched a role in "Carmen Jones" movie. She's the warbler who played the crippled girl in Ebony Showcase's "Right Where You Are" . . . Libby Clark and Abie Robinson are the hottest feud in journalism circles. They used to be tighter than Dick's hat band but as of now it's Murder, my sweet! . . . Willa Booker is planning a "Life Begins At Forty" party to celebrate her first day on earth day! . . . The angry sounds at the Bob Thomases (Charity) home made a big noise last week and the pair separated. Best friends (like us) tried to hush it up. But no deal. Versatile Trio Playing Pretty For Music Lovers

Earl "Fatha" Hines, who brought more big names to the fore than virtually any other top name in music today, such as Billy Eckstine and Sarah Vaughan, capably demonstrates that there are 88 keys on the Steinway, when he plays them all at the Club Morocco, Western at 46, opend Tuesday evening.

With a trio consisting of Chico and Wiggins suitably framing his impressive runs and harmonies, the master of the modern piano styling is presented nightly at the West Coast's smartest supper club, gaining nation-wide fame as the home of the piano maestros.

Extra Activities

Earl (Fatha) Hines, celebrated jazz pianist, has assembled his first new band in 3 years, according to Emmet Hozay, manager.

Rehearsals have begun with the piano maestro and six musicians selected for fast doubling.

Something New

Noted as an experimental jazz artist, Hines organized the fresh group for a new departure from dixieland and progressive jazz. "I'm hot for a new sound coming off the top of old-style, it's been moving in me," Hines said. "This band is formed around that new idea."

EARL 'FATHA' HINES

Because of Hines' past jazz discoveries, booking bids are already under way with the Morocco Club and several Sunset Strip spots in negotiation, it was learned.

As "The Embers" in New York is the headquarters for the greatest "88-ers," so the Morocco has starred a succession of the foremost pianists in the nation, with the irrepressible Dorothy Donegan recently appearing, the maestro of "cool jazz," Gerald Wiggins, now winding up a lengthy stay, and Hines coming in on the 8th. Dinners and suppers are served nightly, with the Morocco the favorite spot for late evening relaxation, also.

Dancesational

"SUGAR" RAY ROBINSON heads a riotous revue into the Club Oasis, Western at 38th St., in his first local nite club appearance. Sugar, a radio and TV veteran, is a polished dancer, drummer and horn man. Make it a must.

'Mayor of Melody' Adams Flying Home Saturday From 'Session' in Service

A gala welcome home is planned to greet KOWL's "Mayor of Melody," Joe Adams, and his troup returning from a three week tour of Korea, Japan, the Philippines and Hawaii, bringing a heartwarming touch of America to servicemen stationed throughout the Far East.

First Effort

The first of his race to head an entertainment troup in this sector, Adams was sent by the Hollywood Coordinating Committee, Talent Department headed by Irving Lande, and is under the direct supervision of the U.S. Army Forces, Far East Special Services Section.

Stellar Stars

Included in the troup are Eddie Beal, Shirley Haven, Eddie Gomez, Suzette Harbin, Gene Phillips, Eddie Davis, Clarence Metcalf and Tommy Butler, all of whom performed in the farflung battlefields, in out of way theatres and in many unheard of spots of the Far East.

The popular Joe and his troup will arrive at International Airport in Inglewood the end of the week, probably on Saturday, and a gala welcome will greet him, with the public invited. Further details of the arrival will be broadcast over station KOWL during the week.

Call Cobbs Big Hit at La Caribe

Call Cobbs, international famous pianist is finding new popularity in Horace Clark's smart La Caribe Cocktail Lounge. The cool exponent of the ivories and the dean of sweet tunes is getting rave notices from the nightly gathering. His rendition of such current hits as Moulin Rouge, April In Paris, Ebb Tide, Young In Heart, My Secret, and Cross Over the Bridge.

The slender well groomed Cobbs has been on the music circuit for a number of years having got started at an early age. He has also toured the country with most of the top bands and for the past three years have been working as a single. The La Caribe Room and Cobbs' music match like a glove both have beauty, grace and soul which is one of the many reasons why you often have to wait for a seat. Cobbs is destined to recapture all lost laurels as one of the 20th century's truly great young artist.

'Suave' Showman Will Be on Hand For Ten Day Stand

"Once a champ, always a champ" Sugar Ray Robinson brings his exciting dance act for the first time to Southern California fans when he opens this Friday, May 28, at the Club Oasis, Western at 38th, fresh from tremendous ovations in Las Vegas and the nation's smartest entertainment spots.

Solid Session

The harshest critics of the entertainment world went into raves over the dancing act of the middleweight champion of the world. Walter Winchell wrote "He's the Champ, that's all!" Dorothy Kilgallen raved, "Sugar Ray is attractive when he just stands there and talks, charming when he dances, engaging when he sings!" Hard boiled Frank Farrel admitted "Sugar's strut is sweet, something to see!" And doubly enthusiastic are the Sugar Ray Robinson fans everywhere.

Proficient Package

The Oasis engagement marks the first chance Angelenos have had to see the new sensation of the show world, after following his thrilling career for years in the ring. It is suggested reservations be made well in advance by calling the Club Oasis, REpublic 4-5510.

'Modern Sounds' Finest Around Town At Tucker's Tiffany

Jack Tucker, popular proprietor of the Tiffany Club, Eight st. near Normandie, is currently featuring the mellowist Modernists Dround.

Featured in sets of five every night from 9 p.m. till two every "yawning" are Milt Bernhart, trombone; Steve White, tenor; Red Callender, bass; Lawrence Marable, drums; 2nd Don Dennis, trumpet.

No cover, minimum or admission prevails. Plan your next night at the Tiffany and Jack Tucker will definitely make it right.

People and Places

E. PLURIBUS UNUM CLUB— (and don't ask us what does it mean) but one thing is for sure. They draw some of the finest females in the city to their dances. Last Sat. eve. in the International Room of the Hotel Cosmopolitan the bevy of beauties held forth with their annual Spring Semi-formal. Besides being an affair where a Hollywood talent scout or a Central Avenoo wolf would have a field day, it had the most unusual pleasure of people knowing each other, which generated an atmosphere of friendship that captured each and everyone attending. We focussed our Gin and Gingerale eyes upon such charmers as: Juanita Williams, Corrita Harbert, Cornelia Bradford, Alice Lynch, Ethel Pickett, Charlotte Bruce, Aileen Kaiser, Mildred Grant of St. Louis, Louise Gleed, Ouida Williams, Tony Atkinson, Gwen Marks, Hilda Grant, Virgil Brown, Nellie Brown, Juanita Miller, Ruth Speight, Dorothy Hudnell, Estell Lane, Roselle

Show Business

Fairbanks Flattery

EDITOR'S NOTE: SHOW-BUSINESS this week salutes Mabel Fairbanks, the hot mama of the frozen pond. Miss Fairbanks, along with her proteges, will topline the "Festival On Ice" show at Shrine Auditorium Sunday, June 6, sponsored by the NAACP Special Activities committee. History is about to be made in our village, when the sepia skating champ and NAACP "breaks the ice" for a sporting world first, and encourages our youth to achieve that extra "inch" in another field of athletic endeavor. Here are some quotable quotes and "Fairbanks flattery" authored by scribes the nation over who saw fit to heap kudos on the winsome wonder of the winter wonderland—Chazz 'Sound Track' Crawford.

"PERSONAL PREDICTIONS FOR 1954 SPORTS STANDOUT. Mabel Fairbanks, the skating demon, who if given the chance will prove to be one of the most elecrtifying figures on the steel blades." — Joe Bostic, Sport Editor, P.V.

"Mabel Fairbanks — portrays all the finese of a top notch star. She is rated in New York City and throughout the country as the greatest colored skater of all time. . . . She keeps her audiences spellbound with her numerous executions comprising of difficult spins, jumps and spirals. . . . Mabel Fairbanks has contributed much to ice skating as a sport and to her race in promoting ice skating among the colored folks in the East. . . ."—Louis Clark, former Mgr., New York's famous Gay Blades.

"Ice skating is one of the few sports at which Negroes have not already equaled or surpassed white athletes. But this year a 19-year-old Harlem girl has turned up to skate figure eights around all but the top white performers. . . . unquestionably the best skater of her race . . . most of Mabel's public performances have been before astonished passers-by who line Rockefeller's outdoor rink, where she occasionally practices . . . Producers who might be impressed draw the color line." — Time Magazine.

"Speed in Reverse! Mabel Fairbanks, Harlem figure skater, can ice skate BACKWARD faster than the average skater can forward! Recognized as the best skater of her race, she tried on her FIRST pair of skates less than FOUR years ago!" — John Hix's "Strange As It Seems."

"We feel that Miss Fairbanks deserves all the credit that can be given her. She is pioneering in a new field for us . . ." — William C. Nunn, Managing Editor, Pittsburg Courier.

"Mabel Fairbanks, dusky lassie of the blades, makes great hit skating at Radio City outdoor rink. She's got rhythm." —Ice Skating News, Flyer No. 11.

"Ever hear of Mabel Fairbanks, Harlem's sepia skinned wonder girl ice skater? . . . her "Rhythm-in-Reverse" has the professionals falling over themselves to get its swing." — Bill Love, N.Y. Jour. American.

"Mabel Fairbanks, a chubby, brown skater, is crashing a strange, new gate. She is an ice skater. . . . Her progress so far has been miraculous."—Marjorie E. Green, Opportunity Magazine's Spring Issue.

REGAL MEETING

LOUIS VERRETT (left), Northern California representative of Regal Amber Brewing Company, congratulates Malvin C. Webb of Los Angeles upon being appointed sales representative of Southern California. Verrett has been a member of the organization for over five years, while Webb has established himself as a stellar salesman, parent and responsible citizen in the community.

SALT OF THE EARTH 'CONTROVERSIAL' MOVIE AT MARCAL

Racial discrimination and man-woman relationships are twin themes of the excellent, if controversial, movie currently being shown at the Marcal theater, 6025 Hollywood blvd. in an exclusive roadshow engagement. "Salt of the Earth" is also a powerful portrayal of the struggles of a group of metal miners in New Mexico for improvement in their primitive way of living.

Realistic

Perhaps predominately, "Salt of the Earth" is the story of a wife's determination to be accepted by her husband as a partner rather than as an inferior, a "mere bearer" of his children and his housekeeper. In this, she is triumphant, and their love for each other is thereby strengthened; the marriage takes on an added significance for both them and their children.—D.L.S.

'CHECKING' ROBES

HOLLYWOOD'S leading uniform and choir robe manufacturer, Henri O'Bryant, 1144 N. Western Ave., 'checks' order with Rev. Henry H. Murph, for choral vestments for Grant A.M.E. A beautiful new quarter million edifice Grant is the first AME church to be erected locally in 50 years. Henry O'Bryant, Uniform Manufacturer, is supplying robes for three choirs of this 105th and Central structures.

PEOPLE & PLACES

Fernandez, Calme Russ, and many eyesful more!

AL MILLS—pseudo politician about the Hotel Watkins and his attractive Mrs. are driving different cars and she indicated that their marriage is on the proverbial rocks!

JAMES O'NEAL — big time San Francisco beer salesman, blew into town the other eve and was here long enough to talk Billy Boswell's ex-gal friend into returning to the Bay Area with him!

A. B. CLAY—spearhead of the Elks Civil Liberties and an influential political wheel. Holds down the first barber chair in Pat Moore's popular Western Avenoo shop where he keeps in touch with the man-on-the-street. Which is why his programs are hard-to beat!

INFLUENTIAL DEMOCRATS —are silently supporting Walter Gordon and Nat Redding and got the boys downtown thinking otherwise. Reason for the cold switch lies in the deal made with Gus Hawkins keeping him out of the race and the latter in dumping Redding after the $10,000-a-year job was signed, sealed and delivered!

JOE TURNER — hefty blues shouter doesn't know it but the gay boys have taken his latest juke box ditty title, "Rock, Rattle and Roll," as their theme song!

LIQUOR STORES — several ofay owners doing 99 percent business not only refuse to support many of our community projects, they have now adopted a policy to spend as little money as possible on the eastside. One owner openly admitted he doesn't buy a ten-cent cup of coffee from a nearby Negro-owned cafe!

CLEO McMURRAY — doll-faced waitress along Central Avenoo is all wrapped up in hubby who designs pleats for women's skirts. Much to the disgust of the wolves who drool on a stool at the counter!

MAMIE GRAYS — ebony silk skinned receptionist in dapper Dr. Grady Orange's busy East Vernon Street office is also a model. Every time she crosses Vernon street horns blow, brakes squeal and the Junior high school girl students at Carver just lean out the window and wish in years to come for a figure like hers!

DYNAMITE JACKSON — celebrated his birthday the other eve by winning a $300 TV set raffle by the newly formed 1832 Club!

JOE FLUELLYN—noted thespian has one of the best roles in his entire career in W. F. Frank's forthcoming flick "Sitting Bull"!

SUGAR ROBINSON — in town for a night club date shouting the praises of a Johnson Bath House treatment in front of the Hotel Watkins the other eve. Taking heed of the ex-boxer's advice was Maceo Brich, Harry Mills, Elihu McGee, Big Benny Lee and insurance man Eugene Perry!

BETTY CLARK — looking youthful in her latest hairdo and real disappointed about big brother Mal Whitfield's failure to crack the 4-minute mile!

MARY ALICE JOHNSON — club woman and wife of Atty. Morris Johnson, on mend after being ill for a short spell!

FRED R. BANKS — dapper nabber taking in an early a.m. breakfast in Ray Mill's cozy Redwood along with his John Clemmons USC instructor, Grace Cozenave and Banks' charming and attractive Mrs.!

NORMAN O. HOUSTON — president of Golden State Mutual, and his wife Edith are recuperating rapidly since their release from the Cedars of Lebanon Hospital. They were injured in a Texas highway accident last month!

GEORGE RHODEN — world's record holder of the 400 meters will become a member of the staff at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital after the Compton Relays. He is a Physio-Therapist!

DR. D. OVERSTREET GRAY—celebrated dentist is busy stacking up boxes of cigars anticipating a new member of the family in a few months!

OUIDA WILLIAMS — one of the town's better dressers getting rave notices at the E. Pluribus Unum club dance attired in a smart looking cocktail dress and a breathtaking mink cap!

WALTER GORDON — is making big strides to win a seat up in Sacramento. His $10.00 plate dinner in the Hotel Clark the other eve was packed with vote-getters!

JOE PERRY — '49er footballer and his wife leased their Ocean-view home in San Francisco to Dr. Herbert Henderson and moved to Los Angeles this week!

SHIRLEY BILLUPS, charming dental technician escorted her dear mother, Paula Riddle of 1831 West 35th Place, and their lifelong friend, Hattie Thomas of 4220 West Cote Brilliante, St. Louis, Missouri, on a tour of picturesque Forest Lawn in Glendale, California, Hollywood Farmers Market and other scenic points of interest last Sunday.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Education of the City of Los Angeles will receive bids for furnishing all labor and material for the following work:

Furnishing and installation of acoustical treatment on the ceilings of the Administration and Home Economics Buildings at the Lafayette Junior High School.

Date of Bid Opening: June 11, 1954.

Each bid shall be in accordance with drawings, specifications and other contract documents now on file in the MAINTENANCE AND OPERATIONS BRANCH of the Business Division of said Board, 1425 South San Pedro Street, Los Angeles. Prospective bidders may secure copies of said drawings and specifications at the office of said MAINTENANCE AND OPERATIONS BRANCH.

Pursuant to the Labor Code of the State of California, the Board of Education has ascertained the general prevailing rate of per diem wages for each craft or type of workman needed to execute the contract or contracts which will be awarded the successful bidder or bidders; and these prevailing rates are contained in said specifications adopted by the Board, and are as follows:

CLASSIFICATION

Foremen

All foremen not herein separately classified, shall be paid not less than 17½ cents per hour more than the hourly rate of the highest classification over which he has supervision as to the SIX BASIC TRADES; and not less than 12½ cents per hour as to the SUB-TRADES, more than the journeyman rate for the craft involved.

Apprentices

May be employed in conformity with Section 1777.5 of the California Labor Code.

Riggers

Same wage scale as craft to which rigging is incidental.

Welders

Same wage scale as craft to which welding is incidental.

CLASSIFICATION	Hourly Wage Rate
Carpenter	$2.70
Laborer, General or Construction	2.05
Plasterer Foreman	3.6875
Plasterer Tender	3.1125
Plasterer	3.4375

—Plus Health and Welfare, etc.

The rates of per diem wages for each of the various classifications of work shall be the hereinbefore set forth prevailing rates of hourly wages multiplied by eight (8). Eight (8) hours shall constitute a day's work, it being understood that in the event that workmen are employed less than eight (8) hours per day, the per diem wages shall be deemed to be that fraction of the per diem wages herein established that the number of hours of employment bears to eight (8) hours.

WORKING RULES

1. Where a single shift is worked, eight (8) consecutive hours between 7 A.M. and 5 P.M. shall constitute a day's work at straight time for all workers.
2. Forty (40) hours between Monday 7 A.M. and Friday 5 P.M. shall constitute a week's work at straight time.
3. All work performed in excess of eight (8) hours per day or forty (40) hours per week or on Holidays and Sundays shall be paid for at the rate for overtime of the craft involved.
4. Holidays as herein referred to shall be deemed to be New Year's Day, Decoration Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Armistice Day, Thanksgiving Day and Christmas. If any of the above holidays fall on Sunday, the Monday following shall be considered a legal holiday.

It shall be mandatory upon the contractor to whom a contract is awarded, and upon all subcontractors under him to pay not less than said general prevailing rates of per diem wages to all workmen employed in the execution of the contract.

Notice is also hereby given that all bidders may submit with their bids, a sworn statement of their financial responsibility, technical ability and experience. Such sworn statement may be required to be furnished before award is made to any particular bidder.

Each bid shall be made out on a form to be obtained at said MAINTENANCE AND OPERATIONS BRANCH of the Board of Education; must be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check or bidder's bond (issued by a surety company accredited by the Board of Education) for not less than Five Per Cent (5%) of the amount of the bid, made payable to the order of the Board of Education of the City of Los Angeles; shall be sealed and filed with the Counter Clerk of the Board of Education, Room 200, 1425 South San Pedro Street, Los Angeles, by not later than 2:00 P.M. on the date or dates shown above and will be opened and read aloud in public at, or about, said time and in the public hall, second floor, of the above address.

The above-mentioned check or bidder's bond shall be given as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into contract if awarded the work, or any part thereof, and will be declared forfeited if the successful bidder refuses to enter into contract after being requested to do so by the Board of Education.

The successful bidder or bidders will be required to furnish labor and material bonds in an amount equal to 75% of the contract price, and faithful performance bonds in an amount equal to 100% of the contract price, said bonds to be secured by a surety company or surety companies satisfactory to the Board of Education.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids, and to waive any informality in any bid. No bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of sixty (60) days after the date set for the opening thereof.

By order of the Board of Education of the City of Los Angeles.

DATED: Los Angeles, California, May 20, 1954.

Macedonia Church Insures Pastor's Life In Unique Agreement With Mutual

The Rev. Sutton O. J. Evans, minister of the Macedonia Baptist Church, has had his life insured. This isn't ordinarily news, but Rev. Evans does things differently. His beneficiary is his church!

As explained by Sammy Reed, who drew up the contract for the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company, one of its special features is an agreement whereby in event of the death of Rev. Evans while the contract is in force, the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company will issue a check for several hundred dollars each month to the Macedonia Church for a period of approximately three years. Rev. Evans states that this is particularly important to his congregation in view of the large building program in which the church plans to engage in the near future. An educational building, parsonage, and day nursery are planned.

Mr. Reed, a faithful member of Macedonia, serves as assistant superintendent of the Sunday School. He pointed out that life insurance may be used to assist a church in many ways; for example, provide guaranteed retirement income to the ministers, a continuous monthly income to their widows as well as improve the church credit rating.

Rev. Evans is now in his third year as pastor and is one of the leading ministers in the city. He invites the public to attend the worship services each Sunday throughout the year.

Mr. James Tivis, secretary of the trustee board, was not available for the photograph.

Marshall Reports to N.A.A.C.P.

More than 1500 members and friends of the NAACP crowded the Zion Hill Baptist Church to hear Thurgood Marshall, NAACP Special Counsel, report on the recent historical Supreme Court decision outlawing segregation in public education.

The Campaign Workers felt rewarded for the their efforts when given citations on this occasion.

Dr. J. F. Evans, chairman, announced that 4,002 members have been secured in the current effort and urged the members to continue until the goal has been surpassed.

Folk Songsters Meet In Venice

The regular meeting of the Folk Songsters of the Bay Area is being held today at the Oakwood Playground in Venice from 8 to 10 p.m.

The chorus, which is conducted by Morris Browda, is learning songs of all lands and of various ethnic groups. Anyone interested is warmly invited to attend. Further information may be obtained by calling Evelyn Kamberg at EXbrook 8-8382 or EXbrook 9-3494.

South Balks as High Court Gives New Race Rulings

when the Public Housing Act was passed, said tersely:

"I regret that the Supreme Court decision of May 24, 1954, makes it impossible for me, believing in local government, to support any public housing. I therefore oppose any public housing program."

Racial segregation in public housing toppled into the discard today when the Supreme Court refused to review a decision of the California District Court of Appeal holding that San Francisco's 12 year old segregation scheme violates the 14th Amendment.

"The practical effect of the refusal to review is to uphold the California courts which minced no words in saying that racial segregation in public housing denies Negroes equal protection of the law," Loren Miller, head of the NAACP West Coast Legal Committee, pointed out. Miller with Attorneys Terry Francois and Carl Metoyer of San Francisco and Nathaniel Colley of Sacramento represented the NAACP in the suit.

The housing case was one of a half dozen cases involving the separate but equal rule with which the Court dealt Monday. In other decisions it ordered Negroes admitted to Texas junior colleges, approved a decision of the Court of Appeals giving Negroes the right to use a Houston golf course on a non-seggregated basis, held that a Louisville publicly owned theater could not exclude Negroes, and confirmed the admission of a Negro student to Louisiana State University.

Indicating that it intends to broaden the anti-segregation rule announced in the grade school cases last week, the nation's high tribunal told lower courts to reconsider their actions in the school and theater cases "in light of the decision in the segregation cases."

San Francisco pursued what it called a "neighborhood pattern policy" under which Negroes were confined to one of eight low rent housing developments. The practice was challenged by the NAACP in 1952. The San Francisco Housing Authority had asked the Supreme Court to review the California decisions, contending that it had the right to segregate under the separate but equal rule.

Meeting in Los Angeles to consider the effect of the holding, Franklin Williams, Director-Counsel of the West Coast Region of the NAACP, and Miller issued a joint statement asserting that the Association will "move swiftly to eradicate racial segregation in every public housing development in the Far West."

They pointed out that Arizona and Nevada authorities require such segregation and that the same policy is still followed in a few California cities.

"Californians can be proud that they have blazed a new trail for the entire nation," Williams said. "This is the first case of its kind to be decided by the highest court of any state. The Supreme Court's action sounds the death knell for racial segregation in all public housing."

Miller Cited At A.C.L.U. Rights Meeting

Loren Miller, publisher of the California Eagle, was among those given citations last week for their fight in behalf of civil liberties, at the annual conference of the American Civil Liberties Union, Southern California Branch. The conference met Saturday, May 22, in an all day session at the Golden State Mutual Insurance Company building, 1999 West Adams Blvd., in an effort to determine how best to preserve our American freedoms.

Agenda for the conference began with the showing of radio and TV Commentator Murrow's now famous film on McCarthy, in which President Eisenhower is heard reiterating the traditional right of an American to face his accuser or accurers. This was followed a little later, appropriately enough, by a showing of the film on the Annie Lee Moss case, where McCarthy refused Mrs. Moss the right to even know who were her accusers, much less to meet them face to face.

"Endangered American Freedoms" was the theme of the conference, which concluded with dinner at the Hollywood Athletic Club where the citations were made. Elmer Rice, playwright, was speaker at the dinner. Among those selected for the advisory board of the ACLU were, besides Miller, Dr. E. I. Robinson, George Beavers and George Thomas.

WHAT'S DOING

Where safety is always in style

The man inside the strange garments (at right) put them on to show you the wide variety of safety devices we use today. Of course, it isn't likely a telephone man will need all this equipment on any single job. But whatever the job, telephone men have the safety devices and techniques they need. Making safety our style pays off for you. For we think a job must be safe to be good. And only good jobs can hold the capable people needed to bring you more service, dependable service, at lowest possible cost. Pacific Telephone works to make your telephone a bigger value every day.

Save time—look up numbers before you call

You know, telephone numbers have a way of getting twisted when you rely on memory alone. So, to make sure you get right numbers the first time you call, look in the telephone book for those you're doubtful about. And to help you keep handy the numbers you call most often, we'll be glad to send you a free booklet to list them in. Get your copy by calling, writing, or dropping in at our business office.

An extra telephone is yours for just pennies a day

In any room in your home, you can have the added privacy and convenience of an extension telephone. In bedrooms or kitchen . . . in the garage or basement, extensions save you steps, save you time. And this extra service is yours for just pennies a day. We can offer this service because no additional outside wires or equipment are needed—only the telephone itself. To order your extension, just call our business office. Pacific Telephone.

Eagle Tells Choices In Tuesday Election

(An Editorial)

Making a choice of candidates in this, or any other election, isn't easy. Every candidate has something to recommend him. Every voter takes many factors into account in making his choice.

The Eagle's selections are the result of an attempt to sift out varied claims and are made after consultation with staff members who themselves have to reconcile conflicting views.

Primarily, the Eagle is a Democratic newspaper in the sense that it believes that the program and policies of the Democratic party offer the Negro his best chance for good and efficient government and for the realization of his ambitions for first class citizenship. Under those circumstances our choices are predominantly Democrats and under our cross filing system they can also receive the votes of Republicans.

It is plain, too, that Negro voters must not only take a candidate's general platform into consideration but that they must also weigh his attitudes on civil rights and on issues of paramount importance to them. The Eagle has done just that and where two candidates are otherwise equal we have chosen the man whose record on civil rights is best.

In some cases we have made no recommendations simply because there are few or no Negro voters in a particular district. In many cases where no recommendation has been made there are candidates who recommend themselves to us and whom we believe should be elected. Omissions of certain districts are therefore the result of the fact that Negro voters are not numerous in the areas and not because of lack of merit of candidates.

Graves For Governor

For Governor the Eagle recommends Richard Graves, the Democrat, over Governor Goodwin Knight, the Republican, DISCUSS CAMPAIGN—Ned Redding, left, Democratic candidate for Congress in the 26th district, discusses June 8th ballot with Atty. Loren Miller, Eagle publisher.

Vote For Ned Redding

(AN EDITORIAL)

The Twenty Sixth congressional district is the center of attention in Tuesday's primary election. The only real contenders are Ned Redding and James Roosevelt.

The Eagle's choice is Ned Redding.

Redding would win in a walk if it were not for his opponent's name.

Mr. Roosevelt has nothing to recommend him in this particular race except that name. He does not live in the district. He never has. He never will.

Roosevelt is the choice of outsiders who have been meddling in the Twenty-Sixth district for years and choosing congressmen on the basis of their own ideas of what is good for those who live here.

Redding is a resident of the district. He will continue to be. His platform is sound; his record is excellent.

Redding has practiced what his platform preaches.

Redding will be in close touch with his constituents. He will reflect their wishes and their desires in Congress.

A vote for Redding is a vote for a REPRESENTATIVE of the district; a vote for Roosevelt is a vote for Roosevelt and nothing else.

Voters have the choice of voting for Redding to represent them or of voting for Roosevelt to gratify his own whims and ambitions. He says he wants to be elected to clear his name. Without passing judgment on the mess he is in, we think that plea is misplaced. He got himself in the mess. It is silly to ask voters to get him out of it.

Redding has a different objective. He wants to represent the people of his district. The people should elect him.

Dr. Bunche Denies Charges He's 'Red'

NEW YORK—Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, top ranking American on the United Nations secretariat staff, Nobel Peace Prize winner, recipient of the Spingarn award, was given a clean bill of health by the U.N. employee's loyalty board Friday, but not before he had sweat it out for two days of grilling.

Dr. Bunche had been named by Manning Johnson, professional informer, and other ex-Communists, as having belonged to various fellow-traveller organizations during the rugged 'thirties.

The second of the two all-day sessions ended at 1 a.m. Friday. On Wendesday Bunche went to Washington for a dinner at the White House, as guest of Pres. Eisenhower.

Following the interrogation, Pierce J. Gerety, chairman of the loyalty panel, told newsmen: "There is no doubt as to the loyalty of Dr. Bunche to the government of the United States."

Among those who testified in Bunche's behalf was Watter White, executive secretary of the NAACP. In addition to his many other posts, Bunche is a member of the Board of Directors of the Association.

'Abie' Robinson Charges Mills With Assault

Edward "Abie" Robinson, Eagle circulation manager, this week filed assault and battery charges against Al Mills, former aide to Chester Washington of the Pittsburgh Courier and a member of Gov. Goodwin Knight's election committee with headquarters in the Hotel Watkins.

Robinson charged Mills with assaulting him with a six-inch Texas switch-blade knife he had concealed on his person early Monday afternoon in the lobby of the hotel.

Robinson was talking to Olympic track star Lloyd La-Beach when Mills told him he wanted a word with him. Outside the dining room, Robinson claims Mills grabbed his collar and shouted "I'll kill you," as he brandished the knife. He hit Robinson on the face with the back of the weapon.

Alert waiters and Bob Keith heard the fracas and rushed to rescue Robinson. They grabbed Mills, thus preventing him from inflicting further injury.

Robinson notified his lawyer, Loren Miller, and visited his doctor, Dr. Grady Orange, then filed charges at the University Police Station.

Home Burns

SANTA MONICA.—The home of George Savage, 1427 19th street, was seriously damaged last week in a fire of unknown origin. Damage was estimated at $1,000.

Savage himself suffered burns about the face and on one of his hands, but the injuries were not considered serious.

Club Morocco Owner, Singer End Marriage

The off-again-on-again marriage of comely and curvaceous Dorothy Donegan swung into low gear and came to an abrupt halt Friday when the sultry queen of jive, after a sneak arrival here, asked for and received a divorce decree.

The talented Dorothy tearfully accused her man-about-town husband, handsome John T. McClain, proprietor of the Club Morocco, of cruel indignities, physical violence, threats of disfigurement and financial trickery.

Graves Tells Platform In Election Plea

In an exclusive pre-election statement for the Eagle, Richard Graves, Democratic candidate for Governor, renewed his promise to work for fair employment practices legislation, economic expansion and full employment, and strengthening of our civil liberties.

"California needs a Democratic Governor and state administration," Graves declared, "in order that we may see action, rather than empty promises.

"Minority groups are the first to feel the economic pinch. They are victimized both by the intolerance and bigotry of the extremists and by the inaction and indecision of the Republicans in the face of the current recession."

"As a Democrat, I place my faith in democracy and freedom.

"On the other hand, Governor Knight is against FEPC. He has said so. He cannot divorce himself from national Republican policy, from McCarthyism, or from the reactionary special interests he serves so well.

Eleven Negro Hopefuls Seek Office in Tuesday's Primaries

Eleven Negro candidates in Los Angeles—nine of them aspirants for the assembly—sat on the anxious seat this week as voters prepared to go to the polls next Tuesday (June 8).

The assembly candidates are: Augustus F. Hawkins, Rev. Edgar Johnson, Walter L. Gordon and Marque Neal in the 62nd assembly district; Lucius Lomax and Henry Pierce in the 63rd; Erskine Ragland, Rayfield Lundy and A. Champ Sturdivant in the 55th.

Leon M. Giles, a Republican, is seeking the congressional seat in the 26th district and Horace Alexaxnder is candidate for secretary of state on the Independent Progressive slate.

Hawkins, Lomax, Pierce, Ragland and Sturdivant are Democrats while the other assembly candidates are Republicans.

Party Heads See Victory For Gordon

Two Democratic and Republican leaders joined in predicting that Attorney Walter L. Gordon, Jr., candidate for the Assembly from the 62nd District, would head both tickets at the primary election, Tuesday.

Atty. Xenophon F. Lang and Mrs. Helen Crozier Greenwood of the Democratic Friendship Club, heading the Democratic forces, issued a joint statement predicting the Gordon victory based on late poll returns and on reports from precinct workers.

James L. Garcia, member of the Republican State Central Committee, and guiding the Republican forces, asked for comment on the Gordon victory, likewise stated that Gordon would win the Republican nomination handily. "We have the full support of the churches, labor, property owners, business and most civic organizations in the district. I am confident that, with the support of all these fine people, Gordon will win Tuesday," Garcia said.

Gordon Campaign Headquarters announced that, if any persons are unable to go to the polls Tuesday because of any physical handicap such as infirmity, or because of lack of a babysitter, they may call headquarters, ADams 4-3055 or ADams 1-4207 and a car will be furnished to carry them to the polls or a baby-sitter to stay with the children.

SEEK RE-ELECTION—Assemblymen Augustus F. Hawkins, of the 62nd A.D. seated, and John Evans, incumbent in the 65th A.D., both candidates for re-election, discuss campaign issues.

Candidates' Night Slated

An enlarged "Night Before Election" Tribune Forum will present all of the candidates seeking to give this community Negro Representation, Monday night at Golden State Auditorium, with California Eagle publisher Loren Miller as moderator.

Ten Negro candidates in all are scheduled to take part in an outsized discussion of the subject, "The Responsibility of the Negro in Politics."

Fireworks are anticipated as rival meets rival.

KNIGHT IS RIGHT

FOR CALIFORNIA

THE AFL SAYS: "There is only one candidate for Governor who is worthy of Labor's support – Goodwin J. Knight!"

TAXPAYERS SAY: "Knight doesn't just talk a good job. He does it. He said he wouldn't ask for more taxes while millions lie in the State vaults – and he didn't. He submitted a careful, constructive economy budget – and won Legislative backing for it."

BUSINESS SAYS: "California's governmental training system has given Goodwin Knight 7 years of experience, as Lieutenant Governor, in dealing with Statewide problems. The apprentice system works in Labor. It works in Business. Governor Knight's record proves that it works in Government!

Let's not trade a man who knows the job – for a man who's willing to learn."

PARENTS SAY: "Governor Knight cracked down on the youth-destroying narcotics traffic and made the first move in 20 years to clean up liquor control."

GOVERNOR KNIGHT SAYS: "Government's true function in a democracy is not to rule, but to serve – with humble respect for the God-endowed rights of each individual citizen."

DEMOCRATS SAY: "The Cornerstone of Democratic Government is not the Party – but the Man. And this year the Man is Knight!"

Auditorium Bond Called 'Tax Grab'

Describing Proposition "F" on the Tuesday, June 8, ballot as another "tax grab," opponents of this proposed measure which calls for a $19,500,000 bond issue to be voted on by the people, urge that it be defeated again.

Opposition to Proposition "F" is being aided by the Committee against Higher Taxes, with Dr. L. A. Alesen, M.D. as executive chairman.

This is the third time the Opera House-Auditorium has been presented to Los Angeles voters. It has been defeated twice before. In 1951 a $35 million plan was defeated, while only last year (1953) a $27 million plan lost at the polls.

Proposition "F" will saddle the citizens of Los Angeles with a $19,500,000 load, the Committee against Higher Taxes points out, at a time when the financial structure of the municipality is already tottering with tax burdens.

The Committee against Higher Taxes asks the voters of Los Angeles to consider that before we splurge for an opera house-auditorium, we should think about our overcrowded schools and our underpaid teachers; our need for adequate sewers; how to relieve our badly overtaxed hospitals; and our pathetically inadequate jails; and the necessity of a new juvenile hall.

Young Adults Plan Conference

The Los Angeles County Conference On Community Relations is sponsoring a Young Adult Conference to be held at Loyola University on Saturday, 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. for all young adults of Southern California.

The idea for this Conference came from young adults who felt the age from 18 to 25 presented the need for vast and significant decisions which many are not adequately prepared to make.

WHO IS GOING TO CARRY THIS TAX LOAD?
YOU ARE!!!

PROPOSITION "F" CALLS FOR $19,500,000.00 PUBLIC DEBT FOR THE CITIZENS OF LOS ANGELES FOR AN OPERA HOUSE AND AUDITORIUM

CONSIDER THESE FACTS:

1. Before we splurge for an Opera House, we should consider our overcrowded schools and our underpaid teachers.
2. We should consider our civic needs for adequate sewers.
3. We should relieve our badly overtaxed hospitals.
4. We should rebuild our pathetically inadequate jails.
5. We should vote for the Juvenile Hall bonds.

THIS PLAN IS UNSOUND!

LAND $5,000,000.00
$192,307.69 per acre
OPERA HOUSE
Assembly Hall 4,530,679.00
$1510.23 per seat

$484.14 plus land cost per car
Contingencies 1,318,181.00
?????
Total . . $19,500,000.00

ANY WAY YOU ADD 'EM UP—IT COSTS TOO MUCH!

REMEMBER:

We are already burdened with a 100% increase in city sales tax. This is the THIRD time the Opera House-Auditorium has been presented.

IN 1951—
a $35,000,000.00 plan was defeated.
IN 1953—
a $27,000,000.00 plan was rejected.

Eagle Tells Selections in Primaries

That recommendation is made on the basis of platform and program and not on the basis of personality. Graves, we believe, offers Negro voters their best chance of reaching their objectives in employment, in housing, in civil rights and in sound state government.

Samuel Yorty's record gives him the preference over Thomas Kuchel. Yorty represented the 26th district in Congress for two terms and in every instance his voting record has been good. California needs him in the Senate.

As indicated elsewhere, Ned Redding is the Eagle choice for Congress in the 26th district. In other congressional races the Eagle has selected Frank O'Sullivan in the 15th; Mark Hogue in the 16th; Eugene Radding in the 20th, Clyde Doyle in the 23rd, and George Arnold in the 24th. Each of them seems to stand out head and shoulders over opponents.

In the assembly races there is one candidate in whom the Eagle has taken a special interest. That is Lucius W. Lomax in the 63rd. His election is especially important because it will remove Delbert Morris from the assembly and will establish the principle of Negro representation from a district where such representation is over due.

We weren't able to make up our minds on a single selection in either the 55th or 62nd districts. The 55th is another district in which the principle of Negro representation must be established. There are two Negro candidates in that area who are to be taken seriously. They are Rayfield Lundy, Republican, and Erskine Ragland, Democrat. The district is now represented by Vernon Kilpatrick who has a good enough record but who should never have moved to that area when his old district was wiped out. We urge Democrats to vote for Ragland and Republicans to vote for Lundy.

Two Choices

The 62nd district has been represented by Augustus F. Hawkins for 20 years. More often than not, he has won both nominations with the result that he hasn't had to put his record and his program before the people in a genuine contest. We think he should do so and with that in mind we urge Republicans to vote for Walter L. Gordon and Democrats for Hawkins.

In other asembly districts we have chosen Jesse M. Unruh in the 65th, Don Tollefson in the Housing Bias Dropped By San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO—The San Francisco Housing Authority announced this week that it will "cheerfully and willingly" comply with a United States Supreme Court decision holding in effect that racial segregation in public housing violates the constitution.

In a complete reversal of policy, the Authority last week began, for the first time since 1942, to process applications for low cost housing without reference to the race of the applicants.

The 1942 policy was challenged by the NAACP in 1952 and Superior Judge Melvyn Cronin held that racial segregation violated the "equal protection of law" clause of the 14th Amendment. His decision was upheld by the District Court of Appeal and by the State Supreme Court. Attorneys Loren Miller of Los Angeles, Nathaniel Colley of Sacramento and Terry Francois represented the NAACP in the case.

San Francisco enforced racial segregation through what it called a "neighborhood pattern" policy. If a low cost development was built in a "white neighborhood" all tenants were white and the same rule was followed in Negro and Chinese neighborhoods.

The prewar program consisted of eleven projects, only five of which were built before World War II. The remaining six were planned after the war. Three in the latter category are occupied, two are under construction and another is still in the planning stage.

Altogether the eleven projects embrace 2,974 family housing units, capable of taking care of about 12,000 persons.

One project of 136 apartments was built specifically for Negro families, while four others in the prewar group were constructed in neighborhoods predominantly white. Among those planned before the war but not built until later, one with 231 apartments was put up specifically for persons of Chinese ancestry.

Asemblyman for Sixty Second District

PROMISES YOU THIS . . . .

- "I make the following pledge to the citizens and voters of the Sixty-second Assembly District, that if you by your votes at the June 8 primary elections indicate a desire to send me to the state legislative body as your representative in the Assembly, I will . . ."
- "Work unceasingly for a major job program at the state and public level and a workable and enforceable Fair Employment Practice Act to fit private industry jobs."
- "Work and support a program for more and better schools throughout the state and especially in the Sixty-second district. I will offer legislation to require better protection for school children and the school buildings during and out of school."
- "Correct the abuse and delay heaped upon lawful pensioners and those entitled to unemployment compensation by state employees, and work for an increase in unemployment pay to $40.00 per week."
- "Offer legal changes and reforms in our penal system as a just protection to those in prison and work steadily to prevent any occurances of the Wesley Robert Wellise Case."
- "Stand firm for civil rights and work to put at end all types of encroachments by police officers on the rights of citizens by such devices as shakedowns and illegal searches and seizures."
- "Insist that various boards of public utilities demand and get sufficient, equitable and satisfactory transit services by all agencies holding public transportation franchises anywhere in the state."
- "Diligently support an adequate housing program to care for the thousands of families who will soon be evacuated during the coming slum clearance drive."
- "A health developing and character building youth program to care for the thousands of idle boys and girls on the verge of becoming public liabilities and work for the right to vote for 18-year-olds."
- "Let me see your answer at the polls Tuesday, June 8. Thank you very much."

California Eagle

Published Every Thursday

The Eagle stands for complete integration of Negroes into every phase of American life through the democratic processes.

We favor:

1. FEPC on local, state and national levels.
2. Decent housing for all Americans.
3. Representation in Government.
4. Adequate old age pensions and social security.
5. Collective bargaining rights for all workmen.
6. Development and encouragement of Negro business.

We oppose:

1. Jim Crow in all forms.
2. Communists and all other enemies of democracy.

No More Blackmail

Senator Burnett Maybank of South Carolina has been a long time, and effective, supporter of public housing. Just this year he waged a winning fight to restore public housing to pending legislation after GOP reactionaries had knifed it.

But Senator Maybank says he is through with public housing for good and that he will never support it again. The senator hasn't changed his mind about the need. The need, he admits, is as great, if not greater, than ever before.

The reason for his change of mind is one of last week's Supreme Court rulings which in effect forbade racial segregation in public housing developments. So, says Mr. Maybank, if the South can't have Jim Crow nobody can have public housing!

This attitude is nothing new. Governors Jimmy Byrnes and Herman Talmadge have made the same threats about public schools now that the separate but equal rule has been abrogated.

We hope that nobody gets too excited about these threats. The South has thrived on this kind of blackmail ever since, and before, the founding of the Republic. At the cutset the South demanded, and got, protection of slavery before its states would join the new nation.

From the founding of the nation until the Civil War the South protected slavery by threatening to leave the Union unless its iniquitous system got full protection of the law. When the North finally called its bluff the South attempted to set up a new nation. And since the Civil War it has been having its way by intemperate threats to halt all progress unless federal legislation recognizes and gives implicit support to the segregation system.

In the past decade the Supreme Court has been calling the Dixiecrat bluff. The Court has knocked out the white primary racket, ordered the admission of Negroes to graduate and professional schools, compelled the payment of equal salaries to Negro teachers, forbade judicial enforcement of racial covenants and otherwise ordered enforcement of the equalitarian commands of the Fourteen Amendment.

After loud squeals and squawks the South has accepted each of those decisions. It will accept the new school ruling and the end of segregation in public housing too because the times demand it. The South can no longer blackmail the nation into permitting it to nullify the Constitution.

Changes won't come overnight. Jim Crow is too deeply entrenched for that. But historians looking back on our times will see clearly that the 1940's and 1950's marked the time when the nation finally decided to live up to the American dream that all men stand equal before the law.

The Price Of Segregation

The apparently irrevocable decision of the State to run the Olympic Freeway route along West 21st street will work a tremendous hardship on many Negro property owners on the West Side.

As was pointed out time and again, a public improvement of this kind works a double hardship when the displaced persons are Negroes. Racial residential segregation, carefully cultivated by the courts through three decades of unlawful enforcement of racial covenants and by FHA policies, has confined Negro home buyers to defined areas of this, and other, cities.

When they are forced to move from those areas they meet opposition everywhere. That opposition is especially intrenched in new subdivisions. In those new communities, builders and subdividers who avail themselves of federal mortgage loan guarantees absolutely refuse to sell or rent to Negroes. Thus far both the state and federal governments have connived at these exclusionary policies through the pretence that no legal remedies are available to halt this kind of discrimination.

The routing of the freeway through the West Adams district will force many more Negroes to face up to the problem that confronts all Negroes who seek to buy or rent in new subdivisions. The obstinacy of the State Highway Commission in this instance may serve a good end if it forces some of these displaced persons and state officials to the realization that racial residential segregation is a drag on progress and that it must be ended to serve the common good.

We hope that the decision will set off a new series of attacks on a form of Jim Crow that is more insidious than many other forms of discrimination.

Attention: Fire Department

We don't know whether or not our Board of Fire Commissioners and our Fire Chief read the papers. The tenacity with which they have clung to segregation in the Fire Department makes us doubt it some times.

But even if they can't, or don't, read we suppose they must have heard via the radio or television about the series of Supreme Court decisions outlawing state sanctioned racial segregation. And if they've heard, we wonder how in the name of goodness they think that they can maintain a system that runs so clearly counter to constitutional requirements.

We suggest that the NAACP make another attempt to get the Commission and the Chief to mend their ways and that if they don't the Association file a suit and let the courts explain the law of the land to these obstinate "public servants."

Cast Your Vote Tuesday

We have made our selections for public office on other pages of the Eagle and we would be less than human if we didn't hope that our readers will take what we think is our excellent advice.

But even if you think we're all wet in our recommendations we do hope that you'll go to the polls Tuesday and exercise the right to cast your ballot. Your duty won't be quite done unless you also try to persuade your neighbor to go and do likewise.

Party nominees will be chosen Tuesday and under our cross filing system some of the candidates may be elected.

It won't do to wait until you get the kind of representation you don't want and then spend another two years complaining about it.

Vote for whomever you like but be sure to vote Tuesday.

Pure and Simple

By L. F. Palmer Jr.

I've got to find a hobby from somewhere.

Just read a piece in a magazine that said a hobby can add years to your life and while I often wonder why anyone would want to add years to his life, I guess I'd just as soon stick around as long as I can before taking that excursion into the unknown. So I've been talking to some friends of mine about their hobbies.

One fellow I know collects stamps. He has a couple albums of the little colored items that he keeps under lock and key. When I visited him he had just read that layout in Life magazine and his eyes were still glistening like a firebug's at a big blaze.

He reluctantly took his precious albums out of his Brinks safe and let me have a look. I turned page after page. Looked at stamp after stamp. And got bored after bored.

Match Books

So I paid a call on another friend who collects match books. I started to light a cigarette as I explained my dilemma to him. Before I could strike the match he snatched the match book from my hand, mouth foaming, hand trembling. He looked at it under a specially made magnifying glass and handed it back to me with his tongue hanging out.

"Got one," he whispered hoarsely, his voice breaking with emotion.

He showed me his vast collection and I left thinking he'd be better off collecting psychoanalysts.

Train Fan

Bloody but unbowed, I tried again. After all a family man needs to add as many days to his life as possible or does he? Anyhow, I got a little excited when another buddy showed me his model railroad set. He's got it winding all over, under and a-top his rumpus room. He's got tunnels, bridges, terminals, signals, whistles, coaches and engines of all descriptions.

You ought to see him when he pulls the switch. He runs all around the room, switching tracks, backing up trains. His eyes light up like the engine floodlamps and smoke pours out of his nose just like it does from the choo choo's smoke stack. When he finally pulls the mile long train to a stop, he's puffing more than a 1930 vintage locomotive.

I figure he's loco so I move out smartly.

Camera Bug

By now I've begun to wonder what gives with this hobby business. But I'm a determined cuss so I try once more. This time it's a camera bug. When I entered his home, he shouted at me widly: "Hold it." I held it and winced when a flesh bulb popped in front of my face.

An hour later I felt like a contortionist having been through every conceivable calesthenic. My hobby friend called them poses. He led me into the dark room where for 45 minutes or so I stood in total darkness wishing I could get my hands on the writer who penned that epic about hobbies and living longer.

When the lights finally came on, I looked at pictures of myself and wished I were dead. I paid my buddy off, stuffed the negatives in my pocket, and headed for home—bewitched, bothered and bewildered.

Talked it over with my wife and learned that she was willing to take chances on my longevity. Figured she preferred a normal living man faced with a slightly shorter life to a pop-eyed hobby-horse who'd live a little longer—if you call that living.

Battleaxe and Bread

By Lester B. Granger

South Carolina's Sen. Burnet R. Maybank has been remarkably successful, for a Deep South politician, in maintaining a flimsy respectability among "liberal" followers of the New Deal-Fair Deal line in Democratic politics. His success is all the more remarkable because at the same time the cotton-belt senator has remained the darling of the Bourbon - type reactionaries of his own state.

Lester Granger

It looks now, however, as if Sen. Maybank has had to choose sides in public—and has chosen to toss his liberal pretensions out of the window in order to stay solidly entrenched with the vested interests of racial bigotry that have kept him in his Washington post for so long.

A 'Liberal'

Part of the Maybank reputation for being in the "liberal" wing was due to the fact that he was known as a powerful advocate of public housing. "Public housing is a liberal program," reasoned the shallow-witted, "Maybank is for public housing; therefore Maybank is a liberal."

It was precisely on this kind of dim-witted reasoning that ADA leaders during the past election ran around assuring their Negro friends that Senator Sparkman was a "good liberal" and deserved Negro votes for vice president. To be sure, Sparkman voted against civil rights all the way down the line, but what's a vote against civil rights when a senator is for public housing, repeal of the Taft-Hartley Labor Act and an end to "McCarthyism."

Dishonest Reasoning

Now South Carolina's Maybank proves all over again how dishonest this kind of reasoning is—and how stupid are any Negro voters who are taken in by it blindly. For now it is proven beyond any doubt that the South Carolinian isn't for public housing at all, and never was for it. He has been only for racially-segregated public housing—and the kind of public housing administrations served up for the past 19 years have made it possible for the Maybanks to have their public housing and racial segregation at the same time.

With a Supreme Court decision that this will no longer be possible, Senator Maybank lost no time in turning his back on the principle of public housing.

Miller - Won Verdict

Out in San Francisco, as a result of the genius of Loren Miller, Los Angeles attorney, the local Housing Authority had its Jim Crow public housing policy exploded. The Supreme Court confirmed a previous Miller-won verdict that San Francisco could not continue to house its white citizens in one project, its Orientals in another and its Negroes in still another. The Court barred segregation in public housing.

Maybank promptly exploded in Washington, D. C. The day before he had used his powerful committee influence to get Senate Banking Committee approval of a slum-clearance program that would provide 810,000 public housing units over a six-year period. This was heralded as a great victory for "liberals" even more than for the White House which had asked for action.

When the Supreme Court decision was announced, Maybank immediately reversed himself. He prepared to introduce a bill that would strike ALL public housing out of the Administration's program. "I'm sorry I have to come to it," he said.

True Label

And probably he is being honest. He must be sorry that from now on he will be publicly labelled as a politician who puts the interest of race-haters over the interests of his country. There are plenty like him in Congress—Stennis of Mississippi and Sparkman of Alabama, to name only two—but usually they like to keep their hands hidden as long as possible, so that they can continue to move in the company of the decent. For even self-acknowledge scoundrels seldom relish having their labels pinned on them for public view.

If Maybank is successful—as he may easily be—the housing interest of the poorer families will suffer, whether they are colored or white. Perhaps, however, there will be some compensation in the fact that even the ADA will now find it hard to describe the Sparkmans and Maybanks as being "good liberals at heart."

Louisiana Votes To Defy Court

BATON ROUGE, La. — Two weeks after the U.S. Supreme Court outlawed segregation in public schools, the Louisiana House of Representatives hurled a resounding defy at the decision.

By the near unaimous vote of 79 to 4, the House voted to set up a nine-member committee to seek means of maintaining the state's jim-crow system.

The measure now goes to the Senate.

One Man's Opinion

By LEON STEWARD

Going to the Polls Tuesday?

Next Tuesday is primary day and we shall go to the polls and tell the world whom we prefer as candidates. That is, we who have an intelligent interest in our own situation and in our nation's welfare, will go to the polls. We heard somewhere recently that the word "idiot" was originally applied to persons who did not vote in Rome when it ruled the world, even though they were not allowed to vote. We would not call those who do not vote in the primaries idiots. But they are evidently approaching that status by their poor thinking or their lack of the ability to vote between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. when the stakes are so high.

Leon Steward

The great danger in California is that those who can buy enough billboards to cry out for them may mislead the voter into the belief that the ability of an office seeker is measured by the financial support he can get. It isn't true that the people with large bank rolls make the best public servants.

Some Choices

Let us consider some of the candidates being offered in this important election. We in the 15th Congressional district are being offered Gordon L. McDonough, the incumbent, who appears to work for some members of the community and not for others and Frank P. O'Sullivan, a younger man who, while a student at U.S.C., organized an inter-racial fraternity and who is well prepared to go to the Congress and represent all of the people.

Speaking of Congress, there is room for mention of the Senatorial race. Thomas H. Kuchel, who was appointed to succeed Vice President Nixon when Nixon was elevated to the vice-presidency last year is the Republican. The Democratic candidate is Samuel W. Yorty, who won Helen Gahagan Douglass' place in the Congress, and who has done an excellent job of representing all of the people of his district.

For governor we have two serious contenders, Gov. Knight inherited Gov. Warren's place when he went to the Supreme Court. He is tied to the same group that gave Warren the look of a reactionary until he was about to go to Washington. The Democratic candidate makes no bones about favoring FEPC. He is not tied to those who usually control the governor's acts in the matter of labor and minorities. He is Richard P. Graves.

Be sure to vote against Jack B. Tenney. He is a reactionary from the word "go." Our choice for that position in the State Senate is Richard Richards. In our 63rd district we shall also vote for Lucius W. Lomax over Delbert Morris, the not so good representative of his district. We shall also vote for Edward Roybal for Lt. Governor and for all of the propositions. The Juvenile Hall surely needs enlargement. The Civic Center is greatly needed and will pay for itself.

You may not accept our suggestions but that is no reason for not goings to the polls next Tuesday. You owe it to yourself. Nobody can do it for you.

EAGLE SELECTIONS

58th, Charles Wilson in the 66th and Philip Schlessinger in the 56th. All are Democrats and each of them has the makings of a good public servant. Each should be nominated and elected.

Pat Brown Endorsed

The attorney general's race finds Edmund G. (Pat) Brown seeking the reelection he deserves and we recommend him without reservation.

Edward Roybal is our choice for lieutenant governor. He has been an able city councilman and is one of the best public servants in the state. He will do as good a job in Sacramento as he has done in city hall and we urge everybody to vote for him without regard to party affiliation.

Despite attacks that have grown in intensity in the past few months, wee see no reason why William G. Bonnelli shouldn't be returned to his position on the Board of Equalization. He is another public official who has seen the necessity for integration of Negroes into government and has acted on that belief.

The race for state senate deserves special mention. The incumbent Jack B. Tenney has gone over to the Gerald L. K. Smith movement, lock, stock and barrel. Last year he tried to induce the legislature to repeal the civil rights act, to provide for enforcement of race restrictive covenants and forbid all fair employment legislation. Tenney is a danger to civil rights and must be voted out of office.

Richard Richards, Tenney's Democratic opponent, is our choice. Mrs. Mildred Younger is Tenney's Republican opponent and if there are those who won't vote for a Democrat we urge them to vote for Mrs. Younger. The point here is that Tenney must be defeated.

Supervisor John Anson Ford deserves re-election on his record

Daniel Raeburn, George D. Collins and George E. Johnson are Democrats and our choices for secretary of state, controller and treasurer, respectively.

The Eagle urges a yes vote on all of the propositions on the ballot. Obvisously Los Angeles needs better juvenile hall facilities, a municipal auditorium and its city councilmen deserve an increase in salaries. Judge Hartley Shaw deserves re-election in the only superior court race on the ballot.

POLITICAL SPOTLIGHT

Knight's entire Negro campaign committee is expected to be on hand.

Supervisor John Anson Ford of the Third Supervisorial District, long the leader of the liberal element of the Board of Supervisors, has endorsement from Dr. E. I. Robnison, Atty. Loren Miller, Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Somerville, Betty Hill and all branches of organized labor, is engaged in the political fight of his career and deserves the support of all Negro voters of the Third Supervisorial District.

* * *

A 62nd Assembly District Young Democratic Club will install Mary Ann Buford, president, Betty Sezar, secretary, and Glendore Dawson, vice president on Saturday, June 5, at 8 p.m. at 916½ E. 24th street. Assemblyman Augustus F. Hawkins will be speaker. Young people of the 62nd Assembly District interested in joining the Young Democrats are asked to call Miss Dawson at ADams 34859.

* * *

Ray Lundy, candidate for Assembly, 55th District, according to Philip Carter, his campaign chairman, will be the victor on both the Democratic and Republican tickets.

Loren Miller says . . .

No, Not One

From a vantage point on the platform I couldn't see a single non-Negro merchant or market owner at the Thurgood Marshall meeting a couple of weeks ago.

On the assumption that these merchants read the Negro newspapers it must be assumed that they knew about the meeting. And even if they don't read the Negro newspapers they must have learned from radio, television and the dailies that the School Segregation opinion was one of the most important in the history of the nation.

LOREN MILLER

It marked the end of one era for Negroes and the opening of another in which the goal of first class citizenship is in sight.

The case concerned schools in the south but its implications for all Negroes everywhere are plain. It brought a step closer that good day when neither race nor color will be a factor in employment, in upgrading on the job, or in any other activity in which Negroes may engage.

Day of Rejoicing

Under those circumstances the decision would seem to have been of some importance to people who make their living by selling merchandise to Negroes. At the least, you might have thought that they would have turned up to rejoice with their customers.

There was more to it than that. As Marshall pointed out, the victory must be followed up. And that follow-up is going to cost money, time and effort. It might not have been too much to hope that our merchants would have put in a dime or two to aid in this follow-up battle to insure complete equality for those upon whom they depend for their livelihoods. The fact that they did not is eloquent of the utter lack of understanding between these merchants and the rest of us.

As I have pointed out before those who run the stores, markets and places of public accomodation in the Negro communities of this city make almost no contribution to its welfare. They do not belong to its organizations; they do not advertise in its newspapers; they do not participate in its efforts at civic, racial or public betterment. In short, they treat the people among whom they do business and upon whom they depend with utter contempt.

They're Ashamed

This attitude is deeply rooted. Its causes are complex. At bottom is the fact that they don't live among their customers. They don't want to. Deep in their hearts—and almost unknown or at least unrecognized by them—they subscribe to the current American belief in the dogma of the separation of the races. They don't want to lose face among their own friends by living in "Negro neighborhoods." They almost have a sense of guilt because they ply their trades in these "Negro neighborhoods."

The initiative for the correction of this state of affairs must come from Negroes. No good is done, no purpose is served by hiding from the facts. Frank and open discussion should mark the beginning of a campaign to deal with the situation. Continued refusal to come to grips with the issue can only intensify the ill feeling that boils beneath the surface.

The evening service will also feature the appearance of the Lofton Chanters, a group of a capella singers from Los Angeles, will sing the following numbers: "Ave Verum Corpus" by Johann Mueller.

Pioneer Citizen L. G. LaMar Dies in Hospital

Final rites for R. G. LaMar, pioneer resident of Los Angeles, were being said at requiem mass this morning at 9 a.m. at St. Odelia's Roman Catholic church, 53rd and Hooper avenue, with Father Patrick Shine officiating.

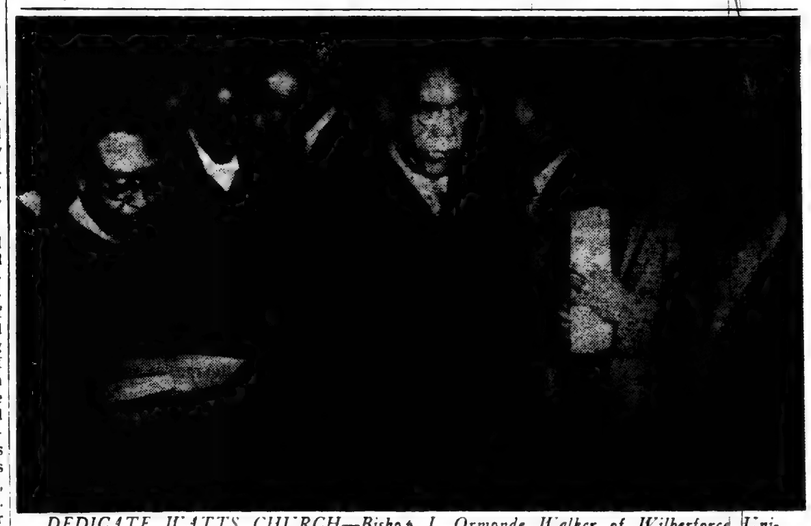
Mr. LaMar, who was in his eightieth year, died Friday at Los Angeles General hospital after a protracted illness. Rosary was recited Wednesday evening.

During his long and fruitful life, he gained state and national recognition as a civic, community, political and civil rights leader. A product of Atlanta university, he came to California in 1892 from his native Georgia.

The body was prepared for burial at Angelus Funeral Home, with interment at Calvary cemetery.

Mr. LaMar leaves to mourn his passing two sisters, Mrs. Sarah Lee and Mrs. Elizabeth Young, both of Brooklyn, N.Y.; two brothers, Wilson and Rufus LaMar of Atlanta, Ga.; three daughters, Dr. Mabel L. Oliver and family; Mrs. James A. Duncan and family of Pasadena and Mrs. Dora McGee and family of this city; two sons, Robert G. LaMar, Jr. and family and Lawrence F. LaMar and wife; a niece, Miss Eva Hill of this city; and a number of grandchildren, great grandchildren and a rich host of friends.

Harmon: Saturday, Rev. J. R. Lillie; Sunday, Rev. Dan McGrue; Monday, Rev. G. Hall; Tues., Rev. Willie Duncan; Wednesday, Rev. Alvin Saxton. There will be singing every night by choirs and guest soloists from churches of the city.



Grant Chapel Moves Into New Edifice

The Right Rev. D. O. Walker, presiding Bishop of the 5th Episcopal district of the A.M.E. Church, officiated at the formal dedication service of the new Grant A.M.E. church, 105th St. and Central Ave. Sunday afternoon with the Rev. Dr. Henry W. Murph pastor.

More than 1200 people filled the beautifully designed and spacious auditorium with hundreds more standing on the outside. Dr. A. A. Shaw pastor of First A.M.E. church delivered the dedicatory sermon using the theme "You are in a line of Endless Splendor." More than 75 clergymen including the A.M.E. presiding elders and pastors of the Southern California conference as well as visiting ministerial dignitaries from as far away as Seattle, San Francisco, Oakland and St. Louis were in attendance for the opening of the $250,000.00 edifice, which is the newest and one of the most magnificent ever built by a Negro congregation in the west.

It is the New Look in Churches, the outside being of ultra-modern design with a beautiful all glass front with off the street parking for about 100 cars. The main auditorium is done in Old English with a flair of the modernistic in matching colors and is completely air cooled and a seating capacity of approximately 950.

The choir stand accommodates 60. There is a sound proof Mother's Room, built in public address system, modern kitchen and dining facilities and a wealth of space for youth and community activities. "We are not through yet, we intend to expand our facilities even further so that we may have adequate recreational and educational activities for all of our youth in this area regardless to race or religious affiliation," Dr. Murph said.

DEDICATE WATTS CHURCH—Bishop J. Ormonde Walker of Wilberforce University in Ohio, center, delivered the dedicatory address Sunday at the new quarter-million dollar Grant Chapel A.M.E. church, 105th and Central avenue. At left, the Rev. Henry W. Murph, pastor. Right, Ned Redding, Democratic candidate for Congress in the 26th district, was introduced during the ceremonies.

Dentist Claims Libel; to Ask For $1,000,000

Claiming that he has been the victim of a slanderous statement and that his reputation as a dentist has been defamed, Dr. D. Overstreet Gray on Friday demanded a retraction from Jet Magazine.

Unless the retraction is forthcoming, Dr. Gray and his attorney, Carl A. Earles, declared they will sue the Johnson Publications, of Chicago, which publishes the magazine, for $1,000,000.

The statement in the June 3, 1954 issue of the magazine to which objection was taken asserted: "Because of wide demand for him as a jazz pianist at parties, Dr. Overstreet Gray is considering giving up his Los Angeles dental office to lead a band."

Dr. Gray, whose offices are at 1111 E. Vernon avenue, points out that he has been practicing dentistry in Los Angeles for the past six years, that he is an attending staff member at the Harbor General hospital, and that in addition he is now planning the opening of a dental clinic.

Dentistry, asserts the doctor, is his life work, and the magazine statement could well damage his reputation with his patients, and with other doctors as indicating a light-hearted attitude toward his profession.

Candidates Will Speak at Forum share the platform with his three rivals: Atty. Walter L. Gordon, the Rev. Edgar Johnson, and Marque Neal.

In the 63rd, the Forum's sponsor and moderator, Lucius W. Lomax, Jr., publisher of the Los Angeles Tribune, will square off against his Negro rival in the 63rd dsitrict, Henry W. Pierce.

GOP candidate Rayfield Lundy in the 55th, and Erskine Ragland, Democrat, have been invited. Other Negroes seeking office who will appear are: Leon Giles, Republican candidate for Congress from the 26th district, and Horace Alexander, Independent Progressive Party candidate for Secretary of State.

Supporters of all of the candidates will be on hand.

After the discussion all will be guests of the Tribune at an "Open House" to meet the candidates at the Alpha Bowling club at 2914 S. Western. There will be free refreshments, music, dancing and undoubtedly continued debate.

Dorothy Donegan Divorces McLain

corded her custody of the couple's 10-month-old son, Jan, community interest in the Club Morocco, a 1953 Cadillac convertible and the family home at 3047 Farmdale avenue. The court also issued a restraining order enjoining McClain from harassing or molesting his attractive wife.

The sensational concert pianist slipped into town Thursday and checked in incognito at the Watkins Hotel, in preparation for her appearance the following morning in divorce court, where she was represented by Atty. Curtis C. Taylor.

Miss Donegan told the press: "I returned to Los Angeles on April 20 for the purpose of talking over terms of a divorcee with John T. Instead he took my purse and my money from me and under threats of marring my face and otherwise doing me bodily harm, forced me to play a week's engagement at the Club Morocco.

"He kept me a virtual prisoner and I could not communicate with my attorney or any of my friends. He would not return my fare or my baggage until I was ready to return to New York to open up at the Club Embers.

"This time I fooled him. I didn't let him know I was in town because I did not want him to hurt me any more."

Miss Donegan testified in court that McClain had knocked her down with his fist one night outside the Club Morocco and kicked her viciously; that she performed for 16 weeks at the club for which she was to draw $1,000 per week but that she got nothing for the engagement; that he gave her 1949 Cadillac to his father; that he took her money and squandered it; refused to let her examine the books of the Club Morocco; and called her vile names before friends and acquaintances.

Reports that the stormy marriage between Miss Donegan and McClain had gone on the rocks hit the press in April, but McClain at that time told the Eagle "We've kissed and made up." A few days later, after a day's delay, Miss Donegan opened for one week at the Morocco.

Services Held For H. C. Green

Memorial services for the late Horace C. Green, past master, and organizer of Guardian Lodge No. 50, F.&A.M., of the Prince Hall Family of Masons, were conducted this week under the auspices of the Past Masters' Council of 1945.

An impressive program, presided over by Julius C. Hall, president of the council, was held in which many Masons bearing the insignia of the honored higher degrees paid just tribute to their departed friend and brother.

Local Hate Group Hits High Court

A local hate group joined the hue and cry against the Supreme Court's school segregation ruling this week when the American Nationalist assailed the NAACP as "run by Jews" and charged that "its ultimate goal is the total miscegenation of the white Christian stock which built this country."

The American Nationalist movement is headed by Frank L. Britten and has been keeping up a bitter campaign against all other moves to weaken or destroy racial segregation. It is supporting Jack B. Tenney in his campaign for State Senator.

The attack on the Supreme Court drew a quick rejoinder from Mrs. Mildred Younger, Republican candidate for State Senator, "Senator Tenney," she said "has proudly accepted the financial and political support of the American Nationalists.

Cooperettes Spring Dance Has Unique French Flavor

French fashion fare was the fascinating feature the Cooperettes displayed Friday evening, at their annual spring semi-formal which was held in the ideal setting of the Elks Ballroom.

The many guests enjoying the ball were greeted in French by the President and Founder, Mme. Orlean Washington.

In artful accord with the unique decorative theme, "Paris Au Printemp" (Paris In Spring) designed by the club, the hostesses displayed glamour, charm and cordial hospitality. Featured were pastel shades of the latest original Paris styled gowns. The hall decorated wi a parisian theme consisted of a large grass covered ramp from the stage of the bandstand, posters of French scenery draped upon the curtains and a quaint little push cart filled with an assortment of beautiful spring flowers. The decorations were artisticaly arrange by the Willie Brown florist.

Madame Gertrude Penland, popular "Our World Magazine" reporter, fashioned in a mode of white formal pantaloons with a low cut oval neckline and a V shape scalloped neckline extending down the back to the waistline and set off with a fish tail of permanent pleated nylon tulle. Vice-Pres., Mlle. Ophelia Huntley, symbolizing a focus of spring and summer enchantment, wore an original mermaid creation with a bodice of white opalesant sequin with a french blue strap of sequins forming a question mark from the neck and tapering to the body and completed with a french blue nylon tulle flounce from angles to the floor.

Sheer enchantment of an exquisitely fragile white chantilly lace tunic over buoyant skirts of taffeta and nylon tulle scattered with rhinestones were displayed by Mme. Christine Glassco, Rec. Sec.

Mmes. Mary Jones, Corres. Sec. and Marjorie Parker, Publicity Mgr. were a blossom of spring in their delicate "Lady in Waiting" maternity creations.

Sophistication supreme was sleeveless bodice which extended to the waistline with ruffled tiers of nylon net that fitted to the ankles, introduced the officers and members as they promenaded across the ramp carrying corresponding parasols.

Curtsying before the many guests and representatives from various popular clubs at 12 midnight were President, Mme. Orlean Washington in an imported chantilly lace over satin form fitted gown designed with

Town, Gown Club Seeks Top Beauty

Town and Gowners expect Los Angeles, famous for its women of beauty and pulchtrude, to produce the most for their Mrs. Bronze California contest.

"Analysing beauty you discover that which registers in the face is equally as important as the shape, health and vitality rank with other factors," the sponsors said. Town Growers have quite a job before them as preliminaries are set for June 19. The committee set about hand-picking some of our most beauteous young matrons in order to present to the public at Hollywood Canteen (Florentine Gardens) the tops of the 54 crop in the finals on June 27.

Mrs. Climentine Robertson committee chairman asks that no applicant apply unless able to meet thes requirements: twenty years of age and over, one or more children, married, living with husband and especially able to wear a bathing suit.

The prize will win for some happy couple a second honey-honeymoon as they plane away to San Francisco and week-end accommodations in the bridal suite at the world famous Booker T. Washington hotel. Early registration is essential as the number allowed to enter is limited. Judges will include such famous women as a celebrated actress and radio commentator, a public relations expert, a newspaper woman and a magazine editor, an attorney, a doctor and a popular man about-town.

A radio commentator internationally known for his world travel will be the master of ceremonies.

The number to call is RE 3-4677 or RE 2-4360.

Joyce Cockrell Entertains Club

Joyce Cockrell was hostess to the Town and Country Art Club at its regular monthly meeting on Thursday, May 27, at her South San Pedro Street home.

The new officers for the coming year were elected and ideas were exchanged for the club program. New officers are: President, Bernice Boddie; vice-pres., Daisy McDavid; Sec'y., Marion Maddox; Treas., Charles Eatta Tucker; Reporter, Ruth Spencer. The club advisor is Joyce Cockrell. Installation of the new officers will take place at the June meeting.

20th Century Modernettes Plans Affair

The popular members of the 20th Century Modernettes will be holding forth July 10, with a Mexican Folic planned to be one of the club's most elaborate social affairs. Joseph Malbrough has designed a special costume for the members and will feature the garment in his swank Western Avenue dress shop all during the month. Guests planning to attend this unusual and smart affair can get a glimpse of the proper evening wear in order to help create the Latin atmosphere. Club members are: Barbara Jean McGinnis, Esther Stamp, Yvette Montgomery, Anita Murphy, Elizabeth Brown, Maxine Tate and Vivian Green.

PARADE OF PARASOLS—Christine Glasser, Ann Craig, Genevieve Fisher, Josie Stewart.

displayed by Mme. Helen Steward, Treas., who wore a heart shaped strapless pink lace over satin fitted bodice and full skirt dotted with rhinestones.

Her business clothes being set aside for the present, spectators viewed Mme. Ann Craig, Bus. Mgr., in an open face neckline trimmed in nylon lace over pink taffeta and a pencil slim skirt with side panels.

Fine, fine and more fines describes Mme. Callie Buford, Sgt. At Arms, who displayed an original creation in a beautiful shade of Nile green silk chiffon. The bodice of her gown artfully hand tucked and draped to flattery, had a slim skirt with side panels.

Mme. Marie Holmes, Ass't. Treas., wore a petite change about strapless gown of blush pink broachaded nylon taffeta with a detachable shouldering covering which was also used as a bustle.

The Parliamentarian, Mme. Lillian Durden, wore an original orchid colored creation with a bodice of lace over satin studded with rhinestones, haltered rhinestones around the neck and down the back to a tapered waistline. The sheath skirt tapered from the hips to the calves of the leg and flared out to the floor.

These officers garbed exquisitely in Paris styles were backed by its members equally as glamorous.

Mme. Beatrice Bradley wore a strapless sea foam green satin fitted gown with a bodice of hand made rose buds with insets of iridescent pearls.

An illusion of heavenly blue nylon net over a strapless taffeta bouffant gown was worn by Mme. Geraldine Britt. The billowing hoop skirts had yards of dainty satin embroidered flowered ribbon strewn throughout for a jewel-like loveliness.

Mme. Vivian Hill wore a unique gown of Pagoda shaped stiff tiers of rose taffeta which were trimmed with white eyelet applique.

Mme. Jenevieve Fisher was gowned in a 2 piece peplum dress of imported white french silk taffeta trimmed with white fox cuffs and a pencil slim skirt.

Fashioned in a trumpet styled white nylon satin with one red rose at the waist and one at the knee was Mme. Ruth Smith.

Featured in an orchid colored fitted brochaded gown designed with a sweetheart neckline and double flounce at the hipline scattered with rhinestones was Josie Stewart.

Mlle. Oweda Tyus was the designer as well as wearer of a breathtaking icy pink silk chantung leaf-like neckline, fitted skirt which flared out at the knees.

Standing at the cart togged in a dark blue suit and sporting a white french baret and scarf, beaming with personality, was Monsieur Jay Hicks who issued officers and members a yellow rose bud which is the traditional club flower.

Music throughout the evening was by Monsieur Jeep Smith and Orchestra.

Saturday's ball was the second annual semi-formal to be given by the Cooperettes. This affair, under the chairmanship of Mlle. Ophelia Huntley, was an enjoyable attempt to greet the public socially as well as they have in requesting help from the public in their charity drives throughout the year.

The evening waes climaxed with the members and escorts enjoying a delicious ham breakfast and after-party in the lovely, spacious home of one of its members, Mme. Lilian Durden.

LES BELLES DAMES—Callie Buford, Marie Holmes, Ophelia Huntley, Beatrice Bradley.

PARISIAN PROMENADE—Ruth Smith, Geraldine Britt, Liliah Durden, Helen Stewart

Unique Club Hosts Affair

On Sunday, May 30, the Unique Social Club entertained the Utopian Club and their wives at the home of Mrs. Marie Boykins, 836 E. 111th Street. The beautiful patio was the scene of a delicious barbecue and provided a perfect setting for the colorful summer costumes of the guests.

The club meeting was also the occasion for a celebration of two club members, Mrs. Frank Braxton and Mrs. Scottie Chapman. Mrs. Randolph Solomon, the president, presented each lady a birthday gift and a hostess gift to Mrs. Boykin.

The Utopians, brother club to the Unique Social Club, held their regular social meeting, May 23, at the home of Mr. Lewis, 234 South Sierra Bonita, Pasadena. Hosts were Mr. Clarence Lewis and Mr. Melvin Martin.

BATTERS UP! Comely group of teen-agers at Girl Town, the all girl community near Arlington, choose teams as Mrs. Harriet Johnson and Mrs. Corrine Judkins look on. The latter are both members of the Sunday Morning Breakfast Club, whose Premiere Ball, scheduled for Saturday evening at Cosmopolitan Hotel, will benefit Girls Town and the club's Christmas Charity Fund.

We have not discussed the principles of defensive play in this column, possibly because we feel that to most people offensive play is much more stimulating and exciting. However dull defensive play may seem, though, it is this phase of the game, rather than improper bidding or incorrect dummy play, which decides results in duplicate play.

Allowing opponents to make an overtrick when they should have been held to the contract is very bad. Allowing opponents to make an "impossible" contract is almost always fatal.

Can Be Set

Defensive players must always assume that a hand can be set, even if one of them holds a Yarborough. This attitude can mean a great deal because it usually results in greater concentration on the hand in question. After all, even Culbertson and Goren have been set. And very few hands are lay-downs.

The first clue for defensive operations is the bidding. If you or your partner have bid, but opponents play the contract, strengths and weaknesses are generally pretty well known. Likewise if opponents bid, something is known about their hands, expecially if they bid a great deal before reaching the final contract. And the more you know about the opponents' hands, the more you know about your partner's.

Example

We played this hand the other day which illustrates this point.

PEOPLE SALTY WITH SUGAR

If you were among those who sat in on the Sugar Ray Robinson revue which opened at the club Oasis last week, you probably agree that the act which he headlines was slightly less than nothing . . . Town folks are still wondering what happened to the $15,000 show they were expecting . . . But in all fairness we must say that the gal singer . . . (and we can't think of her name) was the show.

FAR OUT SOCIALS

We heard about playboy Ishmal Evans throwing a wild weekender at his ranch way out on the outskirts of town. They say (and we won't mention our source) that the affair was a complete sex-cess.

WALLY PRIDE and cohorts pitched one along the same lines. . . . We must say that it was something to forget if you are plagued by a guilty conscience . . . seriously though, twas good clean fun.

DOROTHY DANDRIDGE chunked one for the local (and we do mean local) press . . . This gal is a comer.

MALICIOUS GOSSIP

Tis said that the long gone Pat Roberts will return to this berg within the month . . . S'been bout four years hasn't it?

Judy Picou's left hand has a new sparkle to it . . . We surmise that illusive teacher, Duquense Dickey raised the loot fo rthe price of that ring.

We get it from the local "grapes" vine that lovely "Scribelett" Wini Orr is suffering horribly from a sprained wrist. . . How you gonna write gal? . . .

Them high flyin' Social Marques had their recent dance lookin' like a "Dear farm" . . . Lovely tidbits were there En-Masse . . .

Gene Ramos, the homefolk's answer to Gene Kelly, will return here as soon as Fisk U. is excused for the summer . . . Down gals . . .

DID YOU KNOW

Chazz Crawford, author of the theatrical writer's weekly bible slayed gossipers at the Sugar Ray opening when he showed up with dearie, Dot Dandridge . . . The Harris sisters will soon be the top act on the strip . . .

Whip 'N Saddle clubsters are planning a weekend excursion to the desert . . . come hotter weather . . .

Ex-player, Johnie Riddle is back on the scene . . . and he's steadily courting his wife, Carmen Garrott . . .

Sunday afternoon will be a big day for the civic minded . . . The NAACP is presenting its ice show. . . .

Another dirty thirty . . .

Birthday Party Honors Miss

Sunday afternoon during the hours of 3 and 7 p.m., little Miss Carol Jean Pollard was the recipient of "Many Happy Returns" of the day, when her mother, Mrs. Mildred Pollard, and maternal grandmother, Mrs. Geo. Wilson (Lorena) hosted an elaborate garden party in Carols' honor. The occasion was her 11th birthday.

Assisting Carol to receive her young guests were her sisters, Chyrle and Mildred Pollard. Taking part in the celebration were: Linda Rae Harvey, Slyvia Senters, Janice Richie, Rhonda and Romelle Jones, Chyrle and Jacqueline Cross, Elaine Ray, Lona Smith, Leatrice Scott, Carol Washington, Anrea Tillery, Pamela and Brenda Griffin, Emily Jones, Joyce Lewis, Sheila Wallace, and Ronneane Buckner.

Also invited and enjoying a delicious repast of barbecue served in the sun room were: Mmes. Maggie Williams, Ella Price, Beatrice Williams, Booker Washington, Lillian Scott, Samuel Valley, Adolph Griffin of Pasadena and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Harris.

Bridal Shower Honors Bonnett

Approaching marriage of Miss Lucille L. Bonnett to Bonnett to George Bryant, was the inspiration for a bridal shower, tended by Mmes. Vivian Strange, Jessie McDaniel, Zenobia Allen, Susie Hawkins and Miss Bernice Catherine Wright last Sunday at the Victoria residence of Mme. Strange.

Against a bridal background of wedding bells, yellow and white carnations, roses and gadlioli, the spacious Strange residence provided a picturesque setting for the 45 guests, drawn from close friends of the bride-elect. The fireplace was fashioned into a bridal arch and the base was graced with large green potted plants, ivy and many lovely gifts. The seat of honor for Miss Bonnett was designated by a huge cluster of white wedding bells and satin white ribbon. Bridal bells, flowers and a massive gold and white heart formed the center piece of the refreshments table. In attendance were: Mmes. Helen Lyons, Mabel Calhoun, Octavia Gebrge, Cora Hilton, Rachel Lee, Laura Johnson, Ernize Mazique, Ruby Smith, Ida Lee Harris, Bernice Arbor, Martha Jefferson.

Gladyce Clark Host Doll Meet

A very interesting meeting of the Doll League Charity Club took place on Sunday with Gladyce (Mrs. Walter) Clark as hostess. Three "drop-ins" were immediately put to work. Bill Polk was responsible for the platter of delicacies served with the drinks, and Dean Bruce, Oliver Odom and Odom, Jr., made themselves generally useful, helping "Clarkie" keep things humming.

At a late hour the meetnig adjourned to meet next with Louise (Mrs. Chuck) Collier..

LAUGH PROVOKING Eddie Catalano and Leo Illerburn will supply the comedy interest at the Shrine Auditorium Sunday afternoon for the benefit of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Compton Meet Looms as 'Trackdom's Finest Hour'

THE KNIGHT PARADE—Pictured above is a group of Gov. Goodwin J. Knight's athletic backers who participated in an Eastside parade in his honor Saturday. The governor's supporters include John Thomas, Chalky Wright, Mal Whitfield, Gorilla Jones, John Henry Lewis, Harold Dade, Henry Armstrong and a host of others.

World Marks In Jeopardy

By BRAD PYE, JR.

"Trackdom's finest hour."

Is virtually what tomorrow night's (Friday, June 4) 14th annual Compton Invitational trackfest should prove to be—when a flock of the world's greatest put their run, hop, skip and jump acts on display before an expected turn-away throng.

American mile record holder Wes Santee (4:01.3, second fastest four-lapper ever run by a human) heads a field of entries which include such standouts as world record holders Mal Whitfield, Parry O'Brien, George Rhoden, plus George Brown, Jack Davis, USC's Jim Lea, Joe Graffio and Fernando Ledesma.

In the sprints southlanders will have an opportunity to see just how good Alameda High's state sprint king—James Jackson — (9.4—21.2) actually is when he gets an acid test from Olympic champ Andy Stanfield, Joe Graffio, et al.

It will also be interesting to see if Jackson can beat Delano's Leamon King and Bill Swisshelm of Santa Ana again. King and Jackson have met four times with each winning two.

Bill Miller, the Olympian now competing for the Camp Pendleton Marines, who posted a 255ft 8½in mark in the javelin earlier this season is a threat to Yrjo Nikkanen's world mark of 258 ft. 2 3 8in. Whitfield, Standfield, USC's Erni Shelton and Jack Davis are all out to better world marks.

Stellar Wes Santee, the Kansas steamer, has been justly tabbed as the No. 1 attraction, but with the brilliant array of other stars the Compton people have invited, without him, the meet is more than worth the price.

Unhep L. A. Preps Far Out of Step For State Date

BERKELEY — The city prep tracksters put on their most pathetic showing in history here Saturday as three Northern California spike squads whipped the fourth place city champion Manual Arts Toilers.

Alameda High paced by double sprint winner James Jackson piled up 19 points for the crown.

It wasn't even close. The Northern boys were just too tough for the southerners.

Manual, the defending state champs, offered little opposition to the Alamedians.

Jefferson finished six mainly because of its versatile Joel Stafford who placed second in the broad jump with a 23-8 effort and fourth in the shot put. Dan Everage, Jordan's 60 ft. shot putter, took a disappointing second behind Grossmont's Jim Bronson.

Another state meet flop was Poly's quartermiler John Bowden.

After taking a second sobering recollection of the feats of the Northerner's Monty Upshaw (25-4 broad jump and 19 flat low hurdles), Kingsburgh's Rafer Johnson (14.4 HH) Don Bowden of Lincoln High in San Jose (1:52.3—800) Alamdea's James Jackson (9.6-21-2) et al, maybe the city cindermen didn't do so bad after all . . .

Cal's Drew, Smith Top Td. Producers

BERKELEY — Two Los Angeles Negro halfbacks — Jerry Drew and Don Smith—were the stickouts in the University of California's final spring practice scrum here Saturday morning, as they did all the touchdown scoring.

Little dynamic Don and his white-shirted mates edged Drew and his blue jersey mates 13-12.

Drew, the two-time all-city back from Jefferson High in L.A., ate off huge chunks of yards every time he packed the ball, besides scoring two tds.

Prying Pye

By Brad Pye, Jr.

BERKELEY—Two of Northern California's prep state champions—Piedmont fabulous Monty Upshaw and Kingburg's equally as famed Rafer Johnson—may have another beating in store for southland athletes in next month's North-South football game in the L. A. Coliseum. . . . Both of these athletes are highly tuotored halfbacks. . . .

We saw Upshaw in action against Berkely High last seasan & can vouch for his ability. . . .

Johnson, as you may recall, is the Kingsburg High tailback star USC and UCLA flew down here for a weekend visit recently. . . . He isn't only a good athlete, but he has the grades. . . . P.S.: We're sorry we can't say the same for Alameda's James Jackson. . .

Incidentally, Berkeley's Carl Gordon, who in some quarters is reputed to be the best 165-pound tailback in the country, will also be a member of the North's squad. . . .

If this boy Johnson, whom we haven't seen in a grid contest, is half as good as Gordon or Upshaw the South could very well be in for its first loss in this contest since the series started.

By way of postscript—Berkeley's Carl Gordon, who is sitting out this semester in order to be eligible for the North-South game, is working as a fireman in Bakersfield. . . .

After the North-South game he will enter Bakersfield JC to get straight for a four year school . . . Preferably UCLA so he says. . . .

It's a good bet Cal isn't going to let this top prospect get away without a tussle. . . .

Gordon's fullback mate at Berkeley, big George Fields, is also working for the Bakersfield fire dept. . . . He has also indicated he would like to follow Gordon to UCLA after a semester at Bakersfield. . . .

SPORTS

Joe Parker—an all-city basketball star at Jeff in '48—is now living in Berkeley . . . Rafer oJhnson, Jordan's Dan Everage, & Delano's Leamon King were among state meet participants Cal backers wined and dined at the Durant Hotel Saturday. . . .

COLUMNISTS ARE PEOPLE TOO!!

They're emotional critters who use mouthwash, consult medicos, sometitmes go on binges and occasionally belch (yes, even in public). Not always content to stay on the sidelines recording the passing parade of news events, many of our brood can be seen strutting their stuff front aand center. And in spite of the many squabbles between themselves, they can quite often be seen marching along together. Especially during a crisis. This week you may note a few fourth estaters names creeping into printed matter of their colleagues, and you can be sure they'll come off best in the narration. Especially in the instance of the off-beat political aide who switched a blade and attempted mayhem on the Eagle's Abie. He should have exercised his "alleged" beef by simply "upstaging" the writer as may indignant subscribers would. As it is now, he'll not only have to bear the "ink-stains" but will most likely find his head on the chopping block.

SHHH! HE'S ON THE BEAT (with Steam Heat!)

Lensman ADAMS debuted on TV's channel 9 popping flashbulbs at Louise Franklin and other Brew 102 contestants. Stingers afterwards at the Vine St. Spotlight club. THEATRE

Southeast Side Ballroom Site Open to Dancers

The West Coast's newest ballroom, The Savoy, opens its doors this Friday, Saturday and Sunday, June 4, 5 and 6, featuring the "King of King Records," alto sax star Earl Bostic and his band, plus Christine "Every Night In The Week" Kittrell.

Located at Central near 77th, the Savoy is located at the site of the former Century theater and is the most beautiful, most carefully planned ballroom in California a Big name talent will be featured every week-end.

The Savoy boasts a new $6500 air conditioning system, being the only other West Coast ballroom besides the Palladium which has such a feature. A new hardwood dance floor covering 6000 square feet before the new bandstand, nine speakers to assure perfect acoustics throughout the ballroom, stainless steel refrigeration, a new $4500 sprinkling system, two new specially designed bars and exquisitely executed decoration throughout make the Savoy Ballroom a fabulous addition to Southern California's entertainment circles.

Julius "Stuff" Crouch, one of the top West Coast entertainment entrepreneurs, is general manager of the fabulous new dance palace, in charge of operation and personnel, as well as booking. The Savoy Amusement corporation is headed by Mickey Cohen, a genial gentleman who bears no resemblance whatsoever to his ill-famed namesake.

INSPIRATIONAL

SOME "BRAIN" once stated: "Behind every great man there is a woman." Typical of these words often heard is lovely Lula Bondy, wonderful wife of Ernest Bondy, better known as "Dynamite" Jackson. Co-proprietor of Dynamite's, Central Avenue's favorite rendezvous of food, drink, friendliness, music, fun and frolic, Erny and Lula have never forgotten even their most inconspicuous and nominally spending "guests," consequently every customer is a very dear friend. Celebrate Sammy Cole's birthday with Dynamite today.

Earl Hines Goes Wiggins to Stay At Club Morocco

Earl "Fatha" Hines winds up his successful stay at the Morocco Supper Club, Western at 46th, this Sunday night, going on to concentrate on his newly formed band, and the West Coast's smartest supper club will feature the master of modern cool jazz, Gerald Wiggins at the Steinway, with the Chico Hamilton Trio featuring Herman Mitchell and Eddie Perkins.

Ethiopa Film At the Wilshire Ebell June 18th

The celebrated Amhara Dancers and their native orchestra of bamboo flute players and sheepskin drummers are featured in "Ethiopia," new color travelogue filmed by Fredric Christian, in collaboration with Emperor Hailie Selassie, to be shown at the Wilshire Ebell Theatre Friday night only, June 18, with Christian providing the narration.

Tickets are now on sale at the Ebell box office, WY. 7095, and all agencies.

The big bad Texas boy pulled a six inch switch blade on newsman Abie Robinson and savagely assaulted him about the face and head before Bob Keith, Lloyd La Beach and a host of alert waiters grabbed the knife packing daddy off the shaking newsman and whisked him off the hotel premises. When seen, Abie was consulting high police officials and his lawyer Loren Miller. Henchmen from the underworld have

Tenth Annual Cavalcade Offering Finest Variety At Wrigley Field June 20

With three of the nation's present top bands appearing on one show — the 10th annual Cavalcade of Jazz, Sunday, June 20, will be greeted this year with enthusiastic attendance never before witnessed at previous events.

Cause for the big reception will be the combined appearances of Louis Jordan and his orchestra and the nation's orchestra and the nation's greatest mambo band, Perez Prado. Jordan has perhaps the longest record of hit tunes recorded during the past decade while Basie, since 1936, has been on a constant climb and has become known as America's undisputed king of the ivories.

The music of Prado has been catching like wild fire. Throughout the nation his mambo tunes are accepted and rated in a class of their own.

Held outdoors in Wrigley Field, this year's show will encompass all phases of the theatre. Specialty acts will be presented along with the regular presentation of "Queen of the city's most beautiful bathing Cavalcade," selected from the beauties that will be represented by all races.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Education of the City of Los Angeles will receive bids for furnishing all labor and material for the following work:

Furnishing and installation of acoustical treatment on the ceilings of the Administration and Home Economics Buildings at the Lafayette Junior High School.

Date of Bid Opening: June 11, 1954.

Each bid shall be in accordance with drawings, specifications and other contract documents now on file in the MAINTENANCE AND OPERATIONS BRANCH of the Business Division of said Board, 1125 South San Pedro Street, Los Angeles. Prospective bidders may secure copies of said drawings and specifications at the office of said MAINTENANCE AND OPERATIONS BRANCH.

Pursuant to the Labor Code of the State of California the Board of Education has ascertained the general prevailing rate of per diem wages for each craft or type of workman needed to execute the contract or contracts which will be awarded the successful bidder or bidders and these prevailing rates are contained in said specifications adopted by the Board, and are as follows:

CLASSIFICATION

Foremen

All foremen not herein separately classified, shall be paid not less than 17½ cents per hour more than the hourly rate of the highest classification over which he has supervision as to the SIX BASIC TRADES; and not less than 12½ cents per hour as to the SUB-TRADES, more than the journeyman rate for the craft involved.

Apprentices

May be employed in conformity with Section 1777.5 of the California Labor Code.

Riggers

Same wage scale as craft to which rigging is incidental.

Welders

Same wage scale as craft to which welding is incidental.

CLASSIFICATION	Hourly Wage Rate
Carpenter	$2.70
Laborer, General or Construction	2.05
Plasterer Foreman	3.6875
Plasterer Tender	3.1125
Plasterer	3.4375

; Plus Health and Welfare etc.

The rates of per diem wages for each of the various classifications of work shall be the hereinbefore set forth prevailing rates of hourly wages multiplied by eight (8). Eight (8) hours shall constitute a day's work; it being understood that in the event that workmen are employed less than eight (8) hours per day, the per diem wages shall be deemed to be that fraction of the per diem wages herein established that the number of hours of employment bears to eight (8) hours.

WORKING RULES

1 Where a single shift is worked, eight (8) consecutive hours between 7 A.M. and 5 P.M. shall constitute a day's work at straight time for all workers.

2 Forty (40) hours between Monday 7 A.M. and Friday 5 P.M. shall constitute a week's work at straight time.

3 All work performed in excess of eight (8) hours per day or forty (40) hours per week or on Holidays and Sundays shall be paid for at the rate for overtime of the craft involved.

4 Holidays as herein referred to shall be deemed to be New Year's Day, Decoration Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Armistice Day, Thanksgiving Day and Christmas. If any of the above holidays fall on Sunday, the Monday following shall be considered a legal holiday.

It shall be mandatory upon the contractor to whom a contract is awarded, and upon all subcontractors under him to pay not less than said general prevailing rates of per diem wages to all workmen employed in the execution of the contract.

Notice is also hereby given that all bidders may submit with their bids a sworn statement of their financial responsibility, technical ability and experience. Such sworn statement may be required to be furnished before award is made to any particular bidder.

Each bid shall be made out on a form to be obtained at said MAINTENANCE AND OPERATIONS BRANCH of the Board of Education, must be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check or bidder's bond issued by a surety company accredited by the Board of Education) for not less than Five Per cent (5%) of the amount of the bid, made payable to the order of the Board of Education of the City of Los Angeles; shall be sealed and filed with the Counter Clerk of the Board of Education, Room 200, 1425 South San Pedro Street, Los Angeles, by not later than 2:00 P.M. on the date or dates shown above and will be opened and read aloud in public at or about said time and in the public hall, second floor, of the above address.

The above-mentioned check or bidder's bond shall be given as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into contract if awarded the work or any part thereof, and will be declared forfeited if the successful bidder refuses to enter into contract after being requested to do so by the Board of Education.

The successful bidder or bidders will be required to furnish labor and material bonds in an amount equal to 25% of the contract price, and faithful performance bonds in an amount equal to 100% of the contract price, said bonds to be secured by a surety company or surety companies satisfactory to the Board of Education.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids, and to waive any informality in any bid. No bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of sixty (60) days after the date set for the opening thereof.

By order of the Board of Education of the City of Los Angeles.

Judge Weighs Charge Against Odessa Parks

Whether or not crack markswoman Mrs. Odessa Parks, who has been a Los Angeles police woman for the past 10 years, will have to stand trial for murder was being considered in court Wednesday as the Eagle went to press.

Mrs. Park was taken into custody after her husband, Hilliard Parks Green, died in General hospital two weeks ago from a gunshot wound inflicted upon him by his wife two days previously.

The preliminary hearing in the case started at 1:45 p.m. Wednesday when a number of witnesses were being questioned. The case was continued until Thursday morning.

To Decide Charge

As a result of the hearing, the court will decide what charge to place against Mrs. Parks, with the possibility that she may have to stand trial for murder.

Mrs. Parks shot her husband Sunday, May 23, as he crossed the lawn at their home, 2325 10th avenue, preparing to drive away in his automobile. He slumped to the grass, mortally wounded, a bullet shot in the groin.

Mrs. Parks was arrested and freed on bail, but was taken into custody again early the following Tuesday morning after Green died at General Hospital.

An expert gunwoman, coordinator of the Deputy Auxiliary Police at Newton Street station, the attractive young woman claimed at the time that she had fired the shots only as a warning but that one of the bullets had gone "wild."

Green was a member of the prominent Green family here, including his father, Reginald Green, five brothers and two sisters. Hilliard was a famous football star who played right end on Jefferson High's legendary championship team of 1934. He met his wife while both were students at Jefferson.

Mrs. Parks, mother of a 14-year-old girl, is being represented by Atty. Earl C. Broady.

COMING OF AGE

California's Negro voters are coming of age.

They proved that in the primary campaign by the zeal with which they rallied to Negro candidates for public office.

Much of this zeal was unorganized. Some of it was misdirected and pointless.

Some of the candidates didn't understand the ferment that precipitated them into the campaign, or even their own reasons for tossing their hats in the ring.

LOREN MILLER

Anybody could see that there was an undercurrent of restless dissatisfaction.

At bottom is the fact that there is only a minimum of integration of Negroes into government in California—in its municipal, state or federal functions.

Negroes are restive over that fact. They don't like it. Told on every hand that there is no discrimination in this California they are dismayed when they look around and see that in some subtle manner or another they are discriminated against

Vandals Slash Auto Tires in Santa Monica

SANTA MONICA. — Vandals were on the loose Saturday night on 16th street in Santa Monica.

Under cover of night while residents in the 1500 block were asleep, a knife-wielding person or persons jabbed holes in tires of six parked automobiles.

E. G. Allen, Eagle representative, came out of his home at 1512 16th street about 8 o'clock Sunday morning. His neighbors were buzzing about, gesticulating. Allen asked what the trouble was. "The tires," they said. "Look at your own car."

When he looked he found that all four tires had been slashed, with deep holes in both the outer casings and the inner tubes. The car had been parked in the street outside his home.

One tire had been similarly cut in the automobiles of John Williams and Nathaniel Cool, 1520 and 1522 16th street respectively. Ray Johnson, who lives next door at 1524 16th street, had two of his tires knifed.

The same treatment had been meted out to two automobiles in a parking lot. These latter cars were owned by whites.

Police were notified and came to investigate, but the car owners got scant comfort from their visit. The officers took their names and addresses and a record of the incident, and then one of them remarked: "It may not happen again this year. It may never happen again."

Allen said he did not think the incident indicated any flare-up of race conflict. Almost all of the residents are Negroes, he said, and there has never been any trouble there.

St. Joseph, Mo. Schools Open To All Races

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. — The St. Joseph Board of Education voted last week to abolish segregation in public schools immediately, beginning with the summer session.

Heretofore Negro children have not been able to attend summer school because there were no Negro schools open. As a result of the Supreme Court ruling outlawing segregation, the Board has now decided to admit Negroes into the grade school, high school and junior college.

New 'Friend' Stabs Man In Chest

Frank Waller, 26, of 1165 E. 4th street, was in critical condition this week at the Kaiser Foundation hospital, a deep knife wound in his chest.

He was the victim of a stabbing Sunday by a woman whose identity has not been established. Waller told police that she pulled a six-inch-bladed knife on him and stabbed him in the chest.

The knife was so deeply imbedded in his body that it could not be pulled out and Waller had to undergo a major operation to release the blade.

Waller told police that he had met the woman at 500 E. 38th street Sunday at around 6 p.m. He apparently did not know her name or her address. He also was unable to give any adequate explanation of why she pulled the knife on him after their brief acquaintance.

South L. A. Seeks Fast Bus Service

Utilities Body Asked to Grant New Franchise

The Public Utilities Commission of Southern California this week was considering a petition for a franchise which, if granted, would clip many minutes from the streetcar trip from Watts to downtown Los Angeles.

The South Los Angeles Transportation Co. has requested permission to run busses from Carson and Avalon down Avalon blvd. to 7th and Main streets. The trip, according to company spokesmen, would take approximately 45 minutes.

Long Ride

At present the ride takes around an hour to one hour and five minutes, and longer in the rush hour, the company claimed.

At the hearing, which concluded Monday, the Los Angeles Transit Lines and the Metropolitan Coach Co. opposed the plea for the franchise. L.A. Transit claimed that the new bus line would cause a serious loss of revenue to their company. They also pointed out that they have already filed an application to extend their lines to 135th and San Pedro streets, thus giving improved facilities to the South Los Angeles residents.

The Metropolitan Coach Co. pointed out that if an application which they already have filed for permission to change from streetcars to busses is granted, they would be using approximately the same route as that proposed by the South Los Angeles Transportation Co.

The route proposed by the Residents Oppose Librarian's Shift

A most unusual situation has arisen in connection with the Jefferson Branch Library, 2211 W. Jefferson blvd.

In the past people who live in the area have voiced frequent "gripes" about the library, mostly of a negative and indefinite nature, to the effect that children somehow didn't show any inclination to make use of the facilities offered. There was never any specific complaint, just general criticism.

About a year ago a new children's librarian was installed. Miss Martha Lee Tomlinson. Residents accepted the appointment with a shrug. Librarians had come and librarians had gone, but the situation had remained the same.

Something New

Then something began to happen. Children began talking about going to the "story hour" at the library. Mothers perked up their ears. This was something different. The youngsters would mention the new "white lady" at the library.

Richard Polimer, motion picture producer and distributer who is connected with the Pickford-Goldman Studios, 1041 N. Formosa, became curious to find out the cause of the change in attitude of his six-year-old daughter. He went to the li-

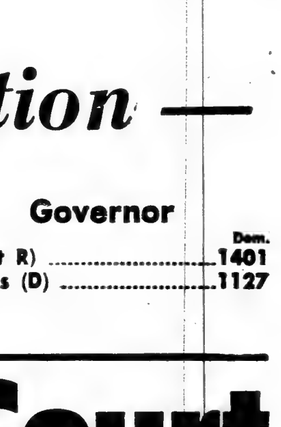
Lundy, Lomax In Nov. Run-off; Hawkins Elected

Following party lines, with the exception of the contest for governor, Negro voters cast the deciding ballots for the nomination of two Negro Democrats and one Negro Republican for assembly seats.

Democratic nominees are Augustus F. Hawkins, incumbent, in the 62nd district and Lucius Lomax in the 63rd district. The Republican nominee is Rayfield Lundy in the 55th district.

Hawkins Wins



Hawkins won the Democratic nomination handily and has apparently nosed out Walter L. Gordon Jr. for the GOP nod. Lundy lost the Democratic nomination to Vernon Kilpatrick. Democratic incumbent. Erskine Ragland and A. Champ Sturdivant, Democrats, were left far behind in the 55th district and James Pierce got only a handful of votes in the 63rd district. Horace Alexander, the other Negro candidate, won the Independent Progressive Party's nomination for secretary of state.

In a complete reversal of form from the 1952 elections when Democrat Adlai Stevenson got 85 per cent of the Negro vote, Republican Governor Goodwin Knight got a majority over Richard Graves on the Democratic ticket. Ten sample precincts on the West side, for example, gave Knight 520 and Graves 441 on the Democratic ticket. Ten Central Avenue precincts gave Knight 548 Democratic votes and Graves 372.

That same trend was noticeable in the Watts area where ten sample precincts showed Knight with 320 Democratic votes and Graves 314. In the same precincts Ed Roybal, Democratic candidate for Lieutenant Governor, got 555 votes against a 236 for his combined GOP opponents. Rayfield Lundy, Republican, got 221 Democratic votes and Democrat Vernon

Local Soldier To Become West Pointer

Ronald S. Brunner, of 645 E. 49th street, was in town briefly this week, preparatory to his release from the Infantry so that he can become a cadet in West Point Military Academy.

Brunner, 18, enlisted in the Army last August and was sent to Fort Ord for basic training. There he served with the Heavy Weapons Division of the 20th Infantry.

Due to his Congressional appointment, he has now been transferred to the Stewart Air Base in Newburgh, N.Y., where he will be mustered out so he can be sworn in at West Point July 5.

The young soldier received his appointment through Congressman Sam Yorty.

Brunner, whose mother is Mrs. Lafatte Pruitt, is a graduate of Jefferson High school in the January, 1953 class. While there he majored in Mathematical Science, and sang in the Jefferson A Capella choir, the Jester Hairston choir and the Hall Johnson choir.

Haile Selassie To Spend Day In Los Angeles

The appointment of Leonard K. Firestone, president of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. of California to head the host committee for the one-day visit of Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia to Los Angeles, was announced this week by Mayor Poulson.

The Ethiopian ruler will arrive here the evening of Wednesday, June 16 by automobile from Sequoia National Park and will stay at the Ambassador Hotel. The following morning at 9:30 welcoming ceremonies will take place in the forecourt of the City Hall followed by a tour of a motion picture studio.

At 12:30 a civic luncheon will be given in his honor in the Embassy Room of the Ambassador Hotel.

In the afternoon, the Emperor will make a tour of oil fields and refineries in the Harbor area as the guest of Richfield Oil Co.

Happy Hype's 'Groceries' End Up at Police Station

The happy "hype" who is looking for the shopping bag he forgot, can pick it up by contacting University Police Officers John Alson and Bob Hannible.

The officers were cruising around in their radio car Monday when they got a call from a woman who said she had found a shopping bag leaning against her car at 39th and Hill streets. Thinking it belonged to some youngsters who had just wandered off, she took it home with her.

When police arrived at her home, they looked inside the bag, expecting to find a head of lettuce, a bunch of beets, celery, tomatoes and what have you.

Instead they found some interesting looking bottles. Very interesting, in fact. The bottles contained powerful drugs that had been stolen the previous day from a drugstore in San Marino.

But a couple of the bottles were missing. Police figured the thieves had taken a few nips, weaved around a bit and then couldn't quite remember where they'd deposited their bag of "groceries." The officers will be glad to meet up with the "hypes."

RHYTHM GAMES—Students of Mrs. Dovie Steward's Children's Piano School will give a summer demonstration, including "rhythm games," at Bowen Memorial Methodist Church, E. 36th and Trinity streets, Sunday at 5 p.m. Youngsters spreading their wings are Eddie Gray, Patrice Saville, Carroll Brown, Laura Jean Keele, Debra Haughton, Denine Haughton and Jimmie Harrison.

Thais Aubrey New Fremont Student Head

Thais Aubrey, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Aubrey of 1333 E. 58th drive, this week became the second girl in the history of John C. Fremont High school to be elected student body president.

The plucky straight-A student finds time to be active in all phases of school and extra-curricular activities. Recently she won the annual achievement award of the Florence Post of the American Legion. She is also a member of Presentation Parish Catholic church.

Aubrey, father of the new student body president, is co-chairman along with Wesley Brazier of the Los Angeles Youth Project's area 4 advisory board.

Mississippi Mother Asks White Friend for Help

A sad tale of a needy mother of ten children reached the Eagle this week. It got to us in a round about way, but we pass it on because we believe our readers will be as interested as we are.

Mrs. Octavia Johnson lives in Oakland, Miss. She takes in washing and does housework to eke out a precarious living for her 10 children, and sometimes she doesn't earn quite enough to buy the food she must have to feed her family. One of her sons works, but he doesn't make much.

She has run into debt with the store keeper, and he has been "cussing her out" because she owes him $20. To keep him from "jumping on" her over the money, she finally wrote to a white woman in San Francisco, for whom she had washed some time ago, and who has befriended her.

She didn't ask for a gift, just for a loan to enable her to pay her bill.

Mrs. Kay Johnson, 435 Ninth avenue, San Francisco, received the letter telling of the mother's plight. She and her husband have been feeling the economic pinch, and so she wrote to her friend in Los Angeles, Charles Wherry, Station K, Box 184, and Wherry turned the appeal over to the Eagle.

Mrs. Kay Johnson said that for years she has been sending all the clothes she could spare or get from friends, as well as a few toys and books for the children. "I am sending this letter on to you," she wrote, "with the thought that perhaps you might be associated with some group there who could help this poor mother. I just could not bear to disregard this plea altogether."

Mt. Vernon Student Gets High Honor

At the Father and Son Dinner of Mt. Vernon Junior High school Wednesday night, Bruce Powers, A-9 student, received the highest honor bestowed each semester by the school.

His name was added to the Moore Trophy, and he was informed of this tribute in a letter from the principal, Hazelle S. Moore. The letter said:

"Each semester the name and class is engraved on this trophy of the A9 boy who achieved the most in athletic skills, sportsmanship, citizenship, and leadership. Your name and class will be engraved upon it by the recommendation of the Boys' Physical Education Department, and the hearty approval of the administration.

"Bruce, you are justly deserving of this award. You have shown that you have all these qualifications by your conduct, attitude, and achievements during your stay at Mount Vernon.

"Your name is added to the Moore Trophy with confidence that you will continue to be an outstanding citizen, sportsman, and leader in your community, wherever they may be."

Nation's Youth Graduate From Universities

Colleges throughout the nation were sending their thousands of graduating students out into the world this week with a final message of encouragement, advice and inspiration.

At Howard University in Washington, the Hon. Louis C. Cramton, former Congressman from Michigan, delivered the institution's 86th annual commencement address to more than 600 students, who were awarded degrees in 10 schools and colleges by President Dr. Mordecai W. Johnson.

Chester Bowles, former U. S. Ambassador to India, and NAACP's Thurgood Marshall were among those who received honorary degrees.

In Baton Rouge, La., 400 graduates and newly commissioned officers in the Armed Forces heard Dr. James H. Robinson speak on "Imperative Choices."

Shaw University graduates at Raleigh, N. C., were addressed by Dr. Albert Pincus Seltzer, physician and surgeon of Philadelphia. It was Shaw's 89th annual commencement celebration.

Tougaloo College in Mississippi was addressed by Dr. Joseph Walker, president of the Tri-State Bank of Memphis, Tenn. Dr. Walker, a native Mississippian, spoke on "The New South." Said the former president of the National Business League, "Time was when opportunity meant a one-way train ticket heading north."

Ark. City Slates Joint Schools

FAKETTEVILLE, Ark. — The School Board of this city last week voted to integrate white and Negro high school students when school opens next September.

There is no Negro high school in Fayetteville. Heretofore Negro students had to go to Hot Springs or Fort Smith. Come September, they will attend school in their own home town.

The board decided not to await further action by the U.S. Supreme Court. Economy was given as the reason for the new policy.

NEW CIVIC BODY—The Goodwill Citizens' League, formed to promote community interest in government and to secure equal rights for all, held its first meeting last week at the home of its founder, Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew. Founding members, standing, from left, Rev. E. L. Johnson, Mrs. Estelle Mayfield, Rev. J. L. Glover, Dolores Piper, Rev. G. L. Hays, Mrs. Pauline Taylor, Rev. D. V. Kyle. Seated, George Davis, Clarence Taylor, Prof. E. L. Pruitt, Dr. Helen Sides, Mrs. Estelle Van Meter, Mrs. Bilbrew and Mrs. Camille Thompson.

Carver Jr. High Stages Spring Music Festival

In a final fling before curtailing activities, Carver Junior High school will present its annual Spring Festival Thursday night (tonight) in the school auditorium.

Because this will be the last show for many months to come, students and teachers have been working like beavers to make this performance one of the best musicals ever presented by the school. Every effort, every bit of talent has been pushed to the limit to give the community something to remember.

At the close of school at the end of this semester, a vast building program is to be launched, which will include a new Paul Williams designed structure. Until the buildings are completed, extra curricular activity will be curtailed.

The theme of this year's production is "This Is My Country." The musical will appear in three acts, Early Life, Country Life and City Life. Several staging tricks have been borrowed from the "Dave Garroway" show and a number of Sid Ceaser, Jackie Gleason modern dance techniques are being used.

While the music dept. takes the lead in these festivals under the direction of Albert McNeil, the drama, art, modern dance and home making depts. are all lending a hand to make this event the greatest.

Any music lover will be pleased with this year's show which includes a sweep through the music of early America's country and city life.

This event has drawn overflow crowds for the past three years. An additional attraction is being added in the form of a buffet supper which starts at 6:30 p.m.

Elks to Convene In Sacramento

The Pacific States Association of the Improved Benevolent Protective Order of Elks of the World is holding its three-day 24th annual convention in Sacramento June 23 to 26.

Approximately 2,000 representatives of the order from west of the Rockies and Hawaii are expected to attend.

Capital City Lodge No. 1147, of which Orline Ashley is the Exalted Ruler and Phelix Flowers general chairman, and Camilla Temple No. 831 will be hosts to the visitors.

Dentist Opens New Offices In Compton

Dr. Harry E. Thomas, Jr., a graduate of Meharry Medical College in the June, 1953 School of Dentistry, has just opened a new dental office at 127 N. Wilmington blvd., near Compton blvd. in Compton.

Dr. Thomas, who practiced dentistry with his father, a dentist in South Carolina, before coming to the West Coast, has been associated with his father-in-law, Dr. Lawrence Miles, on La Brea avenue.

Before entering Meharry, he attended Morehouse college in Atlanta, Atlanta University, and graduated from North Carolina State at Durham, N. C. He is a member of the National Dental Association, a junior member of the American Dental Association and a diplomat of the National Board of Dental Examiners.

DR. THOMAS

He graduated second in his class at Meharry, where he received several awards in clinical adaptness, procedures, and surgery.

ELKS DAY CELEBRATION—Members of the Golden West Elks Lodge No. 86 Band pose prior to an appearance at Gilmore Field Sunday, June 20 where the Hollywood baseball team will celebrate Elks Day in honor of the fraternal organization's Pacific States Association.

Grand chapter officers, convention hostesses and committee chairmen of the Delta Sigma Theta Sorority met in New York City recently, under the leadership of Miss Dorothy Height, grand president, to make final plans for the 23rd annual convention of the sorority which will be held in N.Y. in August.

Wilcox Brothers Managing L.A.'s Most Outstanding Mobil Servicing Location

Three days and nights of festivities, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, June 18-19-20, with lights in the sky, music, free gifts, personal appearances of entertainment world and sports personalities, merchandise bargains and other surprises will mark the official opening of the Wilcox Service Center at 3327 S. Central ave. Mobil Oil Products are featured exclusively.

There will be a brief but colorful ribbon-cutting ceremony Saturday at 7 p.m., with city officials and civic leaders in attendance.

The modern and new $75,000 super service station at 34th and Central ave., occupies nearly a quarter of a block and has 158 foot frontage on Central ave. It is the largest and finest business of its kind owned and operated by Negroes in Los Angeles, and the west coast.

Two enterprising brothers, Herman and Curtis Wilcox, both veterans of World War II, jointly own and operate the 24 hour station. They are graduates of Morehouse College and Clark University respectively and are natives of Atlanta, Ga.

They head a staff of eight trained, experienced men which will be swelled to 20 when the giant five-minute chain auto-wash is set in operation, just before the grand opening. This operation can handle upwards of 5,000 cars per month.

The station has facilities for complete service at all times, including light mechanical work. Customer service is a by-word and an actuality. Credit cards are available and complete tire, battery and accessory financing may be arranged.

The public is cordially invited to attend the three-day opening and get acquainted with the owners, staff personnel, and avail themselves of the Center's many fine services. —Adv.

REFUSED ENTRY—Five Negro students were refused entry into Memphis State College Monday. They plan to fight exclusion. They are shown trying to register.

Tennessee College Rejects Negroes

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—Tennessee this week gave notice that it would resist the Supreme Court decision outlawing segregated schools to the last ditch.

On Monday five Negro students applied for admission to the all-white Memphis State College for summer school study. All five were turned down and told to come back after the Supreme Court further implements its ban on jim-crow schools.

The group was comprised of two Korean war veterans, one of whom is the father of three children, and three young women. None of the five was satisfied with the College edict and all declared their intention to fight against the ruling.

First step, they said, would be the lodging of an appeal with the Tennessee Board of Education. If that appeal fails, they declared, they would resort to the courts, after exhausting all other remedies.

The five were Nellie Peoples, 17; Ruth Booker, 18; Mardest Knowles, 17; Elijah Noel, 30, father of three; and Joseph McGhee, 22.

In making its hsitoric decision last month, the Supreme Court asked for consultation with the various states involved before issuing an order on exactly how and when segregation is to be ended in the 17 states where separate schools are required by law.

Bus Company Asks Franchise

South Los Angeles Transportation Co., which has been operating in the Watts-Enterprise area for the past 26 years, would run from Carson and Avalon, down Avalon to San Pedro at Jefferson, then down San Pedro to 8th street, around the block of 8th, Main, 7th and back to San Pedro for the return trip.

The company would start operations with six busses which would run from 135th street downtown on half hour schedules through the day and 15 minute schedules during the rush hours. Service on farthest end of the line would be on an hourly schedule during the day and half hour schedule during period of heaviest traffic.

in the matter of participation in government.

It is true that there is a very substantial number of civil servants in lower or medium ranks of government.

It is at the policy making level that color plays its part. The Negro has little to do with making policy. And those who make the policy call the tunes.

Part of the Negro's troubles are of his own making. All too many of those who could vote aren't registered. That is understandable in the case of persons migrating here from the South. They lack knowledge and experience of how to get their names on the voters' rolls.

During the time from now until the final election in November registration will open.

That period will provide an opportunity for a concerted effort to get more registrants on the books.

Somehow previous efforts have never really caught on. I incline to the opinion that the results have been meager because there hasn't been a united campaign.

Whatever their other differences it seems to me that the newspapers could get together and agree on a solid month of all-out registration campaigning with each of them carrying front page news stories and editorials designed to whip up interest.

Of course, the newspapers can't carry the ball all by themselves. The ministers should be enlisted and each church ought to try to make every communicant a voter within that period.

The fraternal orders can get in the act too.

The best feature of a campaign of this kind is that it could, and would, reach everybody in some fashion or another.

I venture the guess that such a drive would add at least 15,000 more Negroes to the voters' rolls if it was well directed.

Anyhow the least we can do here at the Eagle is to offer to join in a campaign of this kind. Any takers?

Porter Dies When Water Floods Club

Alex Patterson, 43-year-old porter, died Tuesday when he was trying to stop a water leak at the Hollywood night club where he was employed, 6315½ Hollywood Blvd.

His wife, Mrs. Dorothy Patterson, 38, of 1410 E. 20th street, said that a water line had burst at the club which was undergoing a remodeling of the bar.

Patterson was helping drain off the water which covered the floor to a depth of several inches. He was stooping over pouring water into a bucket. A few minutes later he was flat on his face.

Others working with him picked him up. He opened his eyes and looked around for a brief moment, then died. Police said his death was apparently caused either by a heart attack or drowning. At press time, the autopsy had not been completed.

Funeral services will be held Friday morning at 10 a.m., with the Angelus Funeral Home officiating.

In addition to his wife, Patterson, who was born in Jackson, Miss., leaves six children.

Canal Zone to End Separate Schools in Sept.

WASHINGTON. — Segregation of Americans in schools operating in the Canal Zone will be ended in September of this year.

Robert D. King, Deputy Assistant Secretary of the Army, has advised that "effective at the beginning of the next semester, children of all U.S. citizens who reside in the Canal Zone and who are in the service of the United States government will be admitted to any school operated by the Canal Zone government.

"This is irrespective of race, creed or color."

CIO Donates $25,000 to Howard U.

The Philip Murray Memorial Foundation Friday presented a gift of $25,000 to Howard University, Washington, D. C., for the creation of a Philip Murray Chair of Labor Relations in the University's Division of Social Sciences.

The gift was presented to Pres. Mordecai Johnson of Howard University by James B. Carey, secretary-treasurer of the CIO and of the Foundation, during the course of the 86th Annual Commencement Dinner at the University's Baldwin Hall. The grant follows a $75,000 donation to the Legal Fund of the NAACP.

3 Negroes Win Battles In Primaries

Kilpatrick got 323. In the GOP column Lundy got 126 votes as against 50 for Kilpatrick.

West Side

In the West side precincts sampled by the Eagle Lucius Lomax topped Graves' vote. He got 477 ballots in the Democratic column while his Republican opponent got only 197.

In the Eastside precincts where Graves got a minority of Democratic ballots Assemblyman Augustus F. Hawkins got 578 Democratic votes to 193 for his combined opponents. In those same precincts Roybal got 612 ballots against 232 for the combined opposition.

The 30 combined sample precincts in areas in which Negro voters predominate gave Knight 1338 Democratic votes while Graves got 1127. In those same precincts Negro candidates running on the Democratic ticket for Assemblyman got 1401 votes. Roybal, Democratic candidate for Lieutenant Governor, got 1644 votes, while his GOP opponents got 705.

Yorty Favorite

In the senatorial race, Samuel W. Yorty was also an overwhelming favorite among Negro voters. In 30 sample precincts in various sections of the city, Yorty got 1708 votes to 563 for his Republican opponent, Thomas H. Kuchel. Other candidates got scattering votes.

In the various congressional races, Democratic candidates also proved favorites with Negro voters. Winners included Frank O'Sullivan in the 15th; George Arnold in the 24th; Eugene Radding in the 20th; Clyde W. Doyle in the 23rd and Mark Hogue in the 16th. They were also winners of the Democratic nominations but each of them faces a run-off. Negro Republicans also stuck to party lines.

Unruh Favoried

In another assembly district of interest to Negro voters Jesse W. Unruh was favored by Negro voters in the 65th district and Philip Schlessinger won Negroes' favor in the 56th asembly district.

In other state wide offices, Negro Democrats voted for Democrats in the races for Secretary of State, Attorney General, Controller and Treasurer. William G. Bonelli was favored by Negroes in his race for the Board of Equalization.

Mothers Oppose Librarian Shift

brary to see for himself. He told the Eagle he was impressed with the intelligent and tactful way Miss Tomlinson handled the children of all races.

Premature

In the past few week a number of mothers who live in the area have telephoned the Eagle. They wanted to know why Miss Tomlinson is being transferred. The library has come to life, they said, during the past year. Why can't we keep Miss Tomlinson?

The library's Supervisor of Branches, Miss Roberta Boller, queried regarding the rumored transfer, replied crisply that the report is "premature." No steps have been taken at the present time, she said, to transfer Miss Tomlinson out of the Jefferson branch. Miss Tomlinson, she continued, has not been offered any other position, but then added, "We can't tell what the Fall will bring."

Miss Boller gave assurances that "We will work out something for Jefferson."

Normal Increase

Asked if there was any increase in attendance at the branch, Miss Boller replied: "Just the normal increase where you have a children's librarian." She explained that there were eight vacancies for children's librarians this year, and added that it may be necessary to use Miss Tomlinson in some other place. "We have a system of rotation—to use our people to the best advantage—to get the best results."

The Eagle is accustomed to receiving complaints about mistreatment. It is a definite switch when the community says: "We like what we've got. Please don't let them make a change. Can't you do something to prevent a transfer?"

NAACP Of Santa Monica Will Salute Prior Prexies

SANTA MONICA—In honor of the Supreme Court school decision, the most significant accomplishment of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the Santa Monica Branch, headed by E. G. Allen, will give an individual salute to each of its past presidents at its next regular meeting Thursday, June 17, 8 p.m., at the Masonic Temple, 18th and Broadway in Santa Monica.

Highlighting the program will be the personal appearance of leading civic and religious dignitaries in the Bay area. The featured address will be given by Atty. Loren Miller, publisher of the California Eagle.

Atty. Miller, who was primarily responsible for carrying the public housing case to the Supreme Court, will discuss events relative to the fight of some 109 of the nation's leading barristers who shared in building up the school case.

Special seats will be reserved for past presidents of all statewide branches. Santa Monica's interracial choir will render vocal selections. Talented Betty Jean Tarver, granddaughter of E. G. Allen, will welcome the gathering. Refreshments will be served. Contact Mrs. Ruth Brown at EXbrook 4-5578 for further details.

Fair Dealer Leads Field In Carolina

RALEIGH, N.C. — In the first electoral test in the South since the Supreme Court knocked out separate schools and dealt a death blow to segregated public housing, former governor Kerr Scott, a Fair Deal Democrat, won the nomination for Senator of North Carolina.

In thousands of leaflets distributed last week, his principal opponent, incumbent Sen. L. Alton Lennon, charged Scott favored lowering racial barriers in North Carolina. The charge, judging by the returns, didn't frighten Scott's supporters.

LOFTON SINGERS TO APPEAR AT PEOPLE'S CHURCH

Link Forston of the Al Jarvis Television Talent Show, and the Lofton Enchanters, a group of Acappella Enchanters, will appear at the People's Independent Church of Christ, 1025 E. 18th Street, June 20, from 3 to 5 p.m., sponsored by the Rho Sigma Delta Chapter of Alpha Pi Omega Sorority. The recital will benefit the Bethune-Cookman College.

Those interested in attending this benefit may call Mrs. Marguerite Carr, chairman of the program committee, at AD. 3-9131.

Woodlawn-YWCA Family Party Friday Night

On this particular evening the Committee for the support of the YWCA-National Board chaired by Mrs. Marie Fredericks will sponsor a Family Party Night beginning at 6:00 p.m. until 11:00 p.m.

There will be games, table tennis, bridge and square dancing, along with a full course supper for the enjoyment of all.

Representatives from the various "Y" clubs, such as Mrs. Ann Shaw, and members of the Y-Wives; Misses Virginia Newborne, Charlene Cooke and members from the Personality Plus Club; Miss Barbara Bradley and members from the Employed Girls Club will greet guests.

Some of those having made advance reservations are: Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Hudson, Bennie Nance, Frank Pearl, Robert Hardon, Leslie Shaw, Frank Kimmons, Thomas Reid, William Knox, Dr. and Mrs. P. Price Cobbs, Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Wallace; Mesdames: Laura Smitherman, Beulah Arnaud, Della Harris, E. E. Lightner, Stella Rae Williams, Ruth Estwich, Maxine Hefflin, Della McDonald, Miss Ray Jackson.

California Eagle

Published Every Thursday

The Eagle stands for complete integration of Negroes into every phase of American life through the democratic processes.

We favor:

1. FEPC on local, state and national levels.
2. Decent housing for all Americans.
3. Representation in Government.
4. Adequate old age pensions and social security.
5. Collective bargaining rights for all workmen.
6. Development and encouragement of Negro business.

We oppose:

1. Jim Crow in all forms.
2. Communists and all other enemies of democracy.

The Law Of The Land

All of Herman Talmadge's shouting cannot dim out the fact that the Supreme Court decision holding that grade school segregation is unconstitutional is the law of the land.

The loud talk by Talmadge and his cronies that they will not obey the nation's highest court is so much hogwash and is to be discounted as the rantings of politicians trying to make the most out of a resounding defeat.

Far more serious as a means of evading and under-cutting the decision is the plan evolved by Governor Byrnes of South Carolina. He has advised all school districts except the one in Clarendon county to refuse to admit Negro children. His theory is that only school officials in Clarendon county are bound by the decision since they were the only ones before the court.

The Byrnes' gimmick is to make the NAACP take each school district in the state into court to secure a decree ordering the admittance of Negroes. Technicallly, Byrnes is correct in his claim that only Clarendon county is bound by the decision as it now stands. Under American law only the litigant who is a party to the suit is foreclosed by it.

On moral grounds, Byrnes shows up as a shoddy character seeking to evade the law of the land by making it so expensive that Negro litigants will run out of money and patience and so give up the battle.

We've got news for the governor. Negroes have been battling against separate schools for more than a half century and with victory in their grasp they're not going to be sidetracked by delaying tactics.

We are sure too that the Supreme Court is going to run out of patience with delays and evasions and that it will entertain some proper legal motion that will short cut the Byrnes plan to require that each separate school board be sued.

In fact, the Court invited the attorneys general of all the school segregation states to come before it next October and outline plans for ending segregation. It is our guess that if the States don't begin compliance in a voluntary fashion the Court will take some steps to put teeth in its order.

Excellent Investment

Consumation of plans for a swimming pool at Will Rogers park is an important step forward. The pool has been needed in South Los Angeles for a long time and our only regret is that the supervisors were so laggard in ordering its construction.

Supervisor Kenny Hahn is deserving of a great deal of credit for the manner in which he kept plugging away until he overcame all obstacles and got the pool approved.

That swimming pool will be a mighty good investment for all of Los Angeles. It will provide wholesome and supervised amusement for many a youngster and will save some of them from clashes and conflicts with the law.

A dollar spent in this fashion will do a hundred dollars worth of good in preventing juvenile delinquency. Children, and adults, in congested communities need facilities like the Will Rogers swimming pool.

A Good Beginning

The announcement that the California State Employment Service is going to appoint a high ranking official with special supervision over employment problems involving minority groups is good news if it means that the appointee is going to have some authority—and if the right person is selected for the job.

Urban League statistics indicate that Negroes are furnishing more than their share of the unemployed. That is understandable in view of the fact that Negroes, through no fault of their own, are late-comers to California industries. Whenever cuts are made on a seniority basis they suffer.

In addition all too many Negroes were employed in those industries where cutbacks came at the close of the Korean war. And above all, it is still true that all too many employers are still drawing the color line.

The State Employment Service had an admirable rule to the effect that it will not fill discriminatory job orders but that does not keep the employer from weeding out minority group applicants at the point of hiring, or from seeking his employes on a discriminatory basis outside of the employment service.

The person who is to grapple with the problem for the State must have authority and in addition he must have a broad understanding of the problem and a zeal and determination to find a solution. And incidentally, we are sure that any real attempt to find a solution will lead to the inevitable conclusion that what California needs to set its house in order is fair employment legislation.

Called Their Bluff

Dixiecrat threats to scuttle the entire low rent housing program because of a recent Supreme Court decision ordering the end of segregation in public housing broke down last week when the public housing bill went through as scheduled.

The southerners didn't filibuster. They didn't even demand a record vote. They were content with registering a perfunctory opposition that they can flaunt in the next election campaign.

A few years ago Congress was asked to insert a non-discriminatory and non-segregation clause in the housing bill. Weak-kneed liberals in the Senate knuckled under to southern pressure and voted the clause out. They gave as their excuse the statement that they did it to save public housing. Better Jim Crow housing, they argued, than no housing at all.

The southern retreat in the face of the Supreme Court decision shows how hollow the Dixiecrat threat was and how weaseling northern liberals permitted themselves to be frightened when there was no real danger.

The time has passed when Americans are willing to cut off their noses to spite their faces by denying themselves housing in order to preserve segregation. The Dixiecrats know that full well. They fulminate and they bluff but whenever their bluff is called they back down.

As a postscript we go along with the CIO and other groups interested in housing in the belief that the administration housing bill isn't at all adequate. Time, we think, will prove that if we want to get rid of slums the government is going to have to do far more than build the one hundred forty thousand public housing units that are planned.

nportant Qualification

We hope in the selection of a new sup. ndent of schools the Board of Education will select a person who has a depth of understanding and concern about human relations.

Los Angeles needs a school administrator who will carry out the policies initiated by the retiring Alexander Stoddard who, no matter what his other faults, worked hard and successfully to improve relations between Los Angeles' diverse racial and national groups in respect of pupils and teachers alike.

His name is Dr. H. Claude Hudson. If you do not know him by name you are not well acquainted with the most concerned leaders of this community.

Leon Steward

Dr. Hudson was born in Alexandria, La., and has several brothers and a sister. We became acquainted with him and his family while attending Wiley College. There were four Hudsons on the campus and they were all well known. When Coe Hall was built for a boys' dormitory, Dr. Hudson was in charge of the brick work and his brothers were in charge of the carpentry and we were among the bearers of the home-made bricks used in the inner structure of the building. Dr. Hudson was then quite as interested in the college as he is now interested in his community.

TO LOS ANGELES

When H. Claude Hudson left Wiley College he went directly to Howard University to study dentistry. Upon graduation he returned to Louisiana and opened an office in his home town, where he remained eleven months before moving to Shreveport, La., where he remained 10 years. In 1923 he and his wife looked at the children and decided to take them to Los Angeles, where their chances for better educational opportunities prevailed. His brothers and sister joined him here.

He was hardly here long enough to become acclimated before he was elected president of the local NAACP. He served in that capacity from 1923 to 1934 and he is not tired of that service yet! At present he is on the NAACP board both locally and nationally. He is also a member of the Urban League and president of the Pacific Town Club which has been only recently organized.

B'WAY FEDERAL PRESIDENT

The doctor and his family have been members of Wesley Methodist Church since their arrival in the city. Dr. H. Claude Hudson is also the president of the Broadway Federal Savings and Loan Association, 4329 S. Broadway—a ten million dollar concern which will soon move into its new quarters.

His office for the practice of dentistry is situated in his own building, 4266 S. Central avenue. In the office he has two assistants. John G. Harvey is his dental technician and Miss May Robinson is his dental assistant. The doctor lost his oldest son in the second war, which leaves two girls and three sons. We recently wrote a story on Atty. Elbert Hudson, one of his sons, who has an office at 4754 S. Broadway. Dr. Hudson is a democrat with a small "d." That is, he is easy for anyone to meet and people think well of him all over this sprawling city.

Battleaxe and Bread

By Lester B. Granger

From Tuskegee Institute in Alabama to Columbia University in New York City is a matter of 800 or 900 miles by air. Between the commencement programs of the two famous institutions it was a matter, this year, of a week's difference in time.

Lester Granger

Both time and distance melted away last week as if by magic when I sat on the broad steps of Columbia's Low Memorial Library and listened to President Grayson Kirk address several thousand of the 6,000 men and women who had qualified for degrees of the University during the year of its bicentennial anniversary.

I Remembered Tuskegee

I had been feeling very elegant in my doctor's gown and gold-tasseled cap. I had felt more than a little smug when I glanced at my 32 fellow-honorees who were to receive honorary degrees—in science, humane letters, religion or law.

I had been a trifle awed when, after trying to count the graduates massed, row after row, in front of me, I had to give up the job as hopeless after making sure that there were at least 3,000 present.

Then I remembered the Tuskegee Commencement that I had addressed a week earlier, and my feeling of smug elegance evaporated abruptly. I remembered the several hundred dark-skinned young men and women who had marched across the platform on Tuskegee's shaded campus, and compared them with those thousands of cool and poised, well-groomed graduates of Columbia who, with their parents and friends, filled the vast quadrangular space of Morningside Heights.

Their Oyster

I checked again the areas of study in which Columbia's degrees were being given—general studies leading toward professional courses, teaching, law, medicine, social work, engineering, research sciences, business administration.

Here were representatives of the fortunate tenth of America's student group—young men and women who could be excused for regarding the world as their oyster, since they now hod the tools with which to open it.

In my mind's eye I compared that Alabama assemblage with this New York City gathering. Grouped with me on the library steps were world famous figures—statesmen and scholars, writers and scientists, military heroes and leaders in the world of business affairs.

One Bright Spot

Down at Tuskegee, parents and friends of the graduates were representatives of the anonymous mass of American citizens; many hundreds of them had driven in that morning from rural districts from a dozen to a hundred miles away, to attend the one big, exciting annual event in their grinding existence.

The majority of Columbia's graduates would walk out of the Quadrangle, secure in the knowledge that after a summer's rest period they would move into jobs for which they were trained or would go on toward more training for even better jobs.

Wondering

The majority of Tuskegee's graduates had left their campus a week ago, wondering if and when they would receive any jobs roughly equivalent to their training and hopes, and knowing that for the most of them there would be no more formal study for the rest of their lives.

I sat there thinking these thoughts after Columbia's deans had presented their various classes of candidates for degrees, after the imposing list of honorary degrees had been presented and I had walked back to my seat with investiture of blue and white hood completed, and while atomic scientist I. I. Rabi was delivering the University oration.

Suddenly it occurred to me that in spite of the sharp contrast in background and finish of training between Tuskegee's and Columbia's graduates, both groups possessed two attributes in common—uncertainty and hope.

A New South

Tuskegee's young men and women walked out into a South which would never again be the Old South but which was not yet the New South. The Supreme Court decision had abruptly changed horizons and avenues for all; exactly where the horizons lay and where the avenues pointed was not yet clear, but what was ahead would be better in most ways than what was left behind.

Columbia's graduates also walked out into a world which would never again be what it had been for their fathers and mothers. It would be a world of constant struggle in a differ- struggle against the worldwide Communist conspiracy, struggle to keep ahead of mounting defense costs, struggle to win allies and keep them, and struggle to maintain some semblance of the American standard of living.

Yet here, too, was hope; for here was a man's job for trained men—and women—and what better assignment can man ask for than one that challenges his best training?

Pure and Simple

By L. F. Palmer Jr.

The wife just took a train trip and up pops another of those countess hazards that go with being a husband. I take a dim view of long jaunts by rail especially when there's a 20-month-old male along who's got more ideas than Dizzy Gillespie at a real cool jam session.

So I make all the needed preparations to welcome wife and son as they step off the Santa Fe's Super Chief. A doctor, nurse and ambulance are alerted to stand-by for a travel-tired wife and an electrically charged youngster who are certain to be suffering from new forms of fatigue and frustrations after 36 hours or so in a compartment about the size of a doll house.

At home the bed is turned back, some soup is ready to be heated. The medicine chest opened for quick entry. And flowers in case the recovery stretches out.

Anxious Husband

The train slithers into the station and an anxious husband waits outside Car No. 184 with visions of a white robed pair of attendants carrying wife and perhaps child off the Chief on a pair of those frightening stretchers.

But who gets off Car No. 184 but the freshest, prettiest, smilingest wife a husband could hope for? And in her arms is the brightest, happiest, chatteringest little boy a doting papa could dream of. No bags, no luggage, no eye shadows, no rumpled hair, no drooping shoulders. Just two visions of loveliness—one little and one a little larger.

After the appropriate embraces, the wife hands me my son and we walk toward the cab, she chatting, he chatting, me dumbfounded.

Steps Aside

We approach the cab and the wife steps aside and waits for me to open the door. We wait a minute or two and the bags are delivered to us. We get home. The wife steps aside and waits for me to open the door.

Once inside, she steps to the closet and steps aside and waits for me to open the door. By now, I want to know what gives with all this stepping aside business. Maybe her arm is hurt or something. I'm told that's the kind of service she got on the train for 36 hours.

At dinner time (I had thrown something together) the wife stands by her chair for fully a minute before I realized that she was waiting for me to pull the chair out for her. She stares into her empty plate for a generation until it hits me that she awaits service.

After she politely manages to dally with what I had thrown together I'm told she's through. I look at her so-what like but decide to go on through with the masquerade and assist her from the table.

Act Over

I bus (or bust) the dishes, wash, dry and put them away to discover that little Dizzy is in bed waiting to be kissed goodnight. I accomplish this husbandly deed and join the wife in our bedroom.

She is standing by our bed, looking dreamy in her nightie. She starts to speak but I beat her to the punch. I pull the sheets back and wave the spouse in.

She smiles and I know the act is over. But after all when a gal's been getting that kind of service for 36 hours or so, who am I to cut her off so abruptly?

Really I'm all for the superb job these train guys do. Makes you feel better when you can't travel with your family. But you see what I mean about the hazard, though. Huh?

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Lest the enclosed quotation has escaped you, being comparatively unfamiliar, I'm sending it to you. It is from President Woodrow Wilson's "History of the American People," Vol. IV, Page 37:

"Please give my compliment to my friends in your state," said the imperious old soldier (President Andrew Jackson) to a member of the House who asked his commands, after John C. Calhoun had resigned the Vice Presidency, and South Carolina was talking of resisting laws of the United States by force of arms (a la Gov. Byrnes and Talmadge of Georgia).

"Say to my friends in your state that if a single drop of blood shall be shed there in opposition to the laws of the United States, I will hang the first man I lay my hand on engaged in such treasonable conduct, upon the first tree I can reach."

Jackson didn't die until 1845, and South Carolina, and Georgia, too, were quite sure he had been dead fully 15 years before they fired on Ft. Sumter!

So, Bro. Miller, I guess we can be quite certain that today's overheated "fire-eaters," from Virginia to Texas, inclusive, will think twice before "rivers of blood" roll through the streets of their section, because the U.S. Supreme Court has knocked out "segregation" in the public schools.

You know, of course, that if South Carolina and Georgia had not combined in Constitutional Convention to resist incorporation of what later became the 13th Amendment, the substance of which Jefferson backed and had incorporated in the provisions setting up the "Northwest Territory," there would have been no loss of billions of dollars; no wiping out of more than a million "Rebels" and "Yankees"; in fact, no Civil War!

Misguided, recalcitrant, intolerant, nullificatory Southerners today should be reminded that their present course may mean a worse than "Civil War" division.

Nuf Sed.

I'm still plugging away, and read your editorials and other commentaries with interest. You keep well abreast, when not ahead, of current events.

BOOKS

BEYOND ANXIETY by James A Pike

This is a Christian answer to some of the pervading problems of the individual in today's world, written by the Dean of the Episcopal Cathedral in New York City. Dr. Pike has found the principal types of modern anxiety to be fear, guilt, inhibition, frustration, indecision, loneliness and despair; and he has been able to help many people find a solution to these in the religion of Christ. The approach is not doctrinaire, and readers of all faiths will find the book helpful.

Letter To The Editor

To the Editor:

We have been fighting for many years for an opportunity to prove our abilities as human beings rather than as a member of a race or creed. Last Monday at the Tribune forum, Race was injected into the question of whom one should vote for in an ordinary political election.

For more years than I care to mention we have fought for the elimination of designation of race or color on forms of application for positions of merit, reports of misdeeds or references made to color of any individual involved in undignified performances.

Yet, we inject race into politics. We do not call together all of those we feel are qualified to represent the community and select the one best suited for the job and back him with all the strength of our numbers but we split our ranks by having several running for the same office, giving the race to the candidate who has proven by his or her record that he has no feeling for the problems of the minority groups.

Foolhardy

To vote for a candidate for office because he is a Negro is foolhardy. The criterion should be: if he is right for the job by merit of ideals and has the intestinal fortitude to fight for the best for all citizens regardless of race; has educational background to permit forceful expression of his ideas and is above lining his pockets at the expense of constituents; has moral and spiritual character with qualities of leadership. If when elected he does not carry out the program set down in his platform, then elect someone else whom you feel will be able to overcome the hurdles of the political game and bring about the changes desired.

It has been said that to be a politician one must be narrow-minded, talkative and able to find fault with the other fellow's deeds while not being able or willing to accomplish anything constructive himself. It is easy to point to the other fellow's record with scorn. What have you done to improve conditions?

The mills of progress grind slowly, and for those of us who are on the side of . . . progress . . . it seems an eternity.

In selecting governmental candidates we have in the past been confronted with the problem of having no choice but to vote for the candidate who promised to help eliminate the evils of segregation in housing, employment and representation. The pattern of menial jobs for men of color established as a result of slavery has been continued for the convenience of the few. The time has arrived when color cannot be a factor in job appointments, because qualifications have now been met on educational and social levels.

Qualities of leadership have been proven in all fields of endeavor. Ralph Bunche proved that color was no barrier in mediating the disputes in the Near East. Many diplomats have said that they were impressed by the diplomacy and ingenuity employed by Mr. Bunche in working out ways and means of bringing about an understanding among the nations involved in the dispute.

Exemplary

We have many leaders who can do an exemplary job, given the opportunity, and wholeheartedly supported by members of their own race as well as the cooperation of members of the majority group in power.

The question of who is the best candidate for an office is a hard one to decide in any election. A man's record as a public figure and as a business man, family man or man is important. Can he overcome the obstacles in the path of progress? Is he capable of forseeing the tricks employed by the opposition; will he be strong enough to refuse the opportunities for personal gain at the expense of his supporters?

FEPC NEEDED

A fair employment practices act should not be a necessity in a democracy; we know that it is necessary and must be brought about by law in order that those who refuse to bow to the march of progress will have to conform or loose their right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness they deny to others.

It is a sad commentary on human nature when such action is called for but we must make ourselves champions of what is right in order to assure freedom for all men in the future. We must work for the ideal with every weapon at our command and also make ready to take hold of the opportunities provided by the changing order.

Support leaders and develop new ones whose vision is broad and strength sufficient for the job of working for peace and brotherhood.

Health Topics At Ward Church

The Rev. Fred E. Stephens, pastor of Ward A.M.E. church, announces the first in a series of health lectures in North Chapel of the Church 1177 West 25th Street, Tuesday evening (June 15) at 8:00 p.m., by Dr. George D. Thorne, physician and surgeon and a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons.

The first lecture will deal with cancer. A supporting motion picture by the American Cancer Society will be shown.

Dr. Thorne is a new comer to the city and is the only Negro medic here who is a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons in the field of general surgery.

Before coming to Los Angeles, Dr. Thorne was a staff member of Lincoln, Harlem and Sydenham Hospitals and the founder of Mount Morris Park Hospital in New York City.

The Artishia W. Jordan Missionary Society is sponsoring the first lecture, which is another of the public services offered by the church. The pastor cordially invites all to come and bring their friends to hear this revealing and helpful lecture on one of the scourges of man.

'Castles in Woods' Aids City of Hope

Formation of a community-wide advisory committee for "Castles in the Woods," furnished home exposition now open in the Royal Woods area of San Fernando Valley as a benefit for the City of Hope, was announced this week by Victor M. Carter, president of the free, nonsectarian national medical center.

Rev. Edmonds, Evangelist, On Eastern Trip

Rev. Anita L. Edmonds, evangelist, and pastor of the Edmonds Community Temple, boarded the Southern Pacific Streamliner, last Saturday, for an extensive evangelistic tour of the northern, middle western, and eastern States. Her tour will include San Francisco, Seattle, Portland, Virginia, Missouri, and New York States.

Rev. Edmonds' Gospel singers will follow by car. The evangelist holds the distinction of having been the youngest ordained woman preacher of the Methodist church on the west coast and in the Middle West conferences, having begun her ministry at the age of ten. An accomplished musician and gospel singer, Miss Edmonds recently composed the gospel number entitled "God Give Me Grace To Go On". Rev. Howard Potts is in charge of services during the Evangelist's absence.

Methodists Take Steps to End Segregation

WESTMINSTER, Md. — The Baltimore conference of the Methodist church last week took steps to eliminate racial segregation in the church, as well as urging its members to cooperate with school authorities in bringing about an end of jim-crow in public schools.

Leaders of 180,000 church members were instructed to study the possibility of establishing interracial churches.

The ministers and lay delegates from 546 churches in Maryland, Washington and small nearby areas of West Virginia and Pennsylvania went on record for the admission of students of all races to the colleges supported by the conference.

Pioneer Citizen Taken by Death

Friends were mourning the death of Mrs. Manie Forrest who died recently at the home of her daughter, Mrs. June Forrest Shebee, 724 East 87th Street.

Mrs. Forrest came to Los Angeles from Arizona about 34 years ago. She was a very talented musician, was active in the arts and was also a very successful teacher.

In the thirties women were beginning to have a voice in the political growth of this city so she joined forces with the Democratic Women's Club, in which she held important posts and headed committees.

Mrs. Forrest was reared in a Christian Science family and her children had the advantage of her advanced understanding. Mrs. Alma Cameron, a Christian Science practitioner, read the service in the chapel of the Roberts Mortuary on May 19th. Interment was at Hollywood Hills, Forest Lawn.

Six of the seven children of this family reside in Los Angeles. They are: Mrs. Annette North, Mrs. Louise Beverly, James Lindell, George Forrest, and June Forrest Shebee. Ms. Manie Lindell Smith, also a member of this family, resides in Tacoma, Washington. In the family there are ten grandchildren and twelve great grandchildren, all residing in Los Angeles.

Men's Day at First AME Church Scheduled for Sunday

Outstanding speakers will present the challenging question, "How Effective Are Churches and Schools in Preparing Youth for Citizenship," Sunday (June 20) at First A.M.E. Church, Eighth and Towne, as part of the annual Men's Day program.

Dr. Arthur Farnham, principal of Jefferson High School, and Rev. Maurice Dawkins, recently appointed minister of Peoples Independent Church, will be the principal speakers. Dr. Brice U. Taylor, former USC football All-American, now associate minister at Eighth and Towne, will be the moderator. Music will be furnished by the N. P. Gregg Gospel Chorus of the People's Independent Church.

The men of the church have charge of the full day's activities under the leadership of Joseph January, general chairman. Rev. Therion E. Cobbs, minister of Bethel A.M.E. Church, San Diego, will deliver the morning sermon. The evening service, starting at 7:15 p.m., will be devoted to the theme, "As Men Pray." Jesse H. Sterling is program chairman. Rev. Alvia A. Shaw is the minister at First Church.

Reed College Gives Degree

The Student Body Banquet, Baccalaureate Sermon and the Commencement Exercises of the Reed College of Religion proved highly successful. Eight students received degrees. They were Arthur Cathcart, Bachelor of Theology; R. L. Marsh, Bachelor of Theology, Lovie Cooper, Willie McDonald and Sylvia Thomas received the degree of Bachelor of Christian Education. William Jackson, Fannie Mae Johnson and Helen Rising received the degree of Master of Church School Administration.

The Rev. John J. Hicks, pastor of the St. John's Methodist Church, was awarded the Honorary Degree of Doctor of Divinity. Dr. G. W. Reed, president of the school, brought the commencement address and Dr. John J. Hicks preached the baccalaureate sermon.

Unemployment Church Topic

"What Unemployment Means To You" is the timely topic to be presented by East Hollywood Interracial Council on Reverend Charles Davis Jr's. Salem Baptist Church monthly forum, Sunday (June 13) at 7:30 p.m.

Guest speaker is Tom Wilson, chairman of the Fair Employment Committee of United Auto Workers, Local 887, C.I.O. A question and answer period will follow Mr. Wilson's address.

Mrs. Lillian Kanter of the Interracial Council is slated as program soloist. Salem Baptist Church is located at 2854 Glassell St., Reno near Beverly.

Church Cancels Plan to Convene In Houston

NEW YORK — Segregation didn't pay off for Houston this week.

On Tuesday the Protestant Episcopal church cancelled plans to hold its 1955 convention in the Texas city.

A number of churchmen had opposed holding the annual meeting of the church in Houston due to the jim-crow policies that prevail in the city and the fact that this would prove a source of deep embarrassment for the church.

The Rt. Rev. Henry Knox Sherrill, presiding Bishop, however, made no mention of the segregation question in announcing the cancellation.

MUSICAL PROGRAM

There will be a Musical Program at Ebenezer Baptist church, 49th and Avalon Blvd. Sunday at 3 p.m. Guest choirs will be Zion Temple, Church of God, Holy Chapel Baptist, Mt. Zion and others.

Morris Speaks At Fellowship

Men's Day will be celebrated at the Church of Christian Fellowship next Sunday. The speaker is Secretary Kenneth A. Morris of the 28th St. Y.M.C.A. with a special topic for men, "Men and Today's World." Capt. Vance H. Marchbands, Sr., the chairman, is assisted by John A. Sweden and Palmer Van Gundy. Rev. Harold M. Kingsley and Dan Towler are ex-officio members.

Four teams are managing the financial end of the celebration. Captains Sweden, Jas. Greene, Chas. Rodgers and Robert Z. Z. Hardon. Others on the program are Victor Nickerson, Isaiah Treadwell and Otis Turner.

West Baptists Slate Banquet

The Young People's Auxiliary of the Western Baptist State Convention under the leadership of Rev. E. Allen is presenting its Annual Banquet Friday night, (June 11), at the Miracle Baptist Church, 8318 S. Central Avenue.

This banquet is held in honor of the winning participants of the State Annual Oratorical contest: Cleavon Little, Theresa Collins, Dolores Penn, Maple Jackson. Other participants were Wesley Johnson, Royce Fagan, Mary Stevens, and Ernestine Kountz.

In addition to the Banquet, Miss Dolores Penn will be given a free trip to the National Youth Congress which is being held in Birmingham. Mr. Cleavon will be given a free vacation at the Thousand Pines Baptist Youth Camp.

Serving as Chairman of the oratorical contest was Miss Hattie P. Page; hostesses were Miss H. Miles and Delores Alexander.

Summer Tea at St. Martin Church

On Sunday (June 13th), 3 to 7 p.m. the Women's Auxiliary of St. Martin's Episcopal Church at 13205 Wilmington Avenue, will present its Annual Summer Tea in the Parish House and grounds of the new location. The Vicar, the Rev. L. E. Williams invited public attendance.

Dr. Arthur Carr will accompany members of the South L.A. Symphony Circle and other fine singers on the evening's bill of fare.

Recital Slated at Bethel Church

The Senior Choir of the Bethel A.M.E. Church, 1511 W. 36th Street, invites the public to attend its annual Musicale Sunday, (June 13) at 4:00 p.m.

Gladyce Sharpe, soprano, will be featured soloist in the rendition of Schubert's, The Omnipotence. Mrs. Sharpe gained national prominence as soloist with the famous Lacey Singers in their recent tour of the United States and Canada.

GLADYCE SHARPE

Henry Booker, a new comer to Los Angeles musical circles, is guest accompanist for this occasion, and Neosha Tatum will preside as Mistress of Ceremonies.

Rev. X. C. Runyan is pastor of the Church and Louise Bratton is organist-director.

Children's Day at L.A. Baptist Church

The young people of the Los Angeles Baptist Church, 11106 S. Avalon Blvd., are presenting a Children's Day Program at 4 p.m., Sunday, (June 13.) it was announced by the Pastor, H. E. Farlough, Sr. A playlet, "Even a Child" starring Annie Burks, Ruth Gray, Glenda Gray, Herman Farlough, Jr., Charles and Marge Thomas, will be featured.

Pasadena to Host State Usher Meet

Church ushers will converge on Pasadena for the Thirteenth Annual Senior State Convention, Eighth Annual Junior, and First Annual Youth Convention June 21 through July 2, at the Metropolitan Baptist Church, 1245 Mentone Avenue. The Rev. S. M. Malone is pastor of the church.

The Southern District will be the host district with Mrs. Grace Boyd senior district president, Miss H. Marie Patterson, acting junior district president, and Richard Andrews, youth district president, in charge.

Presiding officers for the sessions will be Mrs. Gertie R. Lee, senior state president; Miss Blanche L. Sutton, youth state president; and Miss Fredma, junior state president.

The object of the usher board union — an interdenominational association of united churches ushers—is to unit all usher boards into one organization, and promote the religious, mutual and social relationship among its members.

General chairmen are Mrs. Mary Alice Gordon, and Miss Mary Stevens of the senior and youth departments.

First day will be; entertainment "Hello Day" for the youth, and a regular officers meeting at 6:00 p.m.

The second day will mark official opening of the junior and youth sessions with ushers uniforms being the proper attire for the day. There will be panel discussion on "Why are young people leaving the church?" Is it the parents' fault? Is it the young peoples' fault?"

The third day will see official opening of the senior state convention and annual sermon. 8:15—Public reception and welcome program. Officals of the City and County will be present, and the general public is invited to come and see the work that the ushers are doing all over the State of California.

Memorial day services will be held Friday, White is the attire for the day.

The Convention will close with the installation of officers for the ensuing year. Rev. A. A. Peters will speak, and the Voices of Victory will render the music.

RAMS' BOYD LAFAYETTE BANQUET SPEAKER

"Nothing in the world can hold you back but yourself."

This is what the L.A. Rams' prolific pass catching end Bob Boyd, the Loyola University grad, told the gathering of outstanding teen-age athletes at the 2nd annual Central Community Awards Banquet Thursday night.

Boyd proved as handy with the words, as guest speaker of the affair, as he is on the gridiron.

Boyd told his young audience what he thought they must have in order to be a success. He stated as follows: "A burning desire, be able to make sacrifices and be very gracious in doing so. And faith in a God, your plans and duties."

Bob, who operates during the off season as a stellar salesman for the Seagram's Distillers, said in so many words that the paramount aim of every youngsters should be to get an education first and let athletics be a stepping stone to that end. And not vice versa.

The banquet, which was staged to honor the championship teams from Lafayette Center Central Playground and the 9th Street School, was made possible by the generous financial aid of the Holly-Park charities, the 17th District American Legion Auxiliary and several others who requested to remain anonymous.

The coaches of these star-studded teams that were honored are Bill Mills, Walter Cleaver, James Thompson, Bill Lacefield, the ex-UCLA broad jumper, and Trinida Ledesma.

Too much credit can't be given to such wonderful people as Mrs. M. Johnson, Mrs. Lela McLinn, Martha Lightner, Anthony Nunn, Coordinator, Lafayette Center, Rev. and Mrs. John Dogget, Hamilton Methodist, Mrs. V. Whittington, et al for their untiring efforts in making the event such a success.

Some of the notables attending were LAPD public relations aces Bob Green and Billy O. Gonzales, Jim Sutton of the Dept. of Recreation and Parks, Howard Bell, and Lafayette principal Dr. M. E. Herriott, Gordon Snider and "Coke" Clark of the Coca-Cola public relations dept.

PYE'S PICKUPS—

Big Walter Taylor—Jeff's sprint star of last year—is now in the USMC. . . . Milt Campell, Indiana U Frosh and Olympic decathlon runner up, will not defend his national crown this year. . . . Les Laing, Fresno State's all-around trackman, was named the all-CCAA conference's most valuable man.

Laing competed on Jamica's Olympic squad in '52. . . . Bill Carnegie and Robert Redd are getting awful weak behind the Pico and Arlington miniature golf course. . . . Bill declares he isn't going to give it up until he breaks the course's record.

Redd as you may recall was an outstanding B hurler for Jeff in '48. . . . Jeff undoubtedly had more former stars competing the Compton Invitational than any other school.

The ex-Demo participants were Mal Whitfield, Lavern Smith, Mal Andrews, Bob "Sticko" Smith, Albert Moore and Lang Stanley.

BELATED THANKS—

On our recent sojourn to the bay area we're royally hosted by the Bill (Mazie) Ormes' and the Frank (Inez) Nashs of Berkeley, Johnny Lee Daniels and spouse of San Francisco. . . . We're also indebted to this city's fine sportsmen Ford Stevens and Booker T. Jackson for the "tough time" we had motoring up to the bay area in the former's Lincoln Capri.

MOORE CHALLENGES TITLE WINNER—Light heavyweight champion Archie Moore, who scored a resounding six-round tko over Bert Whithurst Monday night in New York, again put his bid in for a crack at the winner of the June 17 title scrap between champion Rocky Marciano and ex-cronies wearer Ezzard Charles.

Evatt Picked To Take Hart In Olympic Go

Buddy Evatt, one of the top local main eventers, puts his unblemished record on the block against Johnny Hart — the Phoenix flash — in the 10-round feature attraction at the Olympic Auditorium Monday night.

Energetic Evatt sports a 15 win record, 8 via the K.O. route.

Young 20-year-old Hart has engaged in 24 battles, winning 12 by knockouts.

TITLE BELT IN H&H ADS

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — With the Rocky Marciano-Ezzard Charles title fight coming up on June 17th, fight fans will be hearing a lot about The World's Heavyweight Championship Belt, which goes to the winner. But finally, this year, they'll be able to see it in brilliant, detailed full-color.

It will be featured in Hill and Hill Kentucky Whiskey full-page advertisements running in True, Argosy, Cosmopolitan, American and Redbook—and in large size advertisements running in local newspapers.

Hill and Hill, which for many years has based its advertising on sport themes, is this year featuring famous American sports trophies. The heavyweight championship belt is one of the trophies, and—what timing!—the ads using it will be running just around the time of the Marciano-Charles fight, when interest in boxing will be at its height.

If you've been curious about what the belt looks like, be patient—you'll be seeing it all over soon!

SORORITY TO GIVE CAGE AWARDS SUN.

The Alpha Nu Chapter of Sigma Gamma Rho Sorority presents its second annual Inter-Frat Basketball awards at the YWCA, located on the USC campus, 36th Place and Hoover St., Sunday, June 13.

The coveted award will be again awarded this year to Fred Griffin's undefeated Omegas, all-state Inter-Frat champions. Vivacious Vivian Edwards, basileus of Alpha Nu, will make the presentation. The Inter-Frat cage loop will also honored the series' outstanding player.

The committee reports that a program consisting of "All Greek" talent is being arranged. All Frats are asked to participate in this event and help to make it one of the best in history.

Holly-Park $100,000

Hollywood Park racing will hit an early season peak Saturday in the staging of the $100,000 added Californian, first of three hundred-granders on the Inglewood track's million-dollar stakes program this year.

Wes Santee & Mal Whitfield Head Coliseum Cinderfest

By BRAD PYE, JR.

The Coliseum Relays was the most—the Compton Invitational was the greatest—and this Friday night's "Meet of Champions" at the Coliseum which'll feature the famed Wes Santee, in his final local bid for the four-minute mile, should prove to be the end.

Virtually every track and field enthusiast in the metropolis will be on hand for Santee's duel with Josy Barthel, the Olympic 1500 meters champion. However, other top headliners such as Olympic champion Mal Whitfield, J. W. Mashburn, George Rhoden, ELAJC star field eventers Flying Floyd Jeter and Jim Gamble, et al will be on hand to strut their stuff.

It's almost certain Alameda's state sprint champion James Jackson who won both dash races in the Stockton meet over the weekend with times of 9.6 and 20.8 will headline the sprint field.

Whitfield, who was defeated by the great Santee in his specialty the 880 in Stockton Saturday night, will run both the half and quarter in the Coliseum cinderfest. His No. 1 competitor in the 440 will be mighty J. W. Mashburn.

Friday night's "Meet of Champions" is being held in conjunction with the SPAAU meet. Able Al Franken, the effervescent publicity chief of the annual Compton Invitational, is the meet director of the Coliseum affair.

Elks Day at Gilmore Field

Bob Cobb, President of the Hollywood Baseball Association, has announced that Sunday, June 20, the Hollywood Stars will honor the Pacific States Association of Elks (I.B.P.O.E. of W.) at Gilmore Field.

The colorful marching pageantry of the Elks Uniform Rank, under the direction of Brig. Gen. Matthew B. Lipscomb, will be on view before thousands of baseball fans between the games of a double header featuring Hollywood versus the San Francisco Seals.

Musical cadence for the parading Elks will be furnished by the Elks Golden West Lodge No. 86 band headed by Millard Lacey.

Organized baseball's first Negro umpire, Emmett Ashford is one of three officials assigned to cover the games.

BASEBALL BANTER

The three homers blasted out against the St. Louis Cardinals by the N.Y. Giants' Hank Thompson tied the modern National League record for consecutive homers in a single game . . . His mate Willie Mays connected for two in the same game to bring his season total to 16.

MINNIE MINOSO

The Baltimore Orioles joined the ranks of the lily-white major loop clubs when they optioned their lone Negro, hurler Jehosie Heard, back where he came from—Portland in the PCL—this week.

The return of roly poly Roy Campanella is virtually what the Dodgers have been waiting for. Since his return the Bums have won ten straight. At this writing the Dodgers are at the top and the Campanella-led New Yorkers look as though they will remain there.

Mighty Minnie Minoso of the Chicago White Sox has been pacing his mates in the base stealing and batting departments. He's currently one of the American loop's top three batters with a .332 clip.

City's Pools Open June 19

Los Angeles' 25 municipal swimming pools and approximately 11 miles of ocean-washed strand are preparing for their 1954 season and confidently expect it to be the greatest in their histories, it was reported yesterday by the Los Angeles City Recreation and Park Department.

Supervisor of Aquatics C.P.L. Nicholls announced that the city's plunges will "open for business" Saturday morning, June 19 the first day of summer vacation for hundreds of thousands of youngsters and that the Recreation and Park Department's ninth annual "Learn-to-Swim" campaign will get underway on Monday, June 21.

HOLLYWOOD PARK — The first of the three $100,000 stakes offered by Hollywood Park will be run this Saturday, June 12th. It's the Californian for 3-year-old and up heading the list of certain staters is A. J. (LUCKY) Crevolin's crack pair, Determine and Imbros. Between them they have won 11 stakes already this year. In addition to the Kentucky Derby.

RAMSEY

Determine won the Santa Anita Derby, Bay Meadows Derby, the San Gabriel stakes and the San Felipe. Imbros has to his credit wins in the Balibu Sequet Stakes, the Lincoln's Birthday and the $100.000 race at Bay Meadows. In all Determine has won seven stakes and Imbros four.

Jeff's Neal Hurls Second No-Hitter

Jefferson High's terrific Ted Neal pitched his mates into the semi-finals of the Dorsey tourney with a no-hit 6-0 shutout over San Pedro's Marine loop champions Friday.

It was the dynamic Demos' second straight tourney shutout. He fanned 10, walked only two.

Neal was aided tremendously in his win by Charley Mitchell's base-loaded triple in the fourth frame, for Ray Wheba's surprising Demo baseballers.

In the semi-finals the Jeff boys were defeated by the title winning Dorsey nine 11-1.

Orchid Oliver, Gordon Warnick Open Season With June Wedding

Orchid Oliver wed Gordon E. Warnick in an impressive ceremony at Holman Methodist Church on Sunday, May 30 at 4:00 p.m., Rev. L. L. White officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron H. Douglas, 2701 South Harvard Blvd., and is presently teaching in the L.A. City Schools. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Warnick, Sr., of Jersey City, New Jersey and for several years was connected with the manufacturing and engineering division of the N. W. Kellog Company. He formerly served with the U. S. Marine Corps in World War II.

The new Mrs. Warnick was one of the most beautiful brides of the season, wearing a Maurer original of vaporous nylon tulle with imported lace trim. The pearls worn by the bride were a family heirloom and she carried for another bit of something old, a lace handkerchief wheih was used by her aunt, Mrs. Beatrice Cannady Taylor, forty-two years ago. Her silk illusion finger-tip veil was held by a pearl crown; the bouquet was a cascade of white hybrid orchids, lillies of the valley and stephanotis.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. Earl Pleasant, matron of honor, Misses Magdalene O'Rourke, maid of honor; Mary Welles and Murney Hardon. All the bridesmaids wore white gowns with orchid shoes and carried a cascade of cattleya and vanda.

The best man was Ernest J. Jackson and the ushers were Billy Renfield, Jack Thompson and Ivan Cannady. George Cannady and Connor Baumann also assisted in the ceremony.

The ceremony began with the lighting of candles by Joan Beverly, Judy Bailey and Mamie Watkins. Cynthia Cannady was flower girl and Michael Askew was ring bearer.

Mrs. Marcia Bauman assisted in arranging details of the wedding. Songs were by Mrs. Edward White, a cappella and James Patton, accompanied by Mrs. Vivian Grey.

Immediately following the wedding the bride and groom met their guests at a reception at the home of Dr. and Mrs. E. V. Neal, aunt and uncle of the bride.

The first night of the honeymoon was spent at the Statler Hotel. The remainder of the honeymoon was spent at the "Rue-Bea" Rancho in Perris, California, country home of Mr. and Mrs. Rueben A. Taylor.

The bride and groom are at home at 5166 West 21st Street.

KERRY JACKSON and HAL MILLER

Summer activity really got under way this weekend with club activities taking the spotlight. The quiet, (are we kidding) intimate types were staged for club members and their personal friends. As an example. . .

The TWEEDSMEN affair was quieted only after the intervention of the local gendarmes. These roustabouts as they have proven in the past recognize no limitations in the field of "Letting one's hair down" . . . "Lottsa folks" go for their style (don't look at us like that, we mean it) and here's why . . . They realize that having a swell time doesn't mean dancing like fiends all night, in fact at their socials you might be drawn into a mass conversation bordering on the intellect.

If you don't believe they party ask folks like Al Glover, Mack Anderson, Joyce Smith, Irma Berry, Cairo Collins, Suzy Moore, H. Howard Morehead, Stan and Ruby Robertson, Jack Thompson or Harold Maehum.

LET YO' HEAD LOOSE

. . . And they did . . . WE unsuspectingly dropped in on the club function (can't remember the name of that organization) pitched at the home of Dorothy Everett and it was grand . . . They too made with the good times rolling which resulted in some people leaving slightly less than surefooted . . . Guests included Faye Taylor, Joel and Ozzie Mitchell, Tom Jordan, Ella Mae Budroe, Billy Everett, C. L. Hicks, Jim and Jewell Taylor and the lovely Jeanne Turner.

NAMES IN THE NEWS

Another one was pitched at the Omega House by the Delta gals for prominent member Danellen Maberry . . . Didn't make it but heard from Kathy Purdue (Miss Sweetness of '54) that the set was out in full force . . .

Larry Stone, the guy with the voice that won't be soon forgotten . . . is anxiously awaiting the return of his better half from Oklahoma . . . Gotta cool now girls . . .

You must catch the sultry vocal stylings of the sweet and lovely Anna Marie appearing at La Mandalin on the strip . . .

Ro Ka Wis are planning one . . . If you haven't received your ducat collar one of the clubsters and demand to pay for that ticket to party with the best . . .

Young Urban Leaguers were well represented at the League's "Night In Brazil" thrown at the L.A. Breakfast Club . . . WE cast special looks at "purties" Ethel Outlaw and Bev Pickett (Pardon us Bruce . . . That's her fiance) 'cause they were looking like Trojans . . . A crazy affair.

Dimples Harris is pulling the crowds in at her stand at the Central Ave. finest, the Down Beat . . .

Social setters are waiting for the dance given in honor of Mrs. Cornelia Bradford's daughter, Anne . . . Should be a social highlight . . .

If you are like us (heaven forbid) a midnight snack is a necessity after weekend devil raising . . . a place where you'll see many of your friends is MY LADY'S INN at 3114 Raymond when it's later than you think.

WE had more than a great time at the opening of the newest nitery on the westside . . . It's "YOUR ROOM" located on Jefferson and Western . . . And they have T.V.

Deltas are concluding last minute plans for their dance on the eighteenth . . . we could easily be wrong on the date . . .

North's extraordinary two no-trump bid was the key bid, made, he said later, because he had an out. (Clubs.) South decided that if North could bid two no-trump, he could certainly bid three, although he later said he thought it was one or two tricks off.

Singleton Fell

South analyzed North's hand as holding at least five clubs and probably no heart stopper. But as we said, North was having fun and South decided to go along.

East opened a low heart which West took with the king. West returned a low heart to dummy's ace.

The ace of clubs was now led and down fell West's singleton queen. North then played five club tricks, discarding two spades from dummy. West discarded one diamond, one spade and two hearts.

Turned Out Well

North led the nine of diamonds and played the ace. Dummy returned a diamond, dropping West's queen under North's king. North then made two more diamond tricks and the ace of spades a total of five no-trump. If the North hand had been dummy, West would have discarded a diamnod, and South would have had to finesse ,or better yet, just play for a safe three no-trump.

We certainly don't recommend this type of bidding, but every now and then it turns out well.

Classes are held each Tuesday at the YWCA. The time is 7:30 p.m. and the public is invited.

(Note: Last week's column was cut because of editorial requirements. We will go over that hand again at a later date because we feel it exemplifies an important field of bridge.)

Sojourner Industrial Club Plans Anniversary

The Sojourner Truth Industrial Club held its May meeting at Harvard House, where all discussions and plans centered around the Golden Anniversary celebration which will be observed this year. The slogan, "50 in 54," together with the Anniversary song, stimulate interest in the plans.

The first of a series of events scheduled for Summer and Fall will be a Subscription Dinner to be held at the Cosmopolitan Hotel, July 11.

Reservations may be made through any member of Sojourner Truth Club, or its president, Mrs. Jayne W. Holmes, RE-8961, or the General Chairman, Mrs. Gertrude Hicks, or Dr. Vada Somerville, RE 6683.

Other members of the Subscription Appraisal Committee are: Mesdames Gertrude Hicks, General Chairman, Maude Rosemond, Betty Hill, Mary Williams, Irene Forsythe, Mary L. Johnson, Bessie Osborne, Ethel Bruington, Margaret Scott, Gussie Bacon, and Rev. Eula Smith. Collaborating with the General Committee is the Keynote Committee with Mrs. M. Rosemond Johnson as chairman.

The Annual Membership meeting will be held at Harvard House, Monday at 1:00 o'clock.

Bass Family Enjoys Meet With Twelve

In recognition of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bass, of Topeka, Kansas, who are spending their two weeks' vacation visiting relatives and friends in Los Angeles, twelve members of the Bass Clan were dinner guests of Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, widow of the late Joseph B. Bass, last Friday evening.

In spite of the late season for turkey, the guests enjoyed a turkey dinner with all the trimmings.

The evening was spent reminiscing, reviewing the changes and happenings of the past 40 years for the older members of the group since they first came West, and bringing the younger members up to date on the history and background of their predecessors.

It was a happy occasion for Nazimova Bircher, 6020½ South Main Street; Oda Bass Austin, 6020½ South Main Street; Maria Isaacs, 4319 Woodlawn Avenue; Geneva Bass Daniel, principal of one of the Los Angeles city schools, 2139 Wellington Road; Beulah Bass, 820 East 25th Street; Odelee Sanders, 820 East 25th Street; Dora Bass Gamble, 1912 Cotner Avenue, West Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bass, 814 North Harrison, Topeka, Kansas; and Mr. and Mrs. Wilson J. Sellers, 1912 Cotner Avenue, West Los Angeles.

Arabic Craft Shown During Breakfast Sun.

The American Women Voluntary Service League held a highly successful mid-day breakfast in the Sojourner Truth home last Sunday. Highlighting the affair was the art and craft exhibited by Albertina Robinson who collected the rare items while spending two years in Beirut, Lebanon, with her husband. The collection included costumes of The Holy Land, Arabiv Coffee Pot, Hobble Boble (Water smoking pipe), Djezzine Service Wear, Mosaic Cigarette Box, Arabic jewelry, and even ladies shoes. The display and exhibit was explained in detail by Mrs. Robinson, who while in Lebanon taught in the public schools and became very familiar with the pattern of life and customs of the community.

AMERICAN WOMEN'S VOLUNTARY SERVICE LEAGUE and their friends enjoy a rare and unique pleasure viewing a collection of Arabic crafts. Mmes. Dorothy McGee, Albertina Robinson, owner of the collection; C. W. Kellogg, State Board Member of the League; Mrs. Gertrude Ward and Mrs. Ruth Barbee Wilson, Chairman of the South East Branch of the League, are delighted with the display.

Janez Lawson, Ted. Bordeaux Plan August 29th Wedding

Silhouetts Plans Outing

Members of the Kappa Mother's club have been invited to a picnic to be held at Crystal Springs Number Two in Griffith Park on Sunday (June 20). The hours are twelve till five. Food service at two. Food baskets will be combined in a generous spread for all. Games are planned for the children and all Kappa families are invited to participate. For further information call Mrs. Bradley at AX 4-5543 or Mrs. Beck at RE 0440. The baseball field is reserved for the hours of twelve till two for the game lovers and after th efood service croquet and others less strenuous activities are planned.

Mrs. Bernice Stout Lawson of 346 E. 62nd St., has announced the engagement of her daughter, Janez Yvonne, to Theodore Austin Bordeaux, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Bordeaux Smith and the late Samuel Bordeaux of St. Louis.

Miss Lawson is the daughter of Hiliard Lewis Lawson of Santa Monica and the granddaughter of Mrs. Mary E. Stout of Santa Monica and Mrs. Mollie Lawson of Pasadena.

The prospective bride attended U.C.L.A., is a member of the Deta Sigma Theta Sorority and is currently empoyed as a Senior Computor by California Institute of Technoogy. Bordeaux is a Junior at Los Angeles State College. The young couple plan an August 29 wedding.

All roads will lead to the YWCA-Wooglawn Branch on Friday (June 11).

Study Club Set Date for Affair Jacks, Jills Banquet

The Ida B. Wells Unit of the Women's Political Study Club held its last meeting at the home of Mrs. Augusta Baskerville, 1570 W. 29th Street. The president, Mrs. Jeanette Lewis presented the Executive Secretary-Emeritus, Mrs. Betty Hill, who made an interesting talk. Invitations were distributed to the Annual Tea to be held June 20, at 2644 Hillcrest Drive from 3 to 7 p.m.

Next meeting will be held June 14th at the home of Mrs. Leona Wheatley, 1363 W. 36th Street. Final plans for the Tea will be made and a full attendance of members is urged.

Las Primeras Club Holds Annual Social

Members of the Las Primeras club met at the home of Gertrude Dixon for the group's annual social. Honored guests included Fannie Gardner, George and Murphy Dixion.

Members on the sick list are: Lillian Tyler and Pauline Garmon.

Those attending the social were: President Jennie Woods, Dorothy Williams, Virgie Gardner, Doris Taylor, Thelma Pendergrass, Pauline Salters, Lillian Holly and Florine Johnson.

Fremont Class Enjoys Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Paul James hosted an after prom breakfast for their daughter Pauline James and members of the winter '55 graduating class of Fremont High school last Saturday at their home.

Their young daughter, Pauline, is an honor student and president of the Girls' League of the high school. Co-hosting the affair was Irene Dame, sister of Mrs. James and Louella Williams. This was one of the many events sponsored by the parents.

Thespians Breathlessly Awaiting Cinema Assignment

By Chazz "Soundtrack" Crawford

The whole town's talking about the Jones gal . . . and because of the widespread interest in showbusiness circles about the "Carmen Jones" flicker, we shall attempt to keep up a running account of the movie lot gossip to do with this all-Negro film to be screened in handsome technicolor and fabulous Cinemascope . . . if you're "planted" we'll dig you sooner or later!

Madame Sul Te Wan, our old time great in cinema circles, has landed the part of Hagar, the fortune teller who predicts Carmen's untimely end! . . . Walter Smith has a dancing role.

Smitty was a torso twister in "Mississippi Gambler" . . . Charity Thomas and Juanita Cruise (of the Bronze Mannequins) have been mentioned for roles of a chorine and a prostitute! . . .

VERSATILE

The Husky Miller role is the most sought after. The juicy plum of a role calls for a good looking heavyweight who isn't too stocky. The boxer part lists Ike Jones on the inside track with Archie Savage, Jos Adams, and possibly Woody Strode also in the running. However, Strode is busy with Warner's "Silver Chalice" and could be contented with his lot . . .

LEADS VIRTUALLY SET

James Edwards is exercising his histrionic finesse with an assist to Dot Dandridge on acting chores. Of course you already know that luscious Dorothy has the title role . . . Jimmie is first in line for the "Sgt. Brown" part . . . Nick Stewart, Scat Man Crothers, and Victor Hugo Green are all trying for the comedy roles of "Rum" and "Dink" made famous by Buck and Bubbles in the stage fare . . . There's a rumor that soprano Dolores Piper and mezzo soprano Zena Ayo may have locked up singing parts! . . . Likewise Lawrence Stone and Martin Deadrick may have come through on tests for male singing roles! . . . Olga James, Pearl Bailey, and Harry Belafonte are already set for lead parts for the film that's ready to roll any paragraph . . . Joel Fluellen looks like a sure thing for placement!

A local daily says that all told 700 Negro actors will be needed, so if you're a new find looking for a break, this may be your "big moment" . . . It seems that Dandridge beat out Mauri Lynn, Eartha Kitt, and Joyce Bryant for the lead, but Miss Lynn may still get some sort of screen credit with her sultry voice . . .

There's a story making the rounds about the gal who auditioned for the powers that be and in the middle of her song-stuff departed from the set to change into an operatic costume. She then finished her song. They liked the miss tremendously. Then she asked whether or not the part was

Betty Martina To Dance Sunday At Wilfandel Club

Betty Martina, famed Spanish-Morrocan danseuse and dancing instructor, will give an interpretive Morrocan dance number from the Blackmoor suite during the interesting presentation of operatic themes by the National Council of colored Women at the Wilfondel Club, Sunday from 4 until 7 p.m.

Miss Martina will be the guest star of Mrs. Nell Plant, general chairman of the day. She will also present one of her pupils, April McWiggins in a suite from Mikade, an oriental operatic number.

Earl Bostic Scores At Savoy Ballroom In Stellar Opening

Excitement ran high over the weekend as hundreds of dance devotees crowded their way into the new and beautiful Savoy Ballroom, 77th and Central avenue. The 6000 square feet of dance floor was packed and jammed with dancers as they swayed to the dulcet music of Earl Bostic's orchestra.

Julius "Stuff" Crouch, genial host and manager, said the band set a house record of nearly 4000 persons in the three weekend nights. This Friday, Saturday and Sunday night will feature continuous music of two bands.

Ethiopia Colorfilm At Wilshire Ebell Theatre Fri., June 18

Emperor Haile Selassie and his famous Palace of Lions are featured in "Ethiopia," new adventure color travelogue, which Frederic Christian will show and narrate at the Wilshire Ebell Theatre Friday evening only, June 18, direct from New York and Chicago triumphs. The Emperor arrives here June 16, on his first American tour, and has been invited as guest of honor for this performance.

Photographed in collaboration with Emperor Selassie, "Ethiopia" has achieved European acclaim since it won the travelogue award at the recent Cannes Film Festival.

In addition to scenes in Addis Ababa, it introduces a jungle safari with thrilling wild animal closeups, the fabulous Blue Nile, Somali camel caravans, the ancient city of Harar, Coptic priests, Ambara fire dancers, Seventh Day Adventists' processions, Galla incentary swingers, Abyssinian hairdos, an ostrich parade, street acrboats, and the Royal Orchestra.

"102" Beauties To Spike Parade At Jazz Cavalcade

Included among special features this year in the 10th annual Cavalcade of Jazz at Wrigley Field, June 20th, will be a parade of all nation's bathing beauties, vieing for the title, "Miss Cavalcade of Jazz," plus the presentation of the five finalists of the "Miss Brew 102" contest.

Supplying music for the outdoor event will be three of America's foremost exponents of jazz, swing and mamba Count Basie, Louis Jordan and Perez Prado. A host of specialty acts will also be preesnted, giving patrons a full afternoon of pleasure.

Leon N. Hefflin, producer of the show announced this week June 15th as deadline for receiving essays for the first scholarship award. The scholarship will be presented the high school student writing the best essay on, "What Jazz Has Contributed to Race Relation." Additional details may be obtained at the H. and H. Enterprise office, 343 South San Pedro Street, MU. 5565.

Writing Talent Greatly Needed For Every Field

"There is a waiting opportunity for writing talent," says Wendell Corey, the celebrated stage, television, and motion picture star.

In a statement this week, Corey pointed out the need for fresh writing talent in all entertainment media, and he feels writers can fill that need.

"Writers can write honest drama involving people of all races and their viewpoints will be fresher and more original than most of the material now being produced," he said.

As a member of the board of directors of the newly-formed Bill Walker Productions Company, Corey feels that through this kind of organization talent will have a great deal of opportunity for proper development.

Another purpose to be served by the writer is to fill the creative gap between undesirable "stereotype roles" and heavy "race problem" or "message type" characterizations.

He further stated that the theatre is a great place to defeat prejudice, and that many people are unaware that they have prejudices. A good drama, skillfully written, can correct their thinking without "preaching."

There has been a definite lack of "parts" for actors within the last few years. Corey feels that writers and producers are shying away from such roles to guard against offending those who resent stereotyped roles.

Santa Monicans Attend Special Women's Affairs

Mrs. Blanche Carter, wife of W. P. Carter, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, Santa Monica's largest edifice, appeared recently and successfully as the principal Women's Day speaker at St. Paul Baptist Church, pastored by Rev. John L. Branham, in Los Angeles.

Other Santa Monicans present were Mr. and Mrs. Cicero Campbell as well as Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Buckman.

Reverend Welford Carter Pays Memorial Tribute To Santa Monica Deceased

Rev. Welford P. Carter, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, 20th and Broadway, inspirational leader of Santa Monica's 10,000 colored citizens for the past fifteen years, took time out from an endless schedule of activity to deliver the invocation on Memorial Day.

At Woodlawn Cemetery, as at the National Military Cemetery in West Los Angeles, and in thousands of cemeteries throughout the country, volleys were fired, taps sounded, and Lincoln's Gettysburg Address recited. Repeated, too, were Commander Logan's historically famous General Orders No. 11, proclaiming the first Memorial Day on May 30, 1868.

Rites at Woodlawn Cemetery began at 11:30 a.m., following a parade that formed at 14th St. and Santa Monica Blvd. and ended at Ocean Park Pier with the tossing of wreaths into the sea in tribute to sailor dead.

Dignitaries Present

At West Los Angeles, the program began at 10 a.m., with Rep. Donald L. Jackson, Los Angeles' Mayor Norris Poulsen, Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz and Dist. Atty. Ernest Roll among the guests. Speaker was Lt. Gen. Ira C. Eaker USAF (Ret).

Speaker at the Woodlawn Cemetery was Robert E. McClure, editor of the Evening Outlook, who paid tribute to the men and women who have given the priceless gift of their lives to the country in many wars.

Heavily Attended

Rabbi Lawrence A. Block of Beth Sholom Temple gave the invocation and the Rev. W. P. Carter of the Calvary Baptist Church gave the benediction. Civic, religious and military organizations joined with the general public to swell attendance to over 100,000 persons.

Santa Monican Noted Graduate Of State College

Esther Guilliotte of 1512 16th St., granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Allen of Santa Monica, California, will be among the many outstanding graduates from Los Angeles State College next week.

Majoring in Music, Miss Guilliotte is already gathering experience through pre-teaching in the Hollywood Elementary School System. She is active in civic and community organizations, directores of music at Calvary Baptist Church in Los Angeles, and a Delta Soror.

Santa Monicans Honor Deceased On Memorial Day

The family of the late Mrs. M. B. Allen gathered at the home of their father at 1945 22nd street, Santa Monica, California. Following a delicious repast, Mr. Allen and his children motored to Woodlawn Cemetery to decorate with beautiful flowers and join in a moment of prayer in memory of the deceased.

Among those present from Los Angeles were Mr. and Mrs. Pinather D Bault, Mr. and Mrs John Riley, Miss Ada M. Lee, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Allen, president of Santa Monica Branch of the N.A.A.C.P. Lloyd Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Gray, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mitchell of Pacoima, California. Other Santa Monicans were Mr. and Mrs. Otta Smith, Mr and Mrs. Dennis Sims. Also present was Mrs. Fernell Moore of New York.

Mrs. W. P. Carter Attends Nashville, Tennessee, Meeting

The National Baptist Women's Board Convention had among its representatives Mrs. W. P. Carter, wife of the pastor of Calvary Baptist Church. The meeting attracted leading ladies from throughout the country in the largest and most significant affair to date. It was successfully conducted in Nashville, Tenn.

Dining Car Waiters Donate Chest Funds

The Consolidated Appeal Project of the Dining Car Employees Union, Local 582, A.F.L. presented the Los Angeles Community Chest with a check for $100 this week.

This project is designed to make union members conscious of their obligations to the legitimate charitable agencies by making regular monthly contributions.

Jefferson Huitt, waiter on the Southern Pacific "Lark," is president of the Consolidated Appeal Project and Mrs. Allene D. Radford, the union's office secretary, is secretary of the group.

The dining car employees hope their contribution to the Community Chest and other charitable agencies will inspire other unions, fraternal and social groups to do likewise. The C.A.P. is less than one year old and these dining car employees have already made donations to the Crippled Children's Society, Urban League and the NAACP.

The C.A.P. was organized by William E. Pollard, general chairman of the Dining Car Employees Unions, Locals 456 and 582.

Jazz Cavalcade At Wrigley Field Sunday, June 20th

Leon N. Hefflin, Sr., president, H and H Enterprise, Inc., this week announced the 10th Annual Cavalcade of Jazz will be held Sunday, June 20th at Wrigley Field.

Participating in the lavish musical production and bathing beauty parade, will be the great bands of Count Basie and Louis Jordan. If negotiations for proper wiring permit, patrons of the event will be treated to organ music featured by Basie.

According to Louis V. Cole and Paul McGee, directors of the annual "Queen of the Cavalcade" beauty parade, efforts are being made to secure Eartha Kitt, international singing star to crown the queen.

County Counsel Backs NAACP On Segregation

The Pasadena Board of Education was told last week that its fancy racial segregation scheme offends state public policy and the guarantees of the 14th Amendment and that it had better mend its ways.

Following the stern warning by County Counsel Harold Kennedy, the Board scheduled a meeting Friday to revise its policies and avert a law suit prepared by the Pasadena NAACP. Filing of the suit was delayed at the request of the County Counsel to give him time to study the problem.

The Pasadena branch of the Association, through Atty. Charles Johnson, charged that racial segregation was effected in Pasadena through the so-called "neutral zones" and "easy transfer system" under which the Board of Education permitted white students to transfer out of districts in which Negro children attended school. Transfers were refused Negro students.

Easy Transfers

Particular attention was centered on the Garfield and Arroyo Seco schools which are in adjoining districts. Under the transfer system white pupils living in the Garfield district were permitted to transfer to the Arroyo school while Negro, Mexican and Oriental pupils were kept in the Garfield district. Arroyo became "a white school."

The result was that Arroyo school became overcrowded while Garfield had vacant class rooms. Last fall the Board pro-

Walter Gordon Charges Fraud; Asks Recount

Charging "fraud" and the existence of a "sinister plot," Atty. Walter L. Gordon Jr. this week demanded an official recount of votes in the 62nd Assembly District.

Gordon claimed that in one precinct alone 86 votes cast for him did not show up on the official tally sheet from which totals were compiled.

The recount could result in a complete upset in the 62nd A.D., forcing a run-off in November between Gordon and Augustus F. Hawkins, as well as uncovering other errors affecting the showing made by Richard Graves, Democratic candidate for governor, and the entire list of candidates.

Won Handily

Hawkins, who has represented the district in the State Assembly for the past 20 years, not only won the Democratic nomination, but also won handily over Gordon in the Republican ballots. Hawkins got 3370 votes from GOPers to 2604 for Gordon, 663 for the Rev. Edgar S. Johnson and 418 for Marque Neal, according to final tabulations.

Gordon told the Eagle that he is prepared to post any sum of money necessary to cover the cost of a recount. "I am primarily interested," he said, "in uncovering what seems to be a sinister plot to exploit colored voters. I believe the majority of workers at the polling booths are honest. But one rotten apple in any polling place is enough to upset the applecart."

Glaring Discrepancy

Gordon asserted that a glar-

Woman Stabbed To Death by Mate

A man who trailed his estranged wife from Alameda to Los Angeles was in custody this week booked on suspicion of murder.

The woman he had followed, Mrs. Beatrice Copeland, 30, was stabbed to death at her home, 1703 E. 123rd street, Willowbrook, about 4 o'clock Saturday morning.

A witness, Mrs. Lula May Tatum, of the same address, called police and met them at the door screaming: "She's dead! She's dead!"

Walked Away

Officers found Mrs. Copeland slumped in a heap next to the wall in the bedroom, face down in a pool of blood. She had been stabbed several times in the breast and stomach with a two-and-one-half inch, narrow blade sheath knife.

Mrs. Tatum and her husband, Ellis Tatum, told officers that O. T. Copeland had killed his wife and had then walked away. They followed in a radio car and spotted the suspect.

When Deputy J. J. Gleason asked him if he had just left the apartment, he said "No," and then reportedly pulled a knife on the officer. Gleason tried to disarm him, but Copeland clung to the knife and assertedly stabbed himself several times during the struggle. Deputy H. Campbell, in an endeavor to get Copeland to release the weapon, reportedly struck him over the wrist with his sap.

Heard Outcry

Mrs. Tatum told officers that she and her husband and some friends were spending the evening together when Copeland and his wife went into the bedroom and closed the door. She heard a faint outcry and went to see what happened.

She said she saw Mrs. Copeland standing against the closet door, blood gushing from her body. Mrs. Copeland then fell alongside the wall.

Others present at the time were Thomas Butler, 11725½ Allen street, Culver City; Felix Phillips, 10146 Pace avenue, Watts; and Lewis Qualls, 1667 E. Florence avenue.

Copeland, who gave his address as 2424 9th street, Apt. A, Alameda, told police his wife left him and he had come here in search of her. He said he found her in the company of a lot of men, that they had been drinking, and that one of the men was making love to her.

He said he called her into the bedroom to talk to her, when she pulled a knife. He claimed she was stabbed in the ensuing struggle.

Police Claim They Shot to Protect Selves

Acting on a tip, narcotics officers last Wednesday night captured a man they said may be one of the top dope peddlers in South Los Angeles — but not before they had pumped his body full of bullets.

There are wide discrepancies in the police account of what happened and the story related to the Eagle by the man's wife, Mrs. Gladys Dillings, 1402½ S. Central avenue, except that both agree Robert Lincoln Dillings was critically wounded.

Children Watched

According to Mrs. Dillings, two policemen broke in the front door of their home and rushed into a small hall leading to the bathroom. Without warning, she said, one of the officers sank to a kneeling position and fired repeatedly at her husband as she and her four small children looked on,

HEAVEN IN COURT—Father Divine's Santa Monica heaven's case against its former president, Purity Love, opened in court here this week. Father is shown with Happy Word, present head of the local church, when Father was last in Los Angeles.

Home Owners War On Housing Project

Charging that placement of "worn out war housing" in the vicinity of 120th and Wadsworth streets will lower property values and "put slums in our backyards," residents of the neighborhood Saturday met and mapped plans for an all-out fight to halt construction of two housing projects.

Angry residents of the Blodgett, Bellvue and adjoining tracts formed the Home Protective League of South Los Angeles at the Saturday meeting at Bellvue Community church and engaged the services of Attorneys Loren Miller, Edward Maddox and Samuel Sheats to assist them in their fight. Oscar A. Long, building contractor, heads the organization.

The housing being moved to the area is so-called "temporary housing" formerly located in Jordan Downs Public Housing project. It was built during World War II and was sold recently by governmental agencies in keeping with laws enacted at the time of its construction.

Barracks Type

The housing consists of 24 buildings of the barracks type, each containing four dwelling units with very small rooms. One development, located east of Wadsworth and south of 120th street, is being located by the Rogers Sales company and the other, west of Wadsworth street, is being located by the Janis Investment company.

"We're going to fight this battle with every means in our power," Long said. "We have been given the run-around long enough and we plan to take every possible legal action to halt this move to ruin our community."

Residents of the neighborhood described a long series of disappointments in their efforts to forestall location of the housing in the community. They said that they were told by City Planning officials that the land on which the projects are located had been re-zoned for multiple residential use some six years ago but said that none of them had received any notice of such re-zoning.

Others said that they were told by the developers that "there is nothing you can do about it." The Janis company brushed off protests with the statement that "we're going to rent" the buildings and "that's all there is to it. We know all about the NAACP but that doesn't matter."

Father Stands Helpless As Car Kills Youngster

Three-year-old Joseph Williams Jr., of 9524 S. Central avenue, was struck by an automobile and killed instantly Monday evening as his distraught father looked on, helpless.

The small youngster was playing alongside his father's car, parked in the alley at the rear of the home. In a sudden dash, the little fellow darted across the alley directly into the path of an oncoming car.

He was struck by an auto driven by Luevorin Hendrix, 26, of 9446 S. Hooper avenue. Hendrix was not held.

Liked Property, Not Souls, Says 'Purity Love'

By KERRY JACKSON

"He was interested in my property and not my soul," Purity Love, deposed leader of Father Divine's Santa Monica heaven, told the Eagle in an exclusive interview during the course of her trial here Tuesday.

Purity Love, whose worldly name is Mrs. Irene Prattis, is charged with embezzling $115,000 of church funds. She took the stand, however, and swore under oath that the money went directly to Father Divine's main heaven in Philadelphia.

Expect Hot Testimony

Sensational testimony regarding the private life and financial transactions of the man known to his ecstatic and devoted followers as "God" was expected to be exploded during the course of the trial.

Mrs. Carol Hunt, a white woman, former secretary of Father Divine, has reportedly been subpoenaed as a surprise witness. Informed sources said her testimony will be sizzling. She was being kept "under wraps" and had not yet appeared in court at press time.

In her interview with the Eagle, Purity Love said "It was in 1949 when I first realized that Father Divine was not sincere in his promises to make life here a heaven on earth." In fact, she continued, almost the entire congregation was insincere when it came to turning over or "surrendering" their worldly possessions to the church.

She said that at first Father Divine was in sympathy with her decision to take over the money and property of the church, and gave this as her reason for having the property transferred to her name during the period 1949 to 1952.

Many Witnesses

Members of the heaven, the Circle Mission church, led by the newly installed president, Miss Happy Word, contend that the money and properties Mrs. Prattis took for her own belonged to the group and were raised through individual donations and "surrenders."

They say further that Father Divine never gave Purity Love authority to put the church funds in her name and that letters she wrote to "Father" will prove conclusively that she is not telling the truth. David Welts, attorney for the church group, recently returned to Los Angeles after having secured letters allegedly written by Mrs. Prattis to the man known as "God."

The case went to trial Monday before Judge William J. Palmer. The prosecution reportedly expected to place on the stand some 50 to 75 witnesses.

The discord in heaven reached the courts when members of the church accused Pur-

Bob Robinson Dies Suddenly Of Heart Attack

Robert (Bob) Robinson, a former Portland, Ore. football player, one of the northwest's outstanding athletes during the late '20s and later a University of Oregon star, died of a heart attack at his home, 2203 West blvd., over the weekend.

Robinson won undying fame on the gridiron when an opposing player dashed off the bench to tackle him while he was on a touchdown jaunt. Ripley heralded the incident in his Believe It Or Not column.

The former athlete and World War II veteran was alone in the house and in bed at the time of his death. Doctors estimated he had passed away Saturday morning, and from the peaceful expression on his face believed he had died quietly in his sleep without suffering pain.

He was discovered Monday morning by Mrs. Reuben Taylor, when she and her husband returned from a weekend at their ranch home.

Robinson for the past several months has been a patient at the Veterans Hospital in Sawtelle, but generally came home on weekend passes. Doctors said his death was expected since he had an 80 percent heart disability.

Forty-seven at the time of his death, Robinson leaves his mother, Mrs. Daisy Wilson, of Stockton. Funeral services are to be held Friday at 9 a.m. at the Veterans' Cemetery Chapel.

Supreme Court to Review Rape Case

WASHINGTON—The United States Supreme Court this week agreed to review the case of Jeremiah Reeves Jr., 17-year-old Alabama youth sentenced to die in the electric chair for the alleged rape of a white woman.

Young Reeves has maintained his innocence, and has insisted that he was subjected to intense third degree methods, including constant questioning in a room which contained an electric chair, and that a false confession was wrung from him by police. He said he was told that unless he confessed, he would be electrocuted.

He also claims that the all-white jury was hand-picked by the jury commissioners, and that one member of the jury was the chief of the Montgomery Reserve Police Force whose express purpose is the tracking down of "alleged Negro rapists."

Reeves was arrested Nov. 10, 1952, on the complaint of a woman who claimed she had been attacked by an unknown assailant some four months before.

The NAACP has handled the case for the young Montgomery youth.

At the trial which began Nov. 26, 1953, the judge ordered the court cleared with the exception of witnesses and court officials. A motion by Reeves' attorney for a public trial was denied. A motion attacking the method of jury selection was also denied. A further motion for a mistrial was also denied.

Baltimore to Drop Separate Schools in Sept.

BALTIMORE—The Baltimore School Board last week voted unanimously to open the city's schools on a non-segregated basis when classes start in September.

Catholic schools in the Baltimore Archdiocese likewise have announced they will voluntarily abide by the Supreme Court decision outlawing segregation in education.

The State of Maryland, by contrast, is refusing to take any action until the Supreme Court makes a formal ruling in October.

groes whose contributions have had a profound influence on the culture of the western world. Speaking at Howard University before approximately 12,000, he said, "It is a curious fact if we reflect upon it for a moment, that Africa has always exerted its influence and brought to bear its contribution to the West.

"It is certain that the United States of America would not have reached today its present world stature were it not in part, for the enormous labours of Africans whose great descendants are here represented on this occasion," he said.

Elks Staging Kick-off for Convention

With genial Sammy Warren at the helm as committee chairman, a gigantic and spectacular log-rolling convention kick-off, will be centered in the handsome recreation rooms of Pacific Coast Elks Lodge, 2515 W. Washington blvd., Sunday, June 20 from 12 noon until every person gets tired.

The affair, the last before the important Pacific States Association of Improved Benevolent Protective Order of Elks of the World convenes at Sacramento, June 24-27, is expected to draw the largest and most continuous herd of Bills and Daughter Elks and their many friends of the year.

Sammy Warren, in his office as Special Deputy of Southern California, has arranged an interesting program chock filled with top entertainment personages. In addition there will be special drill exhibitions under the direction of Brigadier General Lipscomb with the Antlered Guard.

Bro. Warren stated, "those who have made plans to attend the baseball game, honoring Elks Day at Hollywood Gilmore Park field with band and marching units, may do so and still have plenty time to enjoy themselves at Pacific Coast Lodge."

Store Close to Synagogue Liquor License Protested

Proximity to a Jewish synagogue reportedly is the reason given for a protest against the issuing of a liquor license to Henry C. Raymond, who operates a store at 4800 W. Adams blvd., and who has applied to the Board of Equalization for authority to add bottled liquor to his stock.

posed to add facilities to Arroyo and the NAACP countered with the threat of a suit on the ground that the segregation policy was responsible for overcrowding Arroyo while Garfield facilities were unused. Garfield was attended almost exclusively by "non-whites."

Neutral Zones

Under the "neutral zone" plan, districts in which large numbers of Negroes lived were declared "neutral" and parents were given the opportunity to send their children to any school in the city.

The NAACP filed a lengthy brief with the county counsel in which it pointed to state and federal supreme court decisions holding that neither states nor school boards may "aid or encourage" racial segregation.

Subsequently, Attys. Neusom and Johnson took the depositions of members of the Board and wrung from them the admission that they had permitted transfer of white students solely on the excuse that parents wanted them to attend a "white school." Among lawyers aiding in preparation of the brief were Attorneys Johnson, Neusom, Herbert Simmons, Edward Maddox, Samuel C. Sheats and Loren Miller.

Voluntary Acton

In his advice to the Pasadena Board, the county counsel echoed the sentiments of NAACP lawyers and told officials that "It is clear that the equal protection clause of the 14th Amendment protects individuals against state action that results in racial discrimination."

The recent School Segregation cases and the case involving segregation in public housing were cited to support the contentions. "We believe that voluntary action taken by the Board of Education at this time to render its position less vulnerable from a legal standpoint would be advisable," the opinion stated.

Dr. I. B. English, Pasadena physician, was one of those who were named as plaintiffs in the action taken by the NAACP.

A hearing on the application was held April 7, and a protest lodged at that time was denied. Another protest was made, however, and a re-hearing has been scheduled for July 1.

Raymond told the Eagle that Major Thornton, 3709 West Adams blvd., a plasterer, was active in opposing the granting of the license. Raymond points out that the Venice Liquor company operates a store at 4860 W. Adams, only about 300 feet from the Jewish place of worship, and another store two blocks away. The Synagogue itself does not oppose the license, the Eagle was informed.

Thornton reportedly is not a member of the Temple.

Byron Rumford In Landslide Win In Berkeley Vote

SAN FRANCISCO—Assemblyman William Byron Rumford, of Oakland, won both Democratic and Republican nominations in last Tuesday's elections, thus giving him election for another term in the State Assembly without necessitating a run-off in November.

Rumford, a Democratic, won on the Democratic ticket by a margin of better than eight to one, obtaining 17,635 votes against 1,735 for his opponent, Atty. John Adams Jr. of Berkeley. In the Republican race, Adams, a Republican, received 2,591 votes against 4,104 for Rumford, giving Rumford almost a two to one lead on the Republican ticket.

ing discrepancy existed in reports in precinct No. 838, at 1422 E. 22nd street, and that another error appeared in reports of precinct No. 837. There are 222 precincts in the 62nd District.

He claimed that the distribution sheet posted outside the booth showed 270 votes, whereas the talley sheet sent to the Registrar of Voters, Benjamin S. Hite, recorded only 185 votes. In the 837th precinct, he said the distribution showed 129 votes, the official talley only 117.

Gordon further stated that it seemed strange, indeed, that only one predominantly Negro precinct in the 62nd District gave Graves the edge over Gov. Knight, whereas information from up north showed that there Graves carried all the colored precincts.

Atty. Gordon wrote to Hite Saturday asking for the investigation. He has been informed that such a probe cannot be started until after the official count of the ballots, which is expected about July 1. At that time the recount can be instituted.

Fired Officer Gets Hearing in Santa Monica

SANTA MONICA—A public hearing is scheduled here today, Thursday, before the Santa Monica City Personnel Board over the dismissal of Hayward Jernigan from the police force.

In protesting the discharge, the local NAACP branch asserted the action was an "expression of racial prejudice."

Jernigan, one of the two Negro policemen on the force, was dismissed by Police Chief H. W. Hutchinson on the grounds that he left his beat on March 31 without obtaining permission from superior officers.

The former policeman stated that he was in severe pain at the time due to an abscessed tooth and that he had arranged for a fellow-officer to telephone headquarters.

The Personnel Board upheld Chief Hutchinson's action.

David Sokol, Jernigan's attorney, asked a review of the case. He claimed the board erred in refusing to hear character witnesses, and protested that he had not been given an opportunity to cross-examine witnesses on "rumors and alleged information."

terror-stricken. The oldest child is eight years old.

Mrs. Dillings claimed her husband was unarmed.

Narcotics officers P. R. Brooks and D. E. Bowser, however, reported that as they entered the front door Dillings grabbed up a pistol and a tobacco pouch and fled toward a bathroom window.

The pouch reportedly contained two ounces of pure heroin. Fourteen ounces more were said to have been found behind one of the bricks in the patio. The heroin was estimated to be worth $32,000 at retail price.

Started Shooting

Mrs. Dillings said: "The kids and I were looking at TV. My husband had come in from the kitchen, and said he was going to the bathroom.

"Then I heard a loud crash and the officers ran in and started shooting.

"He didn't have a pistol. There was one in the house, but he didn't have it. They found it later when they searched the place.

'Not in Hall'

"He couldn't have seen them coming," she went on. "He wasn't in the hall.

"They said they found the pouch under him when he fell. But I saw it on the table later and it didn't have any blood on it."

After the shooting, Dillings was taken by ambulance to General Hospital in critical condition, with bullet wounds in the abdomen and left leg. He was booked on suspicion of possession of narcotics.

Dillings was arrested in 1953 along with his brother, Richard Lee Dillings. Richard Dillings was sent up to the honor farm at Castaic for a year on a dope conviction. Robert Dillings was held for nearly three weeks and then released.

VINCE M. TOWNSEND

Atty. Townsend Elected Head of Ben Bowie Post

Atty. Vince Monroe Townsend Jr. was elected commander of the Benjamin J. Bowie Post, No. 228 of the American Legion at last week's meeting of the organization.

Other officers elected were John T. Johnson, first vice commander; Richard Howard, second vice commander; Chester Lewis, judge advocate; Hilman Haywood, finance officer, Henry Hutchins, chaplain; and Earl E. Elam, sergeant-at-arms.

Atty. Townsend, World War II veteran, is grand regional director of civil liberties of the Elks, and chief rabban of Egyptian Temple No. 5 of the Shriners. Immediately following his election, he announced an eight-point program for the post for the coming year.

This program includes plans for increasing the membership of the post, obtaining financial support, improving the post's building and other facilities, and re-creating the post band and marching unit.

Santa Monica NAACP to Hear Eagle Publisher

SANTA MONICA—The local branch of the NAACP will hear Atty. Loren Miller, publisher of the California Eagle, at its regular meeting tonight, Thursday, at the Masonic Temple, 18th street and Broadway, at 8 p.m.

Miller will discuss recent developments in the outlawing of segregation in public housing and public schools.

Special seats are being reserved for the past officers of the branch.

investigated by the new organization is the question of whether or not the buildings can be made to comply with present building codes. Building contractors present said that the housing is below present standards because of the temporary nature of the housing when it was built.

The buildings were designed to last ten years and were built more than ten years ago. The developers are making alterations and repairs in plumbing and electrical fixtures. As presently located the barracks-type houses are placed in rows with four dwelling units in a line in each row of houses.

Other officers of the Protective League are Mrs. Le Etta Brown, vice president; Mrs. Mary M. Carter, secretary and Mrs. Thelma White, treasurer. The Rev. Epps is chaplain. Homes in the neighborhood are presently valued at from $9500 to $14,000. All have been built in the past 15 years.

Annual NAACP Award Goes to Chicago M. D.

NEW YORK — The Spingarn Medal, presented annually by the NAACP to a Negro American for distinguished achievement, has been awarded this year to Dr. Theodore K. Lawless, noted Chicago dermatologist.

The medal will be presented to Dr. Lawless at the 45th annual convention of the NAACP in Dallas, June 29-July 4. The Chicago scientist will be the 39th recipient of the medal which was instituted in 1914 by the late J. E. Spingarn, then chairman of the Board of Directors of the NAACP. The award, a gold medal, was established to recognize and reward "distinguished merit and achievement among American Negroes" and to stimulate "the ambition of colored youth."

A member of such professional societies as the American Medical Association and the International Congress of Dermatology, Dr. Lawless is a diplomate of the American Board of Dermatology and Syphilology, a consultant of the United States Chemical Warfare Board, and a teacher of his specialty at the Medical School of Northwestern University. He has contributed extensively to the leading journals of dermatology in America and abroad.

Dr. Lawless was graduated from Talladega College in Alabama and from the Medical School of Northwestern University. He did graduate work in skin diseases and syphilology at the Vanderbilt clinic of Columbia University; the Massachussetts General Hospital, Boston; the St. Louis Hospital in Paris; the Kaiser Joseph Hospital in Vienna; and at other clinics and institutes in Germany, Switzerland and elsewhere.

In addition to his scientific achievements, Dr. Lawless is a successful businessman, an active churchman, a philanthropist, a member of the board of trustees of four southern colleges, and a member of the advisory board of directors of the Chicago Civil Liberties Committee.

Among previous recipients of the Spingarn Medal are Marian Anderson, Judge William H. Hastie, Thurgood Marshall, Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, Walter White, the late Dr. Louis T. Wright, A. Philip Randolph, Dr. Channing H. Tobias, Paul R. Williams and Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune.

Farley McKinney has an outstanding school record with high ratings in mathematics, physics, chemistry and languages, and is a graduate of Manual Arts High School. His character and integrity references are exceptionally good.

Georgians Give Legal Cover to White Gangs

ATLANTA — Georgians this week were busy perfecting plans to put terror gangs on an organized basis as a move to prevent the integration of Negroes in the State's schools.

An organization for the "advancement" and "protection" of white people, which has been in the talking stage for some time, has now been incorporated. Papers signed by Judge Chester A. Byers of the Superior Court give a 20-year lease on life to "The National Association for the Advancement and Protection of the Majority of the White People, Inc."

The incorporation papers state the purpose of the organization is to defend any legal action brought to destroy any civil rights, the traditions of the Southern white people of segregation and to promote the welfare and association of the white race.

Nev. Hotel Bias Brings Suit Threat

A Pacoima singer who won a free trip to Las Vegas with a promised stay at the famed Flamingo Hotel got the trip but the hotel "couldn't find" her reservations. The hotel faces suit for the discriminatoion.

The singer is Mrs. Shirley Mae Carter of 13217 Fielding street who won the trip on a contest on TV Station 9's "Your Town's Talent."

Mrs. Carter wired the hotel for reservations in accordance with contest rules but when she arrived in Las Vegas last Sunday she was told that the hotel had no record of her reservation. She was offered accommodation at an unfinished motel but declined.

After consultation with the Las Vegas branch of the NAACP, Mrs. Carter said she would file suit. The Eagle learned that the hotel has offered a settlement.

Negroes Buy Radio Station

HOUSTON—The Federal Communications Commission in Washington, D. C., has just announced its approval of the sale of the entire capital stock of Tri-Cities Broadcasting Company, operator of Radio Station KREL, Bayton, Texas to J. B. Blayton, Sr. and associates of Atlanta, Ga.

KREL thus becomes the second radio station in the United States to be owned by Negroes. Blayton and his associates also own Radio Station WERD in Atlanta.

Dixiecrats Plan to Sabotage High Court

RICHMOND—Led by Herman Talmadge, officials of 12 southern states met here last Thursday in a hush-hush conference to lay plans to circumvent the Supreme Court decision ordering the end of segregation in public schools.

Just what they decided was cloaked in mystery as no reporters were admitted and no statements were issued after the meeting.

Carefully "leaked" information was given out to the effect that Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina, Mississippi, Louisiana, Florida, Texas, Alabama, Arkansas, Tennessee, Virginia and Oklahoma had decided against compliance.

West Virginia, Maryland and Kentucky, although attending the conference, went on record with the assertion that they were fully capable of adjusting their problems in conformity with the Supreme Court decision.

Gov. Thos. B. Stanley of Virginia, conference chairman and authorized spokesman for the participants, stressed that, while the twelve states expressed a "uniformity of attitude" against voluntary compliance, there was no common agreement on what course of action should be taken to enable these states to solve their individual problems.

The conference also disclosed that there was no uniform plan among the Southern states at this time to accept the Supreme Court's invitation to have the Attorneys General of the states participate in arguments on methods in October.

It was stated that a number of the state representatives were in agreement with Gov. Herman Talmadge of Georgia that it might not be to their advantage to take part in the implementation arguments.

'Boycott' Is Denied

It was emphasized that this should not be regarded as a "boycott" of the implementation arguments, but rather that it resulted "from the fact that some just feel there is no reason at this time to direct our thinking along that line."

As a result of the divergent views on the implementation argument it was suggested that the Attorneys General of the fifteen states hold a meeting soon "to discuss the situation in more detail from the legal viewpoint." No specific date was agreed on.

It also was stated that the meeting of the Attorneys General would explore further the possible avenues that could be pursued in each state that wanted to circumvent compliance.

Gunmen Nip Savoy Cafe For $500

Two nonchalant young men entered the Savoy Cafe, 1702 E. 103rd street, shortly after it opened Thursday morning, whipped out guns, bound up the bartender and made off with some $500.

Doris Cotten, waitress, found bartender Leonard Maunder tied up in knots when she reported for duty. Maunder told police the men entered the cafe and went to the rear where they asked if the kitchen was open.

Henry Feltenberg, former police officer and owner of the cafe, estimated the "take" for the hold-up pair at half a grand.

Pasadena Must Change

The County Counsel is to be congratulated for the sound advice he gave to the Pasadena Board of Education urging it to abandon its support of racial segregation in its public schools. The advice he gave was based on a brief filed with him by the NAACP.

In effect, the Board was told that it had better cease its left handed support to Jim Crow or face the fact that it will be a sure fire loser in a suit planned by the NAACP.

Under a snide plan in effect for many years, the Pasadena Board has encouraged segregation in public schools through the device of creating neutral zones and through an easy transfer system — easy for whites, that is.

Areas in which a large number of Negroes lived were declared "neutral zones" with children free to transfer to any school in the city. That gave the white children the chance to avoid attending the school nearest their homes and paved the way for making those schools "Negro" schools.

Under the transfer system, Pasadena parents in many cases frankly told the Board that they wanted their children transferred so that their children wouldn't have to go to schools attended by Negro pupils. The Board actually approved many transfers on such grounds!

The most aggravated case was that of Garfield school located in a mixed neighborhood. Nearly all of the white pupils in that area were permitted to transfer to the adjoining Arroyo Seco district with the result that Garfield became a "Negro" school while Arroyo became a "white" school.

Because of the transfers Arroyo became overcrowded while Garfield had vacant class rooms. And then the Board had the effrontery to plan to build an addition to Arroyo while Garfield was partially empty.

To its everlasting credit, the Pasadena NAACP finally got fed up with the antics of the Board and laid plans to file suit. When the Board appealed to the County Counsel for a ruling he told it the facts of life after reading an excellent brief filed by the NAACP.

We hope that Board will heed the excellent advice it has received and that a suit can be averted. Meanwhile we extend our congratulations to the Pasadena NAACP and its attorney-president, Charles Johnson, for a good job well done. They have struck a stout blow for democracy.

Negroes Still Democrats

The June 8 primary election confirmed the fact that the hearts of the Negro voters belong to the Democrats, all things else being equal.

By and large the Democratic can'idates got the ballots of Negroes v the simple fact of printing Dem. fter their names. Where there were wo unknowns Negroes solved the roblem by voting for the Democrats.

The glaring exception was in the e of Governor Goodwin Knight, ublican incumbent, who scraped ough with a majority of Negro votes over Richard Graves. The primary reason for that switch was the fact that Knight was known because of his many years in public office and the complementary fact that Graves was an absolute unknown.

The Graves campaign was so badly conducted among Negroes that the average voter in this community never even heard his name. He was puzzled when he saw "Graves" on the ballot. The Knight campaign was filled with attractive bally-hoo and pitched on specious promises that had little content once the wind was let out of them.

On his part, Graves was forthright and honest and based his campaign on a platform and a set of promises that would have won him votes if his top level managers had ever let Negroes in on the secret that he was running. William Pollard, who conducted the Graves campaign in the community, certainly did his best but the handicap of the top brass was too much for him.

Graves still has an opportunity of getting the bulk of the Negro votes but that chance depends on a thorough going change in his campaign methods.

Negro voters on the other hand knew Samuel Yorty, the senatorial aspirant, and Edward Roybal, the candidate for lieutenant governor, and they responded by casting their ballots for both.

There are some 600,000 Negroes in California. Their votes may be decisive in the event of a close contest. Doubtless both parties will bid for those votes. The Democrats have the edge but, as Knight proved, that advantage can easily be thrown away.

We Want Representation

The primary victories for Rayfield Lundy in the 55th assembly district and Lucius Lomax in the 63rd district were team triumphs. In each instance the nomination was won because Negroes want representation in government and voted that way. They're no longer satisfied with having one seat from Southern Calif.

The importance of the desire for representation is underscored by the fact that Lundy is a Republican and Lomax a Democrat. In each instance, the candidate got bi-partisan support from Negroes who thumbed their noses at party directives and disregarded pleas for party regularity.

There is a sound basis for this desire for representation. All of the fine and fancy words in the world can't wash away the fact that neither the Democrats nor the Republicans are ready to select Negro candidates on the basis of merit and ability. The only time a Negro gets a party nod is when the party — whether the GOP or the Democrats — is bludgeoned into accepting a Negro in a district where the Negro vote is decisive.

We're a little puzzled at the CIO for being so blind to this fact. In both the 55th and the 63rd districts the CIO refused endorsements to the Negro candidates and even blackjacked certain weak-kneed Negro union officials into accepting its dictates.

The truth of the matter is that the Lomax and Lundy platforms are identical to all intents and purposes and that each of them coincides with the oft proclaimed purposes and aims of liberal and labor leaders. We don't see how labor and liberal spokesmen can weasel out of supporting both.

What we do know is that if Negro voters continue to stick together they will get enough help from other fair minded voters to win.

Who Is To Blame?

Dixiecrat big-wigs who met in Richmond last week to plot ways and means to circumvent the School Segregation decision blamed their plight on the Democrats.

It was those Old Debbils Roosevelt and Truman who are at the bottom of the whole mess, they complained. They pointed out that the Supreme Court that undid them was a Roosevelt-Truman court with five Roosevelt appointees, three Truman appointees and only one Eisenhower appointee: Chief Justice Warren.

There is merit in the view and it must have come as something of a shock to Republicans who have been claiming the decision as a Republican triumph on the basis of the fact that the Chief Justice authored the opinion. The GOP is planning to cadge for votes among Negroes in the north on the claim that it deserves credit. The GOP may fool Negro voters but it hasn't hornswoggled the Dixiecrats who see, correctly, that a Democratic court scotched their Jim Crow racket.

One Man's Opinion

By LEON STEWARD

A FATHER FOR FATHER'S DAY

The weak of heart may take courage. Young people of little faith may take courage from the man whom we choose to honor as our hero for this father's day.

He learned early the disadvantage of having a stepmother as he was growing up. However he made up his mind that he would get an education, the best available, and he did it.

Leon Steward

He had no clothes to boast about even when he was ready for college. The young folks of his day tried to impress upon him the need for tailord attire, but he was too eager for education to hear them.

He got a job during the summer before leaving home for New Orleans University. After arriving at the college he had only eight dollars left.

Counted Money

Undaunted, he went into the school president's office and asked to see the president. When the president entered, our hero put eight one dollar bills on his desk and declared: "Here are my eight dollars. I wish to attend your college for the next eight months."

The president admired his courage and offered him the job of cleaning his office, scrubbing the halls, scrubbing the dining hall floor, setting the tables for some 250 young people and cleaning up after they left.

Offered Presidency

Although he had not yet gotten the clothes he needed his college, after graduation, chose him to represent it in seeking new pupils for the school. At his first stop, he addressed a church and on the next day was offered the presidency of a small college.

He took it and before very long his attire was according to good taste. Besides his executive functions he taught penmanship. After about a year our hero was made president of a larger school. Having prepared himself for the ministry, he gave this up after a year to accept what became the start of 43 years as a pastor.

Earlier, even while he was president of the first school, the Rev. R. A. Davis met and married a charming young lady and the family of three children were added to their lives and joys as the years passed.

Rev. Davis' pastorates carried him to the largest churches in Alabama, his home state, Texas and Louisianna and he was successful at each stop during those 43 years. At one time his church, the Methodist Church, elected Rev. Davis as its representative at the general conference of the A.M.E. demonination, to bear fraternal greetings, which was indeed a testimony to their high regard for his services and character.

Retirement in California

After retiring as a minister Rev. Davis moved to Los Angeles and bought a home. The ministers of the various faiths keep him busy preaching and teaching young pastors. The great joys of the Davises, however, are the visits paid them by their children. Miss Mamie Davis is a national secretary of the YWCA. Her sister Carrie is teacher and the wife of the principal of the school in which she teaches and their brother, Herchell, has an excellent position in St. Louis. Miss Davis, Carrie and Hershell visit their parents each summer bringing the grandchildren and their mates with them.

The Davis home is at 4127 S. Harvard and when he is not busy otherwise Rev. Davis takes care of his grass and flowers. He is quite fond of flowers and his neighbors are fond of him and the way he keeps his place looking, but they do not know how tender and kind he is to his wife, who is ill. No, they do not know how tenderly he administers to her every need.

So you see how carefully we have chosen our father for this Father's Day. He is one who takes pride in himself, his work, his children and in their mother, his wife.

Battleaxe and Bread

By Lester B. Granger

Any organization, whether it is civic, business or professional, moves ahead under the steam of staff spirit. The agency executive is fortunate when he finds his staff as a whole unit sincerely devoted to the agency's objectives. When, however, his administrative and secretarial staff members not only show their devotion and industry in working hours, but also take their personal time to carry the program still farther, that executive is not merely fortunate — he is truly blessed.

Lester Granger

Labor of Love

For the past few days I've been congratulating myself on my "state of blessedness" in the wake of the Secretarial Clinic held at Sarah Lawrence College in Bronxville, New York, on Saturday, June 5. The clinic was conceived and managed by the administrative and clerical staff members of the National Urban League — more formally, the National Office unit of the Urban League's Administrative and Clerical Council.

If there ever was a labor of love, this was it. Those 17 young women worked before and after office hours, and on weekends, to set up their second annual one-day institute on a scale which left the tongues of admiring observers literally hanging out with amazement over the smoothness and professional finish of the council's operation.

There were 148 men and women — mostly women, of course—who attended the institute. Some of them were secretarial workers looking for self-improvement and advancement; others were students in training. Still others attended as speakers and consultants bringing to the institute sessions their wealth of years of experience and distinguished performance.

Significant

The Secretarial Clinic had a significance far deeper than even the industry and devotion of its sponsors. It was another sign of progress recorded by colored women and men in the secretarial field. For it would have been hard a dozen years ago to find in greater New York City a large enough group of interested persons to comprise even a much smaller institute of this kind.

The truth was that there were not many colored secretarial workers with enough confidence in their own career prospects to be willing to take a treasured Saturday off for sitting down and talking together about improving their skills and expanding their career horizon.

Important Jobs

This deeper significance was also evident in the kind of jobs that the institute members came from. One represented a printing company, another a well-known publisher; still a third came from the United Nations' secretarial staff.

A leading cigarette manufacturing company, several law offices, federal, state and municipal agencies, social welfare organizations, research corporations, business houses and radio chains—these were others of the employers whose secretaries took time off to find answers to their question: What is my goal in the secretarial field?

It wasn't long ago—just a few years, in fact—when the average colored young woman looking for secretarial work would have been happy to find employment of any sort behind a desk and typewriter. Today, our young women are not so easily satisfied.

A Career

They are looking beyond the first job to find out which way they are headed, and others are sharing in their interest. For instance, the addition of the fashion show provided by Miss Barbara Watson and her beautiful models was more than a charming interlude; it was also recognition that the Secretarial Clinic was news-worthy. So, also, the filming of the day's events by American Newsreel.

What made me proud of the whole affair was not only the role of our Urban League staff members, but also the effect of the institute in stimulating ambition and social awareness among young women who see secretarial work as a career, instead of a pre-marriage stopgap. Something new has been added to the thinking of American Negro womanhood. My hat is off to those 148 institute members—men and women, both—who took time off last Saturday to think about their personal and racial future.

And God bless the ACC of the National Urban League!

Pure and Simple

By L. F. Palmer Jr.

Guess you just have to hit some people over the head with an H-bomb to get them to realize that you don't take war lightly. Sure, the U. S. has never had a battle in its back yard. Sure, we are always the conquering heroes (don't count Korea, that was a police action). So we're the greatest!

Well, look at it any way you want to, but unless Americans pull in their chests, put their ego in the closet and stop being so doggoned sure of themselves, we're going to be in one heck of a bad shape in case somebody across the water decides to hit us one below the belt.

Take that nationwide air-raid test Monday.

Takes A Peek

I peeked out of the window to see what was going on, to see if people were going to act like they want to keep on living. What I saw reminded me of a sign I saw in a gas station:

"No Smoking! Your life might not be worth anything to you. But this gas is to us."

For months, Civil Defense workers across the nation have been sweating out some kind of way to defend our cities against atomic atttacks. Every time a new A or H test was made, their plans blew right up with the bomb.

But finally, after days and nights of sweat and toil, they decided they were ready to try out some of their techniques. No less a person than Ike Eisenhower alerted the nation Monday that mythical enemy planes were on their way to blast 49 U.S. cities.

Sirens Wail

Citizens had been bombared with instructions and anybody whose life was worth anything to him knew what he was supposed to do when the sirens wailed their warning.

Most people did like they were told. But the blockheads kept driving their cars until squad cars halted them. Others kept walking down the streets oblivious or indifferent to the significance of what was going on.

One group of youths I could see from my window just kept on playing ball.

Even though airlines, railroads, bus companies and the giants of industry found the situation serious enough to stop all operations for the ten minute period, some knuckleheads were too important to practice up on saving their own hides.

Serious Business

Knowing that people are the same all over, I figure the tests were marred all over the nation by these egg heads anxious to shake hands with St. Peter.

This is serious business. If you don't believe me, sit in on a planning group from the Civil Defense Unit. Which ain't a bad idea. Look in your phone book and call up CD to see how you can help.

If you recognized how awesome an atomic attack could be you'd walk a mile to join up.

Loren Miller says . . .

Sherman Adams' hint that President Eisenhower may not run in 1956 unless he gets a Republican Congress this fall points up the facts that the GOP is getting ready to play for keeps come November.

LOREN MILLER

The Republicans know that they can't get a Republican Congress unless they can make inroads on the Negro vote in the large cities and states. They have their eyes on New York, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Ohio, California and the border states where the Negro voters hold a certain balance of power. By throwing their weight around Negro voters can decide whether Congress is going to be bossed by the Republican or the Democrats in the next two years.

The shape of the Republican campaign to get the Negro vote is pretty plainly marked right now.

The GOP is going to claim credit for every advance in civil rights that has been made since 1952.

Primarily that claim will center around Supreme Court decisions in the District of Columbia civil rights cases, the School Segregation decision and two decisions in the field of housing.

The fact that Chief Justice Earl Warren authored the School Segregation decision will be trumpeted far and wide.

The fact that Attorney General Herbert Brownell appeared as a friend of the court in the School Segregation and District of Columbia cases will be bandied about wherever two or three of the Republican faithful gather together.

Just to keep the record straight I think some facts should be noted here and now.

1. The Supreme Court which handed down the District of Columbia decision was composed entirely of Democratic appointees. Five of them—Justices Jackson, Frankfurter, Douglas, Black and Reed were Roosevelt appointees. Four of them—Chief Justices Vinson and Justices Minton, Burton and Clark were Truman appointees.

2. Eight of the nine justices who delivered the District of Columbia decision were Democrats. Burton was the only exception and he was named by a Democratic president.

3. The same Justices were on the Court when it handed down the 1953 housing decision holding that courts can't entertain damage suits for sale of race restricted property to Negroes.

4. The Supreme Court which handed down the School Segregation decision contained only one Eisenhower appointee—Chief Justice Warren. The other eight, as noted above, were Roosevelt or Truman appointees. The decision was unanimous.

5. The Supreme Court which let the California decision stand holding that racial segregation in public housing violates the Constitution was the same court which handed down the School decision.

6. In both the School Cases and the District of Columbia Case Democratic attorneys general first wrote briefs urging the end of racial segregation. Brownell simply followed a policy first set by Tom Clark (now a Supreme Court justice) in the Race Restriction cases. (I know, I was there.)

7. Brownell DID NOT file a brief in either of the housing cases, although he was urged to do so in the 1953 cases. (I know that too because I was chief counsel in both cases.)

I just thought you ought to have these facts in mind when the political winds start blowing. I thought I ought to set them down now because it is hard to get a hearing in the midst of political talk and double talk. And that's what we're in for.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Mr. Miller:

I am taking this opportunity to extend, belatedly, my congratulations for your editorial on the Supreme Court Segregation decision, which appeared in the May 20 issue of the California Eagle. I have followed the point of view of the paper on this question for about three years now, and I have been consistently impressed with the objectivity and rationality of your point of view. The May 20 editorial, I believe, sums up eloquently all of the salient considerations in this issue which is so fundamental to the strength of our American Democracy.

May I express also my keen interest and sincere congratulations for the consistently fair and unprejudiced reporting and editorial expression, which the California Eagle has exhibited under your leadership. I am especially happy to be able to say this in view of the fact that I apparently view things occasionally from the opposite side of the political fence than you do.

My sincerest best wishes for the continued success of the California Eagle and to you in your personal leadership of the Negro community of Los Angeles.

IRA DeA REID

Relations June 28 when the Institute convenes in Whittier.

"A Quaker Approach to Contemporary Problems" is the theme for the 20th annual Institute. It will be held at Whittier College, June 28-July 5. The adult institute will include Elmore Jackson, member of the Quaker Team at the United Nations, Kenneth Boulding, author and Professor of Economics, University of Michigan, and Dr. Reid.

The Institutes are non-profit and are open to all interested persons. Facilities for the whole family will be available. Further program information may be had by addressing the American Friends Service Committee, Box 966-M, Pasadena 20.

Pilgrim Singers On Way Home

Enroute back to California after a four months triumphant cross-country tour, the famed Pilgrim Travelers will headline a mammoth Song festival in Oakland Baseball Park on July 11. They will be backed by a thousand voice choir composed of local church choirs.

Several other name gospel groups will also appear on the program. A crowd of more than 10,000 persons is expected to pack the park for the event.

The 'Travelers' are also booked for concerts in cities throughout California, Oregon, Arizona and Nevada.

While on tour in the east and south, the group drew throngs of upwards of 7,500 persons to New Oreleans, Houston and Oklahoma City. The Pilgrim Travelers are under the direction of J. W. Alexander.

Church

WILL SING ORATORIO—The Los Angeles Federation of Church Choirs will present the Hollywood Presbyterian Choir in "The Ordering of Moses," a composition of the late Nathaniel Dett, one of the world's most outstanding Negro Composers, Sunday afternoon, (June 27), at 3:30 p.m. at Second Baptist Church, 24th and Griffith Avenue. The choir, with Charles Hirt, Professor of Religious Music at U.S.C., as director, has 65 voices and four soloists. They have appeared with the Philharmonic Orchestra, and sung at the Hollywood Bowl, and Forest Lawn Memorial Park on Easter Sunrise Services.

'Men for Christ' Men's Day Topic At Ward Chapel

Final plans have been completed for the annual observance of Men's Day at Ward A.M.E. church this coming Sunday, June 20. Theme for the day is "Men for Christ."

The pastor Dr. Fred E. Stephens announces that O. V. Little and I. S. Stewart are chairman and co-chairman for the day. At the morning worship service Dr. L. S. Odom pastor of Parks Chapel Berkeley will be the speaker. The chairmen have selected various men of the church to conduct the entire service supported by a male chorus of 25 voices with J. B. Patterson directing and Dr. Reginald Fisher at the organ. Willis Bragg of Walker Temple A.M.E. church will be guest soloist.

The men will close out their day in the evening at 7:30 with a special musical program.

Forum Slated For Mens Day

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Find Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name Preparation H.® The price is only 98¢ a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember—if not entirely satisfied—your money will be refunded promptly. ®Trade Mark.

Eagle Pool Gives Charles Even Break

Prying Pye

By Brad Pye, Jr.

PYE PICKS CHARLES—DON'T ASK ME WHY

Ezzard Charles—who becomes the third man in history to get a second shot at winning back the heavyweight title—when he climbs in the ring tonight against title bearer—Rocky Marciano—in New York's Yankee stadium, has picked up a lot of "if" supporters among former greats of the fight frat and veteran ringside reporters, in the last ten days.

Virtually all of Charles' boosters, who are giving him that one chance out of a million, have qualified their prognostications with the various "ifs"—such as the following—if the bout goes the distance, if he stays away from Marciano, if Charles duplicates his showing against Coley Wallace and Bob Straffied he has a chance, etc., etc., etc.

Prying Pye doesn't claim to be an expert on the sport, nor does he claim to have a scientific analytical mind, quite the contrary. . . . Don't ask why, but ever since the bout was signed, this scribe, for some unknown reason, has leaned toward the Charles man.

The night after Charles fought Wallace in San Francisco (please note Herb Caen, we didn't say 'Frisco) he was S. Sgt. Hiner Thomas' guest at the SF Marines' Boxing Smoker. . . . It was our honor, as a Special Services aid, to escort Charles and his man (Friday) trainer—Jimmy Brown—from their Market street hotel to the Marine base, on Harrison St.

In talking with the former champion for nearly three hours, we got an inside view of his burning desire to become the first man in history to regain the crown.

IT ISN'T ENOUGH TO BE SINCERE—

This unassuming 32-year-old father of two girls, as he describes them "wonderful little girls," as far as we're concerned wasn't the most impressive title bearer during his reign. . . . However, Charles'll be sincere in his bid tonight for fisticuff's immortality. . . . We've read somewhere along the line that it isn't enough to be sincere, you also have to be right. . . . Will Ezzard Charles be right against Champion Rocky Marciano?

Prying Pye thinks he'll be. . . . Don't ask me why.

PYE'S PICKUPS—

Roland Yonkers, the Alpha basketballer, will pickup his masters at L.A. State tomorrow.

The people in Tulare are declaring they've another Bob Mathias (of a different hue) in the making in Freddie Tucker, who during his sophomore year has already erased one of the former's track marks and more than matched his gridiron feats.

Young Tucker is approximately five-ten and a 175-pound 16-year-old. He was Tulare High's top scorer as a 9th grader and the past season he moved from half to quarterback where he held down the top spot. . . . He's a .400 batter on the baseball team and reputed to be one of the best cagers on the campus.

Now hear this, he's planning to go to college. . . . He's a personal friend of Lewis "Hustler" Williams, a star blocking back for Red Sanders at UCLA in '52-53.

Local Man Wins in Irish Sweepstakes

Edwin Oliver's horse didn't leave the post in the recent Irish Sweepstakes race, but he isn't mad!

Oliver, who resides at 992 East 46th street, has been informed that he'll be the recipient of 100 pounds ($386.00) simply because his pony's number—LP3604—was pulled.

HOLLYWOOD'S STAR PITCHER—Lino Dinoso and Mel Queen sign the menu of the Hollywood Boosters Club breakfast for Father Peter J. Conroy, who conducts the Rosary Hour every night over KFWB. Monty Basgall, Hollywood second baseman (right), Carlos Bernier, Stars outfielder who was suspended indefinitely this week for his part in the free for all at Wrigley Field vs. the Angels Sunday, and Mrs. George Poole, Booster Club Prexy, look on. The entire group will be on hand Sunday, June 20, for the Elks Day at Gilmore Field.

Jeff, Jordan Baseballers Named On All-Star Squads

Watt's Ace Cops All-City Honors

Ellis Burton—Jordan High's classy shortstop's—steller play won him "Player of the Year" laurels on the all-Marine nine and a first string berth on the all-city baseball squad, announced this week.

Burton's hustling first baseman mate, Sterling Forbes, landed the first team berth on the all-league crew. He batted a respectable .318.

Burton, who was the backbone of the Bulldog's nine all season, blasted the ball for a juicy .500 average at the plate.

The Jordan mentor—Norman Forster—describes his prize pupil as the "best shortstop I've seen in high school baseball."

BASEBALL BANTER

"It's time America! . . . It's time for the Cleveland Injuns to do their annual fold up. . . . However, if Injuns like Larry Doby can continue to come through, as the former did against the Chicago White Sox with a base-loaded single Saturday, who knows it maybe an Injun and Dodger Series after all.

Here in the Pacific Coast loop the big news is centered around the upcoming All-Star game slated for the Home of the Hollywood Stars Gilmore Field—Monday night.

Jeff Places Four On All-Loop Nine

One of Coach Ray Wheba's Jefferson High regulars won a starting berth on the 1954 all-Southern league baseball team and three others were named on the second squad.

Hustling Hilton Buggs, a second baseman, was the lone Demo on the first squad and First-baseman Thomas Gaines, third-baseman Chester Mitchell, and an outfielder David Butler were the other Jefferson boys who were honored.

These four athletes were instrumental in Jefferson fine showing in the recent Dorsey Tourney—which is the city-playoffs of baseball. Wheba's boys reached the semi-finals, placing fourth in the final standing.

Challenger Subject to Prove That Champions Able to Repeat

There has been so much interest generated for the world championship battle betwen defending monarch Rocky Marciano and erstwhile king of the heavyweight division — Ezzard Charles—tonight in New York that the Eagle's sports staff has taken the time to solicit the views of the following local fight fans, officials and guessers.

As you will discover, Charles has a lot of moral supporters among the people interviewed, but their loot is on the champion Rocky Marciano. (See Prying for his prediction.)

According to the experts their money is on the right man. At this writing Marciano is a 7-5 pick over Charles.

Booker T. Jackson—local sportsman—"It's my guess, if Marciano doesn't stop Charles before the ninth round, we may have another champ."

Frank Slater—the city's top sportsman—I predict Marciano will take Charles in the ninth. However, if it goes the distance I'll have to go along with Charles on points.

Lewis "Hustler" Williams—ex-UCLA grid star—"I have only seen Marciano once. And what I've seen of Charles, I don't believe it takes much to whip him."

Brice Taylor—Jeff High instructor—I like Marciano because of his youth. And then he can hit harder than Charles."

Norman Houston—State athletic boxing commissioner—"I think that Charles has an even chance."

Johnny Hart—Arizona's lightweight champ who was the victim of a home town decision against Buddy Evatt at the Olympic Monday night.—"I pick Charles. Charles'll out box Marciano, he's too smart."

Clarence Coleman—clerk—"I like Charles all the way."

Edward Mooton — sportsman—"I like Charles because he has kept himself busy fighting top competition. Rocky has a solid punch, but I feel that experience will win out over the big punch."

Charlie Manley, Compton resident—I think Marciano will beat the aging Charles, but I don't think he'll knock him out."

John Thomas, State boxing referee—"I've got to stick with the champ. I think Charles has been around too long. Marciano is my man by a KO."

Renteria vs. Trigo In Olympic Bout

Manny Renteria, the kid with the kayo clout, shoots for his fourth straight knockout at the expense of Mario Trigo at the Olympic auditorium Monday night.

Whether he'll hit the bull's-eye, however, is a moot question. Very moot indeed for Trigo has vastly more experience, and his southpaw style is expected to bother Manny plenty.

Renteria has had 13 fights, won 12, 7 by knockout, five by decision. His only defeat was at the hands of Rudy Jordan—a southpaw—early in his career.

Grads Envision Brighter Tomorrow

MORRIS D. HAMPTON received the bachelor of science degree Saturday, June 12th from the University of Southern California. He was in the School of Commerce and majored in advertising. He also received the highest award of the SC chapter of Alpha Delta Sigma, national professional advertising fraternity, "The Outstanding Service Key." He has been an active member for two years and was publisher-editor of the chapter's publication, AD-Venture.

PICTURED IS Barbara, charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Myron Thomas, owners of "Thomas Motel," as she is being congratulated by her escort, James Jones, upon receiving her diploma from Catholic Girls' High School. Barbara will soon leave for Nashville, where she will enroll at Fisk University.

DIANE WATSON, Los Angeles City College graduate was a winner of the Wilfandel scholarship. She attends Los Angeles State College and her major is Education.

CARMEN PAULA ELLSWORTH, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ellsworth, graduated from Los Angeles High School on Friday with the summer class of '54. She has been active in the Y-Teen Club, The Aquellians, and is a candidate for the honor society, a member of the church of the Advent, Episcopal. Carmen will enter UCLA in the fall, majoring in languages.

Eagle Honors 1954 Graduates For Their School Acheivements

As is its custom, the Eagle has selected the city's outstanding Parochial, high school and college graduates to honor for their scholastic attainments and leadership qualities in their schools.

The eight graduates selected do not by any means exhaust the list of Los Angeles students who have won honors at their school and who deserve credit for their work and attainments.

Space does not permit the listi..g of all of the students at the various schools and colleges who were recommended to us for inclusion on the page.

There is a significance about this year's graduating class because it finishes school in the year of the Supreme Court decision ordering the end of racial segregation in public schools. Los Angeles students, of course, are the products of integrated schools but Jim Crow education in the South cast a pall over the entife educational system everywhere. These graduates will have a chance to help create a brave new world in which neither race nor color will be a factor.

Behind the achievements of these graduates lie the sacrifice of mothers and fathers and relatives who encouraged them and helped them during their school days, and gave them the inspiration that made them leaders in their classes and their schools.

And just as it has in the past, the Broadway Federal Savings and Loan Association extended its aid to the Eagle in planning the salute to the graduates and in furnishing some of the cost entailed in its production. The Broadway Federal Savings and Loan Association, 4329 S. Broadway, is headed by Dr. H. Claude Hudson as president and Richard R. Wright, III as the manager. Both of them, for the eighth important semester, took a special interest in the honor paid to the graduates and were of invaluable assistance.

The Eagle salutes these Leaders of Tomorrow, secure in the belief that their careers will be as marked and outstanding as were their scholastic years.

RODNEY PIERCE, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Ovid Pierce, owner of Pierce Super Market, graduated from Holy Name School at Cimarron and Jefferson. He will enter St. John Vianney High school at Third and Detroit Sts. Rodney entertained his class, friends and relatives at a Sunday afternoon yard party at his parents home.

WANDA K. HARRIS, among the many graduates this year from the University of Southern California. Because of her high scholastic average, Miss Harris was awarded a scholarship each year by the University. She completed all college work in three and a half years and is now working towards a master's degree and school psychologist credential.

MISS ESTHER WILLENE GUILLIOTTE, of Santa Monica, 1954 oratorical contest winner of the Western Baptist State Convention, received her BA degree in Music from Los Angeles State College. Directress of Music at Calvary Baptist Church in Los Angeles, she did her practice teaching in the elementary schools in Hollywood. She is affiliated with many civic and school activities in Santa Monica and Los Angeles and is a member of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority.

BARBARA WEAVER—Vivacious, petite daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Weaver. Barbara recently graduated from Catholic Girls High School where she not only was an honor student but had the distinction of winning the "Achievement Award in Home Economics" from the Bank of America. She is a member of Senior Control Board, past president of the Anchorettes and a charter member of Jack and Jill.

Record Crowd To View Show At Florentine

One of Los Angeles' top charity clubs, The Doll League, is ready to open the door to thousands of friends and admirerers with another fine entertainment Sunday, where they will put on a show of shows at Florentine Gardens, 5955 Hollywood Blvd., from 5-10 p.m. A galaxy of top-notch entertainers will be there to keep the interest of all to a high pitch. Sammy Warren will be master of ceremonies. He will introduce such singers as Helen Humes and "Link" Fortson, and dancers Carita Harbert and Anita Echols. Sammy Franklin and his Orchestra will provide the scintillating music.

The talk of the town is the "So-Rong Handicap", but since secrecy is the by-word, only those attending will be given the key. Suffice to say, President Irene Sharp will be leading her teammates in as exciting a "Piece de Resistance" as Los Angeles has ever seen. Assisting her are Chairman Marguerite Chapman, Program Chairman Evelyn Royal, Members Lula Bendy, Gladyce Clark, Charlotte Bruce, Louise Collier, Fay Wagner, Ann Wheeler, Ruth Ball, Fannie Deman, Nellie Brown, Bernice Gilbert, Eulalda Morris, Ethel Pickett, Emma Adams, Thelma and Johnetta Starks, Sylvia Fortson and Sydney Jackson.

What's Cooking?

By Barbara Mounts

This is the season of the year when a change of pace is indicated in all departments of our daily routine. What can we do to make the string bean more than just a string bean in our menu? Variety in food preparation is stimulating to the family appetite and the ease of preparation should make this dish a favorite with you.

To serve 4 use 1 pound fresh beans cut in ¼ inch slices, 1 clove garlic and 1 clove onion minced. Saute in 1 tablespoon bacon or ham drippings or butter until onion and garlic are soft, add 1 tomato cut in small chunks.

Arrange beans on top of tomato and season with salt, pepper. Cover and simmer without stirring for 8 to 10 minutes. Sprinkle with 1 teaspoon finely chopped fresh mint or flaked dry mint, or if you prefer basil use ½ teaspoon.

Beat 1 egg slightly and pour over beans; toss lightly until egg is cooked and blended throughout. ½ cup of canned tomatoes may be used in place of fresh, and frozen French cut beans may be used if cooking time is shortened to 6 to 8 minutes.

Allied Arts League Aids Center Ebony Theater at Annual Affair

The League of Allied Art climaxed its year's program with the presentation of a two hundred dollar donation to Layfayette Center and another six hundred dollar award to the Ebony Showcase Theater at its annual breakfast at Cosmopolitan Hotel Sunday.

The breakfast, which was attended by more than a 150 members and guests, attracted leaders of the city's civic and social clubs.

The award to Layfayette Center represents three years of support for the agency by the League. The Center seeks to provide creative and recreational activities for the youth in its area. Anthony Nunn, the Center's coordinator, described his work as "competing with trouble" as he told of its activities among juveniles.

Mrs. Betty Vaughn, program chairman, called Ebony Showcase Theater "a dream come true" for Nick and Edna Stewart, its founders. She emphasized the fact that the League will seek to enlist active support among other social and civic clubs for the theater in addition to making the financial constribution.

An enjoyable program was provided by a group of proteges of the Theater, including the Silver Tone chorus and Sam Lewis from the cast of Carmen Jones.

Mrs. Dorothy Johnson, founder and president of the League, told of the year's activities. Mrs. Faustine Johnson installed the following officers for the forthcoming year; president, Mrs. Johnson; first vice president, Mrs. Helen Garrott; second vice president, Mrs. Ethelyn Valencia; treasurer, Mrs. Bessie Burke; recording secretary, Mrs. Corona Baumann; financial secretary, Mrs. Monore Levy; parliamentarian, Miss Pauline Slater and board members, Mrs. Ethel Bell and Mrs. Laura Fowler.

POSTAL "32" FORMAL DANCE

On Saturday night when I attended the formal dance given by the Postal 32, I couldn't help recall Postal 32's Dawn Dances of yester-year when the usual gang gathered for their "before" parties and faces like those of Jesse and Myrtle Robinson; Irene and Rudy Manning; Emmett Ashford; Sam Botteler; Jerry and Willie Mingleton; Edith and Lloyd Galloway; Harriette Gillespie; Imogene and Miles Wilson and many more were always in attendance.

'Nuff of nostalgic remembrance and on to Postal "32" of '54 which was decidedly an outstanding success. Seen among the happy throng were: Ollie and Agnes Goodall; Easter and A. B. McNeal; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Mathews; Leon and Virginia Bowles; Dan Brown; Doris and Horace White; Eustace Smith of New York; Betty Alston; Inez and Ferrol Fortier; Mr. and Mrs. Gus Garnishaud; Fred and Geon Ransome; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Johnson; Mrs. Marjorie Brownbill; Hazel Morris and oodles of others.

Hobnail boots and other assorted dancing gear are being greased up in anticipation of a heckuva weekend filled with promising social activities. . . . Many "real" enthusiastic people have even begun exercising, dieting and resting in order to cope with the physical and mental strain of being on haand at these and other "summer-time" MAL-FUNCTIONS.

At the top of the list of recommended Friday eve socials is the RO KA WI "Straw Hat Dance" which'll be chunked at El Sombrero . . . Straw hats pulled down tightly over the eyes is the talk of the creeping circles . . . and also,

Roy Loggins, local barbeque tycoon ,is staying late at the shop (Van Buran and Jefferson) Friday eve in order to accommodate the RO KA WI crowds who want some scoff before making the after parties.

Emenons, Pasadena's top male party group, are gonna "Hoot and Holler" this weekend when they play host to the crowds.

Petite Miss Ann Bradford is the recipient of a coming out party this Sunday . . . and as we said last week, it should be "one."

With Baited Breath they're waiting . . . Charles Davis will prove how hubandish he really is when he throws a "godd-un" (dinner party) for his lovely wife, Estelle, at My Lady's Inn, this Saturday night.

Even we were looking forward to the Delta formal which was called off because of rain . . . or sumpn . . . we hear it's been planned for next month.

WEEKEND MUMBLINGS

We had the privilege of seeing our next Assemblyman in the 63rd district, Lucius Lomax, and his always bitter half. Almena, at Joe Adams Pigalle . . . living it up.

Chris Lawson, young dancer with a soul, has landed a part in the coming Carmen Jones "tal kabout."

Speaking of talk, Joe (Adams that is) landed the singing part of Husky Miller in the Carmen production. . . . Wonder who's doing the singing?

Fast running Mal Whitfield is looking like Chano posa these days . . . not physically of course . . . But Mal's Congo playing is closely related to his 5 mile running ability.

Tha texclusive club is in the news again. . . . It seems that one of the gals who attends SC (we think) is making a nuisance of her self with a former Pasadena playboy . . . seems he doesn't go for her hourly calls . . . Is he a fool.

Val Markus, playgirl extraordinary, was released from the hospital this week and is home "to her friends" . . . Twas a minor operation.

The Social Marques are planning a unique side of the mouth affair come the middle of the hot months.

Moms picture (Kerry's) is lookin at you from the front of this paper . . . All I can say is, "That's my mom" . . . and am I proud.

Larry Winston, the Air Forces answer to captain Video, is back on the scene . . . And anxiously awaiting the return of his "Gal Sal" from Fisk.

Dorothy Everett, the girl voted most likely to cecede . . . from the Union, hosted Whip 'n Saddle club members at their weekly meeting Sunday. They mapped out plans for their forthcoming desert excursion.

Definition of the new drink . . . Dragnet . . . After one drink you don't care about the facts . . . and another dirty thirty.

Mother Receives Masters

Mrs. Vera Jackson is one of those rare women who has shown that she truly believes in the age-old adage "IT'S NEVER TOO LATE."

This week it was announced that this attractive mother of two college-age sons had received her Master's degree in Educational administration and had done so with honors.

Before starting her college education seven years ago, she was known throuhgout the city as a topflight photographer, who had gained prominence in photographic circles as an artist of exceptional ability. Many of her pictures graced the covers and pages of photographic magazines and newspapers.

It was a promising future she gave up when she decided in 1947 that her love for children was greater than the promise of fame and fortune as a photographer.

At present she is teaching in the city school system at Russel Grammar school and when school is out she and her husband, Vernon, are taking a much deserved vacation in Mexico City.

The bidding is a perfect case of passing false information. North's correct bid over one diamond is two clubs. South could bid three clubs. North could bid three hearts and South could now bid three no-trump.

Wrong Bid

South erred in bidding one no-trump as his correct bid is two clubs. This way three no-trump might not ever be reached and it would be North's fault for making the first bad bid.

Some players might defend North's action on the ground that three bids are made at the one level. But this cannot justify the fact that North now never shows his club suit is five cards long. North is also forced to raise his partner's un-rebid diamond suit at the three level with inadequate support in order to show his singleton spade.

Actually this bid shows 4-4-4-1 distribution and might induce South to bid five diamonds or five clubs, either of which is a poor contract.

This week we don't have space enough to show how the hand was played, so we will do that later. Meanwhile we invite our readers to mail in their methods of playing this contract. Two weeks from now we will publish the best solution sent, in plus the name of the sender, and we will print in the same column the way the hand was actually played. We think the actual method was pretty good.

The opening lead is the nine of hearts.

BIXIE CRAWFORD—Returned home this week from a nationwide tour with Count Basie's Crew. Bixie and Basie will headline the tenth annual Cavalcade of Jazz at Wrigley Field, Sunday afternoon.

Bixie Crawford 'Singsensational' Count Basie Feature

Vocaluscious Bixie Crawford was "swinging" home this week after a successful tour of five European countries. Tantalizing Bixie is the femme chirp with the Count Basie aggregation and will appear with the maestro at the annual Cavalcade of Jazz program this Sunday at Wrigley Field.

Although now a tune pan alley temptress, Bixie was formerly a Los Angeles schoolmarm. But the news got around that Miss Crawford was well versed with a lyric and had a way of toying with a song. It was in 1951 that RCA Victor Recording Company discovered her rare talent and contracted her for a long run.

It was on this label that she etched such torrid sides as "My Man' A Devil" and now "Please Let Me Be" and Bixie's recent big sounds include "Maybe Some Rainy Day" and "Never To Cry Again." Scrapple from the Apple has it that these sides are jumping juke fare on the eastern seaboard.

While on the west coast Bixie will guest with her mother Juanita C. Macklin who is executive director of the Exceptional Children's Opportunity School and head teacher of the Holmes Avenue Extended Day Care.

Like her mom, these projects are very close to Bixie's heart. Before joining the Basie band, the canary spent much time and gave splendid service to child care programs.

Hollywood Bowl Concert Affords Operatic Lovers Greatest Musical Thrill

One of the world's foremost symphonic conductors, and two of the greatest modern operatic singers will combine their talents with the top-notch Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra for Hollywood Bowl's inaugural concert July 15, in a program of well-known symphonic and operatic masterpieces.

The concert will feature music of Mendelssohn, Ravel, Reznicek, Verdi, and Puccini. Sir Adrian Boult of Britain will conduct, and soloists will be Soprano Eleanor Steber and Tenor Jan Peerce.

Versatility

The overture to Reznicek's opera "Donna Diana" will open the concert. Sir Adrian then will accompany the singers in the following numbers from Verdi's "La Traviata": Duet "Un di felice" and soprano aria "E strano" and "Sempre libera" from Act 1: scene "Lungi da lei" and tenor aria "De' miei bollenti spiriti" from Act 2. And from Act 3: soprano aria "Addio del passato," duet "Parigi, O cara," scene "Ah, non piu a un tempio" and duet "Ah gran Dio, morir si giovine."

Artistic Renditions

First half of the program will end with Mendelssohn's Symphony in A Major ("Italian"). In the after-intermission, the soloists will sing the following from Puccini's "La Boheme": tenor aria "Che gelida manina," soprano aria "Mi chiamano Mimi" and the duet "O soave fanciulla" from Act 1; and soprano aria "Donde lieta usci" and duet "Addio, dolce svegliare alla mattina" from Act 3.

A performance of Maurice Ravel's stirring "Rhapsodie Espagnole," conducted by Sir Adrian, will close the concert.

Frank Wilson on ABC-TV June 22

NEW YORK — Frank Wilson, who will play an important role in "Fearful Decision" on THE UNITED STATES STEEL HOUR over the ABC-TV Network on Tuesday, June 22, is one of the nation's most distinguished Negro actors.

Wilson will play Chapman, a loyal butler in the household of a wealthy man whose seven-year-old son is kidnapped and who refuses to pay ransom. Ralph Bellamy will star in the drama, with Sam Levene and Meg Mundy.

Stellar Showman

Wilson made his first stage appearance in Harlem and his Broadway debut in 1924 in "All God's Chillun Got Wings." The following year he played both Lem and the title role in "The Emperor Jones." In 1927 he portrayed Porgy in the original Theatre Guild production of "Porgy," a role he subsequently played in London and in a 1929 Broadway revival.

an hour show, the program has proven so popular with listeners and advertisers alike that arrangements were made to increase the program's time.

Bandleader Otis is a "natural" as emcee and does a bang-up job keeping the show moving at a fast clip.

Show originates from the front window of the Red Hut Drive In on Western ave. It serves to attract the bobby sox trade in droves.

The Johnny Otis fan club is an outgrowth of the show's popularity, with more than 1,000 members already signed up.

Rhythm 'n' Blues At New Club Oasis

The Club Oasis Rhythm and Blues Bash goes into the second week at the West Coast jazz mecca, the Club Oasis, Western at 38th, with Scat Man Crothers headlining the bill which includes the new song thrush, Patti Anne, "Rockin' Rico" and Johnny Anderson's band. Current Oasis offering marks one of the liveliest shows the famous spot has presented.

QUIZ PROGRAM . . . What well known businessman is currently "playing" host to his "other" family from South America? While this "playbore's" sassiety wife is clubbing around all over town. . . . Daddy-O is 'working' late to get himself straight with his fine, young 'date.'

RENT FREE . . . When 'clients' become scarce (another Republican influence) her handsome, young 'roomer' (who, incidently, shares her room) is really home free because Mummy-O refuses to be lonely.

MATERNITY MODES . . . Graduation robes are the most welcomed 'garments' for some six not-so-slick-chicks, who majored in 'education' and went all of the way. Even though their 'mistakes' are still in 'escrow' perhaps they are comforted by the fact that at least during their 'daze' of higher learning at least their families were together. "Shakespear" says: "Having a friend merely for pleasure . . . leaves a girl with an experience she will always measure."

MALE MEN . . . Several well known postmen are mixing business with pleasure (same kind as above). While delivering relief checks (what checks aren't) these popular 'paper boys' likewise are 'checking in' with a few feminine friends. Some women formerly thought it was always nice to have to buy ice . . . not knowing it is so much better . . . just to get a letter.

Constance Maxey To Be On KABC 'Women' of Color

Services offered by the Los Angeles County Bureau of Adoptions will be highlighted June 19 when "Man of Color," transcribed program heard each Saturday at 6:30 p.m. over Radio Station KABC, presents Mrs. Constance Maxey, senior social case worker, and Mrs. Bertha Holmes, a boarding home Mother. Mrs. Maxey and Mrs. Holmes, who has cared for some six different children, will discuss the work of the Bureau and give information to persons who would like to participate in this sorely needed community service.

Man, 97 To Be Honored As 'Man of Year'

Members attending morning services at Calvary Baptist Church, 20th and Broadway in Santa Monica, Sunday, June 20, will be fortunate in honoring Thomas L. Shivers, 97 years "young" as the father of the day.

SHIVERS

Shivers is still active in the community and his good vision allows him to read the Bible and the California Eagle during his leisure hours.

He was born in Tennessee in 1857 and at the age of 22 packed his bag and went to Hillsboro, Wisconsin, where he started his profitable farming career which lasted for 67 years. His wife, whom he married soon after his arrival in Hillsboro, is now deceased but his children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren still regard him as head of the family.

The elder Mr. Shivers attributed his longevity to his temperance. He neither smokes nor drinks. When traveling, he prefers flying to any other form of transportation. He says, "If you once travel by plane, you'll always want to fly. I'd rather fly than ride a streetcar."

THE FAMED Pilgrim-Travelers are enroute to Los Angeles following a four-months nation-wide tour. They appear in a welcome home concert at Second Baptist Church on July 7, on the 11th they will be spotlighted at amammoth religious song festival in Oakland Baseball Park.

Duffield Crew Distributing Choice Spirits

Schweppes Quinine Water, recognized the world over as the correct mixer for an authentic Gin-and-Tonic, is now being offered at a new low price by the Duffield Company, recently appointed exclusive distributors for Los Angeles County.

Made by the famous House of Schweppes in London for 160 years, this Quinine Water is universally honored as being the King in its field. It took Schweppes almost a hundred years to bring the flavor and "Schweppervescence" of this distinguished beverage to its present perfection.

Because of Southern California's semi-tropical climate, Duffield predicts that Gin and Tonic, made with Schweppes, will become the most popular long, cooling drink among fashionable people who appreciate and demand only highest quality in their beverages.

Musical Program Set for Calvary

A special musical program will be presented Friday night, (June 18) at the Calvary Baptist Church, 6000 So. Compton Ave. Some of Los Angeles' most outstanding groups and gospel singers will appear. The Calvary Baptist Choir will render special music. The famous Silverstone Gospel singers, Mmes Berry, Edna Moten, Pricilla Kerr, Blake and Mr. Murphy will sing. Madam Mary Collier will sing in her own style and manner. The public is invited. Admission is free. The program begins at 8 p.m. sharp. Rev. Manuel L. Scott is pastor and Miss M. B. Dent is sponsor.

Charles Drew Medical Group Completes Work

The Charles Drew Medical Auxiliary has completed another year of successful activities in the interest of its community. Those activities included civic and educational participation by the entire group and individual members such as Ann Jackson who worked with the Mobile Unit. The group project is an annual bridge tournament for the purpose of sponsoring scholarship of deserving young ladies interested in the field of nursing. The young lady chosen will attend the Los Angeles County Hospital School of Nursing.

Father's Day

Since he is King for only one day yearly, make him feel this regalness by treating Father to dinner at the Fawn Cafe, Western Avenue at 29th Street, on his day, June 20th.

The entire family can pay homage; the home-cooked delicious food will delight him. The right prices will please the person who pays.

the Forum threater's Starlite Room on West Pico. It happens in July!

We viewed "Johnny Guitar" and Joan Crawford reminded us of the old time comic who jumped over cliffs and whatnot but never lost his hat! . . . Here's a rave notice that's somewhat delayed: The Lester Horton dancers rang the bell at the Wilshire Ebell performances. They're electric. Also scored on Red Skelton's TV'er. . . . Leggy Frances Nealey is upsetting ringsiders and backsliders at the Tioga Hotel in Oregon with her leg art and tap dance artistry! . . . and spouse Sammie Chafin is biding his time at Bill Watkins famed rooming house!

Francois Andre, the actor and charm school tutor, scolds us (like a lot of other folks did) about not mentioning his name in the lineup of people who will people the RKO lot for Carmen Jones jobs. . . . We may stage a party for fantastic Josephine Premice for the press and others at her swank Hollywood apartment! . . . The Calypso queen shook hands on the deal the other night at Larry Finley's! . . . Juanita Cruise, the Bronze Manniquin and vocalist with Jeep Smith's group, may need a tonsillectomy! . . . And Lawrence Stone, Jeep's male singer, is awaiting wife and child who arrive on the twenty-eighth. Larry is shopping for an apartment. The troubadour is scheduled to record with Benny Carter's orchestra in the very near future!

Reverend Clarence Cobb is in town again! . . . Donna Jean, who massaged a dance routine with Lon Fontaine and delivered a message with swinging hips will be seen in the Jazz Cavalcade as "Just Donna," a stacked up star who knows her business! . . . Art Pepper will be joined by drummer Max Roach and his quintet at the Tiffany club's jazz jubilee's that romp nightly.

Meanwhile, Buddy Collette and his outfit are still squirming at the Californian with shulie a bop along with some mighty pretty melody. . . . Stuff Crouch's and Mickey Cohen's Savoy emporium has been standing room only since the kick off. The dance palace has 'em dancing on the ceiling. It's in the seventies on Central! . . . And this is thirty!

PEOPLE & PLACES

mont Hotel's Venetian Room June 29, followed by Billy Eckstine Sept. 7, and Dorothy Dandridge Sept. 28.

MACEO BIRCH — Leaves the Louise Jordan band following his June 20 date here. The popular international handshaker has something real big brewing!

CHRISTINE KITTRELL—The hefty blues shouter is toying with the idea of giving up the blues for spirituals!

DR. AND MRS. EARL MEYERS—Noted Fresno medic motored in over the week-end and looked over the city with the equally popular Atty. Morris Johnson and his pretty Mary Alice!

INEZ HENDERSON—Statuesque ex-wife of Dr. Herbert Henderson is being wooed by an ex-newspaperman and a well known public relations man which accounts for the long distance telephone calls to San Francisco!

ELOIS DAVIS — Was gifted a sleek new '54 Deville by her illustrious doctor husband.

LAS VEGAS—Big interest behind the building of Las Vegas' first Negro hotel is fact it is being backed by the looted city fathers with idea of integrating Negroes and remove segregation completely!

BIG HUSH UP—Is being given to that high powered socialite threat of court proceedings involving a pretty UCLA college co-ed and her real estate hubby!

SERIOUS BEEF—A well known lower Central Avenoo operator and ex-night club owner is heading for trouble if he continues to embarrass that highly respected business woman in public. She meant it when she said "Things ain't what they used to be."

BETTORS ROW—Is claiming that Ez. Charles will beat Rocky Marciano tonight (Thursday) at Yankee Stadium.

SONNY WILLIAMS—Ex-featherweight boxer's young 7-year-old son blows and executes on his trumpet like a 20-year-old veteran. Papa plans to switch him to the saxophone!

SOCIETY POKER—Those long-hours games in that plush Westside manor are drawing the attention of the vice-squad. Neighbors claim they are much too noisy!

TONY HILL—Eminent master of the ceramic arts embarks on an extensive South African trip in search of rare crafts!

HAZEL WASHINGTON—Heads for Europe again. Her leather works are sold in most leading stores in the country!

PRANKS BEING—Pulled on Walter Miller and his new bride are said not to be the works of one of his ex-gal friends but of a suitor instead who was given the brush-off!

KLINE WILSON — Who operated the popular Bush Street Guest house during 1947-49 and 50 is now a field representative for the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Co. He's in town on business and hoping to catch up with a few of his old non-paying tenants the likes of Ivan Cannady, Wendell Green, Phil Carter to name a few!

EDWIN BANKS — Localites should remember him for his early works with the Ebony Showcase. He'll leave Oklahoma City for Europe next month!

JAMES PATTON — The real hep boys along Fair Oaks in Pasadena are shouting the praises of the popular barber shop at 103 S. Fair Oaks because they really can turn you on with a wig job!

LAWRENCE SWEETWINE—Had his 55th and Central Avenoo sip-parlor looking like Fillmore Street the other eve. So many of the big wheels from up North dropped by while in town. The joint was leaping!

MEXICAN FROLIC — All the gay blades and dolls are buzzing about the 20th Century Modernettes forthcoming latin hop. One club member will wear an authentic Dolores Del Rio creation!

Veteran Seeks Full Allotment For Service-Caused Sickness

James W. Knox, 63-year-old veteran of World War I, told the Eagle this week he has been having a difficult time since he was dismissed from his job as patrolman at the Cheli Air Force Base in Maywood more than a year ago for medical reasons, after nine and a half years' services.

He was discharged on the grounds of disability and thereafter was given a $63-a-month government pension. Since then he has been trying unsuccessfully to have his allotment increased to the total amount permitted disabled veterans with a service-connected disability.

Knox' efforts to establish his claim took him to the Veterans Administration in Washington, but he could not remain in the capital on his $63 a month income and returned here.

Enforced Furlough

He is now living, somewhat insecurely, at the Soldiers' Home in Sawtelle. He has been given notice that he must leave there for an enforced 60-day furlough because he failed to report for detail work. He protested this action in the Manager's Court and was reportedly told June 10 by R. N. Whitfield, who presided, not to leave the home until he gets a written notification.

Knox said he wants to stay at the home until the Veterans Administration makes a decision on his claim for total disability.

The veteran reports that he fractured his wrist when he fell in a trench at Camp Funston, Kan., Nov. 17, 1918; that it did not knit correctly and was broken open and re-set Feb. 22, 1919, but that he has never been able to use the hand effectively since his discharge from the Army.

He was given vocational training in tailoring for three and one-half years, but he says he could not work at the trade due to a heart ailment. After World War II, he got the patrolman's job at the Cheli Air Base.

Disabled

On Jan. 30, 1953, he was examined by medical officers at the Base and found to be disabled. He later received a letter from H. S. Whittman, chief of the Civilian Personnel Branch of the Civil Service Commission, following another physical examinatioon at the Veteran's Administration, 1031 S. Broadway, stating:

"The Medical officer has rendered the following report concerning your physical condition: 'Hypertensive heart disease, arthritis, service-connected, of long standing. It is my opinion this man is not physically able to carry the full duties of his assignment.'

"In view of the above, you are advised of your right to apply voluntarily for Retirement (Disability). In the event you do not wish to make such application, it is the intent of this office to make such application on your behalf."

Knox, at the time of his discharge, was getting a pension of $23.62 a month. After he asked that his claim be reopened, he says he was placed on a non-service connected pension, and since then has received $63 a month.

His wife, Mrs. Willie Mae Knox, lives with a sister in Memphis, because he says he cannot support her on the money he now receives. Knox stated he has to rent out both houses on the property he owns, 712 E. 81st street, in order to make payments due.

Words of Wisdom

"The next best thing to getting what you like is to like everything you get."
—Waller, Adv. Mgr.

DISILLUSIONED ANGEL—Carol Sweet, former member of Father Divine's secretarial staff, who left "heaven" six years ago to resume worldly life, made a brief appearance in court this week with her three small children. She was ready to testify on behalf of Purity Love.

ACCUSER AND ACCUSED—Miss Happy Word, left, president of Father Divine's Santa Monica "Heaven," brought suit on behalf of the church against deposed leader, Miss Purity Love, right, for $115,000. Judge William J. Palmer was asked to decide whether Purity Love used the money fraudulently. Pictures were taken during lengthy trial at which many Angels testified. (Adams Photos).

A ROSEBUD LOOKS AT GOD—The spirit of Father Divine, whose followers worship him as God, hovered over the church trial here this week. A "Rosebud" pins a posey on Father's lapel.

'Is Jim Crow Legal?' Fire Dept. Asks

Apparently reading the hand-writing on the wall, the Board of Fire Commissioners reversed itself last week and asked City Attorney Roger Arnebergh whether or not its segregation policies "are in violation of the Constitution or any laws of this State or of the United States or any decision of the appellate courts of this State or the United States."

The request came as attorneys for the NAACP were preparing a suit to test the Department's 40 year old Jim Crow practices. Suit had been delayed for six months at the request of Mayor Norris Poulson. The six month's waiting period will expire on July 7.

In a resolution introduced by Leonard Yeamans, an attorney, the Commission set forth that there are 82 uniformed Negro firemen and that all of them are assigned to two stations on Central avenue except one in the supply department and seven others in the fire prevention detail.

Change of Policy

"No Negro firemen are elsewhere assigned in the city and no fireman other than Negroes are assigned to Stations 14 and 30," the resolution recited. The resolution passed unanimously. When the NAACP challenged Department policies last November Yeamans cautioned against asking for an opinion from the city attorney on the ground he feared an unfavorable reply.

Immediately after passage of the resolution, the NAACP through Attorney Loren Miller, wrote to the city attorney pointing out that it had filed a brief with him last December spelling out the illegality of the Department's policies. Attorney Herbert Simmons, chairman of the local NAACP legal committee, said the organization would adopt a "wait-and-see" policy pending the city attorney's decision. He said that the Association would be satisfied with nothing less than "complete abolition of 'all segregation."

The current attack on Department policies was launched last fall at a public hearing in which segregation policies were described in detail to the Commissioners. After various delays, the Board adopted a resolution on Dec. 10 expressing "complete confidence" in the policies of Fire Chief John H. Alderson.

Mayor Poulson then called a

Pioneer Citizen, Spanish War Veteran, Dies

William Turner, retired postal clerk and Spanish-American War veteran, died at Veterans' Hospital at Sawtelle Monday, June 21, after an illness of several months, at the age of 71 years.

Born in Atlanta, Ga. in 1883, Mr. Turner joined the Army in 1900 and served in both the Spanish-American War and in the Philippine Insurrection, where he saw action at Cabanatuan and on Luzon in the Philippines. While in the Army he was active in athletics and drama, producing shows and entertainment for the Armed Forces. He also served as clerk in the Adjutant's office, and was honorably discharged in Sept., 1903.

William Turner, or "Bill" as he was affectionately known by his friends, came to Los Angeles shortly after his dis-

'Invasion' of Negroes Irks Residents

Huntington Park's "unwritten law" that Negroes are not wanted is giving an awful headache these days to property owner Bernard Einer, who says he is "on the spot."

Einer unwittingly rented office space in his building at 6312 Seville avenue to a doctor who, it now develops, has two Negro assistants as well as some Negro patients.

In Bad Books

As a result his phone has been ringing endlessly and he's in the bad books of the Chamber of Commerce, the Lambs Club, the Elks and all the other organizations out there. To make it even worse, he's a members of these clubs himself.

And, as if that weren't enough, lawyers tell him there's just nothing he can do about it. The lease is quite legal.

Einer talked freely to the

Mixed Schools Slated For Sept. In Pasadena

Board Ready to End Transfer, Zoning Policies

The Pasadena Board of Education this week bowed more or less gracefully to the opinion of the Los Angeles County Council banning school segregation and is now considering practical ways of eliminating those policies which in the past have resulted in virtual separation of the races in some of the Crown City's schools.

In a statement tentatively approved Tuesday, the Board agreed that it "shall do nothing which promotes segregation, nor shall it allow practices by parents which alter the faithful racial representation of the geographical areas served by each school."

Resounding Victory

The statement further said that transfers would be given only in cases of "proven hardship." The new policies are to be effective when the school term starts in September.

This action followed a meeting Friday which gave a resounding victory to the NAACP and which yielded to complaints lodged by the association on behalf of Negro students at Garfield school.

The Board at that time agreed to do away with the PROTECT HOMES—Residents of South Los Angeles have banded together to keep barracks-like wartime housing from being dumped in their neighborhood. Members of the Home Protective League of South L.A., from left, Mrs. Estelle Browne, Mrs. M. M. Carter, Oscar Long, H. C. Jackson, and Mrs. Thelma White, discuss problem with Atty. Samuel C. Sheats.

South L.A. Residents to Protest Housing Projects

Residents of South Los Angeles this week filed a formal protest against the re-location of temporary war housing in the area bordering on 120th street and Wadsworth.

In their protest filed with the Department of Building and Safety through Attorneys Loren Miller and Samuel C. Sheats, the South Los Angeles Home Protective Association charged that the buildings were "detrimental to property within a thousand feet of the location."

The buildings were purchased by the Janiss Construction Company and Rogers Construction Company when they were sold from the Jordan Downs housing development.

Built 10 years ago as temporary housing for war workers, the buildings are of the barracks type with each unit housing four families. The housing was built without city permits and the Association charged through its president Oscar Long that the buildings do not conform with current standards.

Elks Flock to Sacramento For Meeting

William G. Burrell, exalted ruler of the Westside Pacific Coast Lodge No. 1350 of the Elks, headed a delegation which left here Tuesday for Sacramento to attend the Pacific States Convention of the lodge, June 23 to 27.

Registration took place Wednesday at the Senator Hotel, Sacramento, with a business meeting scheduled for Thursday morning and a public meeting at 1:30 p.m. at which Atty. Gen. Pat Brown was to be one of the main speakers.

The convention will end Sunday, with an annual convention sermon at 10:45 a.m. at St. John Baptist church.

Members leaving from the Westside branch are: Wm. G. Burrell, James W. Parker, James L. Chelsea, Leo T. Walker, Rev. Roland J. Clarke, Andrew Hill, Sidney E. Watson. Alternates attending are: John Jefferson, George W. Parry, Eddie Harvey, Chas. D. Watkins, Matthews L. Toston, William J. Esters and Felix Coleman.

Newark Elects Councilman

NEWARK—For the first time in the history of the city, Newark last week elected a Negro to a City Hall post.

Irvine I. Turner, who conducted an energetic campaign and who had the backing of the Negro community and labor, was chosen Councilman from the Central Ward by a vote of 7,637 to 5,736 for his opponent, John Salvato.

Turner and Salvato placed in the primaries and had to battle it out last Tuesday.

NAACP Convenes In Dallas Tuesday

DALLAS—Uppermost in the minds of the 700 delegates who will attend the six-day 45th annual convention of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People opening here Tuesday, June 29, will be the impact of the Supreme Court decisions of May 17 banning racial segregation in public education.

A full day, Thursday, will be devoted to a discussion by lawyers, experts and delegates of these decisions and of ways and means of implementing them. To the NAACP the Court's rulings represent the culmination of almost a half-century of persistent effort to undermine the legal props to segregation.

Tobias Keynoter

Dr. Channing H. Tobias of New York, chairman of the Association's Board of Directors, will deliver the keynote address at the opening mass meeting, Tuesday night, at the Good Street Baptist Church. Mayor R. L. Thornton of Dallas is scheduled to welcome the delegates at that session.

Friday night, the Spingarn Medal, awarded annually to a Negro American for distinguished achievement, will be presented to Dr. Theodore K.

Battling Followers Of Father Divine Tell 'Heaven' Woes

By KERRY JACKSON

As the dispute between the angels of Father Divine's West Coast heaven neared the end of its trail in court, Purity Love, ex-president of the Santa Monica church and accused embezzler of $115,000 worth of church property, steadfastly stuck to her story that "Father Divine has the money."

Warring angels, who under their new leader, Miss Happy Word, are suing to recover what they consider church property, last week and this placed witness after witness on the stand to testify against "that Ungodly Woman," as they branded Miss Love.

Attorneys Cautious

Sensational accusations concerning the private life of Father Divine and the all-too-human exploits of various former members of the church, have been made freely by both sides to Eagle reporters in corridor interviews. But so far, attorneys for both sides have carefully steered away from questions that might elicit explosions that would rock both heaven and earth.

Among those willing and ready to testify is Miss Carol Sweet, former member of Father Divine's secretarial staff in the Philadelphia heaven, who appeared briefly in court Friday, but who did not take the stand. As she entered with her three small children, the faithful turned aside their heads and whispered among themselves.

At Monday afternoon's session in Dept. 29 with Judge William J. Palmer presiding, David Welts, attorney for the plaintiffs, produced signed documents which contain the names of some 15 followers of Father Divine, who claimed they gave contributions to Miss Love for the purchase of church property in Santa Monica.

Refuted Charges

Purity Love, whose worldly name is Mrs. Irene Prattis, refuted the charges by claiming that the property was hers in the beginning. She denied using church money for her own purposes, and insisted that she had the property transferred to her name only after she discovered Father Divine's true nature.

Mochesedec Peace, treasurer of the Circle Mission church, better known as heaven, told the court that he "surrendered" $6,000 and an automobile to Purity Love, but that in 1952 he was put off the church premises and told that the property no longer belonged to Father Divine.

Brother Joe O'Connel, an elderly white man who acted as gardener for the properties,

Strange things are happening!

Charles H. Carpenter, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Carpenter of 5153 Santa Monica blvd., is still reeling from four fast days of crazy capers! Charles has sped from scholastic honors to voice audition to screen test in such rapid succession that he was lucky to be able to level off soon enough to report at R.K.O. studio Friday morning for his featured role in the Otto Preminger production of "Carmen Jones."

Like the kids themselves, Charles, who teaches the sixth grade students at the Twenty-Eight Street School, was looking forward to a quiet vacation.

White Vet Aids Negro Home Fight

POMONA — A young veteran who saw service overseas took a firm stand last week against his fellow whites and came stoutly to the defense of a Negro family who had purchased a home at 1064 Casa Hermosa, in a plush "white" neighborhood in Pomona.

The 30-year-old former G.I., Randall Kane, of Claremont, backed up words with an offer of financial assistance if that should be required.

'We Are Colored'

Mrs. D. Edwin Richardson answered an ad for a house for sale. She telephoned the builder, Pete Rossi, told him she had seen the house, liked it and wanted to buy it. She added her husband is a school teacher and could therefore handle the necessary financing.

Rossi told her to come in to complete the deal. Then Mrs. Richardson queried: "Will it make any difference that we are colored?"

The builder, according to an article in the "Pomona Record," told her "of all the probable difficulties the Negro may encounter in moving into an otherwise white neighborhood." He also told her that "legally she had a perfect right to expect me to sell the place to her. So I did."

Threatening

After Mr. and Mrs. Richardson and their family moved into the Casa Hermosa home, neighbors began to congregate in the street. The situation looked threatening. The neighbors then held a conference at 139 Commercial street. Rossi reportedly told the aroused neighbors that he would cooperate in any legal solution that was satisfactory to both sides.

Then the young veteran, Randall Kane, was approached. Kane told the protesting group that he had arranged the financing for the Richardsons through an insurance company "so that they could have the advantage of the 5½ percent rate like other Americans in the district."

Will Finance

He then informed them that the deal had not yet cleared escrow and that it was possible the insurance company might turn the Richardsons down.

"If such is the case," Kane continued, "and the pressure on this American family continues, and they still wish to keep their home, I will finance it for them myself."

Warmed by this show of friendliness, Mrs. Richardson, according to the "Record," said that she and her family like the place very much and since they have always had to "face rugged problems" in finding a place to live, "we may as well face what comes here and always be ready to be a good neighbor to those living near as soon as any of them let me."

WEALTHY ARK. FARMER CHAINED BURNED ALIVE

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — In what appears to have been a brutal, vengeful lynching which has been virtually unpublicized, a wealthy Arkansas farmer was chained to a tree and burned to death on his 600 acre farm near Marion, early this month, according to a story appearing in the "Indianapolis Recorder."

The heavily chained, charred body of Isador Banks, 59, was found June 8. Banks had been missing for three days. The flesh of the murdered man had been burned to a crisp, authorities reported. There was evidence, they said, his body had been drenched with an inflamable liquid and then set afire.

The Crittenden County, Ark., coroner's report said Banks had been murdered by a "party or parties unknown."

Marion Sheriff Cecil Goodwin reportedly told the family he was taking no action because "the FBI had taken over the investigation."

The FBI is quoted by the 'Recorder" as stating: "We do not have jurisdiction unless it is shown there has been a violation of civil rights, and so far none has been shown." The FBI representative, however, said that a report of the case and an appeal for action had been received from the Little Rock branch of the NAACP.

The incident was reported to the "Recorder" by Mrs. Lee Anna Wellington, who said Banks was her brother and that she had just returned from the scene of the outrage.

The closing mass meeting will be held at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the Dallas Sportarium with Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, top ranking American in the United Nations Secretariat, and Walter White, veteran executive secretary of the NAACP, as speakers.

Met in Texas in 1941

Only once before has the NAACP held its annual convention in Texas. That was in 1941 when the organization met at Houston.

The NAACP, organized in 1909, now has 1300 local units in 44 states, the District of Columbia and the Territory of Alaska, with a national membership of 250,000.

Among its board members are Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, Senator Herbert Lehman, Walter Reuther, Judge William H. Hastie, Mrs. Jessie M. Vann, Dean Erwin Griswold, Judge Hubert Delany, Carl R. Johnson, Roscoe Dunjee and others.

Senator Wayne Morse, A. Philip Randolph, Newbold Morris, Bishop W. J. Walls, Rev. John Haynes Holmes, Rabbi Judah Cahn, Willard S. Townsend, Eric Johnston, Mary McLeod Bethune and Oscar Hammerstein, II, are among vice-presidents of the organization.

Lion of Judah Welcomed By Richfield Oil

During his one day visit to Los Angeles last Thursday, Ethiopian Emperor Haile Selassie, his family and aides toured the local Richfield Oil Company refineries and Long Beach harbor.

The tour, which was sponsored by Richfield, followed an impressive luncheon for 1100 people at the Ambassador Hotel.

More than 15 limousines took part in the regal caravan which, flanked by county and city motorcycle policemen, made a non-stop trip to the harbor area. Included in the imposing party were many local leaders and representatives of the local press.

As part of the ceremonies, the Lion of Judah was presented with a special plaque by the Mayor of Long Beach. This honor has previously been bestowed on only two other dignitaries, Pres. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Mayor Norris Poulson.

The Emperor's six week tour of North America began with a state visit to Washington where he was the guest of Pres. Eisenhower. His first stop in California's southland was in Glendale Wednesday evening, where the King of Kings was entertained by the Seventh Day Adventists, whose missionaries have played a prominent role in developing Christianity in Ethiopia.

Among the local leaders who were selected for the host Committee were: Mr. and Mrs. George A. Beavers Jr., Judge and Mrs. Thomas L. Griffith, Assemblyman and Mrs. Augustus A. Hawkins, the Reverend and Mrs. J. Raymond Henderson, Judge and Mrs. Edwin L. Jefferson, Charles Mathews, Dr. and Mrs. J. Alexander Somerville and Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Williams.

Thursday's four-hour tour of the Richfield company spelled the finale to Haile Selassie's visit in Los Angeles. After viewing the immense oil refineries Catalytic Cracking Unit which rises higher than a 15 story building, the Emperor and his party were escorted directly to Arrowhead Springs for a much needed rest before leaving for Oklahoma.

New Ambulance In Service On Central Avenue

With understandable pride, Frank Sotello, 2042 Johnston street, came to the Eagle office first thing Monday morning to show the staff the new Georgia Street Receiving hospital emergency ambulance that has just been placed in operation in the Central avenue area.

Sotello, who has been in the service for 10 years, said that the Newton Street Police Station was one of the first in the city to obtain the modern conveyance. He mans the ambulance together with his buddy, driver - attendant Ernest Fuentes.

The ambulance cost $4,000, is complete with special safety belts for patients, and is equipped to care for delivery, administer oxygen and morphine when required, and meet any emergency that might occur.

It is also fitted with specially designed red lights and piercing sirens to ensure greater safety in traffic.

meeting of the Commission and issued a statement saying that changes had been agreed upon and advising the Association that changes would be put into effect within six months after Jan. 7, 1954. No changes have been made.

Following the failure of the Commission to make any changes, the depositions of the Fire Chief and the Commissioners were taken. All of them denied that any agreement had been made with the mayor.

Chief Alderson has consistently backed the segregation policies of the Department and when the mayor anounced that changes would be made he at once issued a denial that any changes of any kind were contemplated.

neutral zones and the free granting of transfers, devices by which white students in the area were permitted to avoid Garfield and attend Arroyo Seco. It also agreed not to press for the building of new class rooms at Arroyo which had been approved to take care of the overflow of white children who had transferred out of the Garfield district.

Tolerated Segregation

At Friday's hearing various viewpoints were expressed including one that minority group aspirations for equality are "Communistic" and "inspired on direct orders from Moscow."

Dr. Ray E. Untereiner, Board chairman, said that he didn't see why the new policy could not be put into operation immediately, and summed up the board's position as follows:

"We have always taken the attitude that our policy of neutral zones and transfers relieved us of the responsibility for promoting segregation, inasmuch as the system merely permitted parents to effect such segregation as they sought for their own children.

"Now the County Counsel has told us that we may do nothing which will permit parents to effect any form of segregation, and as public officials we are bound to follow the opinions of our legal adviser.

"As a board we have decided that we must rezone the Pasadena school system in such a manner as to prevent any racial discrimination."

Filed Suit

The NAACP, through its president, Atty. Charles Johnson, filed suit on behalf of Dr. I. B. English and other complainants some time ago, seeking to restrain the Board of Education from spending public funds on additional school rooms for Arroyo Seco. They pointed out that the reasons for the overcrowding there were the transfer and zoning policies of the Board, which they claimed resulted in segregation and were illegal.

Following the U. S. Supreme Court decision declaring separate schools unconstitutional, the Board asked for an opinion from County Counsel Harold W. Kennedy as to its legal position. Kennedy, in a lengthy report quoting numerous decisions, said it was unlikely the courts would uphold the Board's practices.

The Board will meet again next Tuesday in a regular session at which time the draft proposal is expected to be adopted. This Tuesday's meeting was a conference meeting, where policies are discussed but not acted upon.

The delimiting of school boundaries and other technical questions will be taken up at a later meeting, now scheduled for July 6.

Jo Baker in N.Y

NEW YORK—Glamorous Josephine Baker, who some weeks ago was reported in dutch with the State Department because of her 1951 criticisms of U. S. jim crow, slipped quietly into New York last week. There was none of the fanfare or super-publicity that accompanied her previous visits to this, her native, country.

Miss Baker was admitted for a two weeks stay on a visitor's permit, but not before she had been detained by authorities, presumably for questioning.

WHAT'S DOING

New cable sheath saves money

If you look closely at the telephone cables in the picture—both similar to the ones that carry your calls—you'll see a difference in their coverings. The outside of the cable on the left is made of lead. And, formerly, only lead did a good job of protecting the vital wires inside. But now we have a new cable covering called "stalpeth" (the one on the right). Perfected after long research, it's made of aluminum, steel, and plastic. Stalpeth weighs less than lead and costs less—up to 43 cents a foot less. We're using it wherever we can . . . to furnish more service, good service, at low cost to you. Pacific Telephone works to make your telephone a bigger value every day.

Easy way to speed long distance calls

You'll get faster long distance service if you give the operator the telephone number you're calling, rather than just the name and address. And to help you keep out-of-town numbers handy, we'll be glad to send you a free booklet to list them in. For your copy, just call, write, or drop in at our business office.

You can save time and steps

For just pennies a day, you can enjoy the privacy and convenience of an extension telephone in any room of your home. Extensions save steps, save time . . . make it easier for the family to place calls, receive calls. No additional outside wires or equipment are needed—just the telephone itself. To get your extension, call our business office. Pacific Telephone.

Old Race Policy Break-up Begins

The decades-old policy of segregation is beginning to give way slowly and fitfully in border states as a result of the sweeping Supreme Court school, housing and related decisions banning jim-crow.

The initial steps, despite dire warnings of diehards, have so far caused no conflicts or disorders. In Kansas City, Mo., last Monday, the Swope Park swimming pool, which was closed for three years rather than permit integration, and all summer public schools, were thrown open to Negroes.

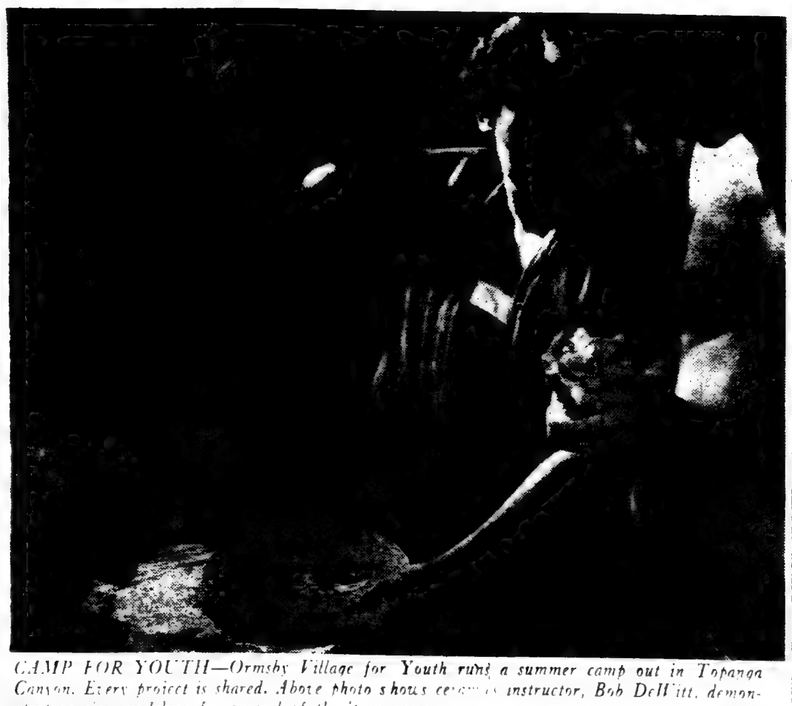
Police Relax

At the pool, scores of police stood about, but they had nothing to do but relax in the sun and enjoy the scenery.

In Charleston, W. Va., the Board of Education on Wednesday ordered nine state colleges to admit students of all races.

Hold-Outs

Acceptance of the new order of things, however, was by no means universal. In Louisville, Ky., city fathers aren't budging, at least not yet. Said Mayor Broaddus: "We don't intend to change our regulations in the parks until . . . I don't know when. Right now we are marking time."



And in Kansas City where the Swope Park pool was open to all, neighborhood pools were still on a strictly segregated basis.

In San Antonio, Texas, the city closed its 12 municipal pools Saturday for "cleaning and repairs," after six Negroes swam in a "white" pool for 20 minutes. When the Negroes entered the pool, white swimmers left abruptly. Officials then shut down the pools.

A more ominous development occured in Orange, Texas. There teen-agers were rounded up for questioning after a cross was burned and anti-Negro epithets were scrawled on a downtown business building. Another cross was burned near a Negro school in Athens, Texas.

28th St. School Teacher Wins Award, Movie Part

phoned his old friend and former schoolmate, Bill Mims, to thank him for his encouragement to continue with the course.

Bill, who is owner of the S.O.S. ("Service of Showbusiness") Telephone Exchange of Hollywood, ran through a dramatic scene with Charles and felt he was definitely ready for a theatrical career. From that moment on things started to happen . . . fast!

The following day, Charles acquired and agent Hal Gordon, who told him to report to R.K.O. Studios for a voice audition as a featured singer in "Carmen Jones." Pleased as they were with the results, studio executives were forced to turn him down for they needed a tenor and Charles, who has made many appearances in local church choirs and choral groups, is definitely a bass.

Most Outstanding

Next day Charles again visited the studio where he was interviewed for an acting role in the film. This time Preminger himself asked him to return on Monday for a further discussion of a part to suit his talent.

Meanwhile, on Sunday night, Charles modestly accepted a parchment "Certificate of Award" scroll from the Los Angeles City College which read, "This is to certify that Charles H. Carpenter has been chosen as the most outstanding student in the department of Broadcasting on the recommendation of the chairman and staff of that department."

In the presence of some 350 fellow students and instructors who celebrated the occasion at an elaborate banquet held at the Nikabob Cafe, he realized the thrill of having completed another milestone in his educational program.

Signed

On Monday Carpenter was called back to R.K.O. Studios for further interviews and, this time, he was signed for a prominent role in the film "Carmen Jones."

When last seen, Charles was heading happily towards the studio wardrobe department, for costume fittings. With a broad smile and a dazed look in his eyes, he is busily trying to total the amount of his "blessings." "Action?", he says, "The Atom bomb is a sissy compared to this latest explosion in my life!" Well, we think Charles will have a devasting effect, too, once he's seen on the screen.

Dial Nominated For Civic Post

This week Gordon R. Hahn, councilman of the Eighth District, nominated John H. Dial, Jr., for appointment to the Local Government Consolidation Study Commission.

Dial has been active, says Hahn, in the special committee working for acquiring of property rights between 46th and 48th Streets, and between Long Beach and Honduras, for a city park.

Councilman Hahn further stated that Dial is the Southern California Conference president of the NAACP and is also active in labor circles.

Fire Fighter Joins Army

Capt. Willie J. Patterson, Jr., 630 East 108th street, turned from fire fighting to Infantry fighting this week as he went on active duty in the Army at the Replacement Training Center of the 6121st US Army Reserve summer camp at Fort MacArthur.

'Teen-Age Camp Proves Race Stereos Are Bunk

Out in Topanga Canyon 30 miles from downtown Los Angeles there's a camp for teen-age boys and girls that gives youngsters a chance to share in recreation and in work, and in the process to learn that racial stereotypes are pure bunk.

Negroes and Japanese, Mexican-Americans and whites, Jews and Catholics and Protestants and mayhap some who don't have any religious affiliation are given the rare opportunity of mingling together and forming lasting color-blind friendships.

The camp is Ormsby Village for Youth. It was formed three years ago especially for children from less advantaged areas.

There's swimming and hiking, crafts and folk singing and dancing, with every project shared.

One of the most interesting features of the program is that the associations formed in the camp continue through club activities during the winter.

A two year survey by the Southern California Camping Association of the Metropolitan Welfare Council of Los Angeles in 1940 showed an acute lack of camping facilities for teen-age co-educational groups, especially for Negroes and Mexican-American groups.

Because of this need, the Ormsby Village Youth Foundation, 2936 W. Eighth street, was formed. Community agencies refer young people to the foundation, and selection is made on the basis of economic need and a desire to share in the Ormsby Village purposes and program. Campers participate through free camperships.

Individuals and organizations can contribute toward camperships, or can donate tools and equipment.

ADULT EDUCATION

Summer school courses for adults will open at Polytechnic Evening High School, 400 West Washington Blvd., Tuesday, July 6.

Adults may enroll for English instruction on all levels. Citizenship, typing, music, voice and piano classes are also open.

What we say when on our knees is of far less importance than what we actually do when we arise!!

NEW HIGHWAY

The new state highway on 174th street, between Normandie avenue and Hawthorne boulevard, should be ready for full usage by July 15.

Black Eagle's Wings Clipped By State Dept.

NEW YORK — Herbert Fauntleroy Julian, self styled Black Eagle, had his wings clipped last week when the State Department lifted his passport on his return from Sweden.

Although the State Department issued no statement, it is understood that Julian's troubles stem from the fact that he has been acting as purchasing agent for the Guatemalan government in its attempts to buy arms.

Julian blamed the government for its refusal to permit sales of arms to Guatemala for "normal military requirements." This refusal, he said, had forced the Central American nation to buy arms where it could.

Julian broke into the news in a big way during the Ethiopian conflict with Italy. He went to the African nation with a fanfare of trumpets and the announcement that he was going to head its air force. That bubble collapsed when he crashed with the Emperor Haile Selassie's favorite plane and he was fired.

He has been in and out of the limelight ever since that time with various schemes for promoting flying and in connection with military adventures in various parts of the world.

Child Care Center Will Open In July

New child care facilities are being instituted this summer on the Wadsworth school grounds to replace the nursery casualty resulting from the revamping of Carver Junior High school.

Carver's new building does not provide for a nursery. To take its place, an Extended Day Care center is being established at Wadsworth, 41st and Wadsworth, headed by Mrs. Josephine McDavid, formerly in charge at Carver nursery. The center, which will open about July 1, will be open the year 'round. Working parents of school age children up to 16 years of age may apply.

The existing nursery at Wadsworth will be for pre-school age children, and is under the direction of Mrs. Mabel Howard.

Published Every Thursday

The Eagle stands for complete integration of Negroes into every phase of American life through the democratic processes.

We favor:

1. FEPC on local, state and national levels.
2. Decent housing for all Americans.
3. Representation in Government.
4. Adequate old age pensions and social security.
5. Collective bargaining rights for all workmen.
6. Development and encouragement of Negro business.

We oppose:

1. Jim Crow in all forms.
2. Communists and all other enemies of democracy.

Look Who's Asking!

Members of the Board of Fire Commissioners made a virtue out of necessity last week when they decided to ask the city attorney for an opinion as to the legality of Jim Crow practices in the Department for the past quarter of a century.

We assume that even the Commissioners know by this time that racial segregation offends both federal and state constitutional guarantees and the public policy of California.

Those facts have been pointed out to them often enough in excellent briefs filed by the local branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. If the Commissioners don't understand the law by this time they are about the only literate people in the city who do not.

We assume that the Board wants to be told that its policies won't stand judicial scrutiny so that it can abandon segregation with some show of reluctance, and thus save face.

We assume, too, that the city attorney won't need much time to ascertain the law in this case. It has been written in letters large enough for everybody to read in a series of United States Supreme Court and State Court decisions over the past decade.

In every single case where a specific act of racial segregation has been challenged the courts have been quick to strike it down. Both federal and state courts have said in every possible way in every possible case that racial segregation just doesn't jibe with the equalitarian guarantees of our constitution.

The Fire Department case is an example of the waste of time, money and effort that goes into attempts to maintain racial practices that are long since out of date. The NAACP launched its attack on this segregation almost a year ago.

There have been a dozen meetings and conferences. NAACP lawyers have spent hours of time preparing facts and searching out the law. A half dozen days of court time were spent in taking testimony. Bills for court costs have run up to over five hundred dollars.

Fire Department brass stirred up ill will and fanned dormant racial prejudices by encouraging, where not instigating, opposition of white firemen to the inevitable change.

In the end the result will be that Jim Crow practices in the department will be abandoned. There is no other way.

How much better it would have been if Fire Chief John H. Alderson and the Board had adopted a simple democratic attitude toward the problem and begun immediate rectification of this ancient wrong when action was first pressed on them. Had they done that, integration would have been an accomplished fact by this time and everybody would have been better off.

Remember, You're Next

A man by the name of Frank L. Britton who prints a sheet called "The American Nationalist" devoted his last issue to a hysterical attack on the School Segregation decisions. Britton's stock in trade is endless repetition of attacks on Jews whom he blames for all of the world's evils.

His concern with the School Segregation decision revolves around his "discovery" that the NAACP is really just a front for Jews. The Jews, he rants, are misleading Negroes. The happy Negroes, he smirks, were just as contented as you please with race restrictive covenants, the poll tax, school segregation and with being denied the right to vote until the Jews came along and stirred them up.

We've got news for Franky boy. Strange as it may sound to him, Negroes were never happy about being second class citizens. They didn't enjoy being pushed around and discriminated against. They don't enjoy it now. And as for the NAACP, it is primarily an organization of Negroes although a goodly number of decent American Protestants, Catholics and Jews have pitched in and done their part to help. We're glad to get their assistance and we hope we get more of it.

Britton's ravings point up the fact that these hucksters of prejudice against Jews are enemies of all Americans. Today they are using the Jews as scape-goats. Tomorrow it may be Negroes, or Mexicans, or Orientals, or Catholics. Their constant need is for some kind of a bogey man with which to dupe and scare people and provide themselves a smoke screen behind which they can operate their own rackets.

The next time you hear one of these loud mouths ranting against Jews stop him short. What he's saying about them today he'll be saying about you tomorrow.

Times Are Changing

Such widely scattered cities as St. Joseph, Mo.; Fayetteville, Ark.; Baltimore, Md.; and Muskogee, Okla., have put out the good word that they're ready to comply with the recent School Segregation decision.

Thus far we haven't heard of armed uprisings in any of these municipalities and it is our firm belief that when schools open next fall with mixed student bodies there won't be a ripple in any of them.

True enough, they're all in the upper tier of southern and border states but each has had a long record and tradition of separate schools. There has been resistance to school integration in each.

What their actions illustrate is the fact that the American people are law abiding in the sense that they accept the judgments of the Supreme Court as final in its interpretation of the Constitution.

Like good Americans everywhere, the Boards of Education in these cities propose to obey the law even when it runs counter to custom and prejudices. If wind bags like Byrnes and Talmadge will stop fanning opposition other southern cities and states will do just what this sampling of cities has done.

Better Late Than Never

The President of the Pasadena Board of Education made one of the most remarkable statements ever made by a public official in this state last week when he admitted that his Board had been conniving at segregation.

He said: "We have always taken the attitude that our policy of neutral zones and transfers relieved us of the responsibility for promoting segregation, inasmuch as the system merely permitted parents to effect such segregation as they sought for their children."

He went on to say that Pasadena, having been advised of what the law is, will abandon its policy and rezone the city school districts.

The theory that state or local governmental units can escape responsibility for segregation through manipulating public facilities to effect that end has never been the law of this state.

We're glad that Pasadena's Board of Education has seen the light. We hope that if their are other governmental units acting on the same erroneous theory that Pasadena followed, they will hasten to follow its example.

One Man's Opinion

By LEON STEWARD

Our public schools have closed but we shall try to give you a story and something of an opinion of one of the hard-working principals of one of the high schools. Fremont is the school and Jack P. Crother is the hard-hitting principal in question. We have only seen and talked with this man twice but he gives us the impression that he is the very man for the tough job which he is turning into a relatively easy one.

Leon Steward

It probably is because we had several conversations with his predecessor at Fremont High prior to the strike which occurred at the school when Negro pupils began joining its student body several years ago. We were one who tried to get that principal to understand that the strike was getting under way.

From Salt Lake City

Jack was only one of ten children. They were all born in Salt Lake City. He attended the Salt Lake City schools and took his bachelor and master degrees at Utah University, where he played polo and was a member of the dramatic club. While in high school he won a national speech award. He has also been in the Army Air Reserves since 1932. He went to Northwestern U. to study speech and to USC to study education, political science and economics.

He closed his 21st year as a teacher last week. Began teaching government, US history, social studies and mathematics. In 1945 he became vice principal of Los Angeles High and in 1948, principal of San Pedro high school.

In 1952 he was charged with the growing pains of Fremont High School, where he hopes to return after a jaunt with the War College, which he must attend, being a colonel in the Air Force Reserve.

His War Record

During World War II, Mr. Crother was chief of personnel of the flying training commission which kept him very busy indeed. He now commands the 90-76 air reserve group.

We neglected to relate earlier the story that our hero took unto himself a bride almost as soon as his school days in Utah U. were ended. That union has been blessed with three children, and one is graduating from Brentwood Jr. High while another was promoted from Washington Grade school only last week. They are 18, 15 and 10 years of age a: : we would bet a pretty penny that that 10 year old takes over at the Crother home at 9505 Denker street.

Have you ever tried to get a story from one whose modesty is genuine and who sees little good in publicity? Well this was one such. But, after talking over the situations at the school with this principal we just wanted to understand him better. Thus we secured this information.

One thing which we would like to relate was the genuine disapproval which he revealed over a Negro doctor who transferred his son away from Fremont rather than sticking by for the good that could accrue from the lad's remaining in the situation. He does not like to run away from a problem and you may observe his face and be assured of that.

Battleaxe and Bread

By Lester B. Granger

HEYWOOD BROUN, THE ETERNAL OLD MASTER AMONG NEWSPAPER COLUMNISTS, remarked about twenty years ago that "The American people get what they vote for, so they deserve what they get." Note that he didn't say that the people get what they want, but what they vote for. The point is obvious; the voter had better be sure before he votes that what he's choosing is the closest he can come to what he wants. Once the ballot's in the box, he's through choosing.

Lester Granger

According to the Broun formula, New York's longshoremen will be getting exactly what they deserve when they find themselves once more going through the dreary grind of being robbed, exploited and pushed around by the same old bunch of semi-reformed gangsters who have been making trade unionism a mockery in the racket-ridden, discredited, now "independent" International Lorngshoremen's Association. They'll be getting what they deserve because they voted for it—not once but twice, long after it was clear to all what they were voting for. They had a choice between trying out a new ILA set up by the A. F. of L. and going back into the old, and they chose more of the same old thing. The pity is that they are not the only ones who'll suffer for their judgement; the rest of the city will pay through the nose for the mistake of the duped and docile longshoremen-voters.

AND THE UNITED AUTO WORKERS (A.F.L.) showed that longshoremen have no monopoly on being able to live with thuggery and learn to like it. A few weeks ago the newspapers announced that Lester Washburn, international president of the union, had resigned in disgust after his executive board had over-ruled the Washburn action in suspending several New York locals that were obviously in the hands of corrupt leadership. One local had chosen an ex-jailbird for its president; he stayed on in his job in spite of the international president's orders to get rid of him. When Mr. Washburn acted in the interests of good unionism, his own board cut him in his back. They've probably gotten what they deserve, but whether it's what they'll like, further down the road, is an entirely different question. Because racketeering in a labor union is a good deal like pregnancy; there's no such thing as being "just a little corrupt."

AND MAYBE IT SHOULD HAVE HAPPENED TO A DOG, but it certainly happened to the voters of Los Angeles' 26th congressional district. "Jimmy" Roosevelt, much-headlined son of the former President, won the Democratic nomination for Congress in a 6 to 1 breeze. Even to a New Yorker who is used to all sorts or zany voters' reactions, this one is a honey. Accused by his wife of adultery with nine women, named in a "confession" which he had signed, he blandly explained that he had been "blackmailed" into signing — that really he was innocent. Apparently the Los Angeles voters never noticed that if he really was innocent, then he was a dirty hound to smear the reputations of nine defenseless women, merely to avoid personal embarrassment. Or perhaps they noticed it but decided that it was only a Congressman they were nominating, so a little smearing wouldn't amount to much.

Ordinarily, in that district where registered Democrats outnumber Republicans two-to-one the nomination would be tantamount to election—just as in a Deep South district. In this case, with so small a proportion of either Democrate or Republicans voting in the primary, the odds are not so heavy, but they're still heavy enough to make the unctuous Roosevelt the favorite to go to Washington in the fall. Of course, once there, he'll find that he's in the company of at least some Congressmen who, on their records, can never turn up their nose at him. But that's not the point in question. The question is, whether Heywood Broun was right. Is this the best that the Southern California voters deserve, merely because they voted for it?

In this case I'd say no, because a Congressman from California is not merely a California Congressman; he's a voting member of the Congress of the United States, Just as Joe McCarthy is more than the responsibility of the voters of Wisconsin; he is the liability of the American people—and that we don't deserve!

Letter To The Editor

To the Editor:

As chairman of the Juvenile Hall Committee for the County Board of Supervisors, I would like to express my appreciation for the fine news and editorial coverage you gave Proposition "A" in the last election.

Your help was a great factor in bringing out the vote for a decent place to house youngsters awaiting trial.

KENNETH HAHN

Pure and Simple

By L. F. Palmer Jr.

Some great sage achieved mortality when he intoned one day: "It's Papa who pays." Except, I doubt if even this sage of the age knew how much truth his pistol packed.

For example, according to the papers, Sunday was "Father's Day." By all rightful standards, fireworks should have been popping, bands ought to have been blaring and 95 percent of the newspapers' advertising quota should have been screaming the merits of pop and the underwear, tie, pipe or snuff he favors.

That's the way it is right after Easter when the hucksters start the hoopla about Mother's Day. They pull out all the stops and the only time they go overboard any more is just before Christmas.

But then, it's like I said Pops is the guy who pays. So who worries too much about his "Day"? On the Sunday before Mother's Day, I did some serious research. Here's what I dug up.

The Sunday edition I studied carried 519 ads, not counting classified. In 475 of them, there was an admonition that Mom's Day was upcoming and Beelzebub's beer was the best bet for the gift of her life or some such tommyrot.

That night, I watched TV for four straight hours and I have yet to find a sponsor that wasn't trying to stuff something down some male's or some female's throat for Mom.

So comes the Sunday before Pop's big day. That same Sunday edition was way below par in ads. Only carried 407 ads. And, get this! Only 209 carried even the slightest mention of the tired old breadwinner. TV practically forgot this national holiday.

'Course, the way I look at it, the ad geniuses have their brains crossed. True, it's Pop who pays. But it's Mom who spends. So forgetting the five and dime gifts the small fry are going to buy, and even casting aside the paltry millions the adult sons and daughters are going to spend to honor their father and mother, try this theory for size.

Since every husband who's ever ducked a rolling pin is going to buy his ever lovin' a gift on Mother's Day, be she a parent or not, it doesn't make much sense to overload the papers with ads just before the 24 hours set aside for the distaff side of the rearing team.

But, Mom's so used to spending Pop's money, she's got to be educated to lean some of the loot his way. So what's needed is a big advertising campaign to get Mammas to buy Pappas gifts on HIS day.

After all, it is his dough.

Like, for example, last week. The wife touched me for a ten spot. Claimed she needed some extra fertilizer for the flowers. (Ten bucks equals a lot of fertilizer.)

But I'm smart, you know. I caught her peeking at my research figures the other night and I think she was eavesdropping when I was grumbling to myself about the results.

So I knew she was planning on buying me that nylon shirt I've always wanted. Father's Day gift, you know. But, it's like I said, Pop's the one who pays.

Loren Miller says . . .

The Light Dawns

The County Counsel has just rendered an excellent opinion telling Pasadena's Board of Education that it must stop promoting racial segregation in its public schools.

LOREN MILLER

The Los Angeles City Attorney has been asked for an opinion by the Board of Fire Commissioners as to the legality of its racial segregation policy.

Chances are that the City Attorney will tell the Board and Fire Chief Alderson that they'll have to call a halt to their Jim Crow practices. He can't do anything else. The law is too plain.

Without taking any credit away from the County Counsel for what he has done and from the City Attorney for what I think he is going to do I think I ought to set the records straight right here with the flat assertion that credit for forthcoming changes won't belong to these public officials.

That credit goes to the NAACP and its lawyers. These lawyers sweated for many hours to write a brief which they presented to the County Counsel. His advice to the Pasadena Board is a mere paraphrase of that brief.

Similar briefs in the Fire Department situation have been filed with the City Attorney and with the Department. All the City Attorney has to do, and all he will do if he gives the correct advice, is to rewrite the NAACP briefs already in his hands.

I am not saying all of this to be captious or argumentative but rather to point out that people who help themselves not only get the aid of Heaven but also the aid of other people, including public officials.

As a matter of sober fact, the City Attorney has been pretty laggard in the Fire Department situation. Not only have briefs been put in his hands but he was also called upon to represent the Fire Commissioners and Chief Alderson when their depositions were taken.

The City Attorney wasn't present but one of his deputies was. That hearing established the existence of segregation and discrimination in the Fire Department beyond any doubt. In the face of that record, the City Attorney has kept his peace thus far.

The County Counsel was far more vigilant in the Pasadena case. He too appeared at a deposition but as soon as he heard the facts he suggested that the NAACP file a brief and made, and kept, a promise that he would advise the Board as to the legality of its procedures.

In all of the hue and cry over the Fire Department case the City Attorney has chosen to keep silent.

In any event, the point I want to make is that these triumphs over segregation weren't handed down from on high by public officials out of goodness of heart. They came, or will come, because citizens of Los Angeles and Pasadena have had the good sense to organize and fend for their own rights.

I underscore that last point because it has been my experience that after the NAACP or Urban League or some other organization has had the courage and perseverance to effect a change, the work they have done is forgotten in hosannahs of praise for the public official who bows to their prodding.

The moral of this is that those of you who want continued advances in human relations can insure that end by continued support of the organizations that have made past advances possible. Don't get the idea that the millenium has come just because a couple of public officials saw the light.

THE STANDARD GUIDE TO MEXICO AND THE CARRIBEAN, by Lawrence Martin.

Of course you needn't cross an ocean to have your trip abroad. Californians are especially fortunate in having a delightful foreign country right at their back door. Mexico has attractions for every visitor—sports, food, exotic customs—even another way of life. This book will tell you what you must see, what you should see, and what you will like to see. It also contains practical advice on what to take, regulations and customs, currency, and all the other details which must be coped with if travel is to be carefree.

Westminster Marks 50th Anniversary

Only Living Founder to Be Present

Friends and well wishers of the Westminster Presbyterian Church, 2230 W. Jefferson Blvd., are invited to worship at both services Sunday, June 27, as the church observes its Golden Anniversary.

During the service of worship at 11 o'clock the pastor, Dr. Hampton B. Hawes, will preach the morning sermon. Tentatively scheduled to take part in the devotions are the following ministers, who through the years have served Westminster Church: Rev. Wesley Hawes, son of the pastor and now filling the pulpit of Westminster Presbyterian Church in San Francisco; Dr. William C. Bouchelion and Rev. Benjamin Jenkins. Kenneth Smith, recently accepted as a candidate for the Presbyterian ministry will also be in the pulpit.

In the evening at 7:30 o'clock, a special service of recognition will be held honoring the only living charter member of the church, Mrs. Sarah Alexander McPherson of San Diego. Mrs. McPherson and her husband, Frank B. Alexander, founded Westminster in 1904. She will graphically describe the early history of the church and its rise through the years to a place of religious leadership in the community.

Success never comes to the man who stops promptly when the whistle blows!

ODDS AND ENDS . . .

Earl Battey—the great basketballer and baseballer of Jordan High—is now a married man and is picking up his check nowadays from the Waterloo nine of the Three-Eye loop . . . Earl and Margaret Sanders were married May 17 . . . She's the sister of Olympic heavyweight boxing kingpin, Ed . . .

Paul Schissler, Director of the Times Charity game between the L.A. Rams & Washington Redskins, writes to inform this section that the game will be played August 18 at the Coliseum.

. . . According to Paul, this year's game should prove to be equally as thrilling as all the ones in the past . . . It is true the L.A. Rams are interested in K. C. Jones, the stellar University of San Francisco basketballer . . . yes, I mean basketballer . . . He—i.e. before his operation sidetracked him—and Bill Russell were the bacbbone of USF's outstanding quintet . . . Incidentally, Jones and Russell are the lads who were instrumental in the Bay Area's all-stars win over the L.A. Omegas in '53.

THE MIXED-UP KID . . .

Remember Howard McCants—the Wash-State footballer who got lost here during the past seasan after playing in a game against one of the local universities—well, he's all mixed up again . . .

It seems he has signed contracts with two pro teams . . . When querried on the subject, he reportedly said, "I intended to play with Detroit until I saw some things I didn't like. Now I'm definitely going to play with Toronto (Canadian Loop) and I'm leaving for there the first of next week." What I want to know is, will he get lost on his way? . . .

P.S.—We were wrong, as usual, in picking Charles to whip champion Rocky Marciano, but in passing, Charles proved to the World that he is no namby pamby challenger . . . Charles was right mentally, but he just didn't have the gear physically . . As of now this is 25 & 5 . . .

Cardinal Scout Visits Gramling

GRAMBLING, La. (Special)—The St. Louis Cardinals are turning talent scouting into a first-class public relations medium.

Last week Redbird Scouts Quincy Troupe and Al Hollingsworth conducted a tryout camp for boys at Grambling college and left fans in the area suffering from a severe case of Cardinal mania.

Over 50 kids, armed with spiked shoes, gloves and an odd mixture of boyish naivete and brash confidence, participated in the camp.

Troupe and Hollingsworth sold their products with gusto and friendly dispositions.

By GEORGE RAMSEY

BEAUTIFUL CALIENTE IN OLD MEXICO—It was longshot day at the border course last Sunday. Only one favorite was able to visit the charmed circle out of the 12 races.

RAMSEY

It was a horse named Pat that captured the opener, paying $5.20. But from there on the form players took a beating. In the daily double, a first starter named Hamburger John and Capers, who won the fourth and fifth races, rewarded backers of this combination $258.60 And the quinela players of Alabama Fizz and Beaufair, who finished in that order, received $333.60. Alabama Fizz was a 22 to 1 shot while Beaufair was held at 18 to 1.

The first stake will be run Tuesday. It's the $20,000 added Haggin at five furlongs for juvenile colts and geldings and a large field is expected to go postward for this event. And on Saturday, the feature will be the $25,000 added Inglewood Handicap for three-year-olds

Sidewalk Critics Want Ez Rematch

"Does Ezzard Charles deserve a rematch?"

This question has been flirting up and down the avenue and all around town ever since Thursday night's title bout between Charles and champion Rocky Marciano.

It's the consensus among ringsiders that Charles5 courage and gameness is unparalleled in heavyweight ring history.

The Brockton Buster hit Charles with everything except the ring post in the last five rounds but he couldn't send the charging challenger to the canvas.

In the first ten heats Charles got in a number of his Sunday punches and he had the gallant King of the heavies reeling and rocking on several occasions. Charles was ahead or even on all of the judges' cards at this point.

The big question still remains: "Does Charles deserve a rematch?"

What do you think? The Eagle has solicited the opinions of the following people to see what they think:

Bill Carnegie — Capri Kid—I'm undecided.

Alfred Hampton — clerk — "Have a rematch by all means. Charles should have enough confidence in there next meeting."

Ike Wright—Govt employee—"Sure he (Charles) should have a rematch."

Frank Thomas — Charles put up a good fight but I don't think he should get a rematch."

Rudy Van Dyke—warehouseman—"I don't think Charles should have a rematch, because Marciano had him in the clouds in the closing rounds. And he didn't know what town he was in."

Calvin Sills — warehouseman —"I think Charles should have a rematch because he put up a good fight. I don't believe there is anyone who can give Marciano as good a battle as Charles. I also believe Charles will win in a rematch."

Edward Mouton — sportsman —"The first fight betwen Marciano and Charles was the greatest. Why shouldn't there be an encore?"

Lawrence Stone—Singer—"I'll agree the verdict went to the right man in last week's bout. However, I don't think the margin of victory was as far apart as the judges. Charles merits a rematch."

Harry Adams — Photographer —"Yes, let him make some bread."

Aragon's Prestige at Stake In Martinez Bout

Will the colorful career of Art Aragon, greatest drawing-card in West Coast fight history, come to an end at Hollywood Ball Park one week from tomorrow when he meets Vince Martinez, the Patterson Pulverizer?

That's the burning question in Southern Cal., as moot a query as ever was propounded.

Both boys have imposing impressive knockout records: Aragon has stopped 40 of his 78 foes; Martinez, 21 out of 40.

They have met only two common foes: Chuck Davey and Harold (Baby Face) Jones. Aragon beat Davey by decision—bitterly disputed; Martinez knocked him out in the 7th. Aragon decisioned Jones twice; Martinez once.

On the basis of Vince's annihilation of the high-domed Michigan State scholar, he seems to merit installation as choice at the current odds of 8-5.

But Aragon's supporters, who make up in loudness what they may lack in number, stress the fact that the Golden Boy injured his potent left hand in Round One of his fight with Davey. With that mitt in working order, they insist that Art, too, would have flattened Chuck—and in less time than it took Vince.

It's a moot point, of course, and every mooter in town is mooting overtime—pro and con. A little pro and a lot of con.

Meanwhile, the ticket sale goes on at a merry pace, both at the Olympic Auditorium box office and the booth at Hollywood Ball Park. There are good seats available in all price categories: $5, $7.50, $10 and $15.

Martinez has been packing 'em in at the Olympic Gym, 318½ South Main Street, where he's training daily. Aragon and his retinue are at Soper's Ranch in the Ojai Mountains, where he trains for all important fights. None exceeds this one in inmportance.

TENNIS FINALS AT GRIFFITH PARK SUNDAY

Climaxing three weekends of play, finals matches are scheduled at Griffith Playground next Sunday (June 27) in the 28th annual Los Angeles District Public Parks and Playgrounds Tennis Championships, the City Recreation and Park Department reported yesterday.

There is no admission charge to the playground court's bleachers, and champions will be determined in men's singles, women's singles, men's and women's double and mixed doubles. Awards will be presented at the conclusion of each final match, according to Duke Llewellyn, director of municipal sports.

PRESS PREVIEW—Formal opening of Anheuser-Busch's new $20,000,000 Los Angeles brewery, a history making event was covered exclusively by the California Eagle, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. County and City officials, with publisher Loren Miller, participated with Mr. Busch and Eberhard Anheuser, chairman of the Board, in the official opening program. According to John Flanigan, vice-president and Regional Sales Manager, a special train brought Mr. Busch and other executives of the brewery to the city for the dedication ceremonies. Earl Griffin, local salesman, stated that this present plant is designed to produce 1,000,000 barrels annually with future plans calling for production of 1,800,000 barrels a year. According to Anheuser-Busch officials, after July first the public is invited to take guided tours of the new brewery. The brewery is located just west of Sepulveda Boulevard on Roscoe Boulevard in San Fernando Valley. The new "Budweiser Home in the West" covers 65-acres. Anne Bradford Feted At Debut

— Vision Of Loveliness —

Eight Hundred Witness Colorful Introduction of Popular Graduate

RADIANT—Anne Louise Bradford made her debut Sunday at a dazzling coming out party at the Diane Ballroom. More than 800 guests were on hand to greet the beautiful debutante.
(Adams Photo-Art)

An event of great interest to the local society was the formal debut of Miss Anne Louise Bradford, 17-year-old daughter of Mrs. Cornelia and Mr. Neal Bradford, last Sunday evening at the Diane Ballroom. The date is also the birth date of her grandmother, the late Dr. Anna Laggett.

The more than eight hundred guests, representing the cream of society and including many pioneer families, parents and children, who attended the lavish affair were unusually excited because it has been more than 30 years since a debutante has been formally presented in the local community. Pioneers recall that there have been only two previous debuts. The first, interestingly enough, was that of Anne's mother at Grand Club. Several years later the former Marian Robinson, now Mrs. Owen McCord, was presented there.

The ballroom was beautifully decorated for the occasion with a profusion of pink and white flowers. A huge, pink satin heart was placed center front of the stage and the entire front of the stage was lavishly strewn with cut flowers to provide a garden setting. The court for the lovely debutante was made up of some of her classmates from Los Angeles high school, from which she graduated last week, other young friends and a group of older long-standing friends of the family.

Junior attendants were Misses: Carol Coleman, Carmen Ellsworth, Barbara Hale, Nedra Jackson, Sandra Hoskins, Shirley Johnson, Lois Russ, Barbara Weaver, Paula Williams and Brenda Wright. Senior attendants were: Misses Matthews and Iva Washington, Mesdames: O'Reese Corporal, Louis Blogett, Norman Hopkins, Henry McPherson, Loren Miller, Pearl Bratton Smith, Kelly Williams, Walter Webster, Paul Williams, Sterling Waggoner, Willis O. Tyler, Lee Stewart and Ivan Johnson.

Midway during the dancing, members of the court quietly formed on either side of the heart and Anne's mother and godmother followed to stand in waiting for the appearance of the debutante. As Josephine Cooper began to sing "The Sunshine of Your Smile," Anne appeared in the doorway of the ballroom. There were audible gasps of sheer pleasure when the guests caught the first glimpse of Anne, one of the city's most beautiful girls. She was a breath-taking vision of loveliness as she seemed to float along on the arm of her father for the length of the ballroom until they passed the center of the heart to join her mother and godmother, Mrs. Thomas Morris of New York. They formally introduced her to the assembled guests.

Gowns Described

Anne's gown was an exquisite creation of white nylon net and tulle specially designed for her by Ethel Miller Thomas. It was a waltz length and cascaded out as she walked so as to give a floating and angelic appearance. Net fans joined by white velvet bows and forget-me-nots trimmed the fabulous skirt. More than 35 yards of net and tulle were used in the gown and Anne carried a corsage of white orchids. Mrs. Bradford wore a lovely floor length rose taffeta gown and Mrs. Morris wore an elegant pink lace an chiffon gown designed by Dior. Both wore orchids.

Among the out-of-town guests was Mrs. Robert Phillips, of Phoenix, who came over for the occasion accompanied by her son, Robert Jr., who is enroute to the University of Washington.

Mrs. Morris (Louise Fisher), Anne's cousin and godmother, surprised the debutante by coming from New York for the party. Louise, as she is affectionally known to her many friends here, was receiving congratulations for having been cited by the Amsterdam News as the Woman of the Year. However, she was more excited about the debut and the fact that she had been a passenger in the first seven-hour, non-stop flight from New York. She's rushing right back to finish some NACCP and Urban League chores before sailing July 3 for Europe. Other guests included Mrs. Bige Wyatt, of St. Louis, Mo., Miss Beatrice Plummer of Washington, Mrs. Harding of Ohio and Mrs. Calvin Higgs of Denver, Colo.

Parties

Numerous social affairs have been planned to honor Anne before she leaves next fall to enter University of California at Santa Barbara. Her calendar shows affairs scheduled by Mrs. Frank Harvey Jr., and Mrs. Chas. Morris. Mrs. Louis Blodgett and Miss Miriam Matthews. Mrs. Ethel Atkinson, Mrs. Loren Miller, Miss Sandra Hoskins and Miss Joan Orange.

Following the debutante ball, Mrs. Bradford entertained the senior attendants and their husbands at an intimate buffet dinner at her South Buckingham home. On display in the living room were dozens of graduation gifts and telegrams.

Visitors

Mrs. Ethel Wyatt of St. Louis, Miss D. Plummer, personnel counselor of the Navy Dept., Washington, and Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Bratton were dinner guests of Mrs. Catherine B. Garcia in the patio of her San Fernando Valley home Sunday. Mrs. Garcia took her guests on a sightseeing tour of several Valley projects, the highlight being the new 22 million dollar VA Sepulveda Hospital which is near completion.

Three A.K.A. Scholarships To June Graduates Sunday

Careers and College Ways
Replace your carefree High School Days.
Let AKA's "Chautauqua Three"
Advise and help you choose the key
That fits your talent for success—
To bring you lifelong happiness!

This was the original and unique invitation composed by Helen Riddel and extended by Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority to all young school girl graduates Sunday at the home of Mrs. Vivian Strange, 2214 So. Victoria Ave. at 2 p.m.

Alpha Kappa Alpha's featured guests were presented with a program keyed to guide them in college and to inform them about future careers.

Ruddel Slay was mistress of ceremonies for the cleverly planned and well rounded entertainment. Janice Williams, in her inevitable style, delighted the gathering with a refreshing dramatic reading, and Haroldine Brewington directed the high fashion show from Joan's Sweater Bar, 1568 E. 103rd Street. The attractive models, all members of the Ivy Leaf Club, were described by Jean Carol McCowan. Excerpts from the original skit "Mercy Lama Mercy" which Alpha Kappa Alpha presented in the recent Jabberwock were very well received.

Cleopatra Johnson moderated the "panel of profession" represented by Dr. Mary McCoo, medicine; Arleigh Maddox Woods, law; Vivian Robinson, college life; Sue Bowdan, education; Alice Long, business administration; Gwendolyn Dusuau, law enforcement; Bernice Catherine Wright, social service.

Aileen O'Dell, chairman of hospitality, presented Mrs. Mary King, the outgoing basileus with a gift from Alpha Gamma Omega chapter for services she gave to Alpha Kappa Alpha.

Climax of the afternoon was the introduction of the 1954 Alpha Kappa Alpha scholarship recipients by the scholarship committee chairman, Helen Broyles Smith. The outstanding high school graduates honored were Sylvia Stafford, Jefferson High School, a science major planning to attend UCLA; Lois Lowe, Manuel Arts, business administration major to attend Pepperdine, Shirley Starks, undergraduate student at State College and an education major received the third award.

Other members responsible for the arrangements were Cozetta Moore, refreshments; Alice Long, program; June Jefferson and Annie Laurie Harris, decorations; and Helen Jenkins, invitations. Membership on the scholarship committee also includes Susie C. Hawkins, Willa Lewis, Danetta P. Johnson, Constance K. Young, Beulah Marks, Rubye Mills, Vermuta R. Dickson, Georgia Payton, Gwendolyn Taylor, Edythe K. Owans, Vivian R. Calhoun, Ruth Robinson, Harriette Williamson and Lucille Fisk.

Pearl Cooper Vows Revealed

Tuskegee Baby Contest Ends

The members of Tuskegee Club will make the award to the winner of their baby contest this Sunday afternoon, June 27, at the home of Major and Mrs. Frank L. Drye, 1032 S. Arlington.

Several of the local college clubs that participated in the contest included Bishop, Langston and Wilberforce. Atty. Martha Malone Jefferson will crown the winners during the afternoon tea. Funds raised during the contest are going toward scholarships for Tuskegee Institute.

Las Primeras Big 4th Ball At Alpha Club

The Las Primeras social club held their regular meeting at the beautiful home of Dorothy Williams. The highly interesting session was sparked by the final arrangement for the club's big 4th of July dance at the Alpha Bowling Club.

This is one of the club's biggest events and the entire membership has been working very hard for the success of this affair. After the business session members selected hardworking vice-president Florine Johnson as the girl of the week. She was born in Corsicana, Texas and attended the Jackson high school in that city completing three years. She is a graduate student of Henrietta Beauty School and employee in Ethel's beauty shop at 2329 Hooper Ave. Her wonderful job as the group's vice-president and her williness to work earned her the title.

The group also voted cute little 4-year-old Dorothy J. Dixon as the club sweetheart.

Visit Mexico

Mrs. Cora Baumann and her daughter, Mary Ann, accompanied by Mrs. R. Garret motored to Mexico City last week Joining the family for the trip were Mrs. Angiebel Nichols and her two daughters, Lestrita and Angelita.

The daughters of both families will enroll in the University of Mexico for a two-month course in Art and Language.

Musical Tea Benefit Set For Sunday

Ann R. Berry, hardworking president of the Ivy Friendship club which will sponsor a musical afternoon tea Sunday (June 27) at 2133 S. Harvard Blvd., announced this week that the funds raised during the affair will go to further cancer research. The benefit affair will start at 3 p.m. and last until 7. Many talented artists are assisting and lending their various musical abilities to make this affair enjoyable and one long to remember. Women of the club have worked as crusaders and volunteers for the American Cancer Society and a number of other charitable organizations.

The Sunday affair offers continuous entertainment throughout the afternoon and the public is invited to attend.

Julie Polk Hosts Hawaiian Party

Julie L. Polk was host to 22 classmates to her graduation party at her grandmother's home, 2958 Halldale Ave. The unique affair was a Hawaiian Lua highlighted with a Hawiian mellon basket of fresh fruits. The dinner menu consisted of chicken a la king, spaghetti, barbecue franks, fresh peas, homemade cake with inscription "Happy Graduation" and orange sherbet. Each girl was presented with a lei made by Francis Raggin, Toyce Raggin and Julie.

The party was given by her father and step-mother, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Polk and the food was prepared by her grandmother, Mrs. Ethel L. Page.

Julie was excitingly attractive in a beautiful nylon taffeta pale blue sent her from Anchorage, Alaska by her mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Clark. She received many lovely gifts including a record player, records and a beautiful pajama set.

Guests included: Pat Parks, Linder Rembert, George Ella Mead, Toyce Ragin, Judy Bailey, Shirley Pillows, Gloria Woodson, Brenda Austin, Jackie Ford, Marsha Jackson, Bryce Cofield, Lary Elam, Brevin Crozier, Basil Raymond, Frank White, Lloyd Glenn Jr., Billie Washington, Udell Ragin, Robert Ford and Charles Orr.

Julie Polk graduated from Mt. Vernon and will enter Dorsey high school in September.

Merry Wives July 4th Benefit To Aid School

The Merry Wives, a social and charity club, whose membership is composed of Louise Anderson, Francis Turner, Jewel Nelson, Portia Harris, Dora Swan, Katie Latham, Mary Ross, Nita Williams and Lillian Williams, plan their first big scale charity dance July 4.

The Wives met at the home of Louise Anderson, 2207 Juliet St., Saturday, served an informal buffet supper to the press, and outlined their program.

Organized in October 1952 the Merry Wives have responded to the needy families who have solicited their aid and adopted a blind person as another project.

This year a percentage of the proceeds from the July 4 Gigantic Fire Cracker Dance at the Florentine Gardens, 5955 Hollywood Blvd., will benefit the Exceptional Children's Opportunity School, formerly the Francis P. Williams School for Retarded Children.

Hours will be from 5 to 10 p.m. with music by Sammy Franklin's band. The members will be their own hostesses in crisp cottons.

Various artists have already consented to appear. Among those are: Earl "Father" Hines, Mary Emma (caricature) Watson, Amanada Randolph, Louise Beavers, Charles Owens, and Jimmy Cowan with Wini Orr as Mistress of Ceremonies.

What's Cooking?

By Barbara Mounts

June is the traditional month of weddings and graduations. Most homemakers feel that they are married to their household routine and would like to be graduated from the role of cook. However, like the school graduate, we find that each step forward brings added responsibilites and compensations.

An easily prepared, well balanced meal is the daily chore of everyone whose family appreciates variety in foods. Markets now offer a pleasing assortment of fruits and vegetables for our selection.

Did you every try swordfish? Prepare it in this manner and you will find your family asking for more next Friday.

Swordfish in Wine Sauce

2 pounds swordfish steak
3 tablespoons minced raw carrot
2 tablespoons minced onion
3 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
1 tablespoon flour
1 cup white wine
1 cup half and half or light cream
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
salt, pepper and paprika to taste

Cook carrot and onion in butter till soft. Blend in flour and add liquid gradually, stirring constantly. Cook five minutes, then add seasonings and parsley. Place swordfish in a greased baking dish and pour sauce over it. Bake at 375 degrees for 25 to 30 minutes. Baste fish frequently with sauce. Makes six servings.

To complete the meal bake tomatoes and potatoes in the oven with the fish. And remember to start potatoes about 15 minutes before putting in the fish to insure complete cooking. A mixed green salad with sour cream dressing and for desert a fresh fruit compote and your favorite beverage.

HINTS FOR EASE IN DOING THINGS

Use a wooden spoon when making sauces or puddings to insure smoothness.

Keep a small sponge in your jar of silver cleaner and use it to remove the slight tarnish stains on flatware when washing dishes.

There is a simple remedy for too much salt in foods. Add a little sugar; the amount of sugar will depend upon the saltiness involved. For a quart of soup, for instance, a tablespoon of sugar would be about right.

To remove odors from jars and bottles, pour a solution of water and dry mustard into them and let stand for several hours. Clorox may be used also.

GIVE ME SOME TRAVELING MUSIC!

We are working strictly ad lib this trip (minus notes, that is) and like Sonny Parker says in the song, that means we "feel like rocking, but we don't have our rocking shoes." 'Cause sometimes we're almost sure that our alleged mind is about as short as a mustard seed. But—away we go, never the less! . . . We made the town's rounds and bent elbows with enough sho' folks and many mo' folks to warant a visit to our armchair psychiatrist (after the brawl was over) to figure out our emotional instability. He advised us to "bone up" on how to win people and influence friends (that's sort of Dale Carnegie sideways) 'cause now-a-days it just doesn't pay to lose your head. Nobody has time to look for it. But it is to be remembered that if you can keep your head when everybody is losing theirs, then maybe you just don't understand what the situation is all about! . . . huh, Winni Orr?? . . . The most consoling feature of our round of events happened at Dynamite Jackson's place late Sunday night. It was when Nellie "Doll Leaguer" Brown's spouse Harold guested at Eddy Dudley's spinet and massaged the 88 in such a dynamic way as to make our past troubles seem as frothy as burgundy brew. And thanks to Lula Bendy (a lulu of a hostess) for the nightcap and kind words . . . The folks out at Larry Finley's place on the Sunset Strip (you're welcome, George Jay) ask us to page the sepia gal who wrote the hit tune "In A Garden of Roses" recorded by Joni James to tell her that the song is making much money and if she'll just make herself known a bundle of loot

Marquisattes Plan Season Fashion Show

The Marquisattes club is busy planning its first public affair entitled "Season Around the Clock." Those on hand will view fashion plus entertainment in the grandest style. The show is under the capable direction of Leontyne King.

Smart clothes will be modeled by some of the most popular members of the social set and the affair promises to be one of the most entertaining shows of its kind.

Music will be supplied by Taylor, St. Anne's adoption center will receive the proceeds from the show.

The Marquisattes hard working committee is headed by Irealine Thompson and she is being assisted by Betty Townsel, Diane Watson, Doris Tyres, Edith Collins and Beverly Wilkerson. The event is set for July 18, at the beautiful California club. Tickets can be obtained by calling RE. 0681 or RE. 3320.

Tuskegee Club Slates Benefit

The Tuskegee Club women are sponsoring their annual benefit June 27. This year they are featuring a baby contest which will culminate at the home of Major and Mrs. Frank Drye, 1032 S. Arlington from 3 to 5 p.m. The interest is high and competition is keen as participants sponsoring youngsters diligently work for the crown and other prizes. Several local college clubs are participating. Attorney Martha Malone Jefferson, local attorney, will make the presentations.

Another feature will be the "Children's Fashion and Talent Show." During this part of the program the audience will be entertained by children of all ages. The public is cordially invited to attend. Major and Mrs. Drye are looking to meeting former Tuskegeans whom they knew as students during Major Dry's 30 years as Bandmaster at the Institute.

Phi Gamma Delta Sorority Plans Noteworthy Evening

The leading sorority for business and professional women, the Phi Gamma Deltas, is setting the stage for its "Artists of Tomorrow" talent show which will be presented at the Armenian Center, 1501 Venice Blvd.

Merits Support

This event is sponsored by the organization to encourage the youth of today to further their education in the arts.

The winner of the Los Angeles Chapter will receive an all-expense paid round trip to compete against other chapter winners for the Grand Phi Gamma Delta Scholarship award. This year the contest will be held in Indianapolis, July 7 to 11.

Impartial Judges

Judges will be Hazel LaMarre, Bill Walker, Libby Clark, Carmen DeLavallade and Mr. Roberts from the Gray's Conservatory of Music.

Personal appearance of guest stars include: Johnetta Starks as master of ceremonies; Mel Bryant, star singer of "Your Show of Shows"; pianist Robert Mosely; the famous Bronze Mannikin models and the Latin orchestra of Pepe Fernandez.

Tickets can be purchased from the Hotel Watkins, the Dryden Dance School and all sorority members. Highlighting the affair will be a special dance sequence by the Dryden Dance School.

Wesley Gale Revue Caribe Sat., June 26th

Wesley Gale, celebrated West Indies choreographer and show producer, formerly with Katherine Dunham and her Dancers, has arrived from Jamaica and will hold auditions for his new "Revue Caribe" next Saturday night, June 26, at 8 o'clock at the Caribbean Art Centre, 2922 South Western Avenue. He is casting principal dancers and rhythm singers who have mambo, voodoo, calypso or guaracha routines.

"Revue Caribe" will premiere at the Wilshire Ebell Theatre next month, with dates in Las Vegas and San Francisco set to follow. Gaucho Van Der Hans, from the original Dunham troupe, will be the featured drummer.

Gale's Antillene collection of Haitian voodoo masks, Jamaican calypso murals and Martinique carnival batiks will be used as decor for his new stage drama.

Our Authors Hold Meeting

Our Authors Study Club held its regular business meeting last Thursday at the home of Mrs. Anna Morrow. First on the agenda was the reading of the revised constitution and by-laws. After approval and adoption most of the evening was spent in making plans for its forthcoming All-States tea and fashion review to be given July 25.

People and Places

ARTHUR LEE SIMPKINS—the noted international singer, currently appearing nightly at the Crescendo with the Earl Hines Ork, is a big hit with the Sunset Strip clan. It will be interesting to note just how many Social Clubs that never fail to ask the artist to appear on their benefit shows make it a group must to catch him before he closes!

WORKING PRESS—members of the typewriter set are speeding plans to incorporate. Basis for the organization is mutual understanding and self protection. Which will prove strength in unity!

THAT RELIC—of the 1875 vintage perched on the head of that Baptist sister during the welcoming ceremony of Emperor Haile Selassie was a disgrace to the creators of women's hats!

ETHEL WYATT — wife of the looted St. Louis taxicab owner caused a mild sensation at a party given for her by Aileen Kaiser. They couldn't keep their eyes off of the easterner's fabulous diamonds!

HASTON WOODLANE—may be the next musical find on the West Coast. Already he holds week-end concerts for the ofays, he sings in five languages and still attends music school!

MICHAEL CURTIZ—20th Century big time director was so busy sizing up a shapely brownskin the other eve out Western and W. Adams he didn't notice hotelman Bill Watkin's Buick and backed into it causing a slight damage!

HOWARD MOREHEAD — Jet mag's top west-coast lensman's terrific job at handshaking plus Major Robinson's breezy New York beat are the reasons why it moves from the newsstand at a rapid clip!

OUR SCHOOLS

JEFF SUMMER SCHOOL

Jefferson High School will open its doors for the summer session schedule July 6, and continue through August 13.

"Enthusiastic comments from students and resource people indicate that Jordan's first Career Day was a real success," said Mr. Angelo Meriwether, Vocational Services Secretary of the Urban League. "We of the Urban League were happy to endorse and work with this activity. It gives students a hinge to link their studies of today with their jobs of tomorrow."

The Fire Hazard Correction Campaign is conducted each year by the Los Angeles Junior Fire Department. All Elementary Los Angeles schools compete each year. Wadsworth won the top awards this year with a 14.6% rating. Charles Walker, a B6, won the position of Battalion chief for the school.

Chairmanships are Mmes. Clyde Bell, Hospitality; John Raino, Room Representative, and M. C. Snow, Membership.

Mrs. Karl Forney, retiring president, will call on Mrs. Millet for a report of the National Convention.

After the session refreshments will be served in room 8.

Mrs. Henry Safer, president-elect of Virginia Road P.T.A., attended a president elect conference at the home of Mrs. Edgar Zimmer, exposition Council president. Girl Scout troop 1272 sponsored by Virginia Road P.T.A. held a cook-out at Ladera Park. Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Eckerling of our P.T.A attended the tenth district program conference at the health center recently. Mrs. Irving Friedman, safety chairman, received a merit award for safety for the P.T.A. and also for the school at a luncheon of the National Safety Council at the police academy in Elysian Park.

Mrs. Irving Friedman is reporter for the group.

Mrs. W. Tatum Gives Party

Mrs. William Tatum was hostess to a lavish party in her home, 3912 West 27th Street, last week. Guests included Mesdames Thelma Narcisse, Minnie Boring, Viola Dunn, Doshia Redd, Marjorie Blye, Susie Webb, Margaret Scott, Mamie Waters, Eldora Jefferson, Georgia McCullough, Ethel White, Helen Thompson, Mineola McClennan, Margaret Glover, Alberta Joyce, Veni Corporal, Sarah Williams, Naomi Hazley, Blanche Hamilton and Amelia Lightner. Mrs. Walter Ervin assisted in entertaining the many guests.

Opportunity will meet you halfway but will not search through the directory for your address!

Mrs. Bronze California Sunday at Florentine

Final plans were laid for the Town and Gown's Mrs. Bronze California contest June 27 at the Florentine Gardens and now the Hollywood Canteen. Committee Chairman Celementine Roberston and her committee met with newspaperman Chazz Crawford last week and rounded out a very entertaining program for the event.

The judges of the contest have been announced as follows: Louise Beavers, Gertrude Penland, Libby Clark, Ted Schaffer, James Reese. Dr. Carl Carter, and Vernon Shields.

A turn-away crowd is expected and more than 25 California beauties will represent some of the most attractive matrons in the city.

The winner, along with her husband, will receive a plane trip to San Francisco with accommodation in the bridal suite of the popular Booker T. Washington hotel in the bay area.

Pool Opens Town Club

The plush Pacific Town Club swung open its doors to the annual opening of its elegant and beautiful swimming pool last Sunday afternoon.

It was a gala affair highlighted with excellent participation of the members and their guests.

A three piece Hawaiian combo provided a unique background around the swimming pool as the overflow crowd watched some excellent diving exhibitions by pool guard Herman Hurd and Robin Robinson who was flown in from San Francisco for this special occasion. He is the former high board diving champ.

Petite and pretty Anna Marie Robinson sang several selections during the afternoon.

The huge throng attending thoroughly enjoyed all the entertainment provided by the entertainment committee, headed by Bert Kenner, Steve Rowland, La Mar Hill, Peter Dauterive, Lawrence Lassiter, Arvant Benjamin, Horace Clark, Jr., Sherman Coleman and Millard Lacey. Joe Lewis, well known playground director, is chairman of publicity.

Western Party At Town Club

Wives of Pacific Town club members are planning a Western party at the Pacific Town Club on Saturday night (June 26) from 9 p.m. to 2 a.m. Guests are urged to wear western attire and to come prepared to dine on real western fare—barbecue and all the fixin's! Eatin' time is from 9 to 11.

Both square and ballroom dancing will be provided. Famous caller Dolly Lee and her set will give square dancing demonstrations. Prizes will be given to best-dressed cowboy or cowgirl and other prizes for games and western entertainment.

Chairing the affair are Mrs. Edward Ford, Mrs. Isaac Huddleston and Mrs. Lonnie Eberhardt.

New Baby for Chenault Clan

Mr. and Mrs. Irving Chenault, Jr., of East Los Angeles, are now the proud parents of two lovely daughters, Melanie Ann and Sona. Melanie Ann celebrated her first birthday recently and baby sister arrived last week.

Mrs. Chenault is the former Hattie Jean Johnson of South Gramercy Place. Rev. and Mrs. E. S. Johnson are the maternal grandparents, while Mrs. Cross of East Los Angeles and I. Chenault, Sr., of Detroit, are paternal grandparents.

Peter Claver Plans Pre-Holiday Dance

Council 96, South Los Angeles unit of the Knights of Peter Claver and its ladies auxiliary are introducing the fourth of July with a pre-holiday dance Saturday night, July 3. Sammy Franklin and his band will play for the affair which will be held at the Masonic Hall, 5904 South Broadway. Alvin Harris and Albert Lane are chairman and co-chairman of entertainment committee

Beta Phi Sigma Pledges In Candle Light Service

Twenty-one prospective pledges attired in traditional white were conducted in a candle light service Sunday afternoon, at four thrity o'clock, at the home of Dean Violette Dancy, 2224 4th avenue by the members of Beta Pi Sigma Sorority. The lighted candles of the group with those of the sorors made an adequate background for the impressive ceremony. Each member welcomed the group after the song and prayer which completed the service.

Present were: Opal Clifton, Julianne Blackman, Ola Mae Early, Emily Jackson, Connie McKinney, Beatrice Metoyer, Oteka Moore, Ellen Savage, Evelyn Tennell, Lena Washington, Cynthia White, L'Tanya Griffin, Lillian Brashier, Mary E. McNeill, Beverly E. Moore, Daisy L. Payne, Carnelle Y. Tucker, Anna C. Turner, Clariss L. Washington, Theodosia Washington, Marian Young, pledges and members Roberta Austin, Violette Dancy, Helen Gaines, president; Una Green, Blanche Hall, Erlene Howard, Maggie Rawls, Essie Robertson, Gertrude Fowler, Louise Glover, Georgie Caldwell, Lucille Foreman, Eunice Rumford, Mamie Lee and Vashti Alexander.

Dance Recital at Rogers Park

Miss Betty Martina, head of the Betty Martina Studio of Dance, announced that the scheduled 4th Annual Dance Recital by students of the school for June 27 in Will Rogers Memorial Park auditorium has been postponed.

CLUB SETS DANCE PLANS JUNE 26

The Amaranth Social Club held its regular meeting and devoted most of the evening in completing details for its forthcoming Cotton Dance June 26 at 2103 S. Harvard Blvd.

The event promises to be a success, which will reward the hard-working members for their effort. Club members are: Virgie Bertrand, Barbara Johnson, Eleanor Jordan, Rose Martin, Nora Thompson, Dorothy Stewart, Gloria Roberts, Cora Kelly, Credia Sawyer, Haroldine Smith and advisor William Haygood.

KERRY JACKSON and HAL MILLER

You're right, it is kinda hard to write a column that borders on the scandalous 'cause people don't always live up to their reputations of doing "Doity" deeds . . . In fact there wasn't a case of "Under the board activity" recorded for the entire weekend . . . (on paper that is) . . .

So don't ask us what we uncovered this week because we gonna tell you just what we told the editor . . . "NUDDINK" . . .

And away we go . . . Jet photog Howard Morehead has eyes for women . . . This is a scoop? . . . Lt. Sherril Luke is doing a lot of swimming where he's stationed . . . Texas. . . . He was stricken with the cramps (the male variety) but was pulled from the officers' pool before cashing in his chips.

The Scrollers dance is slated for the weekend. . . . Understand it's been christened "Summertime Roundup". . . . Put it on your Friday night datebook. . . .

We hear that one of the better parts in the forthcoming "Carmen" production was unanimously awarded to Walter (Smitty) Smith. . . . Quoting one of the casters, "It wouldn't be a show without Walt". . . . Percy McIntyre, 't is said, will trundle down the aisle of no return (guess you couldn't call it that with the divorce rate so high) with some fellow we haven't had the displeasure of testing grips with . . .

PEOPLE AIN'T SAY'IN NOTHIN' BOUT

Teddy Williams being sober at Roy Loggins Barbeque place T'other A.M. . . . That cat was so "gigglie" he almost turned down the offer to purchase some of Roys good vittles. . . . Looks like a Tweedsman column, huh?

The "game flame" a loco lad showed with at the RO KA WI's deal Free-day eve. . . . Boy's were sayin she could be had for the price of a "Thoda Watah".

The way Theatrical editor Chazz Crawford who's M . . ing The Town And Gown'ers Mrs. Bronze . . . California Show will put them on the map. . . . They better start talkin 'cause he's written his own material . . . DA DA DA DAT. . . . OTHER STUFF. . . .

Socially speaking . . . Ann Bradford's coming out event which was attended by the socially prominent was without a doubt an affair to remember. . . . This lavish example of how to make the elite stand up was attended by such notables as Att. Earl Broady, Dr. and Mrs. Phyrom Taylor, Frank and Norma Harvey, Lois Russ, Nira Hardon and Lorenza Wallace, Carmen Ellsworth, Fred Hardon, Att. and Mrs. Ivan Johnson, Duquense Dickey and Judy Picou.

The Cavalcade . . . The 10th Annual Cavalcade of Jazz was just one of the many Sunday events we crowded into our "must make that" calendar.

Music makers, Louie Jordan and Perez Prado were standouts musically as were beauty contest participants, Bev Wethersby and Beverly Harris. . . . It was a close contest with Wethersby garnering top honors as Queen for the day. . . .

Delta's are in the news again. . . . It seems that the Pyramids would have enough work on their hands (with the formal and all, July 17) without challenging the Ivy leaf pledges to a "hair raising" volleyball game at Denker playground Saturday.

It really is nice weather for the beach. . . . And many of the college kids are taking advantage of it daily. . . . As our sources of information are usually feminine we only heard tell of the female excursionists. Some of them were . . . Mary Alice Walton, Wilma Johnson, Charlotte Oliver, and Eva Williard. . . .

Later, . . . later. . . . later . . .

Bridge Pointers

By 'KENNY' SCOTT

The scoring in duplicate bridge is a factor which must be constantly thought of. This is especially true of part score contracts. These are the contracts on which it is best to take a small sacrifice rather than make a small contract. Contracts under game are played more frequently than game contracts, and are often far more difficult, yet many players still defend them badly.

The first defense against a contract of this type is aggressive bidding. By this we mean bidding opponents one trick (or more) higher than they can make. They will always be uncertain whether to bid one more or pass, sometimes either way they get a bad score. In any case, they are almost certain not to double.

Air-Tight Defense

The next step is airtight defense against the play of the hand. But most defense is not airtight. So if defense has raised the declarer above the margin of safety, his chances for a good score have been that much improved.

This hand was played recently and illustrates the point.

North and South are vulnerable.

The west player had two chances to pull this hand from the fire and each time he failed. A bid of one spade on the first round is a must. On the second round he knows that North's "one no-trump" really means "one no hearts" and shows a minimum hand. And after all East did bid. West should bid two spades over two hearts and possibly push South up one higher which would clearly be one too high. A pass is the worst possible move.

Of course all the experts say it couldn't possibly happen to them. The hand does appear to be simple, yet it was played as shown, and East and West got a bottom. Perhaps for the very reason of its simplicity it is a good example.

West can make two spades against all but perfect defense, and a fifty point set is still a very good score.

South did make two hearts.

Classes as usual each Tuesday evening at 7:30 p.m. at the YWCA.

Around the Clock Fashion Show Set

The social set is looking forward to the Marquisattes coming fashion show titled "Fashions Around the Clock" to be held at the California club July 18 from 5 to 9. Popular club women Leontyne King will direct the show and entertainment will feature the dancing of Justine and Phillips. La Van Landry and others. Tickets are available from any member of the group.

MELBA BALLENGER—the pretty brownskin telephone company receptionist is being missed from her Vernon Street office.

PHOTOGRAPHERS — local lensmen are voting that Count Basie and Louis Jordan share honors as two of the most personable artists in their field. They never turn the boys down!

FOUR MINUTE MILE—Cops nabbed a brother making a hasty exit down a westside street the other early a.m. Everything was in order, except that the brother was only clad in some brilliant shorts. Police later recovered missing garment (pants) from a much married sister's apartment!

GOODYEAR—a well known Western avenoo gas station attendant is holding an old wreck, a rubber check handed to it by that looted Manhattan Street apartment owner's boyfriend. Boys would like her to pick up said items since she's getting $85.00 a month for those closets!

B.V.As—are planning to make it an all out effort to land club member Bo Franklin the Miss 102 title. Cagy Alyce Key says she ain't trusting the ofays at the ballot boxes so to keep things unlike Walter Gordon she plans just to be along!

EARL WRIGHT—Veteran newspaperman in these parts a few seasons ago dropped a line from New Orleans and offered Abie Robinson the service of two torpedoes with itchy fingers to care for his troubles!

GERALD WILSON—blew into town to complete details to bring his sensational band to town soon!

MACEO BIRCH—dropped his manager job with Count Basie to sign a contract with King Kong west-coast hair straightening firm!

LUCILLE HORN — gave up her disc-jockey venture in Pasadena for a sure thing out at General Hospital.

JANIE WOODS—busy prexy of the popular Las Primeras club was floored with a nasty cold. Her doctor ordered her to bed for a few days!

FRANCOIS ANDRE—film player was one of the many panic-stricken artists who ran for cover when a group of ten bull elephants attempted a stampede during the filming "Jupiter's Darling," starring Howard Keel and Esther Williams in Sky Mountains last week.

WM. G. BURRELL—Exalted ruler of Pacific Coast Lodge No. 1350 I.B.P.O.E. of W. will head a group of delegates to the Elks convention scheduled for Sacramento June 23 to 27.

SOUND TRACK

will drop in her lap. The song was either submitted in N.Y. or L.A. Winchell will carry this plea in his column sometime this week (Gee whiz, we're in fast company!) . . . Well, suh, the Bronze Mannequins fashion show last Sunday sundown was a thrill a minute. Altho' we'd have liked to have seen their talent in a larger house, we hurry to add that those gals really strut those drygoods. Every clothes-hoss in the well dressed stable is a fine stallion with a dreamboat quality. And it was nelly bout always smooth sailing. Wini Orr did her usual smooth job as commentator and brought on the hard working whistle bait in fine style! . . . They just never understimate the power of a woman nor the power of the press! . . . Enjoyed a sandwich with piano-vocalist Kitty White at Larry Finley's who made us smile whe nshe told of the guy who strolled into the Hob Nob club (that night) where she's working, in formal attire from the waist up and just his shorts from the waist down. He was greeted warmly by his gal friend, Kitty says the chick must have loved the fellow 'cause he had real knobby and skinny knees! . . .

MORE DIARY OF A NEWSBOY!

Enjoyed the Doll League affair at Florentine Gardens back-chatting with Suzette Harbin, the Randolph sisters (Lil and Amanda), the newlywed Walter Millers, social arbiter Jessie Mae Beavers, the Courier's Marilyn Holder and Joe Adams (with a crewcut for the Carmen Jones part, and who brought us up to date on his Korean trip) . . . Undercover hound, Kerry Jackson, who has been covering the Father Devine hearings in court for this sheet, says that Divine's followers tacke him each time he appears and pin him against the wall with dire threats of the impending doom that's due him for writing those "scandalous" thing about them in this tabloid! . . . Alyce Keyes says she saw a piece about us in a national magazine last week and that she would like to manage us from this moment on if we'll just let her know who our next contender is. And we're real damp-eyed over the mail we have received from Eastern friends who want to know if we're alright after reading the Jet item about our being involved in an o' fashioned donnybrook. And on the local scene pretty dancer - model Paulette Easley who phoned us to say she was concerned after viewing our boy Major's item! Of course we're alright. The other guy parted friends with this scribe. And neither one of us are feeling any pain, huh Joel? . . . Paulette (who was formerly with Larry Steele's Smart Affairs revue) told us that this very night dancer Lon Fontaine, along with thrush Mable Scott and harpist Olivette Miller will open the '54 edition of Larry's show in Atlantic City, New Jersey! . . .

Have you been over to Wesley Gale's art shop lately to vitw his "nudes"? . . . We're emceeing the Tow and Gowners "Mrs. Bronze Calif." show Sunday at Florentine Gardens. Y'all come! . . . we had a swinging rehearsal with the gals last wee kat Mrs. Clementine Robertson's home!

Angels Tell It To Judge

said that he "gave Purity Love $200 for safe-keeping," but that when he asked for it she wouldn't give it back.

Gentle Dove

Gentle Dove, post office employe, spoke in low, impressive tones, telling the court firmly and yes, gently, how she turned over $500 toward purchase of a lot for the church following an appeal by Purity Love in 1948, after Miss Love had told them that she herself had "given her all."

During the course of the years, Miss Dove recounted, she had given Miss Love nearly $1000, and in addition she had donated many hours of work. She said that although she attended every meeting at the church, she had never been told that the Merle Norman Cosmetics bldg., 1659 17th street, Santa Monica, the property in dispute, had been transferred to Miss Love's name.

Midway through the trial, defense attorney Z. B. West made a motion for non-suit, but his motion was denied.

Disabled Vet Prominent in City Groups

James W. Knox, 63-year-old veteran of World War I, is still living, though insecurely, at the Soldiers' Home in Sawtelle.

Knox, whose appeal for full pension payments is pending with the Veterans Administration, was told he must take an enforced 60 - day furlough from the home because he failed to report for detail work. He has protested the notice.

The veteran is a member of the Civil Service Peace Officers Association of California, the Zion Hill Baptist church, James H. Wilson Lodge No. 68 F. and A. M., and the 92nd Buffalo Post of the American Legion No. 532. He is an honorary member of the Adams Blvd. Civic Neighborhood Cheer club, of which Mrs. Susan Mingleton is president.

Before coming to Los Angeles in 1936, he was a member of the Municipal League in Philadephia, and prior to that, in 1935 he was commissioned organizer of the Southern Tenants Farmers Union in St. Francis and Cross Counties in Arkansas.

In 1921, Knox won first prize at the Industrial Sewing School in Philadelphia for skill in trouser making, after a little over three years of study.

At the Cheli Air Force Base in Maywood, where he was employed for nine and one-half years, he won two medals for marskmanship, one as a pistol expert and one as a sharpshooter.

California Eagle about his sad plight, so freely, in fact, that the reporter gained the impression that perhaps he did not know the newspaper's complexion.

No Prejudice

About half way through the interview he stopped short and began asking about the paper's identity. Then he assured us in the most positive terms that he has "absolutely no racial prejudice whatsoever." He thinks Negroes are "very, very fine citizens," but their presence "decreases property values," and besides there's an "unwritten law in Huntington Park against Negroes." Additionally, other tenants in the Seville avenue building are threatening to move, and, Einer says, he faces a loss in income of $175 a month.

Dr. Robert M. Foglesong, who was formerly connected with the Central Emergency hospital at 7th and Central, rented office space in Einer's building on Seville avenue. He took over the lease from a Dr. Young who reportedly had previously obtained permission from Einer to sublease.

Asked to Move

Dr. Foglesong, after he located in his new offices, instituted an extensive advertising campaign in various newspapers, including the California Eagle. His two assistants are Miss Dolores Taylor and Miss Thelma Augustine. Many of his former patients, among whom were a number of Negroes, are coming to him at his present offices for treatment.

Last week Dr. Foglesong told the Eagle that Einert had asked him to cancel his lease. He also learned, through the grapevine, that there has been much grumbling in Huntington Park since he moved in and that the "people are up in arms."

Dr. Foglesong says, however, he has no intention of moving out, and that he doesn't expect any difficulty, but just in case, he's notified the Sheriff's Department and they have promised to have their patrol car keep a close watch on the area.

— The Flavor of the West

yours in this great new beer

The flavor of the West is in mountain and desert, in the warm welcome of Western life,
in all the adventures of Western living.
California GOLD LABEL Beer is something new for Westerners to discover. Behind this fine beer is a brewing tradition unbroken since the times of the Covered Wagon.
Its future, we believe, lies in your enjoyment of it.

Watch for "The Flavor of the West" series of paintings by famous artists. Full-color reproductions for you, free.

Beginning later this month, California GOLD LABEL Beer will bring you a series of paintings of memorable Western scenes by famous American artists, interpreting "The Flavor of the West" for your lasting enjoyment. You will be seeing these beautiful pictures in full-color on billboards throughout California and also in Sunday newspaper supplements. You will be able to have your own reproduction—also in full-color—of each painting, suitable for framing, by sending your name and address as each picture appears to: "Flavor of the West," California Brewing Company, San Francisco.

California
GOLD LABEL BEER

Brewed by a great new Western brewery

CALIFORNIA BREWING COMPANY, linked with the pioneer West, is brewing California GOLD LABEL Beer in a superb modern plant with the finest modern equipment and a staff whose brewing skills are unsurpassed. The "Covered Wagon," adopted as the symbol of California GOLD LABEL Beer, is your reminder that this beer is a new, fine product in the best tradition of Western achievement.

South L.A. Battles Building of Slums

—Will Knock on Every Door—

READY FOR ACTION—A group of wide-awake boys and girls were all primed this week, ready to knock on every door in the South Los Angeles areas threatened with the creation of new "slums" through the erection of rows of slicked up barracks-type buildings, relics of jerry-built temporary wartime housing projects. The youngsters are ready to deliver copies of the "Eagle" informing residents of what is threatening their homes. The group was organized by dynamic evangelist, the Rev. Richard Brown, who is shown (center rear) checking route cards with his eager helpers.

NOT WANTED—Erection of barracks-type buildings, relics of temporary wartime housing projects, in South Los Angeles has aroused storm of protest. One of the "Not Wanted" buildings is shown above. There are 24 such buildings, each containing four units.

MRS. BRONZE CALIFORNIA—Lovely, bubbling Mrs. Toy Edwards won the coveted title of Mrs. Bronze California over a field of 30 contestants in the stiff Town and Gown Charity Club contest Sunday at the Florentine Gardens. The young mother will be awarded a week's free trip to San Francisco where she will check in at the Booker T. Washington Hotel.

Owners Eight New Slums in South L. A.

Residents of South Los Angeles who are fighting mad at having slums in the form of cheaply constructed, flat roofed, barracks-style structures placed right in their back yards received a notable lift this week when their battle was joined by the Rev. Richard Brown, militant pastor and aircraft worker of 12010 Bellhaven street.

The Rev. Brown and Mrs. Brown have undertaken the task of alerting every homeowner in the community to see to it that legal protests already set in motion are backed by the strongest type of united support.

To Tell Story

The Browns have gathered together a sizeable group of wide-awake young boys and girls, given them specific routes and alerted them to cover the area with copies of the California Eagle, explaining what is happening and organizing aid for the South Los Angeles Protective Association.

The picture center above gives a clear idea of the barracks homes, each containing four dwelling units with very small rooms, which are being placed cheek by jowl next to well kept, attractive single family homes, one of which is shown in the picture at the right.

Below Standard

Twenty-four of these temporary housing project buildings, formerly located in the Jordan Downs Public Housing project, which were built 10 years ago, have been purchased by two construction companies. Residents assert these buildings are far below present day building standards.

One of these developments, located east of Wadsworth and south of 120th street, is being put up by the Rogers Sales company, and a second, west of Wadsworth, is being handled by the Janis Investment company.

Policewoman Enters Plea Of Not Guilty

Attractive Mrs. Odessa Parks, a police woman for 10 years who aimed "wild" and shot and killed her husband, Hilliard Parks Green, in May, pleaded "not guilty" to the charge of murder when she appeared before Judge Mildred Lillie in Superior Court Tuesday.

Trial has been set for Sept. 13.

Mrs. Parks, who had been accorded the unusual privilege of being free on $1500 bail—very exceptional in murder cases—was again given her freedom on the same bail after the arraignment.

Atty. Earl Broady, who is representing Mrs. Parks, said that his client will claim that she fired in self defense. In substantiation of her plea, he asserted, she will show a long continuing pattern of violence and cruelty in her husband's treatment of her.

She will show, he continued, that several years ago she filed action for divorce on the grounds of cruelty and that she has documentary evidence of the truth of her allegations.

On Sunday evening, May 23, Hilliard Green left his home, 2325 10th avenue. As he crossed the lawn, a shot rang out. The bullet struck the window across the street. A second shot followed almost immediately.

Thugs Try to Rob Safe; Fell Rev. E. S. Redd

The Rev. Ernest S. Redd, 71-year-old assistant pastor of Trinity Baptist church, was set upon, seriously beaten and left lying unconscious and presumably dead late Thursday night.

His attackers were two young, six-foot thugs who tried unsuccessfully to force him to open the church safe. Police arrested two men who answered the description given by the Rev. Redd, and are holding them until the pastor recovers sufficiently to be able to confront them for identification.

In Hospital

Rev. Redd was taken by ambulance to University hospital, suffering from severe bruises around the head and face, and chest injuries.

X-rays indicated that there were no broken bones or other serious complications, but he was still in the hospital Tuesday and visitors were being restricted to members of the family and a few close friends and fellow ministers. He is expected to return home the latter part of the week.

The Gospel Chorus had just finished rehearsing at the church, 3421 S. Cimarron about 11 o'clock Thursday night. The Rev. Redd was locking up when he was accosted by two men 22 or 23 years old.

Demanded Combination

One of the thugs threatened: "This is it!" and struck his victime in the face, breaking his glasses and knocking him down. Then they dragged him into the auditorium of the

Driver Who Nicked Nixon Found Tipsy

The bats that were in Harold Belfrey's belfry the day he ran into Vice President Richard Nixon's private car must have been tipsy, decided Municipal Judge Ben Koenig Monday when he found Belfrey guilty of drunk driving the day of his fateful accident.

Belfrey, who banged into the automobile occupied by Nixon and his aides and then ran into a carload of secret servicemen June 12, was found to be intoxicated by arresting officers.

Belfrey, aircraft assembler who lives at 1915 E. 124th street, was given the verdict Monday and told that a probation report would be made and sentencing pronounced July 14.

Nixon, accompanied by Whittier College reception committee members, was en route to Whittier to deliver the commencement address.

Judge Orders Detroit to End Housing Segregation

DETROIT — Following the policy handed down by the Supreme Court in the San Francisco public housing case, the Federal Court here this week banned segregation in local federal projects.

Judge Arthur F. Lederle ordered the Detroit Housing Commission to put an end to its jim-crow policy and open all of its units to everyone regardless of race or color.

The commission was specifically ordered to cease denying Negroes the right to lease any unit anywhere in its housing projects; to cease maintaining separate lists of eligible Negro and white applicants; and to cease maintaining segregated public housing projects.

Judge Lederle ruled that the "separate but equal" doctrine in public housing is a violation of the Fourteenth Amendment.

The order was issued in a suit filed in 1950 by the NAACP.

RUNNER UP — Fannie Rodgers, mother of three children, was a runner-up in the recent Mrs. Bronze contest. Mrs. Rodgers is a housewife in the West Temple area and is mighty fetching to look upon.

Wife Denies Guilt; Claims She Killed In Self Defense

Sad eyed Mrs. Genevieve Monroe, accused of the hammer and knife murder of her husband in a fashionable West Adams apartment early in April, goes on trial for her life today, Thursday, on the 8th floor of the Hall of Records.

Expected to appear at the trial and probably to be an important witness is attractive, blonde Rita Malcolm, of Burbank, whose involvement with the slain man was reportedly an element in the slaying.

Mrs. Monroe, Attorney Earl Broady told the Eagle, will plead that the killing was done in self defense.

Beat Her

Her husband, 34-year-old James Monroe, beat her cruelly and often, she claims, and frequently taunted her with his love interest in the statuesque blonde.

He would tell her, she asserts, of the weekends he spent in Miss Malcolm's company at one of the city's finest hotels.

She also claims that she worked for two years after their marriage so that he could go to school, where he learned to be an engineer, later getting a job at Lockheed.

Mrs. Monroe, a riveter, says that every week right after she was paid her husband would come to her and demand that she turn over her pay to him. If she refused, he would beat her, she said.

Residents of the fashionable apartment building, 3207 W. Adams blvd., were shocked and terrorized early on the morning of April 3 when the blood-soaked body of James Monroe was discovered some 30 to 36 hours after he was stabbed to death.

Mrs. Monroe reportedly admitted the slaying to police, stating that they quarreled and that the quarrel led to violence.

Police laid the slaying to jealousy over Rita Malcolm. But in an exclusive interview with the Eagle shortly after she was taken to jail, Mrs. Monroe said: "She gave me plenty of trouble, it's true. She'd come to our apartment for him. She'd call me and tell me she was out with Jimmy. She even told my landlord Jimmy was going to send me back to Chicago and she was going to move in with him.

Denies Jealousy Motive

"But that's not why I killed him. I had to protect myself."

The night after Monroe was killed, his distraught wife stayed in the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Steward who SACRAMENTO (NPB)—Charles W. "Chops" Lawrence of Goodwill Lodge, Bakersfield, was elected president of the Pacific States Association, Improved Benevolent Protective Order of Elks of the World, here June 26 during the organization's 24th annual convention. James M. Stewart, retiring president of the association, declined to seek re-election.

The Daughters of the Pacific States Association, meeting separately, re-elected Dtr. Dorothy Reese of Long Beach, president for 1954-55. Both association presidents become delegates to the Grand Lodge in Chicago in August. Wendell Hill, secretary of Golden West Lodge No. 86, Los Angeles, was re-elected by acclamation.

Greeted by Mayor

Members of the association were welcomed to Sacramento by Mayor W. A. "Jimmie" Hicks, while the Capital City Lodge No. 1147 and Camellia Temple No. 831 acted as hosts, under the capable leadership of Exalted Ruler Orline Ashley and Daughter Ruler Nona Henry.

Highlights of the convention were the oratorical contest, won by 17-year-old Leona Jackson of Kerman High school, Fresno; and the Civil Liberties program, masterminded by Director of Civil Liberties Adolphus B. Clay. Assistant Director Vince Monroe Townsend, and Robert Bentley Strather. Others who addressed the Civil Liberties meeting held Thursday evening were James M. Stewart, and Grand Esquire Henry W. Davis.

State leaders who greeted the visiting brothers and daughters included Lieut. Gov. Harold J. Powers; Assemblyman William B. Rumford of Berkeley; and Atty. Gen. Edmund G. "Pat" Brown.

God's Angels Put 'Hex' On Reporter

Angry angels, eyes glinting with hostility, copies of the California Eagle in their hands, edged close to newspaper reporter Kerry Jackson Friday as he approached the courtroom of Judge William J. Palmer.

Inside, the trial of Purity Love, accused of embezzling $115,000 worth of property and funds which allegedly belonged to Father Divine's Santa Monica heaven, was in progress.

'You'll Burn!'

"You're going to burn eternally!" hissed a middle-aged woman, emphasizing her remarks by shakes of her head and the repeated pointing of her finger menacingly at the "Eagle" she clutched in her hand.

"Father won't like this!" said another.

"You're going to die!" added a third. "I've put a curse on you."

A man, as irate as the woman, threateningly reminded the reporter of the fate that befell another newspaperman who had written "wrongfully" about Father, and who had been struck down by a heart attack. "We all expected it," he said. "We were all sure it was going to happen. He knew better. He knew what he was doing. But you're young, so I'm warning you."

Jackson attempted to explain that a reporter's lot is a hard one, that it is his job to print what happens, to give both sides to a controversy, to present the facts.

But the faithful were full of

Orchid Glaze Meets Death In Car Crash

Former City College coed, Miss Orchid Glaze, 19, of 8110 Miramonte avenue, was killed early Monday in a traffic crash as she was returning with friends from an excursion to the beach.

Miss Glaze was thrown from the car and killed instantly in the collision that occurred at Normandie avenue and Pacific Coast Highway in the Harbor district.

Well Known

The five passengers in Miss Glaze's car and the driver of the other automobile, Thomas Prout, 65, of 2056 Gale avenue, Long Beach, were all injured and were taken to Harbor General hospital. None of their injuries, however, were fatal.

The attractive, cheerful young woman, whose mother lives in Fontana, was well known locally.

She came to Los Angeles from Crowly, La., and attended Carver Junior High school and Jefferson High, later entering

Mabel Gray Lends Support To Youth Camp

After a visit to the youth camp last Friday, Mrs. Mabel V. Gray, prominent civic leader, announced her acceptance of a position on the Advisory Board of Ormsby Village for Youth Foundation.

"I see in this Ormsby Village a grand opportunity to build socially constructive human relations," said Mrs. Gray. "Here is an organization that truly practices what Americans have been preaching for generations, an organization which has for three years been doing what the Supreme Court has just decreed that all Americans should do in the matter of eliminating segregation from American life."

During the personally-conducted tour of the Village, Mrs. Gray was tremendously impressed by the scenic beauty of the 200-acre tract and its great possibilities for serving many of our community's youth.

Said Mrs. Gray: "Ormsby Village for Youth is now serving 25 teen-age boys and girls each two-week session during the season. Architects are preparing plans to build more facilities so that they can serve 100 teenagers each period. This is a community project in which we all have a profound responsibility to join in and to help it grow.

"Briefly, Ormsby Village believes that by providing creative opportunities for young people of all races and creeds to live and play together in a summer youth village and to participate in programs of intercultural activities, we are thereby contributing to the realization of some of the great promises of our democratic society."

manage the West Adams building. The next morning Steward found Mrs. Monroe trying to drink a bottle of iodine. When he prevented her and questioned her, she confessed the slaying.

Officers investigating found two butcher knives, a ball-pin hammer and a pair of women's shoes, all of which they claimed were weapons used in the murder.

Eagle Story Brings Cheer To Mississippi Mother

Several weeks ago the Eagle carried a sad story about a needy Mississippi mother of 10 children who in desperation had appealed to a white woman in San Francisco to give her a small loan so she could pay her grocery bill.

She only needed $20, she said, and just wanted the money until she could pay it back to keep the store keeper from "jumping on" her and "cussing her out" because she couldn't pay.

Mrs. Octavia Johnson, of Oakland, Miss., had formerly "done washing" for Mrs. Kay Johnson, who now lives in California, and who through the years has befriended her.

This time Mrs. Kay Johnson was unable to help, but she sent the letter to her friend, Charles D. Wherry, who in turn brought the appeal to the Eagle.

Wherry was back again this week. But this time he had good news. Two readers, Clarence S. Smith, 1105 E. Vernon, and Mrs. C. T. Begnigo, 4420 Wesley avenue, had seen the appeal, had been moved by the mother's plight and had sent her some money to help her over the rough spots.

This week Wherry got a pencilled letter, laboriously written, from Mrs. Octavia Johnson. The letter said:

"I got your kindest letter and I was so glad to hear from you. Oh, yes, I have paid my bill and I do thank you for helping me. Thank you all and thank Mis' Johnson for letting you know about me. I have paid the bill and I thank you for your kindness.

"I am a child of God and I know you are for helping me out so I highly appreciate your goodness. Good luck and goodbye."

Explosion at Plant Injures 9 Workers

An early evening explosion that left the Berg Metals Corp. plant, 2652 Long Beach avenue, a mass of twisted metal and debris Monday evening, injured nine employes, all Eastsiders.

The injured men were eating their lunch in an enclosed room on the second floor when the explosion occurred about 8 p.m. The quick thinking of the men themselves plus previous preparedness for just such a possible eventuality were credited with saving the workers from perishing in the flames.

Witnesses stated: "It was hard to believe that the men escaped with their lives."

A tremendous mushroom-shaped cloud shot up into the air immediately after the explosion. Some observers feared it might be a miniature atomic blast.

Police cars and private automobiles sped the injured to Georgia Street Receiving Hospital.

Seven of the nine victims were transferred later to Queen of Angels Hospital for treatment of cuts and burns. They were Booker T. Washington, 42, of 1137 E 28th St.; Isom Johnson, 54, of 1647 E 36th St.; Jonah Allen, 39, of 1628 E 33rd St.; Joseph Taylor, 60, of 10358 Grape St.; Doylus Green, 32, of 1538 N Evergreen St.; Willie Collins, 49, of 933 E 11th St., and Willie L. Gibson, 35, of 128 E 110th St.

Released after treatment at Georgia Street Receiving Hospital were Lee Smith, 30, of 1553½ E 23rd St. and Clint Crenshaw, 53, of 1408 E 27th St.

Man Shot to Death In Gambling Fight

Two vice squad detectives were cruising the Fifth street area Thursday morning when they spotted a man walking from a Gladys Ave. parking lot with a smoking gun in his hand.

Officers R. D. Long and L. A. Chiarodit had no trouble disarming Rufus Elliott, a postal clerk at Terminal Annex, who minutes before, reportedly had shot and killed 29-year-old Lewis Tackwood over what witnesses said was a gambling debt.

According to police reports, Elliott, 32, and his victim had engaged in bitter argument the previous night but their disagreement did not come to a head until they met the following morning in front of the Morris hotel.

Witnesses said that Tackwood was standing in front of the hotel when Elliott drove up in his late model Cadillac and got out. As he was entering the building, presumably to get something to eat, he saw Tackwood and asked him if "everything was all right," whereupon Tackwood waved him away with a gesture of the hand.

Elliott then allegedly brandished a gun and began chasing the victim through the hotel and down Fifth street until he caught up with him in a parking lot on Gladys Ave.

Shoots Five Times

Tackwood leaped behind one of the parked cars and threw up his hands as if to ward off the bullets. Elliott reportedly shot once and the victim fell to the ground. Elliott then walked slowly around the car and stood over Tackwood and fired four more shots into his semi-lifeless body, eye-witnesses claimed.

As life was swiftly ebbing from his body Tackwood got to his feet and ran for a half block before succumbing to his wounds.

Elliott is being represented by Atty. Crispus Wright, who told the Eagle that his client will plead not guilty on grounds of self defense.

He said there were two witnesses to the argument between the two men, and that they heard Tackwood threaten Elliott. He gave the names as Gene Feathery, 844 E. 62nd street, and James Smith, whose address was not given.

The date for the preliminary hearing has been set for Friday at 9:45 a.m., division 4, in the Hall of Records.

Jim Crow Fights Delaying Action

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — The Board of Education last week announced that in September, Harris and Stowe Teachers and Junior Colleges will be merged, with the united institution being housed in the Harris building.

The city's public high schools will be integrated in February, 1955, and elementary schools in September, 1955.

New school boundaries will be drawn "to provide the best use of the facilities." Teachers will be appointed from a single rated list compiled from examinations, without regard to race or color. School authorities may transfer students to relieve over-crowding.

Intermarriage

COLUMBUS, Ga. — Muscogee County Ordinary Henry H. Hunter Jr. last week issued a marriage license to a white soldier and a Japanese divorcee. Threatened with action by Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook, Hunter replied that the state law against mixed marriages is invalid because no appropriation was ever made to carry it out.

"And if it isn't void, it ought to be," he asserted.

But Hunter wasn't so radical that he thought the law should be outlawed where Negroes are concerned. Had either of the parties been of African descent, he said, he would not have issued the license.

The newlyweds, Robert D. Fisher and Miss Temoke Kikushi Stayton, left Georgia immediately after their marriage for Philadelphia.

One Teacher's List

WASHINGTON — More than 300 applicants for teaching jobs in elementary and junior high schools in the District of Columbia took their first unsegregated examination last week.

White and colored school boards merged to administer the examination. Separate lists have been scrapped and all names will be placed on a single list. Teachers will not be permitted to select the schools where they will teach. Candidates will be apointed in the order of rank in the examinations.

The capital's PTA likewise dropped the color bar.

Don't Rap On Door

JACKSON, Miss. — A Baptist spokesman for the Mississipi State Convention last week said his church group is not bound by the "surprise" action of the Southern Baptist Convention which ordered adoption of non-segregation in Southern Baptist churches at a recent St. Louis meeting.

Leaders said they didn't want Negroes rapping on the doors of white churches expecting to be admitted.

TO BEAT LAW

DALLAS, Texas—Alderman C. K. Bullard last week told a meeting of the Highland Park Town Council that the way to keep Negro children from attending the "better class" public schools in Greater Dallas is to discharge all Negro servants. Only Negroes who are members of servants' families are permited to live in Highland Park.

WANTS A HOME—This loveable little boy is looking for a mother and father to call his very own. He's one of the youngsters being cared for by the Los Angeles County Bureau of Adoptions. There will be a meeting July 13 at 7:30 p.m. at the St. Paul Baptist church to tell parents who want to adopt a child how to go about getting one.

Miller Calls Housing 'No. 1 Problem'

NASHVILLE The Institute on Race Relations at Fisk University this week heard housing described as the "Nation's Number One Problem" by Loren Miller, Los Angeles attorney and publisher of the California Eagle.

Pointing out that separate schools and separate public institutions of all kinds grow up where racial residential segregation is practiced, Miller warned his listeners that the South will "intensify its efforts to impose residential segregation in order to keep separate schools."

The problem was described as nation wide and the speaker pointed out that cases challenging racial segregation in housing had arisen in the north and west as well as in the south. He scored FHA for permitting builders and subdividers to discriminate in the sale or rental of housing built with FHA insured funds. "Government neglects its duty to all of its citizens by such practices," he said.

Miller said that the fight against racial residential segregation "must be put in its proper perspective as a phase, and a very important phase, of our movement toward a democratic society."

An expert in the legal aspects of residential segregation, Miller was one of the attorneys in the race restriction cases of 1948 and argued last year's case in the Supreme Court which held that damages cannot be collected for the sale of race restricted property to Negroes. He headed California lawyers who obtained a decision this year outlawing segregation in public housing.

Thugs Assault Trinity Pastor church and demanded that he open the safe or give them the combination.

The pastor said he did not know the combination, whereupon the strong-arm bandits knocked him down again. The Rev. Redd lost consciousness, but when he came to and got to his feet, they once more felled him. Three times they floored him when he insisted he could not give them the combination of the safe.

Regained Consciousness

The pastor regained consciousness about 11:30 p.m., and despite his injuries dragged himself to the residence of Deacon Paul Cassell, 2279 W. 29th street.

The men had robbed Rev. Redd of a sapphire ring, gold watch, purse containing money and his personal check book.

The hospital and home phones of the elderly pastor have been flooded with calls. Six of Rev. Redd's children live in Los Angeles and they, together with his wife, Mrs. D. J. Redd, have been in constant attendance since the assault.

The Rev. Jonathon L. Caston, the church's minister is in Birmingham, Ala., attending a meeting of the Baptist Youth Congress. Advised of the attack, he wired back a message of sympathy and comfort. The Rev. Percy Williams, the Eagle was informed, will deliver the sermon at Trinity Baptist Sunday.

Attend Annual NAACP Meet

Local residents who are attending the 45th NAACP convention in Dallas this week are Dr. E. I. Robinson, president of the local branch; Dr. H. Claude Hudson; Atty. Herbert Simmons; Atty. Thomas Neusom; William Anderson and Woodrow Redo.

The convention opened Tuesday with some 700 delegates attending for the six day session.

Dr. Channing H. Tobias, chairman of the Association's Board of Directors, delivered the keynote address at the opening mass meeting at the Good Street Baptist Church.

Scholarship Student Gets B.A. Degree

Sylvia Griggs graduated from U.C.L.A. receiving a Bachelor of Arts Degree and a General Elementary Credential recently. Miss Griggs is a member of the National Educational Fraternity for Early Childhood Education, Delta Phi Upsilon and the Alpha Kappa sorority, which she will represent on June 29 at the sorority's regional convention in Seattle, Washington.

In 1951 Miss Griggs won a $500 scholarship and became a member of the German Student Exchange Project which is sponsored by the Southern California-Arizona Conference of the Methodist Church. The main purpose of the project was to build bridges of friendship and understanding. The countries visited were France, Switzerland, Holland, Denmark and England.

Sylvia's parents, U.S. and El-Rae Griggs, are both active in community life. Mrs. Griggs is Los Angeles District secretary to the Wesleyan Service Guild of the Methodist Church, member of Kappa Mothers and Assistance League of Out-door Life and Health Assn. Mr. Griggs is treasurer of the Board of Social Study and Action of the Methodist Church and a housing manager of the Los Angeles City Housing Authority. Miss Griggs' brother, 2nd Lt. Ulysses S. Griggs, Jr., is a graduate of U.C.L.A. School of Business Administration and is now serving in the United States Army, stationed in France.

Come September, Miss Griggs will become a probationary teacher in the Los Angeles City School System.

California Eagle

Published Every Thursday

The Eagle stands for complete integration of Negroes into every phase of American life through the democratic processes.

We favor:

1. FEPC on local, state and national levels.
2. Decent housing for all Americans.
3. Representation in Government.
4. Adequate old age pensions and social security.
5. Collective bargaining rights for all workmen.
6. Development and encouragement of Negro business.

We oppose:

1. Jim Crow in all forms.
2. Communists and all other enemies of democracy.

Loren Miller Editor and Publisher

The Wrong Outlook

Without presuming to tell City Attorney Roger Arenebergh what the law is, we do think that we ought to warn him that he got off on the wrong foot last week when he asked Fire Chief John H. Alderson and the Board of Fire Commissioners to "explain" the manner in which segregation in the Fire Department promotes departmental efficiency.

The inference is that if racial segregation can be shown to promote efficiency in a city department it is permissible. Such a doctrine is dangerous and, we think, quite contrary to the laws and public policy of this state.

In fact, Chief Alderson has always protested that he has pursued a segregated policy precisely because it is "for the best interests of the entire department."

If it is ever admitted that racial segregation can be justified on any ground, we are in for trouble. Every administrator can make out some kind of a plausible case for his own style of Jim Crow and defer its abolition until proof is adduced that it does not promote efficiency.

The fact of the matter is that race has no place in government. A man who works for the city is not a "Negro" or a "Mexican" or a "white man." He is a city employe, the equal of every other employe and entitled to exactly the same kind of treatment as his fellows. Any attempt to treat him differently, or to classify him on the basis of race, flies in the face of constitutional guarantees.

Not Enough Voters

Every election, whether primary or general, turns up the fact that Negroes lag behind other groups in the proportion of eligibles registered to vote. For example, the 62nd Assembly District has a large population in comparison with the other two districts in the 26th Congressional District but is woefully behind in the number of registered voters.

Sporadic efforts to cure this situation are always being made. Some of them accomplish fair results. None of them has ever really got to the bottom of things and reached the people who don't have their names on the voters' rolls.

What has been lacking, and is still lacking, is an all-out community drive with everybody behind it. Such a drive should be invested with razzle-dazzle and should enlist the active backing of community organizations, merchants, ministers and everybody else who knows how to read and write.

The fall elections will determine the destiny of California for the next four years. Those will be fateful years and it is mighty important to all Californians that the right kind of public officials be chosen for governor, senator, and other state offices.

We still think that a little careful planning ought to be done so that more voters will be registered and take part in selecting the men who will guide their destinies.

Dose Of Democracy

There can be no doubt that over the course of the years a good many objectionable practices have grown up in the sheriff's department. Subtle and unspoken discriminations operate to set bounds on the legitimate ambitions of Negro deputies.

Certain jobs and assignments have come to be regarded as "white jobs" or "Negro jobs" as the case may be. The very opposite should be true. Race or color should be no factor in the hiring, promotion or assignment of employes of the department.

It is to Sheriff Biscailuz's credit that when the NAACP presented him with a list of grievances he at once agreed to seek elimination of the abuses pointed out and went further to invite the Association to participate in helping make the changes.

Experience has taught us that recognition of grievances and even agreements for their elimination don't always mean that the things that ought to be done get done. That is especially true in large governmental departments where saboteurs can entangle everything in so much red tape that nobody can make heads or tails out of what is being done or ought to be done.

We're sure that the combination of the sheriff's willingness and the NAACP's zeal and determination will end up in the democratization of the sheriff's office. That will be a good thing for the sheriff, for Los Angeles and for the Negro deputies. A good dose of democracy always helps everybody.

Lomax Deserves Support

Loose talk in the 63rd District that some regular Democrats won't support Lucius Lomax because he had the temerity to seek, and secure, the assembly nomination in the face of the regular party endorsement for Walter Ballou, ought to be scotched by party leaders.

Lomax won the nomination in his district primarily because Negroes who live there want a Negro representative in Sacramento. They were joined by other Democrats who could, and did, see the justice of that position. Lomax supporters had in mind the fact that a Negro can't hope for nomination or election in any district where Negro voters are not decisive, despite his qualifications.

We don't suppose there are many Democrats who won't admit that Lomax is eminently qualified for the job he seeks. He stands head and shoulders above the incumbent, Delbert Morris, who has a slippery record on civil rights and a bad record on other issues of paramount importance to the people of his district.

Faliure of Democratic officials to support Lomax, and to give him wholehearted support at that, would leave a pretty sour taste in the mouths of Negroes in other districts.

There is a chance to rescue the district from the clutches of the Republicans and we hope the Democrats forget petty bickering and get back of Lomax.

Noisy Trouble Makers

Residents of Huntington Park who are protesting Negro patronage of physicians in that city are completely out of step with the times. We suspect that there are only a handful of such people but crackpots always make noise far out of proportion to their numbers and give off the impression that they are the majority.

The noise they make impresses, or perhaps frightens is the better word, such people as the owner of an office building in that city who has asked a tenant to move because he employs two Negro assistants and advertises for Negro patronage.

The talk about "unwritten laws" barring Negroes from Huntington Park is so much nonsense. There is and can be no legal method to keep any Negro citizen out of any municipality.

We hope the doctor who is the center of this controversy sticks to his guns and both retains his Negro assistants and continues to advertise for Negro customers. In time, and in a very short time, the noise will die down. Good sense will replace prejudice and Huntington Park will discover that Negro Americans are like all other people: some good, some bad and some indifferent.

One Man's Opinion

By LEON STEWARD

Usually when we write about a person we have been to see him, talked with him and taken notes. Such is not the fact about this person. We have known him for more than 35 years and have thought well of him continually all of that time. What we write, therefore, is without his assistance and without his knowledge.

Leon Steward

He was born down in Louisiane in a town where Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana and Oklahoma are cheek by jowl. He was the last of nine children. Coming last usually gives the child a chance to be much like his father or mother but also gives him an urge to rebel at the system which has served the others as well as a determination to be different if it "takes off his hide."

A Hellion

When his sisters tell about his youth they refer to him as a perfect little "hellion on wheels." He was ready to jump on them at the drop of a hat. He was always ready to run off from a job given him by his mother just as soon as she turned her back. In this far Southern town he had a white playmate whom he called "Johnnie" and many others of his own race. He got along pretty well at school. He was first sent to Bishop College in Marshall, Texas, just as all the other children from this Baptist home. After a year at Bishop he went to Fisk, from which his brother had graduated.

Wouldn't Tell

He was always neat in appearance. This trait brought him into difficulty with a policy made by the then president of Fisk U. The policy stated that young men should not use electric irons for pressing their suits. Someone had loaned our hero an electric iron which he put into use just in time to be caught in the act. This raised the president's ire. Our hero was invited to his office post haste.

"Whose iron was that?" the president asked. "You have found it in my room. Isn't that enough?' the student replied. "Do you refuse to name the owner of that iron?" asked his highness, the prexy, to which our man replied "Yes."

And for that Nathaniel Fearonce was suspended from Fisk. We wrote him a letter of commendation and we also wrote a letter to the president. We told him that we feared he would not be at Fisk long. He was not.

Fearonce's older brother being in Los Angeles, Nathaniel came here in 1922 to study medicine. Finding himself unable to enter medical college at USC at that time, he switched to dentistry. He shined shoes the first year and then entered USC dental college from which he was graduated in 1927. During his school days he satisfied the curiosity of his classmates by telling them that he was an African prince.

After graduating, he worked for two years getting the money for fitting up an office. In 1929 he opened an office in the building which is now the Bill Robinson Theatre. Walter Towns was his first patient. During the depression Fearonce conducted a free clinic for children. He was also a member of the trustee board of Independent Church.

Moved West

The years have rewarded our brother-in-law with a wide acquaintance. He has lived on the east side until recently when he either became lonesome for those who had left him behind or because he anticipated his rather recent marital adventure. Speaking of marital adventures reminds us that he has had a few but he has finally "struck his peace," which justifies, most certainly, his persistent effort. A real democrat — his friends are loyal to him as he is to them. They say he takes great care in his dental work. In fact many have told us that he is among the very best.

A community man, he has helped the YMCA, and is a member of the Western Knights F and A. M. Masons. He delights in either hunting or taking 35-millimeter pictures.

"He has a good heart, that brother-in-laws of yours," remarked a friend. "I'd trust him with any thing or any problem," he continued. And most assuredly would we.

Pure and Simple

By L. F. Palmer Jr.

One of the occupational hazards of a typewriter jockey is that chronic frustration that springs from the way money curves all around him without making contact.

Doctors haven't yet been able to determine why this filthy, green germ seems allergic to men who pound typewriters for a living. But, on reflecting, it could be simply a matter of smell. The stuff we put out could use a little chlorophyl.

Anyway, the lack of loot means a lot of things. Like putting up with streetcars. It could be that these monsters have brains. I don't know. But they seem to know whenever I'm running late. That's when they are running early.

Steel Stallion

And nothing, no nothing, is as slow as a streetcar that's killing time. I do believe these steel stallions would go backwards to waste time if they weren't afraid that the car behind might be running late.

Another thing about being broke. All you can do is read about money. Take that recent $50,000 party Jack Benny threw. And I do mean he tossed away that moolah. Or that second rate $30,000 reception some other character just hurled.

You turn the pages to see what's happening in baseball and before you get a chance to check up on your favorite team, there's a story about a million-and-a-half bucks wagered at a single race track in a single day.

High Schooler

Or you get the breath-taking news that some high school boy who is adept at throwing a baseball just picked up a real cool hundred grand just as a BONUS for signing a contract which will pay him in one season 10 times more than I can make in a year.

Or you leap back to the front page to see who else has troubles only to discover that a bunch of Chicagoans have anted up something like a couple hundred thousand or so to bring a Nazi submarine to the Windy City to go into a museum.

Gobs of Money

So everywhere you look in the paper, there's something about just gobs of money. And the way it looks, it's so easy to get—if you just aren't a writer. Let's forget the billions and trillions the politicians run through. I think they use play money. There just ain't that many dollars in the whole wide world.

Now that's off my chest, I'll get back to my early bird streetcars and my newspapers crammed with money stories. And I'll get back to jockeying that old portable. Who knows? Maybe I'll turn out a tome one of these days that'll be worth its weight in uranium.

And furthermore: I get to see my name in print. That's more than any old streetcar can say.

Loren Miller says . . .

LOREN MILLER

By the time this column gets in print I will be down in Nashville to discuss housing at the Institute on Race Relations at Fisk University.

Every time I go to the Institute I come back with loud declarations that I will never go South in the summer time again. It's hot in the day time and there are no cool nights.

I keep the promise for a year or so and then the first thing I know I have agreed to go back again.

The Institute convinced me that I should attend this year because housing is a mighty important topic and because it is supposed that I have something to offer.

I agree that the issue is important.

It is my candid opinion that racial segregation in housing is the nation's number one problem.

Wherever there is racial residential segregation there are bound to be separate schools no matter how much we may pretend to the contrary.

Jefferson High School is a Negro high school. So is Jordan. The reason is that they are located in the hearts of Negro communities and as a consequence draw Negro students from their immediate neighborhoods.

The same thing goes for grade schools in Los Angeles and everywhere else in the North and West.

As a general rule, Negro teachers are assigned to schools in Negro neighborhoods to give the schools a completely racial character. Happily, os Angeles is growing away from that practice to some extent. Not many cities are.

There is a tendency for Boards of Education to draw school boundary lines to put Negroe pupils in one district, white pupils in another. That is segregation but there isn't much you can do about it as long as residential segregation persists.

To cap the whole thing, all too many cities follow the plan that Pasadena has just been forced to throw in the legal ash can: they permit white students who happen to live in "Negro school districts" to transfer to other schools.

The South is going to seize on these northern and western tricks as the Supreme Court decision goes into effect.

Heretofore, southerns haven't been forced to depend on residential segregation to create and maintain separate schools. The law permitted them to order a Negro child to pass by one, or a half dozen schools to get to the Jim Crow school if necessary.

That won't go any longer. The South will now intensify efforts at residential segregation so that Jim Crow schools will grow up "naturally." That way it can go through the motions of obeying the Supreme Court and still keep its cherished institutions.

The only cure is the break up of residential segregation. That will take some doing but before you get discouraged think back and decide whether or not you believed five years ago that the Supreme Court would outlaw Jim Crow schools in 1954. The fact that the job is tough doesn't excuse any of us from shirking it.

If we don't wipe out residential segregation it will mire us all down in Jim Crow. And that goes for the North as well as the South.

Any time is train time . . . at the railroad crossing!

Survival is Everyone's Business, Says Professor

ATLANTA, Ga.—"It is a great tragedy that mankind's present ability to use wisely scientific techniques lags so far behind the development of these techniques," Dr. Lee Lorch, chairman of the Department of Mathematics at Fisk University, told an Atlanta University audience last week. "The problem now is to direct mankind," he continued, "to the place where vast scientific knowledge is exclusively a boon and not a menace."

Addressing the forum on "Mathematics and Nature," Dr. Lorch expressed his conviction that mankind will overcome its present dangers, and that it will go hard with anyone who gambles irresponsibly with dangerous toys.

Mind Unhampered

It should be clear, he asserted, that the creativeness of the human mind has served the human race well in its anticipation of problems and elaboration of thought which can at any unexpected moment prove necessary to man's material welfare. However, this requires an intellectual atmosphere in which the mind is unhampered by the heavy hand of a suspicious current orthodoxy or else science will be stifled.

Dr. Lorch noted that contemporary scientists are often accused of producing their work unthinkingly, with no regard for the social consequences of their technical creations.

What some scientists, for example, those working in certain inverted fields of scientific research, have done is to create instruments which can destroy. Scientists, he stated, now have a duty to alert the rest of mankind to the extent of the danger, and then to join, as a segment of the citizenry, with the rest of humanity to see to it that the constructive possibilities are realized and the destructive possibilities outlawed.

Survival is everybody's business, the speaker emphasized in closing, the laity's as well as specialized scientists.

Dr. Lorch, who was introduced by Dr. Vishnu Gokhale, chairman of the Department of Mathematics at Atlanta University, formerly taught on the faculties of Hampton Institute, City College (New York), and Penn State. He has worked as a mathematician with the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics at Langley Field, Virginia, a federal research agency in aeronautics. For more than three years during the war, Dr. Lorch was in military service.

Letter To The Editor

To the Editor:

A copy of your editorial of June 10 has been forwarded to me, and I wish to take this opportunity to express my sincere thanks and appreciation to you and your paper for the fine support given the Department's new administration and program.

With kind regards.

William A. Burkett,
Director, State Employment Office.

The Trinity Missionary Union is sponsoring a School of Missions July 6, 7, 8 and 9, from 7 to 8 p.m. in the church auditorium.

Theme for the school will be: "We Will Walk in His Paths."

Courses of study are as follows:

I. Home Missions, with the text "Missions to City Multitudes" by L. B. Wadsworth. The instructor will be Mrs. Mary Agnew, president of Hannah Circle.

II. Foreign Missions, with the text "Face to Face with India" by R. E. Wolseley. The instructor will be Rev. E. S. Redd, assistant pastor of Trinity.

Special features and demonstrations for the assembly period include: Tuesday, Art, under the direction of Mrs. Eugenia Laray, first vice-president of the Union; Wednesday, Music, with Henry Markham in charge; Thursday, a Bible lesson under the guidance of Mrs. Athiellen Jones, program chairman of the Union; Friday, a Worship period headed by Mrs. Ella K. Mays, wife of Dr. Horace N. Mays, director of Christian Education for the City Mission Society of Los Angeles.

Refreshments will be served at the close of the session Friday night. The public is cordially invited to register in the first School of Missions sponsored by the Missionary Union.

In charge of the school are: Mrs. Bessie L. Wade, dean of the school; Mrs. B. B. Cassell, chairman of the Committee on Education; Mrs. Virgie Small, chairman of the Social Committee; Mrs. Jane Nealy, chairman of Publicity; Mrs. Ledonia Clemons, secretary of the school; Dr. J. Lyle Caston, pastor.

Howard Choir In 6-Week Program

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Sixty selected voices from the 125-member Howard University Choir will be featured with Pianist Natalie Hinderas in a six-week series of 30-minute broadcasts which will be carried coast-to-coast by the National Broadcasting Company network. The summer concert series, which will be heard on Sundays begins July 4 and continues through August 8.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of William Turner, pioneer citizen, who recently passed away, wishes to thank their many frinds who were so generous and kind to them during their bereavement.

Mae Meyers, daughter.
Helen Wynne, daughter.
Chas. Wm. Turner, son.
Weaver Turner, son.

Rev. Johnson Thanks Public

Reverend Edgar S. Johnson this week expressed his thanks and appreciation to his campaign supporters and workers and to the community for their confidence in him in the recent primary election.

He wishes the public to know he intends to be a candidate for the city council next spring.

Wm. Webb at Independent

Elder William Webb, Seventh Day Adventist minister of Compton, will continue the series on "The Church—A Spiritual Fellowship" at People's Independent Church of Christ on Sunday, in the absence of the pastor, Rev. Maurice A. Dawkins.

Rev. Dawkins is attending the conference of the International Council of Community Churches at Columbia University in New York City.

The Cathedral Choir will be directed by Gerald Garrett this Sunday. The Minister of Music, Albert J. McNeil, is organist during the absence of Mrs. Fannie E. Benjamin, who is also attending the cofenrence. The anthem for the morning worship will be Gillette's arrangement of "Come Christians, Join and Sing."

Evening services will begin at 7:30. Rev. E. Mason, assistant minister, will deliver the vesper message and the N. P. Greggs Gospel Choir will supply the music.

Rev. Dawkins returns on Sunday, July 11, to speak on "Ye Are the Salt of the Earth."

Girl, 13, Wins Dance Award, Trip to Indiana

A 13-year-old dance student was adjudged winner of the area-wide annual "Artist of Tomorrow" award held at the Armenian Center June 25, sponsored by Kappa chapter of the national business and professional sorority, Phi Gamma Delta.

The winner was Yvonne Bridges of the Betty Martina Studio of Dance in South Los Angeles.

She will go to Indianapolis, Ind., where on July 7-11 during the annual boule, she will compete against other chapter and area winners. All expenses for the round trip will be paid by the sorority.

Yvonne Bridges' costume and dance number from the Mau Mau suite is an original staging and designing by Miss Betty Martina.

The June 25 finals saw nine contestants vie for first place award. All represented first place winners of several prefinals contests with students representing all races and scores of dance schools.

A.M.E. Bishop Clayborn Dies At Age of 73

LITTLE ROCK—Bishop John H. Clayborn, who presided over the 13th district of the AME church, died at his home here last week. He was 73 years old, and had been ill for more than a year. The 13th district covers Tennessee and Kentucky.

Born in Arkadelphia, Ark., Dec. 12, 1881, Bishop Clayborn was elected prelate on the fifth ballot at the General Conference of the church in Philadelphia in 1944. He received 392 votes, the largest number of votes ever given a candidate for the bishopric.

A Republican, Bishop Clayborn was one of two Negro ministers named to serve as chaplains at the Republican National convention in 1952.

After being elected bishop in 1944, the prelate was assigned to Africa. While there he organized the W. Sampson Brooks Industrial college at Monrovia, Liberia; Shaffer-Smith Day High School at Arthington, Liberia; and Claborn College at SekLondia, West Africa.

Prior to becoming a bishop, he had served as pastor, presiding elder, editor of the Southern Christian Recorder and college president. He taught for 25 years in the public schools in Arkansas and was made president of Shorter College in 1940.

Report Tells Gains Made By Negroes

NEW YORK—Initiation of an intensive ten-year drive to secure full citizenship rights for Americans of all races within the next decade, continuation of a frontal assault on racial segregation in public education, and the successful conclusion of a Supreme Court case which rendered the racial restrictive covenant in real estate a "mere scrap of paper" are described in the 1953 annual report of the NAACP as among the most important activities of the organization during the past year.

The report, entitled "Ninety Years Plus Ten Equals Freedom," was made public here this week.

Church Bazaar

Albert J. Spiller, minister of the Antioch Christian Baptist Church, invites the public to attend the church's first annual bazaar.

The affair will be held on July 16, starting at 4 p.m. and again on Saturday, July 17, 10 a.m., at 4166 S. Main street.

Bring out the whole family and have a real old fashioned good time.

Don't Swim Here

MARION, Ind.—Marion city officials last week called special police reinforcements to prevent seven Negroes from swimming in the city-owned Matter Park pool.

Indiana statutes forbid discrimination in publicly owned facilities.

PILGRIM TRAVELERS—Popular singing group along with Soul Stirrers and Happy Land Singers will be the top spiritual attraction at the Embassy Auditorium under the capable direction of Brother Clarence Welch, who is heard daily over stations KALI and KGER.

Nurses Receiving Caps In Candlelight Ceremony

Seventy vocational nursing students will be capped in candlelight ceremonies at East Los Angles Junior College today at 7:30 p.m. in the college theater-auditorium.

Dr. H. C. Pulley, executive officer for the Los Angeles City Public Health Department, will speak on "Public Health Nursing." The nurses, who have completed five months of pre-clinical training at the college, will be capped by nurse instructors.

Among those graduating were Nannie Lou Matthews, 1760 E. 43rd street; Maryann Shann, 1546 E. 56th street; Rose Nash, 4129 S. Avalon blvd.; Sarah Edwards, 1038¼ E. 42nd place; LaVerne Cazenane, 1608 E. 22nd street; Ella Mae Lambeah, 1178 E. 52nd street; Mrs. Dollie Rogers, 5422½ Compton avenue; Miss Earline Felder, 1407 E. 50th street; Irene Foster, 1137 E. 46th street; and Marguerite Sapp, 1491½ W. 41st place.

Eastern Star Member Dies

Mrs. Alice Lester, who was born in Little Rock, Ark., back in 1872 and who has lived in Los Angeles for the past 45 years, died in her home at 1436 W. 35th street Monday night. She was a member of the Eastern Star of the Electa Chapter and a member of Elks of the Hiawatha Temple and also a member of Calanthianes.

Funeral services are being arranged by the Angelus Funeral Home and services will be held Friday at 10 a.m. from 8th and Towne Church, which she attended ever since she arrived here.

Her survivors are a granddaughter, Rebecca Kenner, two stepsons, Rial Lester and Clarence Lester.

Great Revival

"A Great Revival" will begin at the Gethsemane Baptist Church, 10812 S. Compton avenue, July 4.

Rev. Abraham Mason will be pastor and speaker. All are urged to come and bring some sinner. All are welcome.

Rob't L. Leake Mortuary Grad Wins Certificate

Robert L. Leake graduated from the California College of Mortuary Science in Los Angeles last week with an average of 93.17. He was selected class treasurer and received the certificate for the best attendance record during the nine months period of the class.

Leake attended elementary school, hihg school and Santa Monica City College from which he graduated in 1948. He spent 44 months in the armed Services, and saw 31 months overseas duty in Japan.

He is a member of Western Knights Masonic Lodge No. 56, Prince Hall affiliation, the American Legion, Douglas Aircraft Post No. 523 of which he is 2nd vice-commander and past sergeant-at-arms. He is active in the Young Adult Choir of the Calvary Baptist church of which he is a member.

Mission Plans Special Mass Meeting Sun.

The public is cordially invited to attend a missionary "mass" meeting at the City Wide Mission, Sunday, July 4, 3:30 p.m.

Mrs. Eliza Davis George, missionary to Africa, who spent 41 years in Liberia at the Sinoe Mission Station, will be the principal speaker.

The Liberian government, under President William V. S. Tubman, has given Mrs. George 500 acres of rich land for her mission. It also conferred the honor of "Knighthood" upon her for distinguished service.

A product of the Sinoe Mission, Agustah, an African boy, has graduated from high school and is now a freshman at Berkeley University. He is studying for the ministry as well as taking other subjects to help his people upon graduation.

African costumes will be worn at the meeting.

The "Victory Aires" will be featured in song. There will be other talent in both music and song. The meeting is being arranged by Mrs. Pearl Smart, president; Mrs. Lu Voilie Williams, missionary; Rev. Stephen Russell, Rev. James Irvin, ministers; Mrs. Gladys Irvin, pianist.

Interracial Church

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — The state conference of Methodist ministers and laymen met in Bloomington last week to attempt to work out plans for an interracial church in Indianapolis.

Phillips Temple Slates Independence Services

The people's church, Phillips Temple C.M.E. Church, 971 E. 43rd street, is emphasizing Independence Day with a special service in its sanctuary Sunday, July 4. The service will begin promptly at 6:45 p.m.

The theme of this special service is "This Nation Under God," with inspirational singing and expository messages pertinent to our Declaration of Independence and Constitution.

The talks will emphasize religious self-evident truths, the American creed, and the preamble to the Constitution. The central theme of this program will be emphasized in the message of the evening by Dr. Norris S. Curry.

The people's church extends a welcome to all to come, participate and be uplifted.

Church Deadline

All church news and pictures must be in the office of the California Eagle before 5 p.m. each Monday. Persons handling church news are urged to meet this deadline. Late copy cannot be considered for publication in the Eagle.

Ruth E. Matlock Recital At Second Baptist Sunday

The second recital of dramatic artist Ruth E. Matlock since she resumed her career will be presented by the Cheerful Club Sunday, July 11, 3:30 p.m. at Second Baptist Church, Dr. J. Raymond Henderson, minister.

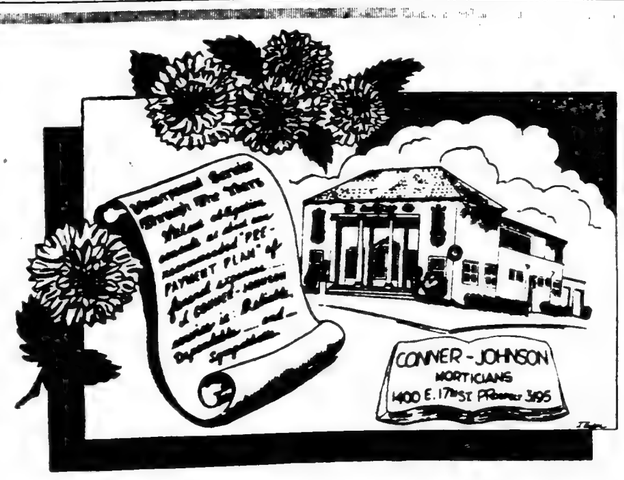
Miss Matlock's work was hailed by the National Baptist Convention conferences, the NAACP, leading churches, and schools throughout the south and east before her enforced retirement.

She is a product of National Baptist Training School, A & I State College, and Fisk University and she studied dramatics at the Frank Hilliard Studio in Hollywood, having made a professional appearance with Hilliard with great success.

Several years ago Miss Matlock gave up her position in the administrative department of the Sunday School Publishing Board to come west to help her father build Grace Temple Baptist Church.

Fellowship Hour Slated At Central

The annual fellowship hour of the Deaconess board will convene at the Faithful Central Baptist Church, 4020 Paloma street at 40th place Sunday afternoon, 3 p.m., July 4. Rev. W. L. Robinson is pastor.



A very interesting and inspirational program has been planned with Pastor Robinson delivering the sermon. Deaconess boards throughout the city will participate with the local board, of which Mrs. Josephine Allen is president. Mrs. Tessie Hooper, the district president, will also appear.

As Eternal as the Tides and the Stars
Like the tides of the sea and stars of the firmament, the life of the spirit is eternal. To symbolize the beauty and comfort of this truth is the purpose of every funeral service which we conduct.
"Pledged to Perfection in Every Service"
Every service is complete to the last detail. We are able to provide so fine a service at so moderate a price because of our volume of business. Even the poorest family will find it more economical to select Angelus Funeral Homes.

A Proven Plan to Eliminate Expense
A new funeral service policy, recommended by ANGELUS FUNERAL HOME, pays all expenses regardless of how little has been paid in. Low payments are made to admitted life insurer. Phone or stop in for free information, today. No obligation.

'Cosmo' Golf Tourney Set For Run

Prying Pye

By Brad Pye, Jr.

ODDS AND ENDS AGAIN...

Charley Powell—the versatile ex-San Francisco '49er flankman—who hopped right out of San Diego High into a first string before Jan. 1....

The youthful, powerful Powell, who won his eighth straight knockout when he stopped Al Spaulding last week in San Diego, jumped from ninth to No. 3 ranking in the Southern California Boxing Writers Association's rating. . . . This boy Powell can't miss with ex-middleweight champ Gorilla Jones as his trainer and the incomparable Suey Welch as his manager. . . . Boxing people, in the know, say Welch has no peers....

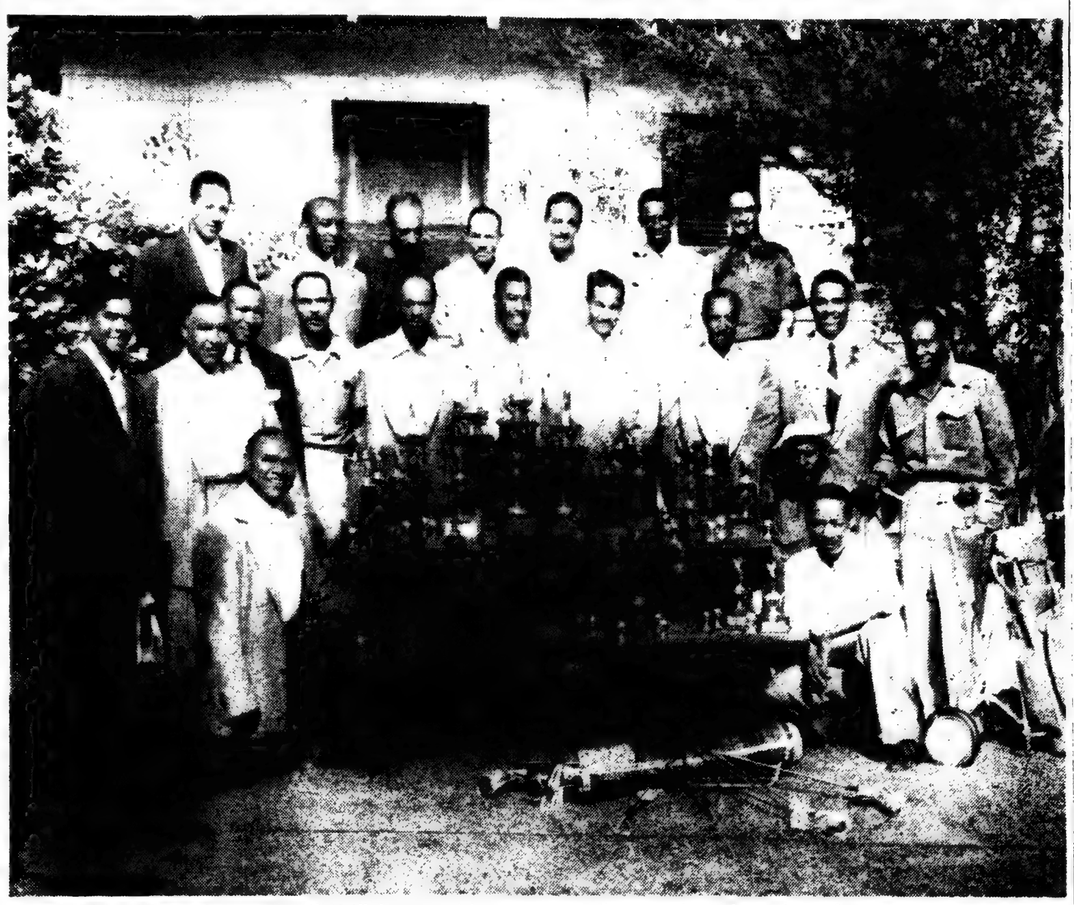
MAJOR LOOP ROW...

Who are your pennant picks? . . . We're still with the Brooks and Yankees. . . . The experts are saying, however, that it'll be a subway series (Giants & Yanks)....

That boy Willie Mays right now, in the past, and from all indications, for a long time to come, should prove to be the greatest Giant of 'em all. . . . The torrid pace he's currently setting in the senior loop could well earn for him the MVP award. . . . "The Dodgers to Dallas!" We'll admit it sounds good, and maybe that local sportscaster who beamed the aforementioned quote over the airways last week has a scoop. . . . However, we still retain that "show me" attitude....

NOW HEAR THIS...

The Lewis "Hustler" (Lessie) Williams' 6-pound 5-oz. tax-deduction—Leonard Arthur—arrived Friday. . . . Williams was a star blocking back on Red Sanders' 1951-52 UCLA elevens. . . . Clifford Pickett, an ex-Jeff High track & grid star, took delightful Debra Harris as his bride Sunday. . . . This boy Pickett could really pick his holes on the football field. . . . And boy, he's no slouch in the bride picking derby either....



Alameda High's James Jackson's 9.4s, century time wasn't among the records accepted by the National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations in Arizona Friday. . . . San Jose's Don Bowden of Lincoln High's 1:52.3 sizzler erased Lang Stanley's old mark of 1:53.6 ...

PRYING PYE APPLAUDS...

Boxing Commissioner Norman Houston, and also prexy of Golden State, who is still convalescing from an auto accident, job with the Bay Area pro-club, wouldn't surprise this corner if he does likewise in the boxing game, locally, before the year has terminated....

The state heavyweight belt Young Jack Johnson swiped from old man Willie Bean in a thrill-packed upset at Hollywood Legion last month could very well be in Powell's possession will be transported to tonight's Aragon-Martinez bout in a special ambulance provided by the prolific promoter Cal Eaton. . . . Take a bow, Cal, you deserve it. . . . Incidentally, old hustling Houston is a heck of a nice guy too. . . . As of now this is 25 & 5.

'PREPING' FOR 10th ANNUAL INVITATIONAL

Annual Tournament Draws Top Coast Golfing Talent

Three coins in a fountain will not be enough to pick a winner in the tenth annual Cosmopolitan Invitational Golf Tourney.

There will be such a mob of good amateur golfers struggling bitterly for this coveted honor that Phoebus Apollo could not pick the champ with his unerring shafts until the last putt is dropped.

Never in the history of local golfing events have there been so many sharp amateur golfers assembled at one time. The old guard of Milton Rayson, defending champion, of the Bay Area Club, via the Cosmopolitan, the ever dangerous Suzerain of the local golfing colony Al.

advanced B flight champ of last year, Oscar "Little Duffer" Moore, winner at Phoenix, Jessie Lee Brown, Bay Area B flight winner, and Early Jones, of the host club.

The toughest flight in golf, the B flight, that from ten to fifteen handicap flight, will be wide open, and will definitely go to the hot chipper and putter, normally the B flighter's weakness.

C and D flights will not suffer from lack of contestants, and there should be no respite for the frivilous aspirants.

In the women's championship division, Thelma Cowans, defending champion, will have to invoke the favors of the Gods, who throw a protective wall around all defending champs, to withstand the onslaught of sharpshooting Eoline Thornton, who recently went to the finals in the Women City Championship. Cowans, however, is somewhat of a sharpshooter herself and this ought to be an interesting situation to follow. Mary Woodyard and Madree Jackson, both of the Vernondale club, will offer the chief threat to Cowans' and Thornton's coronation.

GOLF FAVORITE

AL McDANIEL, brilliant amateur, is ruling favorite to capture Cosmopolitan 10th annual invitational tournament. Mc Daniel lumbers up at famed Montebello fairway.

McDaniel, the erudite (as golf goes) veteran, Oscar Clisby, 1953 Vernondale open champion; the invader from the southland, Bob Russell of San Diego's Paramount Club, and runnerup to Rayson here last year; the inimitable "Thorp" Smith, the only human who can hit a golf ball far and straight, while jitterbugging; Frank Huff, who set the course record at Crystal Springs in the Bay Area, with a 62; all will be on hand for this clash of clubs; BUT the time has come when these fellows cannot just walk out on a golf course and cause consternation among the other good shot makers who formerly nursed a folorn hope that they might get extremely lucky and finish in front of some of the "big" boys. Swingers like Willie Rayson, Bob Rockamore, Arch Hairston, Ed Shaw, Fred Cumbess, Milan Qualls, and Doug Shaw of the Cosmo club; James Stratton and Buster Sanders of the Bay Area club; Irving Torian and R. Clinton Moss of Paramount, all are breathing defiance and they are determined that whosoever is awarded the chaplet, it will be no gift, they will have actually won it.

The rivalry in the A flight will equal that of the championship hostilities, as the A flighters are constantly attempting to prove that they really should be in the "starting line-up." Clayton Moore, defending A flight champ, will have to dig deeper in his bag of shots to repulse J. Barker, '53 runner-up, Lorimer Matthews,

ARAGON VS. MARTINEZ IN BOUT OF THE YEAR

"Golden Boy" Art Aragon meets the Patterson Pulverizer—Victorius Vince Martinez—in the local "boxing bout of the year" tonight at the Hollywood Ball Park.

Western Wise Guy

The Arrogant one has had 78 pro fights, just two shy of being twice as many as visiting Vince. The Golden Boy's record of 60 wins (40 via the knockout route) is a cinch to change before the night is over. Just how it'll change, however, will not be known, until then.

A record crowd is expected to watch this stellar attraction because the bout will not be televised nor broadcasted. General admission ducats ($3) go on sale at 5 p.m. at the Ball Park.

Martinez has been much more active this year than his opponent. He has brought home the bacon in his five outings to date. Three of his wins were knockouts. Aragon won an unpopular 10-round decision over Chuck Davey in his only appearance this year.

Martinez kayoed this same Davey into retirement (and also out of this bout) in his last match.

The oddsmakers have installed Martinez as the favorite and until the first bell he should remain a 2-1 pick. Who are you picking? We like Martinez! —B.PJr.

TONIGHT'S FIGHTS

Main event: Art Aragon vs. Vince Martinez—10—148.
Semi-final: Big Bob Albright vs. Bob Sherman—6—Heavyweights.
Prelims: Ruben Salazar vs. Cali Martinez—4—130. Eddie Hernandez vs. Rocky Haro—4—132. Lou Herman vs. Rip Carter—4—140. Sony Gill vs. Satchel Porter—4—155.

Braves Select Jefferson Ace

The Milwaukee Braves added Arthur Lee Maye, an all-city Jefferson High outfielder, to their Eau Claire (Wis.) Class C Northern League farm club this week.

The 6-2, 180-pounder sat out the past season at Jeff because he was two months over the age limit of 18.

Brave scout Johnny Moore signed the strapping youngster for an undisclosed amount.

State's Finest Prep Grid Plums Set To Report For Shrine Classic

The greatest collection of Negro prep footballers in the state are slated to participate in the third annual Shrine North-South classic July 21, in the L.A. Coliseum.

Representing the South's aggregation will be Oceanside High's fabulous C. R. Roberts, who ranks with the greatest of them all; L.A. High's Thaddeus Winston, Jeff's Willie Pennix and several other outstanding sepia stars.

The North's all-star outfit is expected to be sparked by Kingsburgh High's Rafer Johnson, the most sought after prep back in the state since Washington High's incomparable hustling Hugh McElhenny. However, Bay Area prep followers are already predicting that Berkeley High's versatile Carletus (Carl) Gordon will steal the spotlight.

Other Northern grid pospects with stellar reputations are SF's Poly High's Art Forbes and Sacramento's Roosevelt Beatty. Both are highly rated backs.

The above mentioned boys are grabbing all of the headlines at this writing but when practice sessions commence July 9 their press clippings won't be any good. Only their ability.

For the last two years Roberts has been the most talked about prey back in the nation. This 6-1, 208-pounder scored 186 points last semester to become the second highest scorer in Southern California prep history. The South is counting heavily on the Oceanside Express to lead them to their third consecutive victory.

The North's rambling Rafer Johnson, who is the state high hurdle champ, is just as highly rated up North as Roberts is down here.

However, Johnson, who is on the "wanted list" of every coach on the Coast, operated primarily as a triple-threat tailback. Johnson rates above Roberts scholastically speaking. He is a B plus student, an ex-student body prexy. Whereas Roberts will undoubtedly have to visit a JC for a semester before entering a four year school.

Coasters Shine In Inter-Service Meet

CAMP LEJEUNE, N. C. — A host of West Coast Armed Service trackmen were standouts here in the Inter-Service track and field meet Friday and Saturday.

Ex-Jefferson star and record holder, Lavern Smith, tied for first in the high jump at 6-6 with Army's Vern Wilson.

Marine javelin—Bill Miller—the erstwhile Arizona U and Olympic star, won his event with a 224 ft. 9½ effort.

Two other '52 Olympians, George Brown, formerly of UCLA, and Ollie Matson, the famed USF and Chicago Cardinal back, ran on the Army's record breaking 440 relay squad. The time for the race was 41.4.

Some people get tired today thinking about what they are going to do tomorrow!

Learn-to-Swim In City Pools

With 25 Los Angeles municipal pools participating in the important "waterproofing" project, the ninth annual "Learn-to-Swim" drive is now in its second week, the City Recreation and Park Department reported this week.

Moore, Johnson Sign For Aug. 11 Title Go

NEW YORK.—Harold Johnson will finally get a crack at Lightweight Champion Archie Moore's title here in Madison the night of August 11.

According to Prexy Jim Norriso of the IBC the bout will be telecast coast via the CBS network.

My Heroine was brought down from Hollywood Park and making her first start here gave the onetime Arizona cowboy his fourth straight main event victory when he won the Philadelphia handicap. Literally breezing back of the pace-making Dashing Beauty on the backstretch, she quickly skipped into the lead when Jockey John Burton turned her loose at the five-sixteenth pole.

String Of Pearls In Glittering Formal Dance Friday Night At The Chase Hotel

The String of Pearls presented its summer formal last Friday night at the beautiful Chase Hotel in Santa Monica. More than one thousand guests witnessed one of the Angel city's most fabulous and unique affairs of the social season. The club members' theme "Pearls of the Deep Sea," original, creative and in accord with the club's name, was carried out to the nth degree. The scenery and stage setting will be long remembered.

The back drop was the deep blue sea, with sand sea shells and marine animal types at the base. On each side were huge sea shells, glittering under a magnificent lighting system, from which the pearls emerged, a product of MGM under the auspices and super direction of actor and showman Archie Savage.

Gems Striking

John Dial, master of ceremonies beautifully briefed the club's past activities, and present and future attractions for '54 immediately following to the soft, melodious strains of "Ebb Tide," the gems began to emerge. Pearly, glittery, toreadored and matadored to perfection.

Pearl Lois D. Fields, business manager, striking in white velveteen, beautifully jeweled with rhinestones and huge beads, her own creation. Pearl Dorothy Patton, treasurer, exotic in white antique taffeta beaded neckline of rhinestones and pearls by Eunice Mills. Pearl Louise George, financial secretary, beautiful in white suede velvet, rhinestones and pearl trim by Barbara Lewis.

Pearl Gwendolyn Everly, reporter, vivacious in egg-shell satin with cumberbund heavily crusted with rhinestones and tear-drop pearls, animated in her own creation. Pearl Fannie L. Polk, stunning in white chantilly lace, over satin studded with rhinestones, a dainty beauty, created by herself. Pearl Leona Robinson, charming in white silver-streaked Lame sleek and created to her own design.

Black Pearl

Pearl Enola Florence, admirable in white chiffon velvet, completely splashed with rhinestones of her own creation.

Pearl Lillian Davis, recording secty., impressive in silvery Lame with huge rhinestone buttons, designer "Bernicy."

Pearl Lucille Fradieu enticing in an egg-shell import of satin rumba cloth designed by Bernice Ttate Gilbert.

Pearl Mamie Lee Bell, vice-president, gorgeous in white crepe imported rumba cloth, rhinestone belted, an Alberta Block creation.

The last to come was the black pearl, rarest gem of the seas, Pearl Hester Cavalier, president, exotic in black eely sequins, designed by Bernice Tate Gilbert.

The sweetheart dance followed. Pearls and escorts danced to their song, "String of Pearls" played by Sammy Franklin.

After the dance members and escorts enjoyed breakfast at the president's home where they sipped and supped 'til dawn.

Serving as the dance committee were: Mamie Lee Bell, Fannie L. Polk, Leona Robinson and Una Robinson. After-party committee members were: Leona Robinson, Lucille Fradieu, and Una Robinson.

The group's next affairs on their '54 calendar are a baby shower for critic Vivian Robinson, party for retarded children, annual picnic and annual cocktail party in November.

Consuelo Bright, Rev. Gaston Hinton Marry In An Impressive Ceremony

In a ceremony long to be remembered for its beauty and impressive dignity, Miss Consuelo Bright, oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jonas Bright, pioneer residents of this city, became the wife of the Reverend Gaston Hinton of Honolulu, Hawaii on Saturday, June 26. The wedding and reception were held in the beautiful home of the bride's sister and brother-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Henry McPherson, 1215 South Wilton Place.

Performing the ceremony were Bishop A. P. Shaw of the Methodist Episcopal Church and Rev. Henry Cook of the Community Pilgrim Church. Bishop Shaw was the pastor of Wesley Chapel Church which the bride attends and is a long time friend of the family. The bride's only attendants were her sisters, Marjorie McPherson and Birdie Lee Bright, who served as matron and maid of honor respectively.

By special request, father and son Dr. McPherson and Henry Jr., sang the numbers "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer", which were given a touching and tender rendition. Two other solos were rendered by Mrs. Armenda Nelson and Mrs. Lorenzo Countee.

The bride was given away by her cousin, Theodore Johnson, and Dr. McPherson was best man. Mrs. John Coulter was the organist and Mrs. Lenora Greene was in charge of the reception. She designed the beautiful square wedding cake which adorned the dining room table. In the garden after the wedding the guests gathered to hear again the Hawaiian trio who played the wedding song.

The pool, the floral surroundings and the refreshments lent themselves to the happy and romantic occasion. It was on a vacation trip last summer in Hawaii with her nephew, Henry, that the bride met Rev. Hinton. There was a rainbow wedding procession in the breakfast room.

The bride carried rose point handkerchief brought her from Brussels recently by her sister, Marjorie. Her gown was of Chantilly lace, beautifully fashioned.

The hostesses were: Mesdames Gerald Barnum, Alfonso Murdock, Cecil Murrell, Venye Corporal, Henry Cook, Nolan, Cornelia Bradford, Dr. Yolande Stovall, Walter Smith, Dr. Vada Somerville, Frank Harvey, Mamie Waugh, Bessie Burk, Lulu Melton, Lee Hicks, Floyd Covington, William Graham, Bien-

JUNE WEDDING—Often 'tis said June provides the most beautiful brides and there is no exception in the marriage of Miss Consuelo Bright to the Reverend Gaston Hinton of Honolulu in the home of her sister last Sunday.

Dorothea Foster

As I sit here in my brother's apartment, high up on the 14th floor with the bright lights of New York City below and around me, I cannot help but think that only a few short hours have passed since I left Los Angeles this morning.

What a wonderful age we live in—breakfast in L.A. and dinner in New York . . . 'nuff said about that—more later . . .

Pre-Fourth of July weekend was crowded with activity . . . String of Pearls Social Club held sway down in Santa Monica on Friday nite and the girls were elegantly clad in beautiful white toreador cocktail outfits when they received their guests. Paramount Social Club (husbands of the String of Pearls) threw one of those "all the way" before and after parties over at the Home of Hester (president) and Joe Cavalier on 8th Avenue . . .

Glittering Page

Another glittering page in social history took place on Friday night when those dashing Sir Debuteers took over the entire Elk's building to compliment their many friends.

Due to the death of his mother last week, Minor and Rose Robinson were greatly missed by their many friends and members at this affair. Minor is business manager of the Sir Debuteers. My deepest sympathy to Minor and his family. . .

Ruthe Spencer opened the doors of her beautiful Leimert Park home to entertain seven young matrons at lunch on Wednesday afternoon. Those attending: Puffy Hill, Marilyn Hudson, Davine Carney, Anne Shaw, Gloria Mitchell, Barbara Faulkner and Elinor Topsil . . .

Mr. and Mrs. James Scott of Newark, New Jersey were house guests of Fred and Evelyn Griffin. Evelyn was one of the hostesses at the Garland-Whittier reception on Saturday night and loked, oh, so attractive when she made her entrance at the "Deuces" closing meeting at the home of Carl and Elizabeth King on S. Western avenue. The Kings had Dr. and Mrs. John Simmons as their guests. If you have never played "What's my secret," you have missed lots of fun . . . ask the "Deuces" . . .

From Hawaii

Jerry Woods entertained the Town and Country Art Club on Thursday evening. She had Glenna Hayes as her guest. Jerry left on Friday morning to attend the Medical Convention in San Francisco along with Janice Edwards. Janice was sorry to miss the Charity Twelve's Garden Party at the Wilfandel on Sunday afternoon. She recently became a member of that group . . .

Helen Garrett decided on a breakfast in Griffith Park to entertain her house guest . . .

LaMar and Puffy Hill just returned from a 10-day stay in Hawaii . . . Incidentally, that new '54 Cadillac (El Dorado) is a dream. . . .

Ethel Maddox looks very good behind the wheel of her new '54 Iris Blue caddy. . . . She entertained the CC Club in her pation on Saturday afternoon . . .

Dr. and Mrs. Curtis Carr entertained the "ADD" club on Saturday night at their Jefferson Blvd. home . . .

Ole Virus

Ursella Murrell entertained The Little Club on Saturday at her fashionable South Arlington home . . .

Ole virus put Helen Broyle Smith to bed for a few days. She and her golfer hubby, Theop. will be off soon motoring up to Vancouver and then East to Canada, New York, Washington, D.C. where they will be house guests of Richard and Emmagene Dempsey (former Angelenos) then on to Indianapolis (Helen's home). Theopolis will play in tournaments in Washington, Cleveland and in the grand nationals in Dallas before returning home . . .

Surprise!

The look on Catherine Flowers' face when the Urban League dance group surprised her with a dinner over at Betty Seville's Gramercy Place home was worth all the effort that the group put forth in planning it. Catherine thought she was going with Connie Maxie to see the "Drunkard" and ended up at Betty's with all her pupils yelling "surprise!"

Sanford Smith took his Jackie to Town Tavern on Wednesday to celebrate 17 years of happiness together . . .

Clayton (Mr. Golfer) and Cosetta Moore are expecting their first little golfer this fall . . .

Get well wishes to Rev. Ernest A. Redd of Trinity Baptist Church. Thugs picked a grand guy to try and rob and when they failed, they beat him so badly that he is confined to University Hospital . . .

The Bronze Orchids held their regular meeting Tuesday evening, June 22, at the home of Mrs. Willa Mae Lewis.

Dorothy Williams, Florine Johnson, Doris Taylor and the entire membership are urging their many friends to attend this big 4th blowout.

Western Variety Show Draws Praise At Town

Exclusive and beautiful Pacific Town Club had an entirely new face last Saturday. The atmosphere had "gone Western" in decor and apparel of members and guests. Dr. H. Claude Hudson, president of the club, made a realistic sheriff both in attire and in a clever caricature penned by talented Mrs. Walter (Marie) Miller. And ask Ed Ford, popular Pacific Towner, husband of petite Eloise Nickerson Ford, about the "wanted" notice with reward offered.

Gertrude Gipson Penland, noted scribe for "Our World" magazine, was decked out in Western attire. She, along with Pacific Towner, wife of Attorney Maceo Tolbert, Mary Lou, and eminent architect Paul Williams, (who, by the way, must have been shaking in his cowboy boots at the transformation of his handiwork) acted as judges for best-dressed cowgirl and cowboy.

It was a difficult decision, but prizes went to Marie Miller and Phillip Leake. A rodeo, with Max Du Valliere riding the winning mount, Hi-Ho-Silver, was a highlight of the evening. Pacific Towner Lonnie Eberhardt won a prize for a terrific rope feat.

Master of Ceremonies Jesse Robinson, dressed as convincingly as Dead-Eye Pete, guided the affair to a successful climax. But not until cute Dolly Lee and her square dancers taught all the daring Westerners gay and colorful dances, dignified Pacific Towners responding to her "calling" with great dexterity, and asking for more!

Hosts and hostesses wore colorful western hats as badges, and co-chairmen Eloise Ford, Mattye Huddleston and Zeresh Eberhardt chalked up the evening of fun with a hearty "Goodbye Pardners, hope to see you again!"

What's Cooking?

Next Sunday is the Fourth of July. Consequently you will be thinking along lines of what to eat for an outdoor lunch or dinner. We are most fortunate this year in having an abundance of luscious fruits and vegetables in the markets. Your menu will depend largely upon whether you will eat in the yard or the park. Either way, try to plan to take foods which will be easy to prepare, and give your self a holiday from the usual routine.

Fruit Platter

Who can resist the fresh fruit platter filled with fresh pineapple wedges, peaches, cherries, honeydew and cantalope, watermelon balls, plums, grapes and papayas. Avocados may be added for color too. If your taste runs to vegetables, try combining marionated mounds

Throng Enjoys Debuteers Annual Summer Formal

The suave, dapper Sir Debuteers proved without a doubt why they are referred to as one of the city's most popular groups in the young set. Although they occupied three floors of the beautiful Elks Auditorium for their tenth annual dance, there wasn't room for another couple during the gay packed evening.

The group's unusual popularity stems from the fact that they are always looking for improvement and during the last year their charity projects embraced the entire community. The group is one of the few which seeks to establish friends with the newcomers to the city.

The Debuteers annual last Saturday night completely overshadowed any annual to date. The members were promptly introduced to their guests at 12 midnight and thereafter Emmerson Smith, who introduced the group, had difficulty in rounding up the spirited members who had trouble getting away from Mr. and Mrs. White Horse and Mr. Ballantine. However, when he finally corraled the smoothly attired members in their white coats and black ties, they answered as follows:

Officers: James H. Lee, Jr., president; Clyde W. Hill, vice president; Nelson R. Evans, secretary; Sylvester Atwood, corresponding secretary; Willie T. Macon, treasurer; David W. Buford, business manager; Robert A. Spears, parliamentarian; Lionel E. Williams, historian; Arvid L. Agnew, sergeant-at-arms.

Members were: James N. Austin, Nathaniel D. Chouteau, Wilbert Dukes, Lee Hayward, Virgil W. Hill, Melvin B. Jeter, Miller Lamkin, Chris Morgan, Conway R. Reed, John W. Robinson and Harold R. Washington.

Minor W. Robinson, publicity manager, was unable to attend the dance for whose success he had worked so hard, due to the death of his beloved mother. Also unable to attend was Willie Ramsey.

KERRY JACKSON and HAL MILLER

With the summer comes the anticipation of better times among the partying populace around and about L.A. Beach activity seems to be the thing to indulge in, in fact many quiet affairs are occurring on the sandy dunes, some in which only one invitation was extended . . . he to her. But nevertheless since it is that time the marshmallow minded and weiner roasters are itching to get the sand under foot because moonlight dips are also invigorating. If you happen to be planning one let us know 'cause our feet are itching too . . . athletes foot. And so, "on with the trash." Incidently, the HOUNDS were recently willed some trash plus a broom and a dustpan to clean it up with. Well we want those generous people to know that we do appreciate their grant but we already have a street-cleaner on duty and what it doesn't pick up we already have on file.

People are talking about . . .

Meharry Medical student David Reed and his dazzling beaut Carolyn Cresswell who is visiting here after a sojourn at Fisk U. In medical jive lingo it is frequently said, "Dig that crazy anatomy"- and seriously speaking it is real nervous . . . aw you don't understand.

An outstanding eviction notice that was served to one Wayne Carpenter, playboy delux, from New Jersey. He was ellminated from active competition with bonny Barbara Weaver for more than one reason. But the most outstanding was the fact that he was discovered relaxing very disrespectfully right where he fell after an enterlude with the "spirits!"

Two fabulous belles from down south in Georgia. Being graduates of Morehouse College in Atlanta Bernice Byron and Charlotte Knowles are attending Grad school at U.S.C. for the summer session. . . . Don't mind if they stay.

Marlene Crump and her romantic entanglement with a certain "Reggie." It has been rumored that they were recently hitched. But who pays any attention to rumors.

Married women had their day when Chazz Crawford M.C.d the Town And Gowners Mrs. Bronze California contest at the Hollywood canteen Sunday evening.

Friends (and we use the word loosely) WE saw could have easily answered to the names of Elledge Penland, Cammile Shores, Walt Stanly, Beverly Harris, Myrna Simmel, Eddy Lee King, D. C. Cain, Shirley Graham, Mel Mansfield (his lovely wife Barbara took a close second in the contest), Abe Robinson, Libby Clark (of Fem Magazine) and Ruby and Stan Roberson. Toy Edwards was the winner of the contest.

Nira Hardon (the gal who left for India yesterday) was the recipient of a MAD party thrown by her number one lover boy, Lorenzo Wallace. Champagne was the kick and guests made short work of it.

Through our fast dimming orbs we caught glimpses of dancing figures that resembled people we knew. . . . Don't quote us but we think some of them were Andy Wallace and Ann Allen (Hmmmnn), Barbara and George Lewis, Janet Boyd, Barbara Freeman, Frank and Bette Braxton, Carl Clay, Sandra Shields, Thad Winston, Fred Hardon, George Canniles, Al Elliot, Rhae Tate and Lewis Grunt. . . .

Bridge Pointers

By 'KENNY' SCOTT

In a recent column we mentioned the importance of low level bidding. It is always of utmost importance to convey as much information as possible to your partner at the lowest possible level. There are circumstances where it is better to remain silent, but they are indeed rare.

Good opponents will be trapped only by unfavorable distribution, not by excessive overbidding. A bid at a low level may prevent opponents from bidding no trump, because then partner will lead your suit, which he is not apt to do if you don't bid it.

It is always nice to have a major suit to overcall in because then overcalls can be made at the same level and it is opponents who must bid one higher. A spade hand can be stretched slightly for this reason.

This hand was played recently and is a good illustration of players failing to bid at low levels.

South opened one heart, West passed, North bid two hearts, and all passed. We must give North full credit for trying to force East as high as possible, or as he did, cause him to pass, because he, of course, has no legitimate raise.

But over one heart West has a perfectly sound over all of two diamonds. And even over North's two hearts, East can still bid two spades. Fortunately at most tables four spades was bid and made. Bnt since several people didn't bid it, we feel there is room for this discussion.

South was set two tricks not not vulnerable and this particular East and West pair certainly lost this board.

ABOUT SHO' FOLKS AND MO' FOLKS

PEARLIE MAE BAILEY was telling us that she's paying no mind to friends who kid her about the size of her fine brown frame. They declare that Pearl's a little plump for the wide screen process being used on "Carmen Jones." But Pearl refuses to shed an ounce, claiming who knows but what she'll do some of those Italian pictures and that buxom charm will come in handy! . . . The excited voice on our phone belongs to Toy Edwards, the petite and win- the Mrs. Bronze California title some gal who walked off with the honors last Sunday at the TOWN and GOWNERS affair. Toy is thrilled like nobody's business over the honor, and says she'll buy all the tabloids this week in order to lay hold of her press clippings . . . Everyone from the tables down at Birdland to the place where DIZZY dwells is talking about "SATCHMO" Armstrong's bop talk version of the Whippenpoof Song! . . . Card from thrush Mabel Scott and her spouse Will Lathan announcing the birth of a baby boy. Eddie Heywood At the Morocco On Fri., July 2

To the delight of its many customers the Club Morocco will again start top-notch entertainment beginning Friday night, July 2, with the wizard of the keyboard, Eddie Heywood, who makes his first west coast appearance in two years. The incomparable pianist, who made a smash hit with his "Begin the Beguine," has added many other hit tunes that have proved top favorites in the musical world.

Another attraction at the beautiful supper club will be the new manager and host, Bill "Rookie" Brown of the Harlem Globetrotters fame, who will let the basketball rest long enough to lend his ultra personality to the supper club. Rookie is expecting an SRO crowd for the limited engagement of the world renowned piano stylist and many of his friends in the sport and theatrical field on hand opening night.

THEATRE

CINEMASCOPIC

LARAINE DAY plays the leading feminine role in Warner Brothers' "The High and Mighty" opening soon at the Downtown Paramount Theatre, Sixth and Hill Streets.

OVER 500 attended the Juneteenth Patio Party given by the Negro Motion Picture Players Association recently. Guests enjoyed music, entertainment, barbecue and dancing. Partial group of entertainers and guests with officers and members of the Association shown: James Adamson, president; Mrs. Anna Mabry, treasurer; Mrs. Bennie Washington; Ella Mae Brown, secretary; Wesley Gale, 2nd vice-president; Ruby B. Goodwin, 1st vice-president, and Mrs. Alberta Tavares.

People AND Places

WAR FEVER—Africa variety seemed to be breaking out all over the town. An attractive willowy lass strolled into a Westside smart cafe and planted a nifty left hook on a visitor that hadn't been in town two hours. He looked like someone she knew. A total stranger took a punch at a well known boxer and got clipped. A top flight news photographer just missed being poked in the mouth and a news writer got the blow instead. A popular medic pulled the wrong chick from another guy's car and got the surprise of his life. It was his receptionist instead of his wife!

HARRY ADAMS—Westcoast talented news photographer claimed shapely Erma Marks is one of the most impressive student models he has focused lens on!

HUCKSTER—A well known peddler of the bottle spirits is being chilled by his friends because he boasted about never frequenting our cocktail parlors. He spends his loot at night in ofay joints on the strip!

RENE VINSON—Bright eyed model is the prexy of the Dumanettes, a group you shortly will hear a lot about!

HEAT WAVE—from the Administrative vice officer in the form of raids struck in two places along the avenoo and twice on Avalon leaving the usual peaceful scratch sheeters in a grip of terror. Understand the downtown office is being flooded with complaints about bookies taking powders!

L'TANYA GRIFFIN—pretty designer is devoting many hours with the County Bureau of Adoption to interest members of our community to think more seriously of giving that little brown guy a break. Like a new home!

JOE LEWIS—legal insurance hustle has been extended to include everything he operates out of the Sewell and Roland West Adams office!

ROOKIE BROWN—basketball ace with the Harlem Globetrotters is the manager of the Morocco supper club. He will

Famous Ink Spot Quartet at New Club Trocadero

The Ink Spots, one of the most famous, and certainly the most frequently imitated, vocal groups in the world, return to the West Coast for an engagement beginning this Thursday, July 1, at the new Club Trocadero, 8524 Sunset Blvd., on the glittering Sunset Strip.

Versatile Vocalists

The Ink Spots come directly from the fabulous Flamingo in Las Vegas where the management was so pleasd with their engagement that they wired for a renewal for the next three years. Ben Bart, president of Universal attractions in New York, and Ben Waller, West Coast representative, flew to Las Vegas this week to sign the group with the Flamingo for the next three years.

GERALD WILSON'S new 17-piece orchestra hits town July 6 at the Oasis. Wilson's great musical group has been a sensation in the Bay Area for the past several months.

INK SPOTS

Stellar Showmen

Charlie Fucqua, leader of the Ink Spots, is the arranger and has guided the destinies musically speaking of the famed vocal quartette since its inception many, many years ago.

Three shows will be presented nightly at the Trocadero, which only recently opened. Presiding as host will be popular film and entertainment world personality, Bill Walker.

Gay Innovation On Western Ave.

Wondered why there has been so much excitement, gaiety, rushing and last minute changes at the corner of 46th and Western during the past ten days??? Know you have, and you're not alone, as the Morocco Supper Club staff has been quite busy getting things in readiness for Sunday's premiere of the club's annual summer matinee series of shows.

The 1954 edition of the plush club's entertainment vehicles showcases the talents of the internationally known keyboard artist, Eddie Heywood, who skyrocketed to fame with his recording of "Begin the Beguine," and the exciting Chico Hamilton Trio, with Gerald Wiggins and Carl Perkins alternating at the keyboard, Chico presides at the drums, with guitarist Herman Mitchell and Eddie Perkins on bass.

As if this entertainment menu isn't enough, the Morocco management has added a new and entertaining "Morocco Circle" feature, where for 12 successive Sunday afternoons, starting July 4th, a prominent Los Angeles citizen will be cited. The accomplishments of the honoree will be showcased, with many valuable gifts and special citations offered. The identity of the honoree will remain a secret until the curtain opens on the "Morocco Circle."

In addition to the surprise-honored-guest, there will be surprise acts by well known entertainers. Summing it all up, the Morocco Supper Club's 1954 Summer Sunday Matinee Series will be the surprise entertainment treat of the year.

Many local clubs have made advance reservations for Sunday's show, so as to be sure of a table. Who knows, that honored guest may be one of your own club members, and could very well be you!!! Reservations can now be made until Sunday noon. Phone AX. 9715.

Gerald Wilson and Band On Hand For Oasis Stand

The whole town's talkin', not about the Jones Boys . . . but about the new Gerald Wilson band, and rightly so because never before in his entire career has the great Wilson been as pleased over his new sound as he is with his present aggregation. Gerald, known the world over as one of the greatest arrangers and musicians in the world, is bringing to Los Angeles and the Club Oasis a new experience of tension and excitement with his 17 piece orchestra that will play a limited engagement of one week only at the local nitery.

Accomplished Arranger

Gerald, whose name is synonymous with musical swingdom has long been hailed by music critics as one of the finest composers and arrangers in America today. The new sound is nothing new to the versatile musician who has long been "wailing" it, the difference now is the treatment, and brother! if you don't think that nitro-starch, gunpowder and nitro-glycerine are the only components making "dynamite" . . . we want you to be on hand July 6th at the Club Oasis . . . when the "fuse will be lit" on the new Gerald Wilson band.

of beans, carrots, beets, asparaguas and center the platter with a head of cauliflower. Use your favorite French dressing for the marinade. If served hot, use seasoned butter and herbs to add zest.

To save time use canned asparaguas, beans and whole beets. Slice tomatoes and alternate with onions and cucumbers around cabbage slaw with sour crea dressing. For those who like to barbeque buy the meatier cuts. Spare ribs are good but who can eat bones. Try grilling burgers and chops, chicken and steak. Wrap your steaks in foil after seasoning and grill for a treat. They'll cook quicker too.

No Trouble

If you're tired of potato salad and want potatoes hot, cook some with jackets on either Friday or Saturday as you fix dinner. Make a good rich cream sauce and add a cup of grated chedder or tillamook cheese. Slice those cold potatoes and arrange in layers with the sauce and sprinkle each layer with some grated onion. Put in the oven till bubling and nicely browned. No trouble at all. Try baking lima beans for a change. they are especially good if you are having cold cuts.

So, you want desert! Well, make it easy for this is a time to celebrate your independence. Try melting a package of chocolate bits and folding it into a small carton of sour cream. Spread this over an angelfood cake and serve. For additional raves split the cake first into layers and spread each layer. Mint flavored bits by Rockell are delicious. Buy a small cake if you are not in the mood to bake.

Easy Does It

Keep a pair of scissors in the kitchen, use them for cutting parsley in a glass, celery, marshmallows, dates and countless other small jobs around the kitchen.

Utilize that rubber spatula for getting out the last smidgen from the bowl. It is handy for scraping the bowl when using the electric mixer, keeping mix to center.

Use your Waring food blender to chop onions, beat eggs for omelets on whatever fast beating jobs you may have.

Remember that fine manners are a stronger bond than a beautiful face. The former binds, the latter only attracts.

Knights' Ladies Complete Plans For Big Dance

The entertainment committee of the Council 96, Knights of Peter Claver, met Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Gene Riley. The committee completed plans for the group's pre-holiday dance Saturday night, July 3.

The dance will be given at Masonic Hall, 59th and Broadway. Sammy Franklin and his popular band will furnish the music. The dance is a joint affair of the Knights and Ladies Auxiliary. Albert Lane is chairman for the Knights and the donation is $1.

BROADWAY FEDERAL SCORES AGAIN

CONGRATULATING GRADUATES—A. G. Kruce, left, President of California Savings and Loan League, extends best wishes to Peter W. Dauterive, Assistant Manager, and Richard R. Wright, III, Manager of Broadway Federal Savings and Loan Association, 4329 S. Broadway.

Broadway Federal Savings and Loan Association Officers Get Diplomas

Continuing to establish itself as America's largest minority's most rapidly advancing Savings and Loan Association, Broadway Federal's officers highlighted the 29th Annual Graduation Dinner Dance of the Los Angeles Chapter of American Savings and Loan Institute recently held in the Crystal Room of Pasadena's Huntington Hotel.

Outstanding Achievement

Richard R. Wright, III, manager, and Peter W. Dauterive, asst. mgr., were among six persons receiving Standard Diplomas, having concluded five years of Advanced Accounting. Broadway Federal Savings and Loan Association's were the first and only Negro members ever to attain such significant honors.

President Honored

Dr. H. Claude Hudson, president of Broadway, received a three year diploma which were likewise presented to Messrs. Wright and Dauterive. Some 800 persons enjoyed dinner and dancing in one of Southern California's most picturesque settings.

Scholastic Leaders

Messrs. Wright, Dauterive and Hudson were among the top members in courses prescribed by the Institute which operates its educational program on the campus of the University of Southern California.

NO FIREWORKS

Grown-ups and youngsters alike who have mailed money out of the state for orders of illegal fireworks are going to be disappointed, fire officials warn this week.

All packages arriving in the city containing fireworks are being confiscated for future dumping by Fire Boat No. 2 into the waters off the Pacific Coast.

wrath. They kept repeating, "You're going to die! We've put a curse on you!" as Jackson proceeded into the courtroom.

Later Happy Word, president of the Circle Mission church which brought the charges against Purity Love, attempted to reassure the harassed newsmen.

"You don't have to worry," said Miss Word comfortingly. "They can't put a 'hex' on you. Father is the only one who can do that, and he is not angry." She advised that she had just that day received a letter from Father Divine mentioning that he had received the "Eagle," but giving no hint of displeasure.

Difficult Case

The case against Purity Love, whose worldly name is Mrs. Irene Prattis, continued, with concluding testimony and attorneys' summaries being heard on Monday.

Taking the case under advisement, Judge Palmer commented that "This is a difficult case to decide."

The plaintiffs claim that Miss Love obtained money and property by fraud which rightfully belonged to the church corporation. Miss Love, on the other hand, insists that there never was a valid corporation under state law. In proof of her contention she points out that there is no membership list of corporation members. She claims, moreover, that the money in reality belongs to her.

Judge Palmer said he would render a verdict by Friday of this week.

South L.A. Owners Fight Slums

owners in the Blodgett, Bellvue and adjoining tracts recently formed the Home Protective League of South Los Angeles, with Oscar A. Long, building contractor, as head of the organization.

The group immediately engaged the services of Attys. Loren Miller, Edward Maddox and Samuel Sheats to assist them in their fight, and last week a formal protest was filed against the re-location of the temporary war housing in the area.

In their complaint, the association charges that the buildings are "detrimental to property within a thousand feet of the location."

Will Inform Residents

Rev. Brown, who is an evangelist of the Pacific Baptist Association and whose home is only 300 feet from these barracks buildings, discovered that many people whose property will be adversely affected by the developments are not fully informed of what is being done and what can be done to prevent the completion of the projects.

He told the Eagle that he feels that the greater support the Home Protective League has among the people in the area the greater will be its possibilities of success, and he is urging them all to join the association, and give it full support.

And the Rev. Brown isn't taking any chances that people won't know all the facts. He is personally supervising the distribution of the Eagle throughout the area.

'John Doe' Hospitalized in Brutal Beating

An unidentified man was taken unconscious to the General Hospital Wednesday, the victim of a brutal assault by unknown assailants. Witnesses say nine men took part in the beating, which occurred in the alley east of Avalon blvd., between 49th and 50th streets, acriss from South Park.

Policemen R. Shann and J. W. Herndon, who answered the call and took the unconscious man to the hospital, arrested and held four men suspected of taking part in the attack. The victim was kicked and beaten with an unknown metal weapon.

The suspects are: Glenn Downing, 714 E. 104th street; Don Clark, of the same address, and Allen and Felix LaCour, both of 1134 E. 114th street. Witnesses who identified the four men are Tucker Young, 626 E. 49th street, and Rudolph Dabbee, 349 E. 76th street.

"For Another Good Eating Scoop . . Enjoy Rheingold Soup"

Supper Soup Rheingold

- ½ cup rice
- 1 cup chopped celery
- 2 onions, chopped
- 1 chopped green pepper
- 1 pint tomatoes
- ½ cup grated cheese
- 3 cups water
- 1 can red kidney beans
- Salt to taste
- 6 eggs
- 1 cup Rheingold Beer
- ½ cube butter, more if richer soup is desired

Add chopped celery and onion to boiling water, cook 15 minutes with pepper, add tomatoes, kidney beans and cooked rice. Bring to boil and break the eggs carefully on top of hot soup, sprinkle with cheese. Turn out fire and cover for 5 minutes in a warm place. Serve very hot in soup bowls or tureen or serve over mounds of boiled rice. Add beer before adding eggs. Served with a green salad for a satisfying 30 minute quickie dinner.

What's Holding You Back, Mr. Chief?

LIBRARY
JUL 2 1954
UNIV. OF CALIFORNIA
LOS ANGELES

Fire Chief John H. Alderson stamped his foot like a miffed school girl last week and let the mean old Fire Commission know that he just won't fire chief another single day if Jim Crow is abolished in his department. He's the boss, he said, and he'll be the boss, or else—

At last reports the City Hall was still standing just as if the chief hadn't said a word and general settlement around the community was Chiefie can just go ahead and quit if he wants to, and see who cares. "What's holding him back?" some wag wanted to know.

Besides, the Chief pouted, the racial segregation in his department just isn't segregation at all. It's this way, the chief explained:

All Negro uniformed firemen are attached to Stations 14 and 30. They can't transfer to any of the city's other 87 stations. No white firemen are assigned to either Station 14 or 30 and all Negro officers are attached to these two stations.

The way you figure that these assignments on the basis of race does not constitute racial segregation is by taking the square root of the number of stations, adding twice the number of times the chief has said he is a fair and square man and then adding a generous dash of salt. Or do it with mirrors if you like. The answer is the same.

Chief Alderson's latest outburst came as City Attorney Roger Arnebergh is preparing an opinion as to the legality of racial segregation in the fire department. He was asked to undertake that little chore by the Fire Commission.

Three of the five members of the Board of Fire Commissioners told Arnebergh last week that assignments are made on the basis of race. Two denied the obvious. Chief Alderson has a fancy explanation for the whole Jim Crow business.

It is all for "the good of the service" he testified under oath last winter when NAACP lawyers took his deposition. "Negro firemen" he declared from the witness stand, "are not segregated or discriminated against in any way."

And besides all that, the Chief has said several times, no Negro fireman has asked for a transfer. Confronted with the fact that more than 50 requests were filed by Negro firemen last year, the chief said he didn't count those requests. Just "agitation from outsiders," he said.

Right in the midst of the chief's troubles, Mayor Norris Poulson, who has been trying to move the

The big sign read: "VETS! NOTHING DOWN! Four bedrooms, two baths. ONLY $50.67 a month!"

Compton Estates, it's called. On Central Avenue, just south of Olive. Hundreds of men, working feverishly, slap together the moderately priced houses. And so many "vets" living in over-crowded flats, can cut a dream through the dust and rubble in the unfinished project, seeing shining new houses and green grass and their children playing there in the sunshine. "Nothing down — for vets!"

Slight Hitch

Well, there's a slight hitch. You've got to be a white vet. A vet with a pale skin. No pigment allowed at Compton Estates!

We had heard the rumor, tried to get information on the phone. But maybe our voice sounded "colored" to the agent. "We absolutely don't give information over the phone! You must come out here." Strange, a hustler with something to sell, refusing to give a prospective buyer information about his products. Well, you see, the information would vary, depending on the coloration of the inquirer's skin.

We went out, and the eager agent hurried to meet us. No question of information being given now, despite our deep sun tan. We were members of the "white" race. The agent bubbled with seductive facts concerning the bargains available. We asked about schools.

Won't Sell to Colored

"Well, I don't believe there's any segregation in the schools, but this is a 'white' neighborhood," the agent assured us quickly.

"But will it stay that way?" we asked.

— Dead in Truck —

VICTIM OF ALCOHOL—Charles Perry, 34, was found in driver's seat of parked truck in rear of 1038 E. 43rd place last Wednesday afternoon, dead from a cerebral hemorrhage, brought on, according to the coroner, by alcoholism. (See p. 2.)

'Other Woman' First Witness in Murder Trial

"We loved each other," declared platinum blonde, statuesque Mrs. Rita Malcolm dramatically to a hushed courtroom in the opening testimony in the murder trial of diminutive Mrs. Genevieve Monroe, accused of killing her husband by beating him into unconsciousness with a ballpeen hammer and then stabbing him frantically with a butcher knife.

"We spent many weekends together from October, 1953, to March, 1954," continued the "other woman" in the tragic triangle. Some of these weekends, she continued, were spent at the home of friends. Others were passed at Mack's Manor, a motel.

Bizarre Party

Mrs. Malcolm, wife and mother, also related the incidents of a bizarre foursome one evening at the Milonno. Present were her husband, Jack Malcolm, Mrs. Monroe, James Monroe and herself. At one point, she testified, James leaned across the table and said "I love you," she answered she said: "I love you, too."

Not long after, the two women went to the restroom. Mrs. Monroe reportedly asked: "Now I know you're the one," and then: "Where have I failed my husband?"

Slate Hearing In Protest On Housing Site

Members of the Home Owners Protective League of South Los Angeles will meet tonight (Thursday) to map final plans for an all out effort to prevent location of outmoded war housing in adjacent land at 120th street and Wadsworth avenue, according to an announcement made Tuesday by Oscar Long, president.

Hearing on a formal protest filed by the property owners is set for July 21, Long said. He added that property owners plan to present expert testimony showing that location of the barracks type buildings will destroy property values and depreciate the entire community.

The buildings were purchased by the Janis Investment company and the Rogers Sales company when the government sold them from the Jordan Downs housing site. They were sold to make way for new, modern homes in the public housing development.

Long pointed out that the housing was constructed during the war and does not comply with present city building codes. "The housing was sold because it was believed to be unfit and unsuited for low income public housing but the contractors propose to rent it to private tenants," Long pointed out.

The Protective Association is represented by Attorneys Loren Miller, Edward Maddox and Samuel Sheats. The buildings will be located just south of 120th street and on both the east and west sides of Wadsworth avenue.

Mayor Slaps Back At Fire Dept. Chief

Mayor Norris Poulson again this week took issue with his Fire Department chief, expressed "disappointment" over Alderson's threat to resign rather than permit integration of firemen, and spiked the chief's contention that institution of such a policy would in any way deprive him of the authority vested in him.

In a letter to the Board of Fire Commissioners dated July 6, he said he hoped Alderson's remarks did not "really reflect his true opinions or beliefs or those of the members of the Commission."

The Mayor also appeared to be holding out for the integration which on Jan. 7 he promised would begin within six months. The letter was written almost six months to the day from the time he made the promise.

Positive Step

He told the commissioners that he considered their recent request for an opinion from the city attorney regarding integration as a "positive step" in line with the agreement calling for a "gradual correction" of the "unsatisfactory policies" with regard to personnel dating back 20 years.

He said he had taken advantage of his recent trip to Washington to find out what action the Fire Department there contemplated in order to bring about integration, and had also inquired about what steps had been taken in Baltimore where integration is now an accomplished fact and is working successfully.

Poulson's Letter

Poulson's letter stated:

"On return from my recent trip to Washington, I read with disappointment a published statement attributed to Fire Chief Alderson concerning the non-segregation of Negro firemen. Since we commenced consultations on the problem early in January, nothing, to my knowledge, has been said or implied by myself or members of the Fire Commission which in any way could be construed as suggesting that the authority for the transferring of personnel within the Fire Department be taken away from the Fire Chief.

"It should be emphasized, however, that under our Commission form of government,

Dr. Johnson Wins Honors As Specialist

Following successful completion of oral examination last month, Dr. Jerome W. Johnson was notified of certification as a specialist in Internal Medicine. This achievement earns him the title "Diplomate of the American Board of Internal Medicine."

Dr. Johnson is the first Negro physician on the entire West Coast to attain such distinction.

He is a member of the Senior Staff and clinic physician of Santa Rita Clinic of Queen of Angels Hospital and clinic physician at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital.

Dr. Johnson holds a B.S. from Southern University, Louisiana, and an M.D. Howard University, 1938. He interned and held residence at Homer G. Phillips Hospital, St. Louis, Kans. 1938-1942 and served the armed forces with rank of Major, 1942-1946. He began practicing in Los Angeles 1946.

He holds membership in the American Medical Association, Los Angeles County Medical Association, Los Angeles Society of Internal Medicine, Los Angeles Heart Association, Charles R. Drew Medical Society, Medical, Dental and Pharmaceutical Society, N.A.A.C.P., Boy Scouts of America, Los Angeles Urban League, Phi Beta Sigma fraternity, Chi Delta Mu Medical fraternity, William Nickerson, Jr. Masonic lodge No. 55 and Zion Hill Baptist Church. Dr. and Mrs. Johnson and their four children will depart soon on an extended vacation touring the Pacific Northwest.

STRUGGLE OVER KNIFE RESULTS IN MAN'S DEATH

A 50-year-old man early Sunday morning attempted to knife a man 20 years his junior, and ended by losing the battle and his life.

Earso Pollard, 50, of 4105½ S. Central avenue, was dead, stab wounds in his neck and back. Death, according to the coroner, was caused by hemorrhage from the wounds.

In jail and awaiting the outcome of the coroner's inquest Friday was Benjamin Franklin Porter, 30, of 868 E. 43rd street, held on suspicion of murder.

The two men had had an argument, which seemingly ended shortly before Porter went into the Good Deal cafe, 4151½ S. Central avenue. But Pollard followed him there, and brandished an eight-inch butcher knife, according to the report.

After his arrest Porter, a veteran who served for two-and-one-half years in the Army during World War II and who fought in the battle of New Guinea, told police that he attempted to get the knife away from his assailant and received cuts on the hand as he tried to grasp the blade. In the scuffle, he said, he managed to get hold of the weapon, but the elder man received the two death-dealing slashes.

Mrs. Maurice Saunders, 3867 Second avenue, who works at the Pacific Towne club, Porter's sister, told the Eagle that witnesses told her that Pollard came into the cafe and started quarrelling with her brother, that Porter pushed his attacker outside and grabbed the knife and threw it away, but that then Pollard drew another knife and began attacking Porter again.

NAACP Celebrates Victory Convention

DALLAS, Texas—Walter White, executive secretary, and Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, highest ranking American in the United Nation's Secretariat, shared the platform and the crowd's ovation at the huge mass meeting at the Dallas Sportatorium here Sunday which brought to a close the 45th annual "Victory" convention of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Discussion of the Supreme Court decision on schools was one of the highlights of the meeting.

The convention's 766 delegates from 40 states and the District of Columbia and thousands of persons from all over Texas filled the auditorium to hear the internationally famed diplomat and the long-time executive head of the NAACP.

Greetings

Greetings were received from President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Adlai Stevenson, Arthur B. Spingarn, Sen. Herbert Lehman of New York and a host of well-wishers throughout the country.

Before adjourning the delegates voted to hold the 1955 convention in Atlantic City, and indicated a strong desire to hold the 1956 convention in San Francisco.

In a series of resolutions, the association called upon the Federal administration to support nationalist movements among colonial peoples "because independence is the best answer to Communist intrigue," and also asked the government to insist "as far as possible" that our allies and potential allies abandon imperialist policies.

Hotly Contested

One of the most hotly contested resolutions was the one dealing with labor policies which included a strongly worded prohibition against members cooperating with Communist-controlled unions and denounced the National Negro Labor Council as "completely Communist dominated." Dele-

Spingarn Medal To Dr. Lawless

DALLAS, Texas.—Dr. Theodore K. Lawless, noted Chicago dermatologist, received the 39th Spingarn Medal during the 45th annual convention of the NAACP held here last week.

Dr. Lawless was cited for his work "as physician, educator and philanthropist" through which he has made "notable contributions to the health, enlightenment and welfare of his fellow citizens of all races, faiths and classes."

GLORIOUS FOURTH—One of the serious accidents that occurred over the long 4th of July weekend is pictured above. Miss Georgia Beasley, 1329 E. 33rd street, was pinned behind the wheel of her car when she made a left turn at Vernon and McKinley Sunday afternoon and was rammed into by a streetcar driven by S. W. Henderson. Miss Beasley was taken to Georgia Street hospital for treatment. (Photo by Adams)

DREAM COMES TRUE—The above building, 122nd and San Pedro streets, is visible evidence that dreams can come true. With practically all work and much of the material donated, a group of women piloted by Mrs. Juanita Macklin has created the Exceptional Children's Opportunity School. AFL workers are shown putting final coat of paint on building.

Dream Becomes Home For Exceptional Children

The dream of a small group of women came true this week when volunteer AFL workers spread the final coat of paint on the Exceptional Children's Opportunity School, 122nd and San Pedro streets.

The dream was dreamed in 1950 when a few women got together and decided that something should be done to bring joy into the drab lives of children suffering from physical or mental handicaps. They selected Mrs. Jaunita Cassium Macklin as the director of the school and chairman of its fund raising drive.

Under her capable leadership the dream became a plan, the plan an actuality. Many workers have contributed their time and labor. Many business men have donated material and services.

Under the direction of Field Representative C. F. Sullivan and building contractor Fred Robinson, the final jobs were completed by Robinson, business representative of local 36; Sullivan, representative of local 434 on the Joint County Committee, Contractor Earl Kitrick; C. F. Morgan of local 434; Joe Neal William Cochran, Johnny Wood, John P. Westy and John E. Westyke, all of local 96.

Equipment was furnished by the Gano F. Caldwell Construction Co., 6412 Orchard avenue, Bell; Kelly Pipe Line Co.; Los Angeles Brick and Clay Products; Gladding McBeab Brick and Clay Co.; Sam Goodlow Plumbing Co.; National Paint Co. of Huntington Park; American Metal and Products Co., Inc., 2911 Compton avenue.

Others who assisted were O. T. Henderson, Charles Graham, Spellman Love, Albert Cherry, Victor Goethal, Leo H. G. Galloway, Pearl Price and A. Wick of Long Beach.

Officers of the school are Mrs. Macklin, Atty. Pauline Epstein, Atty. Eugene Hall, Travis T. Lott, Dr. Harlan Osborne and Eula M. Earles.

Chest X-Rays

A total of 1314 Watts residents visited the Los Angeles City Health Department's mobile chest x-ray unit which was located at the Corner of E. 103rd Street and Grandee Avenue last June.

Man Found Dead In Truck; Alcohol Blamed

Another tragic chapter in the story of the nation's many chronic alcoholics was concluded last week when the body of 34-year-old Charles Perry, well known on Central Avenue, was found in a truck in the rear of 1038 E. 43rd place.

Perry, who came to Los Angeles 28 years ago from Utah, was discovered in the cab of the abandoned truck by a neighbor, Vernon Johnson, who had just returned from work. Johnson stated he had noticed Perry earlier that morning sitting in the vehicle but at that time he was still alive.

Johnson also stated that Perry, who sometimes did odd jobs in the neighborhood, was in the habit of sleeping where he could and lately had been spending his nights in the truck which was owned by one of the people Perry had worked for.

The Coroner's report listed the cause of death as spontaneous cerebral hemorrhage, brought on by acute alcoholism.

Urban League Board Split In Policy Row

NEW YORK — Hot charges by resigning board members that the National Urban League "has no program of any consequence or any real benefit to Negroes" drew a biting rejoinder from Lester B. Granger, the League's executive director this week.

Replying to Judge Irvin Mollison and Dr. George Cannon, who had made the charges, Granger said that the League is fulfilling its historic function throughout the nation in job-finding, solution of housing problems and helping in adjustments of Negroes to urban life.

In his letter of resignation, Judge Mollison said that the League is completely out of touch with "Negroes and their desires to participate as full fledged American citizens in our American democracy." He also charged that the league had failed to cooperate with the NAACP.

Granger fired back that the charge of refusal to cooperate with the NAACP was "an outright lie" and pointed to a large number of instances in which the League has made common cause with the Association.

Dr. Cannon was equally vitriolic in his letter of resignation and also added that the League was guilty of un-democratic practices in the conduct of its internal affair.

Elk Learns Of Eastside Hard Way

Visiting Elk W. G. Maltby had an expensive trip through the Eastside early Friday morning, en route to his room at the Hotel Statler.

A taxi ride and a brief stopover cost him the round sum of $450, plus the embarrassment of being picked up as a "drunk disturbing the peace."

Maltby told police he stopped at an Eastside hotel to get something to eat and was approached by a Yellow Cab driver who made him a proposition, and then took him to a 46th street address where he introduced him to a young woman. When he reached in his pocket for his wallet, he found it missing.

He said he was going to call the police, but when he got outside, in front of 1530 E. 46th street, he was met by the squad car.

Later police picked up Timothy Baker, taxi driver, and charged him with grand theft purse. Baker said Maltby's story wasn't so. He didn't know anything about the money, the girl or the 46th street address.

Granger Chosen For Social Work

Lester B. Granger, social work statesman and executive director of the National Urban League since 1941, has been elected to the Board of Trustees of The New York School of Social Work, Columbia University, it was announced this week by Frederick Sheffield, chairman of the Board.

In making the announcement Sheffield said, "Lester Granger's leadership and outstanding experience as an internationally known social worker and race relations authority will be invaluable to the School in helping it shape sound policies as it enters a period of even broader community service."

SY JONES, of Schlitz

Top Breweries Boast Negro Representatives

Figures just released by the 'Beer Distributor," national monthly magazine, show the three leading brewing companies in the nation are Anheuser-Busch, Inc., Jos. Schlitz Brewing Co. and Pabst Brewing Co.

It might just be coincidental—but all three companies have Negro representatives on the West Coast.

Anheuser-Busch, Inc., with Earl (Budweiser) Griffin, leads the parade with total sales of fermented malt beverages during the year 1953 of 6,711,222 barrels.

Joe Schlitz Brewing Co., with its Sy Jones, gets second place rating with 5,255,000 barrels; while Pabst Brewing Co., which utilizes the expert salesmanship of Schuyler Nelson, places a good third with a total of 4,250,000 barrels.

the Commission formulates the policies whereas the carrying out of these policies is left to the general manager of the department concerned. The Fire Department is not excepted from this provision.

"Chief Alderson is quoted as saying, in effect, that the integration of the 81 Negro firemen with the 2500 white firemen would lower the Los Angeles Fire Department to the status of a second-, third- or fourth-rate department. That such would be the result is difficult for me to believe."

Blonde Testifies AT Murder Trial

plied: "You have failed him sexually."

In cross-examination, Defense Atty. Earl C. Broady, fingering some 33 torrid love letters, asked the blonde witness what she meant by "failing him sexually."

She replied she had been told Mrs. Monroe was "frigid."

Mrs. Malcolmn also told the court that she had loaned Monroe money during their courtship.

Mrs. Malcolm was the first witness called as prosecution and defense conducted a life-and-death struggle over the fate of tightly controlled, quiet Mrs. Monroe.

Blood-Soaked Body

Mrs. Monroe was arrested when she disclosed to her landlord's wife, Mrs. Roxie Stewart, that she had killed her husband. Police investigated and found the blood-soaked body of James Monroe sprawled grotesquely in the fashionable apartment building at 3207 W. Adams blvd., April 3, some 30 hours after he had died.

Prosecutor William McGinley has demanded the extreme penalty of death for the accused woman. On Wednesday he began calling witnesses, eliciting testimony designed to convince the jury that this woman must die.

Defense Atty. Broady is struggling just as strenuously to keep his sad faced client from San Quentin's gas chamber.

Repeatedly Mrs. Malcolm was asked to stand up in court during the selection and questioning of jury prospects. Prosecutor McGinley asked each prospective member whether the fact that Mrs. Malcolm had had an affair with or was romancing with the murdered man would prejudice their judgment.

Mrs. Monroe held herself in tight control though she seemed to wilt and wince as from physical blows every time the prosecutor asked prospective jurors if they were opposed to the death penalty. Those who said they were, were excused.

There were about 10 men and women who were told to step down for this reason. One of these was Miss S. Ellen Henderson, psychiatric worker at Camarillo State hospital. She stated she was opposed to capital punishment.

Selection of the jury took two full court days and was not completed until 4 p.m. Tuesday. At one time a Negro woman had been in the box, but she like many whites was challenged.

Among those finally accepted on the jury is Mrs. Lois L. Williams, a writer, whose husband is a Hollywood director. Another is Mrs. Etta Deike, now retired, but who was the first person to be placed in charge of the county's women's jail 30 years ago. She retired with the rank of Lieutenant. One of the men is Ernest Neu, a chemist with the Great Lakes Carbon Co.

Self Defense

Pleading self-defense, Mrs. Monroe is expected to take the stand in her own behalf, to tell of the humiliations she suffered when her husband boasted of his relations with his white sweetheart, of his bullyings and beatings, and then of the final indignities the fateful night of his death.

The trial is expected to last for at least a week. Prosecution presentation of the case was slated for Wednesday and probably all of Thursday, with two more days of cross-examination to follow. Then the defense would call its witnesses, probably 10 to 12.

Texas Catholic Hospital To Admit Negro M.D.s

DALLAS, Texas—St. Paul's hospital, operated by the Daughters of Charity of St. Vincent de Paul, last week became the first hospital in Dallas to admit Negro doctors to practice.

The Catholic institution's decision was approved by its entire staff of 300 white physicians.

It was agreed, however, to admit only five of the city's 18 Negro doctors. No action was taken to end segregation of patients. Only 32 beds at St. Paul's are available for Negroes.

The only hospital open to Negro doctors up to now has been the 15-bed Pinkston hospital. This has meant that when colored doctors found patients required surgery or other institutional care, they had to turn them over to their white colleagues.

This, also, has deprived Negro physicians of the necessary arena in which to function and gain essential experience, and has had the further result of discouraging capable men from coming here to practice.

The constitution of the Texas Medical Association states that members must be "white physicians holding the degree of M.D." The county association abides by the rules of the state group. All four major Dallas hospitals require that medical staff members must belong to the state and county medical societies. These rules automatically bar Negro doctors from practicing in the city's major hospitals.

Guardsman Drowns; Buried With Honors

(NPB)—Urie V. Adams Jr., who lived with his parents at 3808 S. Hobart blvd., was buried here Friday with military honors, following his death by drowning June 20 in Monterey while he was on maneuvers with the 1402nd Battalion Combat Engineers of the California National Guard.

The 1402nd Battalion, under the command of Lt. Col. Frank Cleveland, arrived in Monterey late on the day of June 19 after a vehicular trek from Los Angeles. Owing to the intense heat encountered en route, the men were permitted to go swimming shortly after arrival at Ligget Field, scene of the National Guard encampment and maneuvers.

Adams failed to answer retreat call. A search was launched for him, but he had not been located when night closed in. The next day the body was recovered from the bay where he had been swimming.

Several hundred former schoolmates of the six-foot civilian soldier gathered in and about Conner-Johnson mortuary to pay a final farewell to their departed companion. The Rev. F. Prentice, pastor of Mt. Zion Baptist church, read the service for the dead, assisted by the Rev. Mr. Cotton. Interment was at Lincoln Memorial.

Sgt. James Stewart was in charge of the detachment which accompanied the flag-draped casket to Los Angeles.

Young Adams is survived by his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Urie V. Adams, Sr., two younger brothers and a sister.

Army Says It's Almost Totally Integrated

WASHINGTON—The Army claimed Monday that it has virtually completed its program of ending segregation within its ranks.

A spokesman declared the Army is 98 percent integrated. There are no more than 15 all-Negro units at the present time, he said, none of them larger than a company. Normal strength of a company is less than 200 men.

The Negro units that remain are largely "specialized" units, whose complexion will be changed through the normal process of discharge and assignment, the spokesman stated.

Tract Wants 'Whites Only'

"We absolutely will not sell one house to a colored person," he stated firmly. "Wait a minute. I'll show you something."

He hurried out to his car, brought back a tabloid-size newspaper. Spread it in front of us.

Stick to Legality

"We call this a 'Communist' newspaper," he whispered confidentially, pointing to a story. "This shows you we mean what I say. They carried this story telling how we refuse to rent to colored. That is positively our policy."

"How do you avoid it?"

"Oh, there are various ways." He motioned to the "Sold" signs on many of the houses. "We discourage them; some of them don't want to live in an all-white neighborhood. Oh, we stick to legality . . ."

"What guarantee do we have that some owner won't sell his house to a Negro?" we asked.

Whites Organized

"Don't you worry about that," he said. "There are two organizations out here already, strong organizations, that were formed for that purpose. When you move out here, you join one of them, or form your own organization, the tighter the organization the more effective. There won't be any colored here, you can be assured of that!"

We drove out past the sign, thinking they should add three words: "For White Only!" And furnish the salesmen with white-hooded robes.

What's Holding You Back, Chief?

Commission to abandon its Jim Crow deal, up and appointed a new member of the Fire Commission.

Milton J. Brock Jr., the new Commissioner, replaces President Howard Callanan who was one of Alderson's most ardent supporters.

Anyhow, to sum it all up, Chief Alderson says he is either going to have his own brand of Slightly Super-Colossal Jim Crow (which ain't Jim Crow, nohow), or he is going to quit, Suh!

Author of the chief's woes is the NAACP which responded to pleas of local firemen for some relief from their discriminatory plight. The Association filed a petition with the Commission last October and has pressed the case ever since that time.

PASADENA SCHOOLS TO YIELD ON SEGREGATION

The Pasadena Board of Education Tuesday asked Superintendent Stuart F. McComb to draft recommendations to end segregation in the Crown City's schools.

Dr. Ray E. Untereiner, Board president, opened a public hearing on the issue Tuesday with a statement that the Board "clearly recognizes its responsibility" to abide by the recent opinion of the County Counsel that Pasadena's system of neutral zones and transfer privileges constitutes a violation of the Supreme Court decision banning "separate but equal" schools.

Dr. Untereiner pointed out that in order to bring an end to the officially winked-at jim crow, it will be necessary to abolish four so-called "neutral zones" and to revamp the "transfer" system whereby whites were freely transferred out of "colored" schools.

Superintendent McComb was given three weeks in which to draft his recommendations.

The decision of the School Board to abolish its jim-crow practices came as a result of action taken by the local NAACP, spearheaded by Atty. Charles Johnson and Dr. I. B. English. The NAACP sought to restrain the Board from building additional facilities at the Arroyo Seco school while space was available at the nearby "colored" Garfield school. They maintained that the overcrowding at Arroyo Seco was due solely to the transfer and zoning policies designed to segregate the races.

Parents and relatives of any boy who has not as yet made plans to attend any camp this summer Monday were reminded by President Newton Withers of Woodcraft Rangers that there are still ample vacancies in summer rosters for three Woodcraft Ranger camps.

Here's one place where today's dollar goes further

In the fondly-remembered time of the nickel trolley and the 25¢ T-bone, gasoline for dad's 1925 model cost about 18¢ a gallon (excluding taxes). Sounds like a bargain—yet it really cost more than today's gasoline. The reason is clear when you keep this fact in mind: You fill your car's tank with gasoline, but what you're actually buying is mileage. Naturally, you'd rather pay $1 a gallon for gas that gave you 100 miles a gallon than buy 10¢ gas that delivered only 5 miles to the gallon. And that's why today's gasoline costs less than motor fuel of 1925 . . . it gives you more miles to the dollar. Research by companies such as Standard Oil Company of California has improved gasoline spectacularly over the years. This better motor fuel made more efficient auto engines possible, and together they give you up to 50% better mileage than motorists got in the '20's. On top of that, competition between oil companies has helped to hold down gasoline prices. Since 1925, they've risen only 20% (excluding taxes) while food has gone up 70%, clothing 63%, and the cost of living 53%. Compared to practically anything else you buy, gasoline is a bargain. Your money goes further when it goes for today's finer gasoline that delivers more miles to the dollar.

Chief Big Threat Alderson

Fire Chief John Alderson's statement that he will resign if the power "to assign personnel" is taken away from him, is intended to conceal rather than reveal his attitude on racial segregation in the Department.

What the chief means is that if he is deprived of the power to retain his Jim Crow system he will quit. He has been violating the law for so long a time that he feels that any interference with his high handed and illegal segregatory system is an invasion of his rights.

The chief also tried to befuddle the issue by saying that there "is no segregation" because one Negro is assigned to the supply and maintenance department and a few others to the fire prevention bureau.

What the chief can't deny is that Negro firemen assigned to stations are concentrated at Stations 30 and 14. They can serve at no other stations; no white firemen can serve at those stations. Negro firemen cannot transfer as between stations except as between Stations 30 and 14 although white firemen can serve freely as between all stations.

Chief Alderson's statement that there "is no segregation" is untrue when tested by the facts that are admitted by the Commissioners and by him.

We hope that the Commissioners won't let Mr. Alderson's threats dissuade them from their plain duty if, and when, City Attorney Roger Arnebergh advises them that racial segregation of city employes violates the plain mandates of state and federal constitutions and laws and the public policy of this state.

A fire chief who insists on imposing racial segregation in a municipal facility in California has no place in public service. If Mr. Alderson feels that he cannot order the affairs of his department in any other manner it is to the best interests of the people that he step down.

At a time when Jim Crow is crumbling everywhere in every phase of American life it would be worse than a tragedy for Los Angeles—one of the nation's most liberal cities—to cling to segregation in a city department.

Let's Give Them A Hand

The fight of the community in the Bellvue area against the location of worn-out war housing in an adjacent area is one that should enlist the active aid and support of all residents of the community.

Home owners in that neighborhood have worked long and hard to keep it a home-owning neighborhood.

Now a group of speculators proposes to move the barracks-type structures built during World War II right into the backyards of the home owners. These structures will be rental units and it is plain that they will attract the kind and type of occupants who will depreciate adjoining property.

More than that, this old war housing will spoil the appearance of the whole neighborhood. It will reduce what is now a well-kept suburban subdivision to a slum area in the course of time.

The war housing was built on a temporary basis. It does not conform to current building codes. At the time it was built the government specified that it should be removed and sold in ten years. Its construction is such that it is not even regarded as adequate for low-cost rental housing. Public authorities won't use it. Private speculators propose to do so.

The issue rests with the Department of Building and Safety of Los Angeles which can exert its power to forbid the development. We hope that it does so. The plain truth is that due to prevailing prejudices Negroes have a hard enough time of it finding and keeping decent neighborhoods. When they do so they deserve the protection of public bodies, and the support of the rest of us.

Travesty On Democracy

Negro veterans who risked their lives with other Americans in Europe, in the Far East, and Korea, are consistently discriminated against by home builders in Los Angeles, as elsewhere.

Full-page advertisements shout the claims that "veterans" can buy homes at this development, or that, with "no money down." The ads don't say that the homes are available for "white veterans only" but that's the truth of the matter.

In the face of this kind of discrimination the Veterans Administration pretends that there is nothing it can do to protect Negroes who have fought for democracy in the far places of the world.

Told elsewhere in the Eagle is the story of the development at Central and Olive streets whose developers boast that they have ways and means of keeping Negroes out.

These boasts are made without a sense of shame. There is no realization on the part of those who make them that they are indulging in the same kind of racism against which Negro GI's fought in Europe.

This attitude is justified on the ground that there will be a loss in dollars and cents if Negroes are permitted to buy homes. This myth has been exploded a dozen times over. Recent articles in real estate journals show that there is no foundation for the claim.

Even more tragic than the attitude of the builders and developers is that of the federal government. Most of these developments are made possible through loan insurance by the Federal Housing Administration. In effect, government, through FHA, pledges the credit of all citizens to guarantee the lender against loss on these loans.

In the face of this active participation of government, FHA permits builders and subdividers to refuse to sell or rent homes to Negroes, to Negro war veterans!

What a disgrace! What a travesty on democracy! What grist for the Red propaganda mills!

How much longer will Americans tolerate this open denial of democratic ideals and preachments?

Tempest In A Tea Pot

It strikes us that members of the national board of the National Urban League are stirring up a tempest in a tea pot with their unsubstantiated charges against Lester B. Granger, the League's executive director, and against the League itself.

The complaint that Granger isn't a vigorous opponent of segregation is nonsense, as anybody who knows the man can testify. Nor is there merit in the charge that the League "doesn't have a program."

The League does have a program. True enough, its program lacks dramatic impact when compared with the NAACP, because its work in the day-to-day job of easing tensions, finding jobs and smoothing out conflict isn't dramatic or spectacular.

Despite its lack of drama, the League's job is a necessary and useful one. We hope that it won't be disrupted by a series of personal peeves that have been inflated far beyond their importance.

Battleaxe and Bread

By Lester B. Granger

TORONTO, Canada—Leaving New York City at 9:30 in the evening and driving through the night for 500 miles in order to sit in at a 10 o'clock meeting in Toronto next morning is not a procedure recommended as preparation for a tough discussion calling for fullest use of all one's faculties.

Lester Granger

What with two assistant drivers, I made the 500 miles, all right, but all of me didn't get here. A good part of my mental processes was left far down the road, resentfully limping, and didn't catch up with me until late in the afternoon.

Toothpicks, Please

Meanwhile, I had left the meeting several times to catch little five-minute naps, had stared groggily at the various discussants when I was in the room, and felt desperate enough by noontime to seriously consider propping my eyelids open with the aid of toothpicks.

Luckily, the meeting itself was not too tough in its opening phases. It was the advance-guard action of the International Conference of Social Work, which last met in 1952 in Madras, India. The body of the delegate representation is just beginning to come into town.

Today's meeting was of the Permanent Central Committee, which is the planning and policy-making group for the world's greatest forum on world-wide welfare conditions. More than 3,000 delegates are expected; a fifth of these will come from the United States, an even larger proportion from Canada, and the rest from 35 to 40 of the free nations in all the continents of the world. And some not so free, too, since there may be representation from the colonial possessions of Great Britain and France.

Reminder of Misery

Already, in the small group comprising the Central Committee, I have exchanged cordial greetings with numbers of men and women whom I saw last 18 months ago, on the other side of the world, when we said good-bye at Madras. S. Makri, head of the delegation from Pakistan, Mrs. Billimoria and B. Chatterjee from Bombay, India, P. Sark from Belgium, George Haynes from London, Mrs. Lupicacci from Italy—these and a host of others reminded me by their presence that the last time we met we were not surrounded by evidences of material wealth and modern comfort.

The crowds that swirled about us on the streets in 1952 were not well-dressed folk coming from tall business office buildings and moving to catch swift subway or sleek taxicab. Instead there was appalling misery and suffering and, yes, sometimes actual death from sheer physical giving-way under pressure of unendurable horrors of continued living.

And yet, in the between-sessions conversations that took place, there was as much and possibly more urgency in the committee members' awareness of the social needs of today. In India, there was so much misery to be seen on every side that it tended to blot out remembrance of more familiar, more comfortable and secure ways of living.

Specter of Misery

Here in Toronto, that remembered misery is placed in its proper context, as threatening the continuance of our cherished "western" way of life. North American and European delegates are forcibly reminded that unless this part of the world can find a way to serve the raw, bleeding needs in the eastern half, nothing that we hold and count as valuable is guaranteed to last over-long.
